East Grand Forks Sacred Heart guard Terry Vanyo scored 26 points Friday to carry the Eagles past visiting Plummer 78-51.

"We had a tough time containing their guards — especially Vanyo," explained Plummer coach Dean Miller. "We shut their big man down, but couldn't stop their guards from scoring."

Sacred Heart built a 25-10 first quarter lead and was never threatened, owning a 45-25 halftime edge and a 58-36 third quarter cushion.

John Logan, the Eagles' 6-10 center, was held to 10 points by the Cardinals, who were led by Brian Delage with 14 points and Kenny Fisher with 13.

"We had the hustle, but offensively we just didn't click the way we should have," noted Miller, whose team will face Fisher in its home opener Friday.

Grygla 21

Randy Henrickson, despite being slowed by injuries, scored 23 points and collected 18 rebounds Friday to lead Goodridge past rival Grygla 37-21.

The Host Huskies held the Eagles scoreless in the first quarter, going ahead 6-0. Goodridge led 16-7 at halftime and carried a 29-9 advantage into the third quarter.

It wasn't a very well-played basketball game, admitted Goodridge coach Rick Nelson. "I don't know if it was the first game jitters, or the build-up of the rivalry," he said. "Only thing I can say is that our defense played well."

Goodridge shot 37 per cent from the field, hitting 16 of 43 shots. Grygla shot just 20 per cent, making 9 of 46 shots. From the free throw line the Huskies were 5-for-12 while the Eagles went 3-for-9.

Grygla will be at Middle River Tuesday, but Goodridge will await until Friday to visit Oslo.

Northmen Defend Title In Red River Tournament

Shooting 56 per cent from the field for the three games, Northland community college won its third straight Red River community college invitational basketball tournament title over the weekend in Winnipeg.

The Northmen opened with a 135-94 Friday night victory over St. Boniface community college, beat host Red River 116-57 in the Saturday afternoon semifinals and knocked off Mennonite brethern Bible college of Winnipeg 97-81 in the finals that night.

"Overall, things went pretty well," explained Northland coach Chet Engelman. "Everybody had some good spots in the tournament."

Northland, 4-0 for the year, will host the Jamestown college junior varsity Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. "Jamestown should be tough," warned Engelman.

St. Boniface 94

Trailing 17-16 after seven minutes of play, Northland blitzed St. Boniface community college 44-10 over the last 13 minutes of the first half for a 60-27 lead that produced a 135-94 opening round tournament win.

Seven Northmen hit double figures, including Terry Harris, who had 26 points and 16 rebounds, Tony Smith with 21 points, Jeff Nolan 16, Joe Kraska 16, Eddie Duckworth 14 and Dave Spilde 14.

The Northmen shot 55 per cent from the field, hitting 59 of 107 shots. St. Boniface shot 40 per cent, making 40 of 99 attempts. The Northmen were 17-for-26 at the free throw line where St. Boniface was 14-for-22. St. Boniface held a 66-62 rebound edge, but also topped the turnover charts 43-23.

Red River community college tried to slow things down in the semifinals, staying within 18-13 through the first 12 minutes. But Northland out-scored the host team 49-8 over the final eight minutes of the first half en route to a 57-21 cushion that was never threatened in a 116-57 final.

Terry Harris, bothered by an ankle injury that kept him on the bench for about half of the game, still led the Northmen with 30 points, 20 coming in the second half despite the fact he didn't enter the game until the 13-minute mark. Tony Smith added 23 points for the winners, while Jeff Nolan scored 22 points and pulled out 14 rebounds. Eddie Duckworth contributed 14 points.

"I was happy that we were able to keep out composure when they tried to slow it down," mentioned Northland coach Chet Engelman. "We didn't get antsy."

Northland was 52-for-91 from the field for a 57-per cent shooting performance and 12-for-16 at the free throw line.

Northmen Lose To Bemidji 6-1

Starting with a backhander by Lincoln high school graduate Bob Fitzgerald at the 54-second mark, the Bemidji State University junior varsity erupted for three goals in the first 2½ minutes of the third period Wednesday to break open a close 2-0 game, leading to a 6-1 victory over the Northland community college hockey team in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The defeat spoiled the coaching debut of Tom Goddard, whose Northmen played the Beavers on even terms for a full 40 minutes. Only goals the Northmen gave up in the first two periods came on deflections, with Stu Weston tipping a power play slap shot past former Roseau high school teammate Mark Tangen at 7:50 of the first period, and East Grand Forks product Mark Nokelby getting credit for a goal at 11:03 of the first period that Northland defenseman Jeff Hockin inadvertently directed into his own net.

But the third period blitz decided the issue, sparked by Fitzgerald's power play goal. Nokelby made it 4-0 just 31 seconds later and Dave Jerome, another East Grand Forks skater, slapped home an ice-hugger from the point at 2:26 to make it a sudden 5-0 game.

It became 6-0 on a Dan Deamon slap shot at 11:33 before Northland's Rober Olimb responded less than a minute later.

There were 20 penalties called in the fast-paced, hard-hitting game, with the Northmen failing to convert 11 power play opportunities.

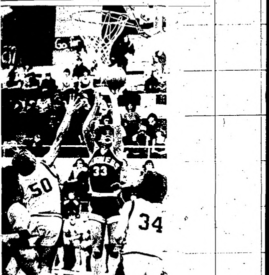
Crookston Is 5-4 JV Winner Over Lincoln

Crookston defeated Thief River Falls 5-4 Saturday in junior varsity high school hockey, breaking a 4-4 deadlock with just nine seconds remaining in the third period.

Scott Trickle scored twice for the losers, who held 2-0 and 4-2 leads. Mitch Semanko and Steve Wiskow also scored for Thief River Falls.

Girls JV Is 35-19 Winner

Lynette Huot scored 12 points and Christy Stromlund added 10 Saturday as the Lincoln high school junior varsity defeated Tri-County 35-19 in girls high school basketball action.



A SHORT JUMP shot from the base line by Kevin Sanders netted the Thief River Falls junior two points Friday in the first half of the Prowlers' season-opening 90-27 victory over outmanned Roseau. Sanders finished with 10 points. Thief River Falls will host Grafton Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

MCC Girls Claim 43-42 Win Over Middle River

Sophomore Sue Olson sank two free throws with just over one minute remaining Thursday to lift Marshall County Central past rival Middle River 43-42 in girls high school basketball action at Middle River.

"We were really lucky to get out there with a win," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "Middle River is big and tough; they hurt us on the boards."

"It was a real good ball game," confirmed Middle River coach Tom Neibauer, who was forced to play without leading scorer Dawn Nelson in the second half because of illness.

Jill Johnson of Marshall County Central led all scorers with 15 points, while teammate Lisa Busch added 11 and Olson collected 10. Becky Jeanne led Middle River with 14 points. Joanie Thompson scored 10 for the Skippers, and had a potential game-winning shot near the end of the game go in and out of the basket.

There were 45 free throws shot during the game, with the Nordics going 15-for-26 at the line and the Skippers going 10-for-19.

"We had times when we looked all right," noted Mjelde after the season-opening victory. The loss dropped Middle River to 1-1 for the year. Marshall County Central will be at Strandquist Thursday. Middle River visits Warroad Tuesday.

Vickie Helling poured in 33 points Thursday to lead Tri-County high school to a 62-43 win over Plummer at Karlstad.

The Rabbits jumped out to a 22-4 first quarter lead and were never headed.

"They're really big," pointed out Plummer coach Rick Koivisto. "And they couldn't do anything wrong in the first quarter. We tried three different defenses, but nothing stopped them."

Lisa Hjelle joined Helling in double figures for the winners with 17 points. Bonnie Fisher led Plummer with 14 points.

Tri-County shot an even 50 per cent from the field, hitting 28 of 56 shots. Plummer, plagued by turnovers, shot just 33 per cent, making 20 of 60 shots. The Rabbits were 6-for-13 from the free throw line where the Cardinals were 3-for-9.

Plummer, 1-1 for the year, will travel to Fisher Tuesday.

Wild Turkeys Established In Minn. Flocks

by Jeanne Hanson
'U' News Service

Pilgrims and Indians stuffed wild turkeys with cornbread and roasted them on spits for the first Thanksgiving dinner.

In those days, wild turkeys were plentiful.

But the indigenous American flock, which once numbered 10 million, was diminished by hunting and by the loss of its habitat to settlement until, during the 1930s, it added up to a mere 320,000.

Now, nearly a million and a half strong, wild turkeys gobble across the country from Maine to Minnesota, to Mexico and Florida.

Thanks for this renaissance go to the ecologists, natural resources managers, archers and hunters who have flocked together in many states to "talk turkey" and, through their support of research of the bird's habits and habitat, have helped to increase the turkey population in both new and old environments.

University of Minnesota ecologist John Tester is one researcher who has studied and helped to reintroduce the wild turkey into Minnesota. He describes the birds as brightly colored, like pheasants, but bigger (about the size of domestic turkeys). Roasted and stuffed, they would taste like wild game and would be a bit tougher than domestic turkeys, because they live to be much older than their tame cousins (who move from egg to table in six months) and because they develop their muscles more by flying.

Thanksgiving is not a time to gobble for wild turkeys, according to Tester. They gobble most during April and May, their mating and breeding season.

In fact, Thanksgiving time is the beginning of the winter slowdown for wild turkeys, he said. They look for a place to loaf, often at the edge of a hardwood forest near a cornfield, where there is enough corn for them to munch on but not a lot of fox, owls and eagles to munch on them.

An ideal home for the wild turkey is old farmland that is reverting to forest, Tester said. The increasing availability of this kind of land has been significant in the expansion of the wild turkey population.

Learning about the wild turkey's habitat and habits helps to determine where and how to reintroduce them, Tester said. In Minnesota, for example, he and students Bill Porter and Greg McMahon have caught more than 400 wild turkeys with nets. They harness a tiny radio transmitter to the turkey, let it loose and track it for two years.

The information they have gathered has enabled Minnesota's department of natural resources to manage a large and growing flock of wild turkeys in southeastern Minnesota and, more recently, to start a flock just 25 miles from the Twin Cities.

"Wild turkeys may not ever have lived as far north as the Twin Cities," Tester said. "But they have adjusted. Some 1,500 hunting permits will be issued in Minnesota this spring, and the local flock of 5,000 wild turkeys should grow to about 30,000 by 1983."

Turkey Permit Deadline Is Fri., Dec. 12

Minnesota residents are reminded again that they have only until Dec. 12 to mail their applications for the computer drawing to select participants for the 1981 spring turkey hunt.

Applications are available from most license dealers, county auditors and all DNR field wildlife offices.

The DNR will make available 1,500 licenses for six southeastern Minnesota hunting zones. The season will consist of four hunting periods from April 18 through May 6.

People wishing to apply in parties must submit applications in a single envelope. However, general and landowner-tenant applications must be sent in separate envelopes.

THIEF RIVER FALLS center Tara Nicholson (55) was going to set a screen for teammate Ann Goodrich, but Kelly Cleary of Tri-County high school picked up a foul on the play when she stopped Goodrich with her knee during the second half of Saturday's basketball game played in the Lincoln gym. Nicholson scored 18 points and Goodrich had 14 for the Prowlers' in their season-opening 52-49 victory over the Rabbits.

Lincoln Girls Rally To Defeat Rabbits 52-49

Facing a 15-point deficit and one of the top scorers in the area is Vickie Helling, the Lincoln high school girls basketball team managed to overcome both obstacles Saturday to register a 52-49 season-opening victory over Tri-County high school of Karlstad.

Helling, a 5-10 junior forward who scored 33 points in the Rabbits' 62-43 win over Plummer on Thursday, was held to eight points as the Prowlers took a 21-20 halftime lead. But she caught fire offensively at the start of the third quarter when she had 14 points as Tri-County outscored Thief River Falls 18-2 during the first 4:46 of the period for a seemingly comfortable 38-23 lead.

But the Rabbits lost starting forward Kathy Porter on fouls with 1:22 remaining in the third quarter as the Prowlers narrowed the gap to 40-32. Then Helling picked up her fourth and fifth fouls in a one-minute span in the fourth quarter, leaving with 28 points and 44-41 Tri-County lead with 5:34 remaining.

The Prowlers wrestled the lead away from the Rabbits with 3:05 to go when Karen Kloety, one of three Thief River Falls players who came off the bench and played well, put in a rebound shot for a 47-46 edge. Ann Goodrich made the first shot on a bonus free throw situation with 2:08 left, and Tara Nicholson put the rebound in on the second shot for a 50-46 cushion.

Lisa Hjelle brought the Rabbits back into the game with a field goal and a free throw spaced 21 seconds apart for a 50-49 contest with 40 seconds left, but Goodrich sealed the victory at the free throw line with 25 seconds showing. Tri-County missed four free throws in the final 20 seconds — one on a lane infraction.

"I'm just really happy with the win," smiled first-year Thief River Falls head coach Tom Schafer. "I was afraid our girls would give up when they were down by so much in the third quarter, but they came back and played their hearts out."

Hjelle joined Helling in double figures for the Rabbits with 13 points as those two produced 41 of the 48 Karlstad points. Nicholson, a 5-11 junior center who scored eight straight points to overcome an early Tri-County lead in the first quarter, lead the Prowlers with 18 points. Goodrich had 14, but six Prowlers scored — including reserves Paula Meyers, Patti Blackstad and Kloety.

"I'm not afraid to substitute," noted Schafer. "I've got seven or eight girls that can come in and do a good job for us."

Turning point in the game, said Schafer, was the Prowlers' switch from a 2-3 zone to a half-court press after the Rabbits built their big lead. "That won it for us," he explained. "I really didn't know if we could handle it, but at that point I didn't know what else to do."

Thief River Falls shot 29 per cent from the field, going 21-for-72. Tri-County finished with a 31 per cent figure, 17-for-54, but the Rabbits hit their first nine shots of the third quarter for their big lead after going just 4-for-24 in the first half. From the free throw line the Prowlers were 10-for-24 while the Rabbits were 15-for-31. Thief River Falls held a 48-35 rebound edge, but also topped the turnover charts 24-19.

The Prowlers visit Fisher Thursday.

Ice Is Thin On Lakes Says DNR Official

Ice on most Minnesota lakes, particularly in the southern half of the state, is still unsafe for use, the Department of Natural Resources warned.

Officials said warm weather late in November prevented many lakes from freezing up on schedule. The first victim of thin ice this winter was a six-year-old who broke through and drowned on a lake near Grand Rapids. Another child drowned recently after breaking through thin ice on a Minneapolis lake.

Elverum cautioned snowmobilers, ice fishermen and others using frozen lakes that ice does not freeze to a uniform thickness.

"In one location on a lake," he explained, "ice may be a foot thick while at another spot, perhaps less than 10 feet away, a current, spring or the actions of schooling fish may reduce ice thickness to only one inch."

In general, he said, it takes four inches of ice to support a person walking, five inches for a snowmobile and eight inches for a car.

Northwomen Lose To Bottineau 79-44

Out-scored 37-17 in the first half, the Northland community college women's basketball team dropped a 79-44 decision at Bottineau, N.D. Friday night to open its 1980-81 season.

Julie Easton led the Northwomen with 21 points, with Angie Sinn adding 11.

Northland made 17 of 71 field goal attempts (24 per cent) and sank 10 of 17 free throws. Bottineau connected on 36 of 91 shots (40 per cent) and made 7 of 11 free throws. Bottineau held a 50-43 rebound edge and also topped the turnover figures 30-26.

"Scoring-wise it doesn't look too good," admitted Northland coach Deb Jacobson, "but we did some things that were pretty good for a first game."

Northland will be in Winnipeg, Man. this weekend to participate in an invitational tournament hosted by Red River community college.

ONE OF THE best plays executed during Friday's Thief River Falls-Roseau high school basketball game played in the Lincoln gym was this pick-and-roll by the Prowlers' Dave Kays (55) and Hal Swanson (13). Kays set a screen for Swanson, then turned toward the basket to receive a pass from the Prowlers' captain for a wide-open shot in the opening moments of play in the second quarter. The Prowlers opened their 1980-81 season with a 90-27 drubbing of the Rams.

Bobcats Host Cardinals In Wrestling Dual

Area rivals meet tonight (Monday) when Oklee hosts Plummer-Erskine in high school wrestling. It'll be the home opener for the Bobcats, who participated in the Bagley invitational Saturday.

Plummer-Erskine saw its dual meet record slip to 0-2 Thursday with a 39-18 loss to Crookston.

Three Cardinals came up with wins on the mat against the Pirates as Cory Carpenter stopped Bill Kresel 7-1 at 112 points, Mick Brekke shut out Jeff Dusek 4-0 at 126 and Troy Gustafson pinned Todd Woolever in 2:47. Paul Lindseth of the Cardinals was a forfeit winner at 185.

Oklee had four champions in Saturday's Bagley invitational, including freshman Darren Tougas at 105 pounds, who was voted the meet's outstanding wrestler after he recorded an overtime pin against three-time defending tournament champion Al Benson of Bagley.

Other Bobcats who claimed titles were Don Tougas, a junior wrestling at 112; John Cyr, a sophomore at 126; and Joel Stolaas, a senior heavyweight.

Lincoln JV Beats Roseau

Thief River Falls jumped out to a 16-5 first quarter lead en route to a season-opening 59-30 junior varsity high school basketball win over Roseau Friday.

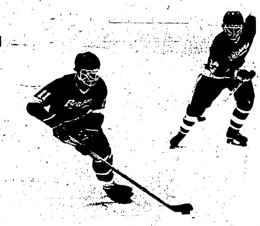
Dave Upham scored 14 points and Shaw McCabe had 10 for the winners, who led 30-11 at halftime and carried a 48-20 lead into the fourth quarter.

New Ski Trail Map Lists 230 Areas In State

New Minnesota ski trail map lists 230 locations in the state for downhill and cross country skiing. More than 150 miles of new cross country ski trails have been added to this year's edition.

The state's 30 downhill ski areas are described in the brochures. Skiers will note new lifts operating at Buena Vista in Bemidji, Quadna at Hill City and Mankato's Mt. Kato. Using snowmaking equipment, Wild Mountain at Taylors Falls was the first state ski area to open on October 29. Snowmaking equipment has been improved and expanded at many state ski areas to extend the season and provide the best possible conditions.

Copies of the cross country and downhill ski trail map are available free from the Minnesota Tourist Information Center, 480 Cedar St., St. Paul, MN 55101. Twin Cities residents may call 296-5029 Monday through Friday from 8:00-4:30 p.m. Minnesota residents outside the Twin Cities area may call toll-free 1-800-652-9747. Callers outside Minnesota should call 1-800-328-1461.



BOB FITZGERALD, a 1980 Lincoln high school graduate, skated with the Bemidji State University junior varsity Wednesday when the Beavers served as the season-opening opposition for the Northland community college hockey team in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Fitzgerald, shown here bringing the puck into the Northland zone, scored at the 54-second mark of the third period to begin a Bemidji scoring burst that broke open a close 2-0 game and carried the Beavers to a 6-1 victory.

Northmen Win Red River Title

Red River was 21-for-64 from the field for 32.8 per cent and 15-for-33 from the line. Northland held a 55-51 rebound advantage and Red River was charged with 31 of the game's 43 turnovers. The Northmen lost the ball just three times in the first half of play.

Tony Smith capped an outstanding tournament with a 19-point-17-rebound performance that carried Northland to a 97-81 championship game victory over a scrappy Mennonite brethren Bible college team.

"Tony did a great job for us," praised Northland coach Chet Engelman. "He had a great tournament; he was as impressive as anyone."

Northland's high-scoring Terry Harris and Jeff Nolan were both slowed by foul problems. Limited to about half of a game each, Harris had 11 points and Nolan 10. But freshman Eddie Duckworth contributed 19 points and 10 rebounds, while guards Kyle Hams and Joe Kraska finished with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

A 53-40 leader at halftime, Northland saw its lead shrink to 78-80 with 4:47 remaining in the game, but didn't let the gap get any closer.

This time the Northmen shot 56 per cent from the field, 45-for-81, and went 7-for-15 at the free throw line. The losers were 34-for-85 from the field for 40 per cent and made 13 of 29 free throws — Much to the chagrin of Engelman, who wasn't happy with the officiating. The Winnipeg club led in both rebounds (57-56) and turnovers (27-26).

Super Bowl Super Stars

Former Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr has the best completion record in Super Bowl history, completing 69.6 percent of his passes in Super Bowl I. The Packers beat Kansas City 35-10.

Only the Miami Dolphins have played in three consecutive Super Bowl games. They lost to Dallas in Super Bowl VI, but beat Washington and Minnesota the following two years.

75-yard pass plays from Baltimore's Johnny Unitas to John Mackey in Super Bowl V, and from Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw to John Stallworth in Super Bowl XIII, share the Super Bowl record for the longest pass completion.

Pittsburgh's Franco Harris has gained 468 net yards in four Super Bowl games to hold the Super Bowl record. According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, the Steelers won all four games, also a record.

Organizational Meeting Of Northwest Vocational
July 17, 1980

The Organizational Meeting of the Northwest Vocational Cooperative Center No. 976 Governing Board was held at the School District Service Center July 17, 1980 at 8:00 P.M.

A welcome was extended to Dr. Don Langan, Supt. from Goodridge and Karen Fossell new board member from Plummer, Mr. Elkenes, Mr. Potter, Mr. DeLuca and Mr. Lutz of Karlstad.

The following members were present: Leo Orpen, Karen Fossell, Hal Anderson, Larry Vigen and Ken Wiebolt. Absent: Gordon Borsvold.

Present: Members of the Pairing & Sharing Team, Mr. Elkenes, Mr. Potter and Mr. DeLuca and Mr. Lutz, principal from Karlstad, MN.

Present: Dr. William Corliss, Supervising Superintendent; Advising Superintendents, Dr. Philip Dyrud, Gene Busch, Dr. Don Langan and Milton Anderson. Present: Richard Kotschevar - Director.

The following report was given on "Pairing & Sharing":

There was an introduction of the "Pairing & Sharing Team", Mr. Elkenes, Chairman of the team, from Grand Forks, Mr. Charles Potter of Crookston, and Mr. Rudy DeLuca of Burnsville. Last November a request was made to Randy Johnson at the State Department for a planning of the Paring & Sharing, this team was so requested to visit various schools, seven were visited in this area. Visits were enjoyed at every school, the team was impressed by good facilities and good administration. Boards are to be thanked for supporting your endeavors by action taken. Schools will be facing problems with declining enrollment, and will face the decision of consolidation. Distance between schools cause problems in this area in providing the type of education preferred for students. Pairing and Sharing will be easier because of Center School and Boards already working together. A booklet "A Study of Cooperative Pairing" was presented to all districts.

In visiting schools in the area there was a feeling of high respect for Center School. Contracts were reviewed to determine any obstacles in regard to Pairing and Sharing.

The Task Force recommended the use of the Apple II - The seven district should consider buying one and storing it in a central place. Educational television and gifted students were also discussed. Recommendation made, there seemed to be a need for a Guidance Counselor to be shared on a part time basis, school calendars may need some revision, and postings in the Center as to what the other schools may need.

The team members were thanked for their presentation by Mr. Kotschevar, before their departure.

Meeting was called to order by Chairman, Hal Anderson. Minutes of the previous meeting of June 19, 1980 were read, and on motion by Ken Wiebolt, seconded by Leo Orpen, and unanimously carried, the minutes were approved as read.

Accounts Payable for May were presented to the board for review. Bill review by Hal Anderson. On motion by Leo Orpen, seconded by Larry Vigen, and unanimously carried, the Accounts Payable, $75,310.61 were authorized for payment.

Dr. Mary Phillips, Assistant Commissioner of Vocational Education led a visiting group from the State Department to the Thief River Falls Area Vocational School. Presenting statements to the visiting group were Dr. Corliss, Supervising Superintendent and Richard Kotschevar - Director. Statements of local concerns were presented to personnel from the State Department.

Advisory Committee Meetings were held at Northwest Vocational Center on November 3, 1980. They are a vital part of the Center. Committees reviewed and made recommendations on areas of concern to them.

Mr. Paul Day, State Agriculture Supervisor held a meeting in Thief River Falls with local Ag instructors. Coop plans were reviewed, a letter was requested to Mr. Casmey to review and grant variance to the Coop Program at this time. Basic Ag is open to any students from any participating schools who would be interested.

The next Governing Board Meeting was scheduled for January 15, 1981 at 8:00 P.M.

On motion by Ken Wiebolt, seconded by Karen Fossell, and unanimously carried the meeting adjourned at 8:45 P.M.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

December 8, 1980
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
November 25, 1980

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 3:00 P.M., November 25, 1980.

Members present: Hoffman, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. Members absent: Grabanski.

Leonard Skaar and Daniel Johnson appeared in behalf of the Pennington County Soil Conservation Board and explained that problems had arisen in the effort to organize Resource Conservation & Development Group (RC&D) and has requested permission to join with the Headwaters RC&D in Bemidji to form a larger organization with a broader base. Presently the Headwaters RC&D is organized with the Counties of Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Mahnomen, Lake of the Woods and the Red Lake Tribal Council. The proposal would then expand that organization to include the Counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. Commissioner Hoffman introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that Pennington County join with the Headwaters RC&D of Bemidji in forming a larger base for the organization as suggested by the Pennington County Soil Conservation District Board and the Chairman and Auditor be authorized and instructed to take such steps as are necessary to accomplish this goal. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon call for vote was declared unanimously approved.

Moved by Koop seconded by Hoffman that a levy be made for ditch maintenance purposes against property assessed to the various ditches for 1980 payable in 1981, and when such tax is collected, said maintenance levy shall be credited to the various ditches, as follows: A 4 per cent levy on property in County Ditch 44 area; an 8 per cent levy against property in the area benefited by Jud. Ditch No. 1 and Jud. Ditch 41 (80); A 10 per cent levy against property in Rox San No. 1 (8); Wy-RF 2(16); Co. 37, 51, 53, 55, 62, 74, Jud. 11 and Jud. 18; and a 20 per cent levy against San-BR No. 1 (1); R-N No. 1(4); Co. 25, 31, 35, 38, 39, 43, 47, 49, 75, Jud. 13, Jud. 14, Jud. 15 and Jud. 25-2. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Board reviewed a letter from Oldrich Hoffman, President of the Goodridge Senior Citizens, Inc. indicating a desire to apply for Federal funds in the amount of $35,000. to renovate a part of the old Goodridge Liquor Store for a Senior Center. The Auditor was instructed to write a letter to the Northwestern Regional Commission in behalf of the Goodridge Senior Citizens in support of the request for funds.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Koop that meeting adjourn to convene at 10:00 A.M., December 8, 1980. Motion carried.

Healthy Eating At Holidays Advised

Holiday tables heaped high with festive treats groan under the weight of lovingly prepared foods. But sometimes the people who get up from these tables also are groaning and weighted down — for many months into the new year.

Overeating and high sugar consumption is prominent during the holiday season, say dietitians. At this time of year, overeating becomes socially acceptable, even encouraged, according to registered dietitians Liz Cochran and Phyllis Spahn. Overeating often is done to prevent hurt feelings in those who have so carefully and lovingly prepared the traditional holiday foods that help make the season special.

This attitude and the availability of so many high-calorie and sugar-laden foods make the holidays especially difficult for children and adults with special dietary needs.

Learning to control intake, while still enjoying the festive foods, and preparing low-calorie alternatives are two ways to make the holiday season more enjoyable for all family members and friends, say the dietitians. They offer the following suggestions.

Think through the eating day. If an evening includes a big holiday meal or party, eat smaller, lighter meals during the day. Vegetable and fruit juices are a good between-meal refreshment.

Avoid skipping meals; the built-up hunger may cause overeating and snacking later in the day.

At parties, eat one or two cookies rather than 10, and do not hesitate to share a rich dessert or bar with someone.

Chew slowly and concentrate on the food for a moment. People tend to overeat when they are chatting and eating, because they are concentrating on thoughts and ideas rather than the flavor and texture of the food.

To control eating at home, it's easier if holiday treats are kept frozen or in opaque (non-see through) and difficult-to-reach containers. "Out of sight, out of mind!"

Fewer high-calorie treats might be better for everyone's health this year. At cookie exchange parties consider exchanging two or three dozen cookies rather than 12 dozen, or suggest sharing low-calorie recipes and foods in addition to sugary goodies.

Limit the amount of high-calorie foods eaten. For instance, one or two cookies for each child as an after-school snack or substitute variety crackers, cheese, raw vegetables cut in interesting shapes, or fruit.

Avoid the use of food as a reward. For children, compile a list of mutually acceptable non-food rewards like clothing, craft material, tickets for ball games or concerts, record albums, sports equipment or special time spent together.

Get away from food if temptation is too great. Read a book, work on a hobby, call a friend — instead of eating. Generally, the urge to overeat passes if the activity is interesting.

Exercise is a great diversion. Take a walk, have a family snowball fight or fort building contest. These activities not only get minds off eating, but they also burn calories.

Sleigh rides and ice skating parties provide balance for holiday eating and are enjoyable ways for families, neighborhoods, and friends to celebrate the season.

Foods can be prepared and served to help those who are trying to control eating. Cochran and Spahn suggest:

+ Offer small servings and single-bite cookies for sampling.

+ Make quick breads — which are lower in calories than fruitcake — in smaller pans for dainty servings.

+ Bake cranberry or pumpkin muffins in miniature cups and eliminate the frosting.

+Heat orange, pineapple, and low-calorie cranberry juices with spices for a flavorful punch; or make an iced drink from cranberry juice and low-calorie, lemon-lime pop.

+ Perk-up raw vegetable favorites for the holidays; carrot curls, radish roses, celery featherdusters. Check cookbooks for more ideas.

+ Create finger-sized, low-calorie sandwiches with holiday cookie cutters.

+ Serve from and decorate with a fresh fruit centerpiece — a refreshing break from sweets — or offer fruit and cheese kabobs. Limit amounts of cheese for calorie watchers.

For more low-calorie food ideas, check the many excellent cookbooks that are available say Spahn and Cochran.

Final Plans Made For RRV Winter Shows

1981 Red River Valley winter shows, scheduled for February 20 through March 1, is now taking on final form with many volunteer committee members over the 14-county area completing the details and forwarding the plans to the winter shows office.

Booth space for the farm service exhibitors is again experiencing heavy demands, according to Larry Brekken, manager. Premium book is now in the final stages of revision and will be mailed out in late December. A major change in the book will be the addition of a central core of different-color pages including the preliminary schedule of events for the entire winter shows week.

Educational seminars are already filled with 10 seminars scheduled. An emphasis on "Energy for Agriculture" is highlighted in two of the seminars.

Fall meeting of the board of managers was conducted November 3. Attendance was nearly 100 per cent. New members of the board include: Dale Finkenbinder, Crookston, representing the Red River Valley sugarbeet growers; Bud Berglind, Ada, representing the King Agassiz association; and Marlys Finkenbinder, Crookston, representing the women's division. Show plans were reviewed and budgets were set for 1981.

A youth committee representing all groups working with youth in the Red River Basin has been formed to coordinate the gowing youth section of the Red River Valley winter shows and is charied by George Nornes, Climax.

SOMETHING NEW in the line of activities for the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce Ambassadors is the placement of signs on remodeling, expansion and new construction projects in the city. Dwight Tangquist and Bill Hogan of the Ambassadors place a sign on the expansion of Bjorkman's Clothing while Cliff Bjorkman and his son Richard watch. The signs have been designed to call attention to progress of the local business community. Bjorkman's is expanding into the former J & B Drug building. J & B joined with Corner Drug in a recent expansion to create Thomas Drug.

Top County DHIA Herds Noted For Oct.

Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the Pennington county dairy herd improvement association (DHIA), lists the following herds as top in the association for October.

In first place is Duane Krohn, whose herd produced an average of 54.5 pounds of milk, and 2.00 pounds of butterfat; followed by Gene Nelson, 52.1 and 1.94; Gordon Wetterlund & Son, 48.6 and 1.65; Knute Nesland 47.8 and 1.77; Mylo Carlson, 47.5 and 1.91; Clarence Swanson, 46.4 and 1.61; Merle Lundeen, 45.3 and 1.69; Duane Vatsaas, 44.1 and 1.56; Marvin Koop, 43.5 and 1.75; and Walter Bros. Farm, 43.0 and 1.51.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. Amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows, giving the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for the month may be low, even though the cows which are milking are high producers.

There were 29 DHIA herds and five owner-sampler herds on October test for a total of 34 herds on test. There were 18 cows that completed records with over 625 pounds of fat in 305 days or less.

Enrollment At MN. AVTIs Up For '80-81 Year

Winter quarter enrollment figures for the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute continue to reflect the growth experienced by Minnesota's 33 AVTIs during the 1980-81 school year, according to information released by Dr. Orley D. Gunderson, director of the Thief River Falls AVTI.

As of December 1, the first day of winter quarter, 488 full time students were attending the Thief River Falls AVTI, showing a 9.7 per cent increase over enrollment for a similar date one year ago.

Statewide, student enrollment in Minnesota's post-secondary area vocational-technical institutes increased 9.1 per cent, according to statistics released in November by the state department of education. Much of the increase can be attributed to the continuing need for upgrading of skills by some previously employed persons and others who want to prepare themselves for a meaningful career.

Also noted by Gunderson was the most recent placement report which showed that 95 per cent of these Thief River Falls AVTI students graduating or completing their training during the 1979-80 school year found meaningful employment.

GTA Manager Urges Gearing Up For Growth

The nation's grain farmers and the marketing system serving them must gear up for dramatic growth in the future, B. J. Malusky, president of the Grain Terminal association (GTA) told 2,500 GTA delegates and patrons at their annual meeting last week in Minneapolis.

Reporting on GTA's past fiscal year, Malusky said the St. Paul-based grain marketing and processing cooperative had record sales and grain volume because of increasing export demand. He said export sales are setting new records annually and pointed out that some observers believe sales may double this year's $40 billion figure by the end of the decade.

Citing several improvements made by GTA in its facilities and plants, Malusky said the cooperative has been forced into continual expansion just to hold its own in the competitive grain marketing industry.

The manager of each of GTA's seven operating divisions reported on the last year's performance and on changes being made to prepare for the expected increase in demand.

R. A. Pavek, manager of GTA's country operations division, said the 780 local cooperatives affiliated with GTA are feeling the same pressures for change, and are being forced to merge and consolidate for greater size and efficiency.

He said GTA, in seeking the best market for member elevators, finds the best price depends on the ability of the local elevator to load anything from a single car to a trainload quickly and efficiently.

Pavek said the trend to consolidation among locals is similar to a trend among GTA and other regional co-ops to form inter-regional barge lines, transportation co-ops and other agencies to provide facilities and services the individual regional cooperative can not afford singly.

Dr. Paul Middaugh, a Washington state biochemist, told the annual meeting rising gasoline prices have now made fuel alcohol production much more feasible.

He said ethanol produced from a coal-fired corn distillery has a positive energy gain equal to .83 gallon of crude oil for every gallon of alcohol produced. Middaugh also outlined the potential for fuel alcohol production on a local grain elevator scale. He said support for gasohol is coming from the grass roots level and that the alcohol movement is still in the Model T stage.

George L. Pratt, head of the agricultural engineering department at North Dakota state university, reviewed his research on sunflower oil as an alternative to diesel fuel.

"We've been burning 100 per cent sunflower oil in some of our diesel tractors on a demonstration basis with relatively few problems," he said.

Glenn Hofer, vice president of the national council of farmer cooperatives, Washington, D.C., and U.S. Senator John Melcher, D-Montana, outlined what farmers might expect from a Reagan administration. They said they don't expect any great changes to take place.

Hofer said, "I've been in Washington for 12 years and have seen administrations come and go without making any sweeping changes in agriculture."

Fourteen resolutions were passed by GTA delegates in the Wednesday afternoon session. Delegates resolved to endorse cooperative participation in railroad rehabilitation and to seriously consider cooperative ownership of rail lines. The delegate body also resolved to oppose embargoes that single out farm commodities and to further study the feasibility of fuel alcohol production.

Delegates reelected four members to the GTA board of directors. They were: Olaf Haugo, Waubun; Gerald Redlin, Lambert, Montana; Donald Giffey, Roseglen, North Dakota; and Fred G. Ehlers, Hettinger, North Dakota. The GTA board of directors is made-up of 13 active farmers.

The convention closed with an address by U.S. Congressman Mark Andrews, R-North Dakota. Andrews is one of only 14 active farmers in the U.S. Congress. He was elected to the U.S. Senate in the November election. Andrews discussed recent farm legislation and talked about the important role agriculture plays in the nation's economy.

He said, "The abundance of the family farm is the strongest beacon of hope in a troubled world and the most overlooked plus we have as a nation. The question to answer as we go into the decade of the 80's is are we going to finally recognize the contributions that agriculture makes to this nation and to the world."

Objections At Hearing Delay Parking Decision

Opponents and proponents to the final hearing on the parking assessment district project proposed for Thief River Falls voiced their opinions before city council members and parking assessment district committee members last evening.

Committee members include Jon Larson, chairman, along with Dick Bjorkman and Duane Walton, business representatives; city representatives, Mayor Bob Carlson, and aldermen Dr. Don Goodrich and Bill Penning, with assistance provided by Don Stewart of the Stewart and Walker firm; Jerry Wigness, city clerk; Jack Quinlivan, city planner, Bob Flynn, among others.

Hearing began with a summary of the properties proposed for acquisition for parking, project costs, and a list of the five categories of properties and their portion of the project. Assessments are based on square footage of property with credit given for areas used for storage and for on-site parking.

"There are some discrepancies in the assessment role that must be worked out before council members make their final decision," Mayor Bob Carlson, presiding officer at the hearing stated.

Once the discrepancies are ironed out, and if the assessment role is adopted, objectors to the assessment role will have 30 days to file a written notice with the district court, if they so desire.

"This is the final hearing on the project," Larson said. "It is your decision to determine if you want parking or not."

Don Stewart explained further that three project hearings have been conducted on the issue. He then described the properties proposed for acquisition to be used for off-street parking on the project. They include: (1) a 100 foot parcel of land of what is now the Sjoberg Cable TV parking lot and the Thief River Falls Credit Bureau building on Main avenue; (2) the old Lind Motor building and the 50 foot parking area abutting LaBree avenue owned by Northwestern Hospital services; and (3) the 100 x 140 foot lot facing Horace on Fourth street owned by Northern State Bank.

Costs involved within the project, continued Stewart, include a total project cost of $601,775 with the city of Thief River Falls expected to contribute $114,825 worth of in-kind services. Also included in costs, are acquisition, interest, and miscellaneous project costs for legal fees, engineering relocation, real estate fees and other items, in an amount of $486,950 which will be spread among the participants in the parking assessment district.

All businesses, Stewart said, have been assigned to specific categories in the assessment district including (1) retail, commercial and financial, who will pay 61.2 per cent of the district's share of the $486,950; (2) food, beverage and clubs who will pay 4.6 per cent of the project cost; (3) public, office, service and professional, who will pay 31.8 per cent of the cost; (4) wholesale and processing, who will pay 2.3 per cent of the cost; and (5) manufacturing, which includes one manufacturer who will pay one-tenth of one per cent of the project cost. (further explanations of these properties and costs are explained in the November 26 issue of the Times).

Appearing before council members in opposition to the assessments was Bob Bredeson who stated, "I doubt if private business can afford the proposed assessments at this time," before council and the committee presenting a petition of 25 names of those

Dahlin, Swanson Win Top Awards

Winton Dahlin and Irving Swanson of Thief River Falls received the Award of Merit — highest award that the Boy Scouts of America can present on a district level — at the annual scout leader recognition banquet Saturday evening at the University of Minnesota in Crookston.

Dahlin is assistant cubmaster of Pack 199 and Swanson is scouting coordinator for Explorer Post 200. Also receiving the top district award at the banquet was MariLynn Jacobs, cubmaster from Halstad.

Voyageur Trails district includes Kittson, Marshall, Roseau, Red Lake, Pennington, Polk, Norman and Mahnomen counties.

Conducted annually to recognize volunteer scout leaders for their contributions to the local and district Cub scout, Boy scout and Explorer programs, the banquet also provided a forum for presentation of a number of other awards. Thomas Przybylski, district scout executive, listed the following award recipients:

Scouters Key — MariLynn Jacobs, Halstad;

Arrowhead Award — Louise McLean, Thief River Falls and Don Votava, Warren;

Scouters Training Award — Jim Bowen, Hallock;

Den Leader Coach Training Award — Sharon Johnson, Thief River Falls;

Oscar Elshaug, scoutmaster of Troop 43 in Crookston and a former Thief River Falls resident, was main speaker at the banquet. He commended the volunteers for a job well

Parnow Continues Life Of Helping

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

Why is it that there are so many who are hesitant to tell their stories to those who are willing to listen?

They fumble about in search of an excuse for no actual cause, for it seems it is these very people who have the greatest stories to tell.

Mary Parnow celebrated her 95th birthday Saturday. To her, it was not an extraordinary event — another birthday, another year gone past. But for her friends, relatives and others who know her, it was an event to be celebrated — to be remembered — and to be shared with someone they are very fond of.

"She's a special lady; there's nothing she hasn't done," exclaimed Anna Johnsrud, a visitor to Mary's home Monday — the third day friends and relatives had helped Mary celebrate 95 years of an accumulation of hard work combined with much love and good-hearted efforts to help others.

The table in her apartment was filled with desserts that day, including cake, jello, date bread and a special delicacy — krumkake, baked by Mrs. Johnsrud, which were complemented by tiny white napkins bearing the phrase, "Some of God's Miracles are Small."

Her reaction to a fourth unfamiliar guest to her party Monday brought her inquiry, "Will you stay for coffee?" The hot coffee was accompanied with a "taste" of the assorted desserts, as one can never be "full" when

A GOLD CROSS was presented to Mary Parnow, 95, by the congregation of St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls Sunday in honor of her birthday. At 95, Mary continues to think of others by baking for them and by bringing taped sermons of worship services from St. John church to those unable to leave their homes.

Select Jurors In 1st Degree Murder Trial

Selection of 12 jurors and two alternates in the first degree murder trial of Edward Theodor Cox of Aitkin in Pennington county district court was completed Tuesday and opening statement by the prosecution and calling of prosecution witnesses began this morning.

Cox, 19, is being tried in Pennington county on a change of venue granted at the request of the defense. Two other individuals also charged in the case have already been tried. All were indicated in early July by Aitkin county grand jury in the stabbing death of Inga Warren June 18 at her bait shop located seven miles south of Aitkin on highway 169.

Jurors selected to hear the case are RaeAnn Halvorson, Sharon Smith, Tommy Johnson, Marilyn Bannerman, Leonard Helm, Patricia Schob, Paul Halverson, Dorothy Nelson, Robert Burstad, Dorothy Halsa, John Wolbeck and Adeline Haney. Alternate jurors selected are David Hoglin and Loren Borsheim.

Prosecuting the case is John Leitner, Aitkin county attorney, assisted by Richard Hodsdon of the Minnesota attorney general's office. Defense attorney is Paul Kief, public defender from Bemidji. Leitner made his opening statement shortly after the trial begain at 9:30 a.m. today. The prosecution expects to call 30 to 40 witnesses in the trial which is expected to last about two weeks.

All three men indicted in the murder case were 18 at the time Mrs. Warren was killed. Tim Tibbetts was permitted to plead guilty to a lesser charge of second degree murder in exchange for his agreement to tell the truth and to testify at the trials of the other two defendants, Leitner said. He has not yet been sentenced.

John Lemire, the other defendant, was tried on the first degree murder charge in Grand Rapids, found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment at St. Cloud state prison.

Change of venue was granted on the contention by the defense that Cox could not receive a fair trial in Aitkin county due to widespread publicity and discussion of the case. Presiding at the trial here is Judge Warren A. Saetre.

Lions Pancake Breakfast For Yule Projects

To raise funds for Christmas projects — including the Christmas eve meal for those who have no family to share Christmas with and purchase of gifts for underprivileged children — the Thief River Falls evening Lions club will sponsor a pancake breakfast Sunday.

According to Tom Jorgenson, club president, the breakfast will be served from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Pancakes, sausages, ice cream, milk and coffee will be served at a cost of $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Advisory Committees To Play More Vital Roles

"Advisory committees have previously played an important role in vocational-technical education, but our intention is to make them even more effective through increased involvement, awareness and responsibility," states Dr. Orley Gunderson, director of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute.

Dr. Gunderson summarized the goals of the AVTI administration following a series of meetings with advisory committees for nearly all of the school's 22 advisory groups. There are advisory bodies for each of the AVTI's instructional departments, plus adult programs and areas such as student personnel services and special needs.

"I don't believe in wasting people's time," stated the new director, who came here this year from East Grand Forks to take over the AVTI administrative post. "We want advisory committee members who know their business and who will ask tough questions and challenge us to have the right answers and to meet the needs of our students.

"If committees are to be simply rubber stamps for the faculty or the administration we might as well forget about them and save the time and effort spent," he said.

Part of the committee meeting time during the past few weeks included the review of department budgets. Dr. Gunderson will be going to the local board of education Thursday with budget requests, and each of those requests will have been reviewed and approved by the advisory committees.

"At the next meeting of the committees we intend to take a good look at curriculum," Dr. Gunderson sals. "Many of our programs have been operating for 25 years or more. We need to make sure that what we are teaching is current and that students leave our school equipped in the best manner possible for the work fields they are entering.

"We know of areas now where it is essential that updating be accelerated. We will look to the members of our advisory committees to help guide us in the directions we should take to increase the employability of our graduates. We are here to prepare people for employment and no one can be a better judge of our success or failure than the employers who hire them and former graduates now in the field. They can talk to us through the advisory committees. We are certainly read and willing to listen and to act."

A listing of the advisory committees at the AVTI includes the following with ex-officio members generally being faculty members or administrators of the AVTI:

AREA LEGISLATORS were guests of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce Tuesday at a tour of local educational and industrial facilities and a reception held at Lon's restaurant. Sen. Roger Moe of Ada made the tour with other legislators but missed the reception due to evening commitments elsewhere. Legislators who attended the reception are pictured here. Newly elected State Representative LeRoy Stumpf of District 1B is shown at right in the top photo visiting with Brad Powell of Arctic Enterprises. Sen. Marv Hanson of Hallock, representing Senate District 1, is shown at center in the middle photo with Al Bacon (left) of Northwestern Bell Telephone company and Eugene Howes, real estate salesman and accountant. In the bottom photo, Dale Dillon (left), president of the chamber of commerce, is shown in discussion with Rep. Myron Nysether of Ross, representing District 1A.

Mark Twain's Concert Friday At Franklin

Mark Twain elementary school Christmas concert Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the Franklin middle school gymnasium is entitled "Joyful Sounds, All Year 'Round". It is under the direction of Jeanne Harger.

Second graders will cover the winter months of January, February and March, with Paul Borchert playing autoharp and David Kiesow and Jerod Kolden having special parts in the March revue.

Fourth graders are involved with April through August and dialogue will be provided by Jeremy Grandstrand, Travis Jansen, Brian Leach and Kent Wojahn with Shawn Heinze and Aaron Tofte as Santas.

First graders will supply numbers for autumn months of September, October and November with autoharp played by Ellen Olson and Michael Petrillo, assisted by Jana Vacura.

Kindergarten, fifth grade and third grade will present Christmas with Carrie Johnson as pianist for the kindergarten presentation of "Twinkle Little Star". Third grade will be assisted by the fourth and fifth grades in the mini-musical "The Elf Factory".

Reallocation Of County Revenue Sharing Is Made

Reallocation of revenue sharing funds, adjustment of fees for on-sale and off-sale beer licenses, review of insurance coverages and rates and discussion of a second office for the Red Lake Watershed were among items handled by the Pennington county commissioners at their meeting Monday.

Since revenue sharing for the coming year had not been enacted by the Congress, commissioners Monday dealt with reallocation of funds existing in the revenue sharing account. The 1981 regional library request as funded at $15,000, $5,000 was allocated to the senior citizen bus program, $79,000 toward the purchase of a new motor grader for the highway department and $97,000 has now been accumulated in a fund toward making the courthouse building barrier-free for the handicapped.

On-sale 3.2 beer licenses were increased from $10 to $50 per year and off-sale beer licenses from $3 to $25 annually. Club liquor license held by the Thief River golf club was increased from $100 to $300 and on-sale liquor license fee was left unchanged at $1,200 annually. There are two of those licenses in the county, one for Kife's cafe and one for the Trapper N' Trader at Goodridge.

License holders are being advised of the rate changes and are being requested to have applications for licenses filed by the December 16 meeting of the board, at which time action on the applications is expected to be taken.

A delegation from Black River and Polk Centre townships appeared to express concern over the moving of a field crossing along a county highway, affecting drainage patterns, and leaving of ditch banks and

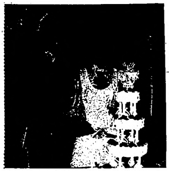
SOCIETY and CLUBS



Galland And Ashman Vows Spoken At Mentor

Miss Nancy Ruth Galland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Galland of Mentor and Charles Randal Ashman, son of Mrs. Roaslie Pierce of Lancaster, Wis., exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, November 1, at 2:00 p.m., at the Faith Lutheran church in Mentor.

Rev. Harold Petersen officiated at the double ring ceremony. At the organ was Mrs. Edna Neibauer. She played "Bridal Chorus" for the processional and "Wedding March" for the recessional. Dove Machart sang "The Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candelabra accented with orange and yellow bows formed the chancel setting. The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a white organza gown styled with a stand-up collar and Queen Anne sleeves appliqued with lace. English embroidery complemented the tulle yoke, traced the empire waistline and edged her A-line skirt that flowed back into a chapel-length train. Her veil of bridal illusion, edged with Chantilly lace, fell from a lace headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and iridescents. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of silk flowers, featuring peach roses, yellow daisies and babies' breath.

Sharon Wolf, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow double knit gown trimmed with lace; and she carried a bouquet of silk peach roses, yellow stephanotis and babies' breath. In her hair, she wore a cluster of yellow stephanotis.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, John Ashman. He wore a brown suit, a yellow shirt and a peach rose boutonniere accented with babies' breath and greenery. The groom's brown suit was complemented by a peach shirt and peach-rose boutonniere backed by babies' breath, orange forget-me-nots and greenery.

Ushers were Bruce Galland, cousin of the bride, and Ray Graham, brother of the groom. Becky Wold, a cousin of the bride, was at the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Galland, uncle and aunt of the bride, as host and hostess. The white, four-tiered wedding cake, with each tier supported by swan pillars, was decorated with orange and yellow flowers, as were the heart-shaped cakes that graced the base. A cluster of wedding bells topped the cake and ceramic cherubs complemented the heart cakes. The cakes were cut and served by Lorraine Galland and Peggy Brodeur, cousins of the bride. At the coffee service were Donna Sveningson and Derva Sveningson, aunts of the bride.

At the punch bowl were Reg and Janis Galland. Waitresses were Penny Sveningson, and Karen Wolf with Marilyn Erickson in charge of the head table. All are cousins of the bride.

The reception concluded with the bride and groom opening their wedding gifts. Karen Wold and Mark Sveningson, cousins of the bride, were gift bearers, and Lori Sveningson, also a cousin of the bride, displayed the gifts.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Rosalie Pierce, Margaret Graham and John Ashman of Lancaster, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Art Grimstad, Jason Grimstad and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Galland, Wadena; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erickson and family of New York Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Clem Erickson of Twin Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Erickson and family of Lockhart and Mr. and Mrs. Marc Erickson and family, Evelyn and Elaine Johnson and Mrs. Frank Machart of Erskine;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Barry Demsky and family, Apple Valley; Janeen Galland, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolf and girls and James, John and Jackie Thode, Red Lake Falls; Gwen Sveningson and Peggy Brodeur, Grand Forks, N.D.; Randy Goosen, Crookston; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Walhaug and Marilyn and Karen Whyte, Oklee; and Mr. and Mrs. Hilding Bergh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell and family and Lowell Knowlen, Thief River Falls.

The couple is now at home in Thief River Falls where both are employed.

Norma Hanson On Agri-Women U.S. Committee

Mrs. Lynn (Norma) Hanson of Goodridge was elected to the 1981 nominating committee and appointed as education chairman for the coming year at the fifth annual convention of American Agri-Women (AAW) held recently at Hershey, PA.

More than 200 farm women attended the convention to set goals, adopt resolutions, participate in committee meetings and workshops and share and express concerns for agriculture.

Also attending the convention from northern Minnesota were Marion DeBoer, Marcella Erdmann, Annette Abrams and Donna Ulseth.

Keynoting the convention was the showing of a film entitled "The Incredible Bread Machine" and a reaction panel including Dr. Hiram Drache, professor of economic history at Concordia college; Susan Sechler, USDA; Congressman Bill Goodling of Pennsylvania; and several others.

Committee meetings throughout the convention covered such topics as estate taxes, agricultural chemicals, food and nutrition, gasohol and grain marketing. Three farm women from Australia participated in a panel to discuss farm problems and solutions in their country.

Among resolutions adopted at the convention was one resolving that the American Agri-Women support actively tax measures consistent with continuation of family farms and oppose actively those existing or proposed tax laws not consistent with the continued existence of family farms.

Swanson And Dahlin Receive Scout Awards

done, cautioned that there is still a lot of work to be done and emphasized that council and district activities are only extensions of what begins at the local level.

Among award presenters were Louise McLean, Art Heinze and Elody Olson of Thief River Falls. Mrs. McLean presented training awards, Heinze the arrowhead and appreciation awards and a district award of merit, and Mrs. Olson a district award of merit.

Irving Swanson has been active in the scouting program for 21 years, starting as a committee member for Pack 60 in Thief River Falls in 1959. He later served as cubmaster of Pack 60 for about 15 years and as scoutmaster for Troop 60 for two years. In 1977 he helped organize Explorer Post 200 which has a career emphasis on law enforcement. Presently he is scouting coordinator for the post and is also the district Explorer chairman and has helped organize other law enforcement posts.

Swanson has been active in the district scout exposition held in Thief River Falls, served as co-chairman of the Canadian scout exchange program for 11 years, and has been involved in such city scouting activities as city clean-up, flag day celebration, Aquacade parades and scout camporees.

A member of the Thief River Falls police department for 22 years, Swanson was cited in 1973 for outstanding service to his community. He is a member of the Pennington county sportsmen club and has served as president and secretary-treasurer. For five years he has been active in the youth firearms safety training program. Swanson is a member of Redeemer Lutheran church.

Winton Dahlin has been active in scouting for more than 20 years. On the local level he served as "Den Dad" while his wife was a den leader, then served as assistant cubmaster and cubmaster for Pack 60. When his sons joined the scouting program, he serves as scoutmaster for Troop 60.

Dahlin has assisted in numerous district scout expositions, Canadian Cub scout exchanges and other local events. He has headed the district camporee and presently assists with district Cub caber day, pow wow, round tables and Webelos training, frequently attending district and council events.

Currently serving as co-Webelos leader and assistant cubmaster for Pack 199, he has held those posts for the past four years. He has assisted in the past in organizing new units and recruiting leaders in the district.

A member of Trinity Lutheran church, Dahlin serves as greeter, usher and substitute Sunday school teacher. He is employed as a painter at Forsberg's, Inc. Winton and his wife Terri have three sons, all of whom have been active in the scouting program.

Plummer High School Concert Is December 18

Music department of Pershing high school in Plummer has set the date for its annual Christmas program for December 18 at 7:30 p.m., in the school gymnasium.

Songs and instrumental selections will be performed by the entire elementary school, including the junior band. High school choir will be featured along with the senior girls ensemble, triple trio and the eighth and ninth grade girls ensemble. The brass and woodwind choirs will add to the program as they will accompany the singers and the audience on special Christmas carols.

A lunch, served by the music boosters, will follow the concert. Everyone is cordially invited to share in the spirit of Christmas by attending the concert which is free and open to all, according to Larry Larson, director of music at the school.

Arthur Richard Moen, a son of the late Andrew K. and Alida Moen, was born June 2, 1920 in Spruce Valley township, near Middle River. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Middle River community.

On April 1, 1946, he was united in marriage to Louise McFarlane at Newfolden. The couple lived and farmed in Spruce Valley township. Following his wife's death in March of 1951, Moen continued to live on the farm.

He served on the Spruce Valley town board for several years.

He is survived by three brothers: Magnus Moen, Middle River; Knute, Moorhead; and Henry, Spokane, Wash.; three sisters: Mrs. Bertha Tunheim, Newfolden; Mrs. Inga Kezar, Viking; and Mrs. Elman (Berghild) Rehder, Comstock; and several nieces and nephews.

In addition to his wife and parents, he was preceded in death by a niece and two nephews.

Ralph Hanson Services Held Here Monday

Funeral services for Ralph O. Hanson, 44, of Thief River Falls, were held Monday at 2:00 p.m., at Trinity Lutheran church. Hanson, the architectural drafting instructor at the local Area Vocational Technical institute (AVTI), died Thursday at the United Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D.

Rev. Berton Hushagen officiated at the services. Mrs. Carl Nordvall was the organist and Mrs. William Penning, the soloist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Fred Ballou, Milton Burstad, Kenneth Wagner, Charles Hedeen, Harry Oen and James Cuppett.

Ralph O. Hanson was born in Thief River Falls on Dec. 13, 1935 to Albert and Myrtle Hafdahl Hanson. He was baptized and confirmed at Trinity Lutheran church and was graduated in 1953 from Lincoln high school. He was also a graduate of Bemidji State university and Wahpeton School of Science. Following graduation he was employed by Wells and Denbrook Associates in Grand Forks for several years. He then worked at Kegel and Associates in Detroit Lakes for a time before returning to Wells and Denbrook in Grand Forks. For the past 11 years, he had been an instructor at the local AVTI.

He was a member of the MEA, served as treasurer of the Thief River Falls membership for a number of years, and was a life member of the NEA.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Hanson, Thief River Falls; two sisters: Pauline Hanson, Bloomington, and Mrs. Darrell (Julie) Hursman, Crookston; and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his father, Albert Hanson, who died in 1963.

Elmer Rux Services Held In St. Hilaire

Funeral services for Elmer Rux, 77, of St. Hilaire will be held Thursday at 1:00 p.m., at the Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire. Rux, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Lloyd Heroff will officiate at the service. Organist and soloist will be Mrs. Sherman Idso. Interment will be in the Rux cemetery.

Serving as active pallbearers will be nephews: Frank Staskivige, Wendell Ortloff, Earl Lenz, Delmer Rux, Jerald Rux and Ronald Udstrand. The remaining nephews will be the honorary pallbearers.

The body is reposing at the Green Funeral home and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Elmer Rux was born Nov. 24, 1903 in Sanders township, Pennington county, to David and Emelia Lange Rux. He attended school and grew to manhood in that community.

On May 21, 1939, he was united in marriage to Gina Arnevick in Thief River Falls. The couple made their home in Thief River Falls where Rux was employed for over 30 years by O & M Elevator. Following his retirement in 1968, they continued living here until 1975, when they moved to St. Hilaire.

He is survived by his wife, son son: Durlyn Rux, Thief River Falls; a daughter, Mrs. Loring (Betty) Lord, also of Thief River Falls; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Rodney (Marian) Myrum, Fosston; six grandchildren, and a sister: Mrs. Roy (Myrtle) Brandon, Burr Oak, Kans.

He was preceded in death by his parents, five sisters; Marie, Olga, Hazel, Florence and Violet; and seven brothers: Walter, Reuben, Emil, Clarence, Harry, Art and David, who died in infancy.

Rites Held At Greenbush For Vern Temanson

Funeral services for Vernon (Dyke) Temanson, 70, former Greenbush postmaster, were held Friday at 10:00 a.m., at the Bethel Lutheran church in Greenbush. Temanson died unexpectedly Tuesday morning, December 2, at St. Luke's hospital in Fargo, N.D.

Rev. Glen Stadler officiated at the services. Mrs. Keith Kapphahn was the organist and accompanied the congregational singing. Interment was in the church cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Greenbush, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Kirk, Steven, Richard and Larry Holmes and Marc and Mike Schenkey.

Military honors were provided by the Greenbush American Legion post.

Vernon Adrian Temanson, a son of the late Ole K. and Zula Temanson, was born Aug. 15, 1910 at Crookston. As a child, he moved with his family to Strandquist. There he attended school, graduating in 1928 from the Strandquist high school. He also attended the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Army from February of 1942 until his discharge in September of 1945.

While in the service, he was married at Middle River on Dec. 29, 1942 to Leona Schenkey.

Following his discharge, the couple settled at Greenbush, where Temanson and his father operated the Chevrolet dealership until 1954, when he was appointed Greenbush postmaster. He continued as postmaster until his retirement in June of 1972.

He was active in the affairs of the Greenbush community, serving for a time on the City council and as city clerk. He was also a member of the Bethel Lutheran church, the Greenbush American Legion post, and was a charter member of the Greenbush Golf association.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters: Mrs. Brian (Jeanne) Richards, North Branch; and Mrs. Kenneth (Janis) Cram, Minneapolis; two grandchildren: Ursula and Gabriel Richards, both of Minneapolis; and two sisters: Mrs. Luella Andre, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. George (Evelyn) Stanley, Minneapolis.

AFTERNOON VISITORS to the home of Mary Parnow (right) in the Skylite Apartments in Thief River Falls Monday were Anna Johnsrud (left) and Emma Erickson. The women were two of the many visitors who gathered for the third consecutive day of Mary's 95th birthday celebration. She has many visitors to her home, she said. "People come and they come."

Viking School Program Tues.

Band and choir from Viking elementary school will present their annual Christmas program tomorrow (Tuesday) at 1:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. Under the direction of Jan Klopp, the program will feature a play, "Silent Night," presented by grades one through three.

Mary Parnow Continues Long Life Of Service

offered home-baked goods.

Mary was presented with a gold cross from the congregation at St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls Sunday for her birthday and cake and coffee were served to her and her guests before the Sunday morning worship service at the church. She received numerous cards, a bouquet of roses from her children and a second bouquet of flowers from one of her granddaughters, Mary Kay Marth of Phoenix, AZ.

She has five children — Mrs. Harvey (Alice) Patten of Thief River Falls, Raymond of Goodridge, Ethel, who lives in California, Robert, who also lives in Goodridge, and Carrol of North Carolina.

And how many grandchildren?

"Gee, I've got to count 'em first," she said, raising her hands and smiling.

The final number was 14, along with 15 great-grandchildren. Photos of some of them were evident on the bulletin board in her living room, along with some of the artistic "sketches" they had sent her.

There would be too many to buy for at Christmas this year, she admitted. With prices today, "you can't buy for everyone," she said.

"But they know she still thinks of them," Anna added.

Mary's birthday celebration has continued since her birthday Saturday and probably will extend even further since she has many visitors to her home, she admitted.

"Oh, yes, people drop in," she smiled. "They come and they come."

Four loaves of bread, buns and cinnamon rolls were prepared by Mary for the annual Christmas fair at St. John church Saturday — a task she didn't mind at all — even if it was on her birthday.

"They were all gone right away!" she exclaimed. "But that's what I brought them there for."

Mary made a living at baking for others when she first came to Thief River Falls 30 years ago. Now she doesn't do as much of it, for several reasons, including the cost of baking materials, time involved, and the work. She baked and carried her goods herself to the Hartz store in Thief River Falls when there was a lunch counter there, she said. And it was also Mary's hobby to visit those who couldn't leave their homes at that time.

"I'd walk to Oakland Park once a week to visit the people there," she said, adding, "that doesn't seem far."

Visitos to residents of Valley Home and to patients at the hospital here remain a large part of Mary's past. "I went as often as I could," she said.

And, for the past two years, Mary has been bringing taped sermons of Sunday morning's services at St. John church to those who are unable to leave their homes. Her daughter, Alice, helps her deliver them, she said. "Some of them wait for me to come over every day," she smiled.

Mary can still be seen going for her evening walks as weather permits. The glossy layer of ice now covering the city roads and sidewalks prevent her from doing this in the winter months.

"She used to say she'd be stiff in the morning if she didn't walk in the evening," added Emma Erickson, another visitor to the birthday party Monday afternoon.

Mary also embroiders, writes letters and reads, besides doing the "regular housework" to occupy her time.

She was scurrying to clear the table of empty dishes as we began to leave.

She thanked us for coming, then smiled somewhat shyly as she pleaded, "you won't put in too much, will you?"

She stood in her kitchen, her tiny figure clothed in a flowered dress, accented with a large gold pin, showing the wear of a prized and much-used possession, and an apron, typical of one who has worked and who continues to work — especially to help others. Her graying hair still holds a touch of black, mixing youth with those aging years which we cannot avoid — no matter how hard we may want to.

The Wagner-Peyser Act of 1933 established a network of public employment offices providing "no fee" placement services to jobseekers and labor force recruitment services to employers. In most states, these offices are known as Job Service.

roadway banks in torn up condition. Bryan Steiger, who had done the ditch and crossing work, and Douglass Steiger appeared at the meeting and gave assurance that the situation would be remedied.

Oliver Dahle, office manager of the Red Lake watershed district, appeared in response to questions about the establishment of a district engineering office at Crookston. He explained that a considerable amount of district work is to be done in that area of the watershed and travel by the engineer from Crookston to the district office here was cumbersome and wasteful of time and fuel. He assured the board that the district would provide financial statements to justify the action.

Jackie Schwietz, Claire Courneya and Kenneth Murphy appeared with a request for the county to adopt an ordinance prohibiting sale of drugs and drug-related paraphernalia. They showed items purchased in the county and Deputy Sheriff Robert Wold showed nearly identical items which had been confiscated by law enforcement officers.

County attorney David Olin expressed the opinion that the county would have no jurisdiction in the matter, citing as an example that the county does not license cigarette sales.

Norris Thune of Thune-Upham reviewed the insurance coverages for the county and the board is expected to act further on insurance at the December 16 meeting.

Agreement was entered into the state of Minnesota for use of snow removal equipment in the event of an emergency. The city of Thief River Falls also requested an agreement with the county on maintenance and operation of stop and go lights on county-state aid streets. The board concurred that an agreement would be proper and efforts will be made to prepare a proposal.

Public hearing on a county Bingo ordinance was held with no testimony from the public presented. The ordinance was adopted and sets a $25 license fee for non-profit organizations to operate Bingo games in excess of five days per year.

ICCC Board To Meet Dec. 17th

Senator Would Preserve Farm Estate Bill

Moving to prevent the internal revenue service from denying estate tax relief to small family farms, Senator Rudy Boschwitz has introduced an amendment to protect such farms from high estate taxes.

Boschwitz said "the IRS is planning to deny favorable tax treatment to the estate of a farmer who rents his farm to members of his own family."

"In 1976," Boschwitz said, "the Congress adopted legislation that would assess farms on their agricultural land value rather than their fair market value for estate tax purposes. This favorable treatment would apply if the farm were passed on to a family member and if it continued to be operated by a member of the family."

"However," Boschwitz said, "the IRS is now attempting to allow this favorable treatment to rented farms only if the farm is rented on a crop share basis. If the owner cash rents his farm to an heir," he said, "the farm will not qualify for the favorable tax treatment."

"There is no good reason to distinguish between cash rent to a family member and crop share rented land for estate tax purposes," Boschwitz said, "and the amendment I offered will put an end to it. My measure will prevent the IRS from treating cash rent land any differently than share crop land."

"Although I was not here in 1976," Boschwitz said, "I agree with the goals of the original bill. Those were to ease the inheritance tax burden on farmers so that heirs would not have to sell the farm to pay the tax. However," he said, "the attempt by the IRS to tax to the fullest extent on cash rent land would defeat the purpose of that 1976 measure."

Congress wanted to protect the family farm," Boschwitz said, "and adoption of my amendment would reinforce that message. But, most importantly it would immediately prevent the IRS from denying favorable tax treatment to any family farm," he said.

SILVERTON . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Skime, Troy and Jodi visited Wednesday evening with Mrs. Mabel Urdahl, Lloyd and Nordeen at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ptacek called on Mrs. Dennis Ptacek and infant son, Derek Kyle, Tuesday evening at the hospital. Derek was born that morning. He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ptacek.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lerol were evening visitors Sunday at the Orlin Lerol home.

Mrs. Martin Hanson, Mrs. Gary Hanson, Mrs. Mark Hanson and Ingrid, Mrs. Benhard Wold, Mrs. Joel Carlson, Mrs. Paul Wold and Tracy, also Mrs. Paul Wold's sister, Mrs. Knut Knutson of rural Goodridge attended the mother-daughter tea Sunday afternoon at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson were Wednesday morning coffee guests at the Roger DeLap home.

A PRACTICE RUN was taken by Santa Claus early this week in preparation for his visit to Thief River Falls Saturday. Using either this sleigh or a wheel-type vehicle, depending on existing snow conditions, Santa will make a swing through the downtown business area at 10 a.m. Saturday, cruise on out to the highway 59 south business area and then return to the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce office in the former Soo Line depot building by 10:30 a.m. From 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. he will visit with youngsters coming to see him, listening to their Christmas wishes and distributing treats. Parents who want may also have pictures taken of their children on Santa's lap at a cost of $2 each.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

As I read through the master plan prepared by the DNR, I noted that on page six it states that many local landowners were among those who originally requested that Thief Lake be reflooded. I am sure that not very many names would be on that list, as I have never heard one of the local farmers who were here at the time who favored it. For the first time I see in print DNR's conspiracy revealed openly in that they were given power to acquire title to lands affected by this lack of drainage which resulted.

Are we supposed to believe that power hungry people will not use contruction of the Haroldson dam for the same purpose?

We cannot affort to be so naive, nor will we.

We have been given ample demonstration of their lack of ability to manage the vast acreage already under their control for their stated purpose, that of providing optimum conditions as stated on page three, for as many species as possible.

The arrogant attitude of DNR and their history of neglect for lands under their control lends credence to the belief that the underlying reasons may well be to further extend their awesome power and attempt to justify and perpetuate their own well paid positions, at the expense of the local communities, landowners, school districts, and all too often at the expense of the creatures supposedly benefitted.

The DNR gives a glaring example of this arrogant attitude and willingness to tamper with local citizens rights on page 91 of the master plan where it states that a hydrological survey will be conducted in 1981 to determine the effects of making the Haroldson dam operational. In the following paragraph, it states that it will be completed. Why bother to burden the taxpayer with an expensive survey, when you state that regardless of any studies the project will be completed?

Also where does the DNR get the idea as stated, that all land in the project is now owned by them? This project area has to be regarded as any lands affected by said project and would include hundreds of acres of privately owned land where drainage would be adversely affected. Page 93 states the effect of the dam on local drainage will be studied. Upon completion of the study the dam will be closed. The intent is to flood another 1,500 acres to a depth of two to three feet. In the same paragraph DNR has the unmitigated gall to state that this will not impede drainage of adjacent farm lands.

I would like to ask the DNR personel just who they expect to believe such a statement? It requires only very limited knowledge to understand that if my land is three feet higher in elevation than my outlet and that outlet has been flooded to a depth of three feet, I just lost my outlet, or if my land is 3½ feet higher, my drainage has been seriously impeded. Personally, I never learned how to get water to run uphill.

Last spring a raccoon opened a hole in the floor of the entryway to my son's house, while he had spent the winter with us. Making a nest, she had her young in a corner. Not wishing to destroy her or her cubs, I in all sincerity called Mr. Maertens and inquired if I would be able to move the cubs 50 feet to a shed and if she would find and claim them there. I was told that he really didn't know. When people supposedly trained in wildlife management don't seem to have a very good understanding of animals, I question their ability to understand anything about the fundamentals of drainage.

Rather, it would appear, we are dealing with a Gestapo-like agency seeking to impose their will on an unwilling populace. I agree that the completion of the Haroldson dam is a logical first step in the plan to gain control of more good, rich farmland for their purposes. Flooding this area will create severe hardships for many landowners, and could well make it impossible for some. It is much easier to acquire land from an individual whose farm has little drainage or whose crops are under water.

Page 9 of the master plan says that we are in one of the drier regions of the state with severe drought occurring every six to eight years. Pages 13 and 14 state that Thief Lake WMA and vicinity is mostly unsuited to agriculture because of low fertility and wetness. How do we reconcile such a contradiction?

Pages 136, 137 and 138 give a listing of all lands that DNR intends to acquire under this 10-year plan, including 5,066 acres of private land. The largest percentage of this land is rich, productive agricultural land that supports many families, directly and indirectly provides many jobs in the food production and distribution chain. It provides taxes for our school districts and local governments. It provides hundreds of thousands of dollars revenue for our local businessmen and most importantly provides an amazing amount of food for an increasingly hungry world. Agriculture is the one bright spot in the U.S. balance of trade.

I believe that it behooves each and every one of us to talk to our senators and representatives, write letters, and do all we can to prevent such a disaster from becoming a reality in our area.

Local Students On Wahpeton School Cabinet

Three second-year students at the North Dakota state school of science at Wahpeton were elected to fill vacancies on the college's student cabinet for the remainder of the 1980-81 college year.

New cabinet member and the division represented includes John P. Kertz, Thief River Falls, technical.

First-year students will be eligible for cabinet representative posts during the winter quarter. An election to name one representative from each division will be held in the early part of the winter quarter.

Fundraising and club activities are headed by cabinet member Randy Lambert of Thief River Falls, civil engineering technology student. Kertz is studying architectural drafting and estimating.

913 Votes Cast In ASC Election For Marshall Co.

With 3,016 farmers in Marshall county eligible to vote in the 1981 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee community election, 913 votes were cast in the mail balloting concluded last week, according to Alton Nybladh, chairman of the county committee.

Elected to the community committees were the following with chairman, vice chairman, regular member, first and second alternate listed respectively:

Agder, East Valley, Excel, Holt, Newfolden and New Solum — Clifford Jorde, Harold Lambert and Eldon Augustine, all of Thief River Falls; Richard Moen, Newfolden; and Garrett Reierson, Thief River Falls;

Alma, Comstock, Foldahl, Marsh Grove, McCrea and Viking — Franklin Knoll, Warren; Merlin Boe, Viking; Eugene Jorgenson and Stephen Gast, Argyle; and Roger D. Anderson, Viking;

Augsburg, Lincoln, Nelson Park, Wanger, West Valley and Wright — J. R. Kleinwachter, Strandquist; George Kuznia, Argyle; Phillip Boen, Strandquist; Frank Kasprowicz, Stephen; and Thomas Urbaniak, Argyle;

Bigwoods, Bloomer, Boxville, Middle River, Oak Park, Vega and Warrenton — Duane Ekman, Argyle; Phillip Edman, Alvarado; Russell Demeyere and Laverne Boman, Warren; and Robert Bystrom, Alvarado;

Cedar, Como, East Park, Huntly, New Maine and Spruce Valley — Armand Westlund, Strathcona; Vernon Bengtson, Newfolden; Gerald Gillund, Virgil Wagner and Donovan Ruud, Middle River;

Donnelly, Eagle Point, Fork, Parker, Sinnott and Tamarac — Harry Anderson, Walter Rud, James Kowalski, Carter Hjelle and Bruce Dahl, all of Stephen;

Eckvoll, Espelie, Grand Plain, Moylan and Valley — Rodney Wayne, Lloyd Wiseth, Merlin Grangstveit, LeRoy Johnson and Vernon Rogalla, all of Goodridge;

Linsell, Moose River, Rollis, Thief Lake, Veldt and Whiteford — Edward Monson, Gatzke; Ronald Engelstad, Grygla; Bruce Lunsetter, Gatzke; Grant Satre, Grygla; and Dwayne Nelson, Middle River.

The county ASC convention will be held Monday at the ASCS office in Warren at 9:30 a.m., at which time the community committeemen will elect a member to the county committee for a three-year term. Convention delegates will also elect a county committee chairman, vice chairman and two alternates.

Presently serving on the committee in addition to Nybladh are Einar Strandquist and Leo Orpen.

Community committeemen are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as commodity loans, wheat and feed grain set-aside, wool, ACP and disaster, Nybladh said.

'U'M Regents To Air Congdon Mansion Fate

Glensheen, the Duluth home of the late Elisabeth Congdon, has been operated as a University of Minnesota-owned museum and tourist attraction for more than two years. The university's board of regents will hear a report on how the museum is doing, and will discuss what its future should be, when they meet Thursday and Friday.

Congdon mansion discussion will be at the committee of the whole meeting at 8:30 a.m. Friday. At the same meeting, the regents will take a look at the multiple uses of Memorial stadium. It has been suggested that Memorial stadium be demolished if the university is able to agree with the management of the new domed stadium on a contract for use of the new stadium by the university's athletic program.

Memorial stadium, however, is also home to many departments and research units unrelated to athletics. Other space would have to be found for all of them if the stadium were to be torn down.

City Continues Considerations On Parking

opposing various aspects of the project.

Duane Walton, presented his views to those present by speaking in favor of the assessment project.

"Thief River Falls is a good aggressive community," he stated, "because of the people in it. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been invested in the community by people who believe that the community will continue progressing. There is only one way to keep anything alive, and that is to keep it healthy."

To this he added, "It is important for people to work together. But we must think of our customers and where we're going to put them." He explained further the competition faced with various surrounding shopping malls, and stressed the need for more parking in the city.

Roger Reuter, senior vice-president of First Northwestern State bank, also spoke in favor of the project, and expressed his appreciation to the council for the present parking facilities.

Finally, Steve Hess, representing the Jewel Box in Thief River Falls, expressed his feelings in favor of the project by stressing that, "complacency will get us no where; we can't hide our heads in the sand."

Dale Dillon, owner of Paint and Glass Supply, stated that, although he was on the list presented by Bredeson, he was not entirely against the project.

He stated his feelings toward the lot north of his business proposed for acquisition (owned by Northern state bank at the corner of Horace avenue and Fourth street) and the fact that it is too far from the business area. He would be in favor of the project, he said, if the present two-hour lots were all made useable.

To clear some of the questions being presented last evening, Stewart stated that the project has been set up on a 10 to 12 and possibly a 15 year pay-off period.

Following discussion, Mayor Carlson remarked that it was the "responsibility of the council to weigh all evidence presented from both the proponents and opponents to the project. It bothers me," he added, "to see names on a petition of those who have helped reap the harvest of the city."

With this, members adjourned the hearing to return to the council chambers for the regular city council meeting which brought three hours of discussion including a lengthy debate on the annexation of approximately 208 acres of land near Greenwood street and Allwood acres addition owned by the Crookston Diocese.

It was resolved at the council meeting that the parking assessment district committee would meet to iron out the discrepancies and discuss objections to the project with a report back to council at their next meeting December 23.

Discussion over the land annexation developed from the planning commission's denial of the annexation at their November 17 meeting. Hearing date on the issue has been set for January 15 in the city auditorium.

"I think we should support the planning commission's recommendation to deny the annexation," alderman Dr. Don Goodrich commented. Jack Quinlivan, city planner, at that time presented various reasons as to why the commission had felt the annexation should be denied.

Major point of conflict over the issue involved reasons as to why the land should not be annexed. Following discussion, alderman Goodrich's resolution to accept the planning commission's denial of the annexation was followed with a second from alderman Ambrose Wysoski. It was resolved that the planning staff, finance committee and city attorney would meet to prepare the case for the January 15 hearing in opposition to the annexation with a report to the city council at their January 13 meeting.

Roll call vote resulted in four in favor, two opposed (alderman Milan Borsheim and Ole Engelstad) and one abstention from alderman J. J. Womack. Alderman Bill Penning had left the meeting during the discussion of the annexation.

Planning commission recommendations discussed last evening also included the drainage study northeast of the city and Highway 59 southeast improvements. Following the introduction of a resolution from alderman Wysoski, and a second from alderman Clayton Restad, the storm drainage study prepared and presented by Jim E. Walker, city engineer and the city planners, will be taken under advisement of the council.

Frontage road study included a combination of past plans. Following an explanation of the study by Quinlivan, alderman J. J. Womack introduced the resolution to accept the plan and authorize the planning commission to conduct joint meetings with the Minnesota department of transportation to iron out any problems present in the project.

In the matter regarding the recommended denial of the rezoning request from agriculture to R-1 from petitioners of the property owned by the Crookston Diocese, council accepted the planning commission's denial. The matter had been discussed in length during a planning commission meeting conducted December 1.

In further action, low bid of $8,299 from Northern Motors for a 1981 four-door Chevrolet Impala for the Thief River Falls police department was approved by council. In other bidding processes, it was resolved that, due to electrical contractor problems, bids for additions to the Crash Fire Rescue building and handicapped access improvements at the airport would be readvertised and opened January 13 at 2 p.m. This action would follow after bid openings set for December 9 had been cancelled, and the city engineer had prepared revised specifications for bids.

In other action, Paul Adams reported on information obtained from a recent meeting in Crookston on the siting of a hazardous waste disposal facility. At the meeting, discussion concentrated on Minnesota's hazardous waste site problem and about the need for a hazardous waste disposal facility. Plans are to have at least one site in Minnesota, Adams said.

Next regular city council meeting is scheduled for December 23 in the city council chambers. One item to be discussed at the meeting will be the problem of the sale of drug paraphernalia in a local store. During last evening's meeting, Robert Wurst, city attorney, presented council with a draft of the ordinance regulating such paraphernalia.

BSU President Plans Visit To TRF Schools

Dr. Rebecca Stafford, president of Bemidji state university, will visit Lincoln high school and Northland community college Monday in a series of meetings with area principals and presidents, faculty and students.

Dr. Stafford will be arriving at Lincoln at 10:30 a.m. and continue her visit at Northland at 2 p.m. Accompanying her from Bemidji state will be Dr. Roger Ludeman, vice president of student affairs; Joe Aubert, chairman of the department of business; and Mark Paulson, director of alumni relations and assistant director of admissions. President Stafford plans to meet with Lincoln principal Frank Hamerlinck and Northland president Dr. Alex Easton, school advisors, interested teachers and students.

The new administrative head of Bemidji state university, who assumed office last April, was officially inaugurated October 31 on campus. One of President Stafford's major objectives, as outlined in her inaugural address, is to establish a close working relationship with the high schools and colleges of northern Minnesota. The upcoming visit to Lincoln and Northland is one of the steps toward that goal.

Overeating Often Holiday Problem

During this holiday season, visions of sugar plums — and cakes and cookies and candies — will dance in the heads of children and adults. This festive time of year would be quite different without the many ethnic and family treats that help make the season special.

Traditional holiday food is an important part of many people's heritage. But, the overeating and the high sugar consumption frequently associated with holiday food are high-calorie traps for many adults and children alike, say registered dietitians.

The problem is not the food but the lack of control in consuming it.

"It's like the holidays are declared a free zone — it's socially acceptable to overeat," says Liz Cochran, dietitian. "In fact, many times, people are expected to overeat because of the holidays."

Her associate, dietitian Phyllis Spahn, adds that people may approach the season aware of these attitudes, but soon fall into a pattern of overeating.

All of this helps people stray from self-initiated or prescribed weight control programs, and paves the way for excessive holiday weight gain.

After the feasting, they spend the next several months taking off the weight that was gained during the holidays. Sometimes, however, the weight loss is put off permanently, say the dietitians.

Children trying to maintain a weight control program have an especially difficult time. When they come home hungry from school or play and find several dozen cookies, it's difficult to resist eating them, Cochran says.

Both dietitians agree that the association of love and food contributes to the problem. "Food is a sign of love especially at holiday time," Cochran says. "Loving parents and relatives want to make special treats for their families and friends, to bring back happy childhood memories and carry on significant family traditions."

Consequently, homes are filled with delicious aromas of freshly made candies and cakes, and counters and cupboards spill over with dozens of cookies.

The abundance of high-calorie food may create problems for children and adults with special dietary needs, such as diabetes. Temptation may become too great with so much to resist.

Perhaps adaptation of traditional foods could be made for people with special dietary needs so they feel a part of the festivities, Spahn suggests. A special holiday gift for all family members might be to start adjusting the whole family's diet toward a healthier regimen that includes fewer sugars and fats.

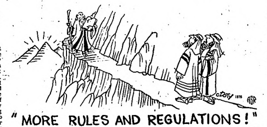
Food is used in other ways besides to show love. Sometimes it serves as a pacifier or a reward, say Cochran and Spahn. This behavior is especially easy to fall into during the busy holiday season when sweets are readily available.

Mother or father might be tired and the children are squabbling, so each child is given a cookie. The peace and quiet gained by this action contributes to it becoming a normal way of handling stress and fatigue.

"Children learn quickly that if they show they're upset, they'll get food," Cochran says.

Spahn says rewarding with food is a popular response to some behaviors. "People first need to be aware they're using food in this manner. Then, hopefully, they will look for non-food rewards that are meaningful to the child.

Overeating during the holidays or any other time can lead to overweight in children and adults. Children should not be put on restrictive diets unless they are supervised by qualified health care professional, the dietitians caution. "Weight loss isn't always desirable in kids because they're still growing, and children have a lot of nutritional needs that differ from those of adults," Spahn says.



"MORE RULES AND REGULATIONS!"

Says Farmers Won't Cause Food Cost Hike

Food price increases, expected to climb 12.2 per cent next year, will largely reflect inflation and increased marketing costs, the president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation says.

"If they soar, almost none of it will be caused by farmers," adds Merlyn Lokensgard, St. Peter area farmer.

Lokensgard's comments follow recently released USDA food price projections for 1981.

"Food prices, like everything else, are up," says Lokensgard. However, he adds, most of the increase in the cost of food comes after it leaves the farm. "If food costs rise 12 per cent or more in the coming year, increases in off-farm costs will account for it," he continues.

Farmers' food production costs will rise too, the state Farm Bureau spokesman says, pointing out that USDA says fertilizer prices alone could average eight to 12 per cent higher by next spring, farm machinery is expected to increase in price by 12 to 14 per cent over 1980 and costs for fuel and other energy may rise 20 to 25 per cent. "Pesticide supplies will cost perhaps as much as 10 per cent more than in 1980," Lokensgard says.

Consumers should be aware that farmers get only about 39 cents from every food dollar, with the remainder going for marketing, Lokensgard explains. Nor is the farmer's 39 cents all profit, he says. "Out of that must come costs for fuel, land, machinery, feed, seed, fertilizer, pesticides and labor," he notes. Half of every dollar spent in supermarkets, the Farm Bureau official says, can be attributed to labor costs alone. "Unlike the farm value of food, the marketing spread, which has risen each of the past 10 years, has been — and will be in 1981 — the most persistent cause of rising food prices," Lokensgard says.

All-time farm production costs, as well as food price levels, are symptoms of inflation, says the farm organization executive. He notes that if the public is serious about reducing the price of groceries it should demand federal spending limitations. "Reducing federal spending is the most effective way to strike at the root cause of inflation," Lokensgard concludes.

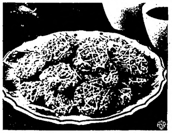
Holiday Cookies For Kids To Bake



The holidays are a good time to round up the family for a baking party. One delicious recipe that even junior cooks will enjoy preparing is Eggnog Cookies. These quick, easy-to-prepare cookies feature convenient oatmeal cookie mix and commercially prepared eggnog. Just mix, drop onto cookie sheet and bake. No sifting or creaming necessary! Once these golden brown cookies are cooled, the eggnog icing is prepared with only two ingredients! Eggnog Cookies are perfect for serving holiday guests or giving as a gift.

Eggnog Cookies

One 18-oz. pkg. oatmeal cookie mix
1/3 cup commercially prepared eggnog
1/2 teaspoon rum extract
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Icing:

1 cup confectioners sugar
4 to 6 teaspoons commercially prepared eggnog

Heat oven to 375°F. For cookies, combine all ingredients; mix with spoon or fork about 2 minutes to form stiff dough. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375°F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack. Cool completely.

For icing, combine all ingredients; mix well. Drizzle over cooled cookies. Store cookies in tightly covered container at room temperature. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Army Offers New Program; Mini GI Bill

U.S. army is now offering a new educational assistance program in selected locations of the nation called the Mini GI bill. It is a one-year test program, designed to encourage the high school graduates and seniors to join the army, by providing funds for continuing education.

New army enlistees will be eligible for up to $1,200 per year in tuition assistance plus $300 per month for up to 36 months. Young men and women from North Dakota and the northwestern 23 counties of Minnesota are included in the test area.

Requirements are simple and the incentive is money. For a four-year enlistment, a person can receive as much as $19,600 in bonus and education money. The army also has two and three-year enlistments that qualify for the educational benefits. (The army is the only service that still offers a two-year enlistment.)

A soldier who reenlists in the army may choose 60 per cent of the total benefits in cash-out payments or transfer the educational benefits to a spouse or dependent.

To qualify, an applicant must enlist at Fargo, N.D., be a high school senior or graduate, score in the upper 50 percentile on the written test, enlist in one of the 50 critical jobs before Oct. 1, 1981, and complete at least two years of active army duty. A high school senior would enlist but not report for active duty until he or she graduated from high school.)

A person that does not meet the requirements of this program can still participate in the veterans educational assistance program (VEAP), however, he cannot receive benefits from both programs.

Another new benefit is a provision to forgive college loans. Government will repay 33 and one-third per cent of the loan, or $1,500, whichever is greater, for each year of active army duty served. Loans considered eligible, are guaranteed student loans and national direct student loans. This benefit is also available to people enlisting in the army reserve, but at a reduced rate.

The army has published a list of 50 jobs (considered critical skills), which qualify for this program; 28 require only a two-year enlistment. Examples are military police, radio teletype operators, surveyors and field wireman.

The local army recruiter can explain this new educational program in detail. His number in Thief River Falls is 681-3376.

TRAIL . . .

Santa Claus will be at the VFW hall at Trail on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 2 p.m. The kids will receive candy bags and there will be free coffee and cookies and dougnuts to all who attend. The business places will each give a door prize, one per family.

EXPANSION PROGRAM which will double the space of the present store and involve a complete remodeling of the entire business is underway at Ekeren Drug in Thief River Falls. Foley Construction company of Thief River Falls is the general contractor. Entire 60-foot front of the store, which will include the former TG Sporting Goods space, will be done in light buff tone brick. The unique window treatment will be in Colonial style and will incorporate special lighting for feature display of merchandise. "Now in our 46th year of business in the same location," owner Bob Ekeren explained, "we wanted the warmth of the long standing business relationship with our customers to be reflected in the front design and carried out throughout the entire store." Ekeren said that the TG Sporting Goods area will be completed during December and the balance of the store remodeled in January to minimize customer inconvenience during the Christmas shopping season. Completion is projected for February.

Hockey weekend in the Thief River Falls sports arena will feature both the Northland community college and Lincoln high school teams. The Northmen host perennial MJCAA contender Hibbing in a two-game series, facing off with the Cardinals Friday night at 7:30 and Saturday afternoon at 1. Saturday at 7:30 p.m. the Prowlers tackle a Fergus Falls team that raised a few eyebrows last week by beating Warroad 8-1.

Both teams are coming off successful openers. Northland began its 1980-81 MJCAA season with a two-game sweep on the road over defending state champion Rainy River, a runner-up finisher in last year's national tournament. The Northmen won both starts by 7-6 scores, the second game going into overtime. Lincoln, meanwhile, opened its schedule by beating defending regular season Section 8 point standings leader Crookston 6-3 in the Pirates' rink.

Frank Catani, the dean of the MJCAA hockey coaches, says his Cardinals aren't as strong as they've been in the past, but Hibbing opened its 1980-81 season last week in Minneapolis against a strong University of Minnesota varsity-reserve team and lost by just a 3-1 score in a game which featured a mere 30-28 shot margin. The UM team, which will host Northland next weekend, has started a 36-game schedule with 12 straight wins. They lost just two games all last year.

"It isn't anything like I've had in the past," said Catani about his Hibbing squad. "There are no Underwoods, no Bakers, no Gagers. All we have is pick and shovel people. I'm not that enthusiastic about the season."

Complicating matters is a virus that struck the team. "I don't know what kind of shape we're going to be in this weekend," offered Catani.

Power in the MJCAA, which normally rests in the Iron Range with Hibbing, Mesabi and Rainy River, might have switched this year to the other three hockey-playing members — Northland, Crookston and Rochester.

Renewed interest in the Northland program this winter is apparently matched at Crookston, where the Trojans have six Crookston Central and Mount St. Benedict products on its roster: sophomores Mark Perreault and Robin Brekken, and freshmen Scott Brolsma, Elliot Solheim, Steve Biermaier and Bob Clauson, the big high-scoring Pirates star of a year ago; and at Rochester, where officials feel an excellent recruiting year will make the Yellowjackets "extremely strong."

Meanwhile, the Iron Range schools are full of question marks at this point. No word has come out of Mesabi; Rainy River is reported to have a goal-tending problem; and Hibbing, according to Catani, is down. Crookston will supply a little information on Mesabi this weekend when the Trojans visit Virginia.

"It looks pretty even," says Catani of the MJCAA race.

Four of the six teams will earn spots in the 1981 MJCAA state hockey tournament February 22-23 at International Falls. But Rainy River, as host team, is guaranteed a tournament berth, leaving the other five schools battling for the three remaining available positions.

The 1981 NJCAA national tournament will be played at Virginia this year, with host team Mesabi being guaranteed a tournament berth.

Ulrich, Trickle Playing Jr. Hockey

Former Lincoln high school hockey players Jeff Ulrich and Todd Trickle are members of the Des Moines Buccaneers of the United States junior hockey league.

Des Moines is in the Southern Division of the eight-team league, along with Iowa rivals Sioux City and Waterloo, along with Austin, Minn. The Northern Division features Minnesota entries Bloomington, North Hennepin and St. Paul, along with Green Bay, Wis.

U.S. hockey players who have not reached their 20th birthday are eligible to play in the league, which currently has 24 "graduates" playing in the National Hockey League.

Des Moines draws its players from assigned territories, including the Minnesota communities of Crookston, Baudette, Fergus Falls, Detroit Lakes, Moorhead and Thief River Falls.

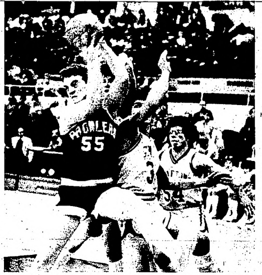
Apparently the Iowa fans like the product, with the Buccaneers drawing three straight home crowds of 2,200, 2,300 and 3,000 to their 3,696-seat Des Moines ice arena.

Miscellaneous

+First-ever Northwest Athletic Conference (NWAC) girls basketball game will be played Friday when East Grand Forks visits Fergus Falls, a game worth two points in the NWAC standings. First NWAC boys basketball game won't be played until Friday, Dec. 19, when Bemidji travels to Fergus Falls for a two-point game. First conference games for Thief River Falls teams will find the boys at Bemidji Friday, Jan. 9, and the girls hosting Bemidji Monday, Jan. 12.

+Jill Saurdiff of Grygla is bidding to become a member of the 1,000-point basketball club. The 5-9 senior began the 1980-81 season with 879 points. Plagued by foul trouble in her first two starts, she has been held to 12 points both times, lifting her career total to 903. Five Region 8A girls are currently members of the 1,000-point club, including Diane Fisher of Plummer, who graduated in 1980 with 1,353 points; Shelley Oistad of Fertile-Beltrami (1979), 1,287; Janice Woods of Fosston, who started her junior season this winter with 1,248 points; Kim Brekke of Warren (1980), 1,208; and Georgine Troska of Goodridge (1977), 1,148.

+Rainy River, considered the preseason favorite in the Northeast Division of the MJCAA basketball conference, outlasted Crookston 123-115 Saturday. "That's the highest offensive show we've ever had out there," reported Crookston coach Jim Sutherland. "That's what happens when you have an offensive-oriented game. We'd get two points, then they'd come right back and score on us." Northland community college, the preseason favorite in the MJCAA Northwest Division, set a school scoring record Friday in beating St. Boniface 135-94 in the first round of the Red River invitational tournament in Winnipeg. The old mark was set during the 1977-78 season when the Northmen beat Itasca 135-97.



WITH A LOOK of grim determination, Thief River Falls center Dave Kays pulled down a rebound against Grafton during Tuesday's high school basketball game played in the Lincoln gym. The Prowlers put their season record at 2-0 with an exciting 40-38 victory over the Spoilers. Thief River Falls will be on the road for the first time Friday at Kennedy.

Prowlers 40-38 Winners Over Spoilers Tuesday

Thief River Falls collected its second basketball victory of the year Tuesday, but any similarity between the down-to-the-wire 40-38 decision over Grafton and the 90-27 season-opening rout of Roseau five days earlier would be a mere coincidence.

While the Rams offered little in the way of opposition, the Spoilers challenged the Prowlers for a full 32 minutes — and then some. The outcome wasn't decided until Grafton's Randy Capouch missed the front end of a bonus free throw opportunity with no time showing on the scoreboard clock.

It was a low-scoring game by design, explained Thief River Falls coach Glen Peters. "We pulled the air out of the ball because of the opposition," he said. "They play good defense. We took our time and played more of a control ball game."

The Prowlers looked particularly sharp in the first quarter when they moved the ball smartly in out-scoring the visitors 14-2 during a five-minute span to post a 16-8 lead at the first intermission.

Thief River Falls' strategy of going for the last shot of the first half worked when junior forward Kevin Sanders, the Prowlers' leading scorer with 12 points, zipped a long jumper through the basket to cap a 1:36 possession and provide the Prowlers with a 26-18 halftime cushion.

Same ploy at the end of the third quarter ate up time but didn't produce points as the Prowlers settled for a 34-28 edge going into the final eight minutes.

The Spoilers, whose only lead came in the first two minutes of the game, finally caught the Prowlers at 38-38 when Capouch scored on a drive with 3:17 remaining.

Thief River Falls guard Mark Lundin sank one shot on a two-shot foul situation with 2:01 left for what proved to be the winning point. But that wasn't the end of the action.

When Capouch, a senior guard who finished with 10 points, missed a long jump shot with 1:39 showing, Thief River Falls grabbed the defensive rebound and held the ball until Sanders lost it out of bounds with 31 seconds to go.

It was Grafton's turn to hold the ball, and the Spoilers did, until Capouch hit the rim on a short jumper from the side with six seconds remaining. Bryan Carlson was called for a foul on the scramble for the rebound, sending Thief River Falls junior Eric Bondy to the free throw line for a bonus opportunity. He missed the first shot, but grabbed his own rebound and promptly drew another foul and another 1-and-1 free throw chance with three seconds still on the clock.

This time he hit his first attempt for the 40-38 edge. But he missed the second try, and to complicate matters, he was called for a foul on the rebound just before the buzzer sounded.

That sent the hard-luck Capouch to the line, with the rest of the players on both sides standing by their respective benches. He missed and the Prowlers climbed to 2-0. It was the season-opener for the Spoilers, who, because of North Dakota rules, were limited to 10 days of practice and no scrimmages before beginning play.

"I'm not disappointed in our overall performance, but I am disappointed with our offense," mentioned Grafton coach Gene Anderson. "The physical strength of their (TRF) inside kids intimidated us. Their physical play inside kept us from going underneath like we should have."

Lance Anderson, at 6-4 the tallest player in the game, but slightly built, led all scorers with 13 points. Husky Tim Praska got 11. Sanders was the only Thief River Falls scorer in double figures as the Prowlers' offensive production slowly dwindled as the game progressed. They got just one field goal in the fourth quarter and only five the entire second half.

"In the second half we were a little sluggish on offense," admitted Peters. "We didn't have the tempo; we didn't move the ball like we did in the first half. In the first half we moved the ball and got good shots. We played well."

Shooting figures were nearly identical, with the Prowlers going 16-for-39 from the field for 41 per cent and the Spoilers going 17-for-40 for 43 per cent. But Thief River Falls was 8-for-17 at the free throw line where Grafton was only 4-for-9. Grafton held a slight 18-17 rebound edge and topped the turnover figures 14-12, with 10 of those turnovers coming in the first half.

"We're very pleased with the win," said Peters, whose ball club will be on the road for the first time Friday at Kennedy, an 8 p.m. game.

Bobcats Beat Cardinals 52-3 In Wrestling

In a match-up of long names under the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) cooperative sports programs, Oklee-McIntosh-Winger was a 52-3 wrestling winner over Plummer-Erskine. The match was held at Oklee.

The Bobcats won 10 of the 11 matches, including six pins. The Cardinals gave up 12 points on forfeits, with a double forfeit declared at 155.

It was the 1980-81 dual meet opener for the Bobcats. The Cardinals dropped to 0-3 going into a Friday night assignment at Roseau.

There were eight pins and two forfeits that shortened Tuesday's 42-25 East Grand Forks win over visiting Oklee-McIntosh-Winger.

Only matches that went the full six minutes were both won by the Bobcats as John Cyr out-wrestled Dan Orr 14-3 at 126 and heavyweight Joel Stolaas doubled Dan Austin 8-4.

"Our inexperience really showed up," acknowledged Bobcats coach Charles Bishop, whose team is now 1-1 in dual meet competition. They'll be idle until Waubun visits Oklee Thursday, Dec. 18.

Prowler Relays Start TRF Swimming Season

Defending champion Bemidji is considered the pre-meet favorite heading into Saturday's season-opening high school swimming competition — the annual Thief River Falls Prowler relays in the Franklin middle school pool.

Moorhead, Park Rapids and Fosston will join the favored Lumberjacks and the host Prowlers for the 2 p.m. meet.

"Bemidji looks tough," mentioned Thief River Falls coach John Kopari. "I would have to say they're the favorites."

Kopari is optimistic heading into the 1980-81 season. "I'm looking forward to it. I think we'll do all right."

The Prowlers find themselves in an unusual position this year of filling such events as the butterfly, backstroke and breaststroke with proven performers, but are lacking experienced freestylers.

"It's a real strange year for us," acknowledged Kopari. "We've got everything but freestylers — normally it's the other way around. And freestyle events dominate the 11-event meets."

He's hoping younger swimmers like Dave Ose, one of the top freshman prospects ever for the Prowlers, sophomore Jay Gjovik or freshman Scott Jorstad can help fill in the gaps in the freestyle races.

Seniors should provide a bulk of the Thief River Falls scoring this winter. "We're hoping all the seniors will have good years for us," mentioned Kopari, who expects a top season from breaststroker Steve Poissant. Rest of the seniors include co-captains Mark Isaacson and Nate Gjovik, Tom Eckstein, Kevin Grochow, Marty Pluth and Dave Heieren.

Keith Grochow, "one of our better swimmers," according to Kopari, leads the Thief River Falls junior class, which also includes Dean Booth, Jim Dagg, Tom Hartley and Matt Grabanski, who should provide points.

Other team members include sophomores Rod Helm and Chuck Lowell, along with freshmen Jay Achenbach, Curtis Rude and Jeff Rosetta, an experienced diver.

TRF YOUTH HOCKEY

Thief River Falls Bantam A hockey team raised its record to 3-1 Tuesday with a 4-3 overtime win at Roseau.

It was a clean sweep for Thief River Falls teams against Baudette on the weekend, with the Pee-Wee A team winning 10-3 Saturday and 14-0 Sunday for a 3-0 season record, while the Bantam A team triumphed 5-4 Saturday and 6-3 Sunday.

Bantam B portion of the Thief River Falls-Baudette series was canceled because of lack of ice in the old arena here. The Bantam B team is 0-1 for the year.

Lack of ice will also affect this weekend's schedule, erasing Pee-Wee A and Bantam A games against East Grand Forks Saturday, and eliminating Pee-Wee B and Bantam B games Sunday.

But all four Thief River Falls teams will still be in action on the road. Pee-Wee B, 0-1 for the year, and Bantam B teams will be in East Grand Forks Saturday. On Sunday, the Pee-Wee A team travels to Detroit Lakes and the Bantam A team will be in Moorhead.

Traveling Teams

Sat., Dec. 13 — Pee-Wee B at East Grand Forks, 1:30 p.m.; Bantam B at East Grand Forks, 3 p.m.

Sun., Dec. 14 — Pee-Wee A at Detroit Lakes, 1 p.m.; Bantam A at Moorhead, 1 p.m.

Northmen Tip Jamestown 72-70; Host Lake Region On Saturday

An 11-point lead all but disappeared in the final 4½ minutes Tuesday, but Northland community college held on for a 72-70 nonconference basketball win over the Jamestown college junior varsity.

The win lifted Northland's season record to 5-0 heading into a challenging Saturday night assignment against Lake Region junior college of Devils Lake, N.D. The Royals edged Crookston 82-81 Monday when sophomore Steve Brekke, the former Warren high school star who was a starter as a freshman at Bemidji State University last winter, poured in 43 points.

"It should be a barn-burner," said Northland coach Chet Engelman about the Saturday night test. He could have described last night's game the same way, although he wasn't particularly happy with the way Northland played. "But when we can win the way things went, we'll take it. We were able to make some mistakes and still win. Really, it wasn't much different from what we expected. They (Jamestown) played good defense and ran their offense very deliberately."

Jamestown led at the end of a slow first half, 32-27. But the visitors suffered through four turnovers on their first seven possessions of the second half and lost the ball eight times in their first 16 possessions after intermission.

Still, Northland didn't take the lead until Terry Harris and Tony Smith, who combined for 39 points, out-scored Jamestown 8-2 to break a 41-41 stalemate.

Northland lengthened it to 67-56 with 4:33 remaining, but Jamestown, 22-for-28 at the free throw line for the night, used free throws to get back into the game, with 6-8 Jim Landers slipping free underneath for a basket that made it 71-70 with just 32 seconds left.

But Northland managed to run 30 seconds off the clock before Dave Spilde made one of two free throw attempts to complete the scoring.

Harris finished with 20 points, Smith 19, along with 11 rebounds, and Jeff Nolan contributed 14 points. Matt Hildebrandt led Jamestown with 21 points.

Northland shot 47 per cent from the field, hitting 34 of 73 shots. Jamestown shot 41 per cent, making 24 of 59 attempts. But while out-scoring Jamestown from the field by 20 points, Northland was given just eight free throw opportunities, making four of them, while Jamestown was putting up 28 free throws.

"We're having foul trouble, no doubt about that," pointed out Engelman, whose team suffered through the same problem while winning last weekend's Red River invitational tournament in Winnipeg. Harris, Lyndell Knight and Joe Kraska all fouled out last night.

Jamestown's edge in the free throw department was offset by its 22 turnovers, 14 coming in the second half. Northland lost the ball just 10 times. "Our pressure finally got to them," mentioned Engelman.

Northland will continue its home stand Monday by hosting the Grand Forks Air Force Base team at 8 p.m.

Skippers Test Bears Friday

A key early season North Border Conference basketball match-up will take place Friday when 1980-81 preseason title favorite Middle River tackles defending champion Lake of the Woods at Baudette.

Middle River upped its record to 1-1 Tuesday with an easy 78-41 win over Grygla in the Skippers' home opener.

Delray Ness scored 24 points and Jon Neumann had 17 for the Skippers. Gene Lunsetter led Grygla with 12 points.

Middle River led just 16-12 at the end of the first quarter, but broke it open 40-16 by halftime.

The Eagles, 0-2, will host Roseau Friday in their home opener.

Grygla Girls Beat Badger

Three Grygla scorers hit double figures Monday as the Eagles defeated Badger 55-36 in a girls high school basketball game played at Badger.

Sherri Anderson paced the balanced Grygla attack with 16 points, while Jean Verbout added 14 and Jill Saurdiff had 12 points and 10 rebounds.

But it was still a sluggish performance by the Eagles, said head coach Bill Raduenz. "We really had trouble until the last quarter," he noted.

Grygla led only 34-28 after three quarters and didn't break the game open until the Eagles finished with 10 straight points in the final two minutes.

The Eagles were 23-for-63 from the field (37 per cent) and 9-for-18 from the free throw line. Badger was 13-for-53 from the floor (25 per cent) and 10-for-23 at the line.

Grygla, 2-0, will play its 1980-81 home opener Thursday by hosting Middle River.

Plummer 30

Plummer was held to just 17 points through three quarters and the Cardinals coughed up 30 turnovers in a 45-30 loss at Fisher Tuesday.

"It was a pretty sloppy game," acknowledged Plummer coach Rick Koivisto, whose team dropped to 1-2 for the year.

Fisher jumped out to a 16-5 first quarter lead and was never challenged, owning a 22-13 halftime edge and running it to 41-17 in the third quarter.

The Cardinals were 13-for-44 from the field for 30 per cent while the Flyers were 18-for-75 for 24 per cent.

Three Fisher scorers hit double figures, with Kelly Knox collecting a game-high 13 points, Caroline Love 11 and Bev Beiswenger 10. Mary Westlake paced Plummer with 11 points.

Middle River 36

Middle River led 36-32 with 2½ minutes remaining, but then turned the ball over on five straight possessions and wound up losing a 40-36 Tuesday night game at Warroad.

"We didn't show much poise down the stretch," explained Middle River coach Tom Neibauer.

The game was tied at each of the first three quarter breaks, 12-12, 22-22 and 28-28.

Dawn Nelson of Middle River was the game's high scorer with 22 points, but no other Middle River player managed to collect more than five points. The balanced Warroad attack featured Janet Marvin and Jenie Frolander with 11 points apiece.

"We did a poor job on the boards," mentioned Neibauer, whose team had a decided height advantage.

Middle River, 1-2 will be at Grygla Thursday and will play Lake of the Woods Friday at Baudette.

TRF Is 59-27 Winner Over Grafton Club

Tim Swanson scored 17 points and Rick Trontvet added 10 Tuesday as the Lincoln high school junior varsity basketball team defeated Grafton 59-27.

Thief River Falls, now 2-0, led at the quarter stops 11-8, 27-14 and 44-21.

Pistol Shoot Will Be Held Here Sunday

Metallic silhouette shoot for rimfire and centerfire pistols will be held Sunday beginning at 10 a.m. at the Pennington county sportsmen club range north of Thief River Falls. The shoot will be sponsored by the sportsmen club and all interested handgun shooters are encouraged to participate.

GRAFTON FORWARD Lance Anderson drove the baseline for this first quarter basket against Thief River Falls Tuesday in the Lincoln high school gym. Anderson, a 6-4 junior, was the game's high scorer with 13 points, but the Prowlers beat the Spoilers 40-38 in the nonconference high school basketball game.

JEWELS FOR THOUGHT

BY PHIL HESS

What this country really needs is a wishing well with a money-back guarantee.

It's fine to have the gift of gab, provided you know when to wrap it up.

Most of man's conversation is devoted to two subjects he knows little about — politics and women.

We might be more eager to accept good advice if it didn't continually interfere with our plans.

Planning: the art of putting off until tomorrow what you have no intention of doing today.

We have been planning for Christmas since last summer so we would have a large selection of great gift ideas for this Christmas. Don't put off your shopping 'til all these great ideas are gone. Plan to shop early for that special gift for the ones you love.

Counties Get Share Of DNR Land Funds

Minnesota counties received more than $666,539 during fiscal year 1980 as their share of receipts from two classifications of state lands administered by the Department of Natural Resources.

Receipts from timber sales, leases and other revenue from "consolidate conservation area lands" and state owned lands within designated state forests are divided equally between the counties within which the lands are located and the state treasury.

Receipts from the two classes of land totaled $1,333,078 for the year.

Consolidated conservation area lands are located in the counties of Aitkin, Beltrami, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall and Roseau.

Thirty-two counties received revenue from lands within state forest boundaries. Receipts from these lands are deposited in the "state forest fund."

Total revenue to the seven counties from consolidated conservation area lands amounted to $378,686. State forest lands produced $287,852 to the 32 counties involved.

Following is a list of the counties and the monies they received during fiscal year 1980 from the two sources:

Consolidated conservation area — Aitkin, $88,985.49; Beltrami, $121,363.61; Koochiching, $182,014.17; Lake of the Woods, $235,430.98; Mahnomen, $433.00; Marshall, $12,513.19; Roseau, $116,633.31.

Wrapping With Rapping

Whenever a group of enthusiastic teenagers gather for the express purpose of wrapping Christmas presents, there's bound to be lots of hustle, bustle and general excitement. Spirits run high and with all the fun and chatter, thirsts must be quenched. Spiced Pineapple Cooler, made with lemonade flavor drink mix, is cool and refreshing with just the right amount of seasonal spices. Served with hearty old-fashioned oatmeal cookies, this just hits the spot for Santa's helpers.

Spiced Pineapple Cooler

- 2-1/2 cups water
- 2 cinnamon sticks
- 6 whole cloves
- 2 scoops Country Time lemonade flavor drink mix
- 1-1/2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice

Combine water, cinnamon sticks and cloves in saucepan. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Strain and discard spices; cool 15 minutes. Add drink mix and pineapple juice; stir until mix is dissolved. Chill. Makes 4 cups or 8 servings.

Decisions? Decisions?

Many people refuse to make a decision. You know who they are, they keep on saying the same old thing.

"We should have bought 10 years ago."

Let me show you an ad for a farm that ran in the November 4, 1970 addition of the Thief River Falls times.

600 acres, 520 crop acres. $80 per acre, 15 year Contract for Deed.

You are now thinking the same thing. "We should have bought that 10 years ago. Just think, you could have bought a $48,000 farm with around a $10,000 down payment. The property would have carried itself all that time as the renter would have made the payments. Market value today on a 600 acre farm is right around $450,000-$500,000. That means you could sell the farm today with a gain of near $450,000! Imagine, a real genuine case right here in Thief River Falls where $10,000 approx. made a half million. Instead of saying: "I should have", you could now just retire on the interest dollars for the rest of your life, with no worries about whether or not the Social Security checks are going to keep coming.

Can you make a decision now? Or do you want to wait another 10 years?

We have farms in most areas.

Call and check our current farm inventory at any of our locations.

Public Notices

Special Thanks

We would like to give a special thank you to all the friends, neighbors and relatives who helped us so much during the loss of our home due to fire. The donations of food, clothing, quilts, blankets and money were greated appreciated. We know that we will never ever be able to repay all the kindness that everyone has given us and the labor that everyone donated to help us rebuild our home. A special thanks to all the great people who put on the benefit dances in Euclid and in Angus. I wish we could thank each individual person personally. We would like to give special thanks to the Warren Fire Department who responded so quickly and the fine job that they did.

Card of Thanks

We want to thank all who assisted during the short illness and death of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Adolph Erickson. Thanks to the ambulance crew, to Dr. Heinrichs, and Dr. Mestory, to the nurses and to Chaplain Bortnem. Special thanks to Pastor Larson for his visits at the hospital and for his words of comfort, to Joy Nordby, Marie Anderson and Jerry Joringdal for their beautiful songs and music, to Green Funeral Home for kind services, to Esther Circle for serving lunch at Zion Church, to the ladies of Grace Church in Grygla for serving lunch after the burial services, and to those who brought food to our home. Thanks, also, to all who sent cards, letters, memorials and flowers.

May God bless each one of you.

In Memoriam

Gone, but not forgotten
You're in our hearts always
We remember the joys we shared together
And wish we had them still...
But our memory keeps you ever near.

In loving memory of Olga Ryan who passed away three years ago on Dec. 11, 1977.

Sadly missed by Ole Ryan and family.

Effect Of Gravity Causes Gaps In Rings Of Saturn

Mysterious gaps in Saturn's rings seem to be caused by the same force that can distort the orbit of stars or disrupt a planned space rendezvous. The cause, according to University of Minnesota astronomers, appears to be gravity's effect on objects in orbit.

Discovered recently in pictures beamed back to Earth by the Voyager I spacecraft in its close encounter with Saturn, the blank spots or gaps in the planet's rings were immediately dubbed "mysterious" by NASA scientists. Presence of the gaps was a major finding of the space probe that sent back pictures of hundreds of rings around a smoggy Saturn and revealed new information about some of its 15 moons.

Some of the gaps appear braided — smaller rings seem to twist around each other in a sideways, elongated "s" shape. This shape gave University of Minnesota astronomer Vincent Icke a clue to the mystery.

The "s" shape is the same as that recorded before in the swerve and wobble in the orbit of some stars studied by Icke and other experts in galactic structure. The shape is also comparable to the gap left by a rocket ship in orbit when it misses a planned rendezvous with another ship in orbit around the same object.

In all three cases, Icke said, the "s" shape is created by gravity. In the galaxy, massive clouds of gas and dust exert a gravitational attraction on nearby stars. (These massive clouds permeate areas of many galaxies and are thought to be related to the birth of new stars.)

Normally, gravity draws two bodies together. But when both bodies are in orbit, the process can work in reverse, Icke said. If the gas cloud is more massive than the star, as is often the case, the star tries to "catch up."

Gravitational pull on the smaller object, the star, gives it an extra burst of speed, propelling it into an orbit further from the center of the galaxy. But this more distant orbit is a slower orbit. So instead of catching up, the smaller partner overshoots, leaving a gap where the old orbit was.

In Saturn's case, the icy particles that make up its rings exert a gravitional pull on each other. The smaller particles (say, golf-ball-sized), try to catch up with the larger particles (perhaps house-sized) causing them to overshoot the mark.

The same principle holds true in rendezvous between ships in space, Icke said. For instance, if you were on a ship in orbit and wanted to link up with another ship in orbit around the same object, you could not do it by firing your rockets and going faster. If you did, you would merely shoot into a more distant and slower orbit, leaving a gap in your old orbit. The only way to catch up is to slow down, thus moving to a lower and faster orbit, Icke said.

"The orbit mechanics are exactly the same in the case of the orbiting star, the orbiting spaceship and the particles orbiting around Saturn," he said.

Although the gaps and braids in Saturn's rings are perhaps Voyager's most dramatic discovery, the space probe found much more, according to Robert Kennicutt, another University of Minnesota astronomer.

What has always appeared from Earth to be a few large rings are actually hundreds of smaller rings. Within the rings, the icy particles are of fairly equal size and collide with each other. The result is that the rings are not at all thick with particles, he said. "Voyager I passed through 150,000 miles of rings without hitting anything."

Voyager I also turned up new information about the moons that move through Saturn's rings. Titan, the largest moon, is now known to have a thick orange atmosphere composed of liquid nitrogen droplets, which probably create constant rain on the moon's surface. The 15 moons moving around the rings present a picture similar to our own solar system's youthful look about 4½ billion years ago. All of the planets in our solar system may have formed within a system of debris around the sun, similar to the ring system around Saturn, he said.

Surprising information about Saturn itself was also revealed. In many ways similar to Jupiter, it was found to lack Jupiter's pronounced atmospheric features, such as the giant Red Spot (a blob at the top of Jupiter's atmosphere that is probably an anti-cyclone of methane and other gases).

"Maybe Saturn's smoggy haze is covering features like these, or maybe storms are not so easily churned up because Saturn is somewhat smaller, cooler and slower to rotate than Jupiter," he said.

The ancient Assyrians, who discovered Saturn, called it "the oldest of the old sheep" because it was the slowest and most distant planet visible from Earth with the naked eye. The Romans named it Saturn after the god of sowing and agriculture, partly because it moved slowly like oxen.

To earthbound viewers, Saturn is now visible in the east from 3 a.m. to sunrise below the brighter Jupiter.

Osteoarthritis Most Common Joint Disorder

One-third of the adult population of Minnesota, or over 290,000 men and women, have osteoarthritis, according to figures released by the Arthritis foundation.

Osteoarthritis is also known as degenerative joint disease, or wear-and-tear arthritis. It can result from injury, excessive use of a joint or just using the joints during a long life. Almost everyone over 60 has some signs of osteoarthritis, a foundation spokesman observed.

During December, the Arthritis foundation's message center has a special message on osteoarthritis. The message may be heard by calling the foundation's toll-free number, 1-800-552-1278. Free literature on osteoarthritis is available to callers.

The many free services of the Arthritis foundation are made possible in most Minnesota communities by the support of the United Fund.

Four Minn. 4-H'ers Win Honors

Shimota

Hammitt

Lind

Holmer

Four outstanding Minnesota young people have won top honors for their 1980 4-H projects. Lynn Shimota, 18, Benton County, and Kurtis Hammitt, 19, and John Lind, 18, both of Carlton County, won expense-paid trips to the 59th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30-Dec. 4. Laura Holmer, 17, Pine County, was the recipient of a $75 U.S. Savings Bond.

Shimota, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shimota, Foley, excelled in the clothing program, sponsored by Coats & Clark Inc. This 10-year 4-H'er has shown her creations at county and state dress revues, and has become interested in every aspect of sewing. She learned how to spin yarn from wool, has given many spinning demonstrations and has used some of her own yarns for weaving. She is looking forward to using natural dyes on her own wool and making a complete garment. By sewing clothes for herself, and her brothers and sisters, she has saved over $750.

Hammitt won his award in the automotive program, sponsored by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company. He is the proud driver of a 1929 Model A roadster which he restored himself at minimal cost, but maximum time—about 2,500 hours. He also has redone the family Volkswagen and a 1952 Chevrolet, and belongs to a car collectors' club. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hammitt, Barnum, he is a sophomore at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, majoring in mechanical engineering.

Lind, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lind, Carlton, was a winner in the home management program, sponsored by Beatrice Foods Co. He learned a great deal about the management of time, people and money by helping plan a canoe trip. He also set up day camp programs and conducted workshops for other 4-H junior leaders. He helped build new clubs, encouraged younger children to join 4-H and has been a junior leader, assisting younger members with their projects.

Holmer won her award in the gardening program, sponsored by the Ortho Division, Chevron Chemical Company. She has done a great deal of work in her family's three garden plots, raising champion vegetables and cutting food costs. In her words, "I knew that if we didn't raise a garden every year we wouldn't be able to afford to eat as well as we do, especially in these times of inflation." She also conducted an experiment in vegetable varieties for the University of Minnesota. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmer, Grasston.

The four youths are among 26 4-H'ers earning state awards. Winners were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, and awards arranged by National 4-H Council.

Popular Pesos—The Gold Coins of Mexico

You might like to make the season merrier for some with a beautiful and bountiful gift: a genuine gold coin.

Now that more and more Americans are beginning to understand the value of gold as an investment, they are also beginning to appreciate the value of the most convenient and flexible way to invest in gold bullion—coins.

Not only are gold coins being purchased as an investment, but the fine detail and exquisite deep casting of the gold coins of Mexico, for example, have long made them favorites for elegant gold coin jewelry. The "Centenario," or 50 Peso piece, shown above, is the largest of the Mexican bullion coins containing over 1.2 troy ounces of pure gold. There are also five other gold coins available to investors and collectors in the U.S. Information about where to purchase these Mexican gold coins is available at coin dealers and selected banks.

FU Convention Airs Trend To Larger Farms

Ongoing trend toward fewer and larger farms, along with changes in the needs of agriculture and growing concentration in the food manufacturing industry, all pose major challenges for farmer-owned cooperatives in the 1980s, a top USDA official said recently.

Dr. Randall Torgerson, director of the USDA agricultural cooperative service, told delegates to the 39th annual Minnesota Farmers Union convention that these trends will affect merger activities, marketing and other services cooperatives offer their member-owners.

Joining Torgerson on the MFU convention program were representatives of four major Farmers Union-affiliated regional cooperatives. All commented on how the changes predicted by Torgerson will affect the missions of their cooperatives in coming years.

Structural changes in farming will likely bring more large, specialized farms with high output, fewer medium-sized full-time farmers, and an increase in the number of smaller, part-time farmers with off-farm income, he said. "Cooperatives will have to take a hard look at the structural changes within their membership in view of these predictions," Torgerson said. "Several questions need answers: Will the membership be, among the increasingly large farmers? Or among the declining segment of small farmers? How can a cooperative react, if it begins to lose its larger members? Should the general farm organizations and cooperatives be an active force in trying to influence trends in farm size?"

"Structural trends and their resulting impact on cooperatives will be different by region and by commodity, ranging from minimal to severe," he said. The USDA official noted that foreign ownership of U.S. farmland will increase as an issue of serious concern to farmer co-ops. Growing number of corporate farms, which benefit from tax advantages, will also be an issue for cooperatives, although most of such farms are expected to be family-owned.

As the number of their part-time farmer patrons increases, Torgerson observed, "Cooperative leadership will need to be much better acquainted with the part-time farmer. This type of member may have different goals for farming and for cooperation than those of full-time farmers. Serving both, under the democratic principle of control, could be different."

Four major challenges facing cooperatives as a result of emerging trends are the changing nature of co-op structure in coming years, capital formation to permit cooperative growth, member communications and control as co-ops become larger, and relations with other forms of group action, particularly the general farm organizations.

Torgerson told the convention that an overlap of co-op service and co-op merger activity may also become a more important issue. "It is not uncommon in many areas of Minnesota, for example, to see between five and seven regionals each trying to serve the same farmer, i.e., each trying to convince him that he ought to use each of their individual services. This situation also exists, albeit on a smaller scale, in many local communities," he said.

"It might be suggested by many small, local farm supply cooperatives need to be merged, but because of regional fracturalization, it's not happening fast enough. Similarly, combinations of some of the regionals will likely take place during the 1980s."

Franchising Offers Way To Start Business

Franchising, which has become popular in the past 20 years, offers people a way to start their own businesses with lower risk and less capital than opening a retail shop, for example. Fast food operations, which made franchising famous, may be out of reach of the small investor (some require a quarter of a million dollars to cook up quarter pounders). But other types of franchises are coming along all the time — services such as lawn care, employment agencies, diet centers, instant printing and auto care.

If you are interested in a particular franchise, start by writing to the company for information, says the Minnesota Society of certified public accountants (CPAs). Look in the newspaper business pages for articles and advertisements about franchises.

There are many books on franchising, as well as an annual directory of franchise organizations, so check your local public library, as well as the business administration department of your local college. Also inquire at the local office of the Better Business Bureau and the Small Business Administration.

Before you decide to buy a franchise, do some legwork, CPAs advise. Visit other outlets operated by your franchisor and talk with the operators. Check the bank references and credit rating of the franchisor.

Be sure you know what the franchise fee and future royalties cover. Is the franchise fee a single charge, continuing fee in the form of a sales purchase, or a fixed fee to be paid periodically? One franchisor claimed his hair cutting salon franchise required no royalty, but franchisees discovered there was a $150 weekly "license fee" required. CPAs suggest you measure the franchise fee and other fees or royalties in terms of the cost per year, rather than as a one-time expense. You should plan to recover your total investment (in addition to your salary) in three to five years.

Also evaluate the intangibles. How much is the name, image or training program worth? How much will national advertising contribute to your net income? Franchisees of one fast food company pay 4 per cent of gross sales toward advertising. This is part of a total royalty fee of 9 per cent. Figure out what a royalty fee will come to in actual dollars.

Project probable earnings and profits before you consider buying a franchise. Find out if the franchisor's projected sales volumn is realistic. Calculate the sales volumn on a weekly and daily basis, as well as annually. Apply both the probable cost of sales and your operating expenses to sales volumn for a projected period in order to arrive at a reliable profit estimate.

Before you sign a contract, have your attorney and CPA look it over carefully. Be sure you understand territorial provisions and cancellation clauses, as well as the mutual obligations in your agreement. What will happen if you die, go bankrupt or your business is wiped out by a disaster? What if you want to sell the business?

Since 1979 the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has required franchisors to give a detailed financial statement to prospective franchisees 10 days before signing a contract. Review this statement carefully and read a copy of the FTC ruling.

Some seven million armed forces veterans received at least one Veterans Administration benefit in fiscal year 1977, according to a recent survey by the Census Bureau and VA.

15 LEC Cases Reported Dec. 9

Law enforcement center report dated December 9 listed the following individual cases by reporting date.

November 29 — Duluth and Backe — 3:51 p.m. — Kerry Madunich of Thief River Falls was traveling east on Backe and Lisa Hefty of Thief River Falls was traveling south on Duluth when the two vehicles collided in the intersection. Both drivers, and a passenger in the Manunich vehicle, Leslie Ose, suffered minor bumps and bruises. Both of the vehicles were totaled.

November 29 — Mrs. Emil Clausen of Lot 55 Riverview Trailer court reported that someone had stolen bulbs valued at $2.50 out of a string of Christmas lights on the front window of her home.

November 23 — Seventh street and Red Lake boulevard — A pickup parked facing south on Red Lake boulevard, owned by William Moeglein of 619 Red Lake boulevard, was struck by an unknown vehicle causing estimated damages of $800.

December 1 — Highway 59 Red Owl entrance — 9:37 p.m. — Michael E. Olson of St. Hilaire and Nancl Kezar of Thief River Falls were both traveling south on Highway 59. As Kezar attempted to pass the Olson vehicle as he was making a left turn into the Red Owl lot, she collided with the left side of his vehicle, causing estimated damages of $300 to the Olson vehicle and $200 to her vehicle.

December 3 — Randy Knuts of route 1 reported that someone had stolen the H15 spare tire valued at $50 from his pickup while it was parked in Bridgeman's lot.

December 3 — Sharon Pederson of Lot 78 Northwestern trailer court reported that someone had stolen 10 lug nuts from her pickup while it was parked in her driveway causing a loss estimated at $15.

December 4 — Darlene Sletten of route 3 was backing up on the Eighth street boat landing when she struck a tree, causing an estimated $900 in damages to her vehicle. Sletten suffered a bump on the back of her head.

December 4 — Karen J. Johnson of Northland Village reported that she had some clothes stolen from the washer in the apartment building. An apartment occupied by Jack Martin Owen, 24, of route 4 was checked and numerous clothing and linen items were found. His vehicle was also searched and numerous clothing and linen items were found there also. Charges are pending.

December 6 — 600 block of Red Lake boulevard — Jamal Marrison of Rosemount, MN was traveling north on Red Lake boulevard when he collided with a car legally facing north on Red Lake boulevard and owned by Manley Torgerson of Thief River Falls. Roads were icy at the time of the collision. Damages to the Marrison vehicle estimated at $700 and $200 to the Torgerson vehicle. No injuries were reported.

December 6 — Soo Line tracks and Third street — Marilyn Nelson of Thief River Falls was traveling west on Third and collided with the back of a truck driven by Chad Thompson of Thief River Falls who was stopped in traffic facing west on Third street. Damages to the Nelson vehicle estimated at $300 and $500 to the Thompson vehicle. No injuries were reported.

Pennington county sheriff's department cases included the following:

November 24 — David Furbish of Thief River Falls was traveling on county road 18 and swerved to miss a dog when he struck two mailboxes owned by Hilary Stoltman and Mrs. Doyle Thompson, both of route 4. Damages to the Furbish vehicle estimated at $800 and $20 to each of the mailboxes.

November 26 — Curtis Syverson of Clearbrook was traveling west on County Road 62 when he lost control of the vehicle and rolled it in the ditch, causing an estimated $2,500 in damages. Charges are pending on Syverson.

December 1 — Joel Waterworth of route 3 reported that someone had siphoned approximately $15 worth of gas from his pickup while it was parked at his residence.

December 2 — Lyle Aune of route 3 reported that someone had taken three check blanks from his checkbook and had forged his name on one of them. Case is under investigation.

December 5 — Goodridge — Main street and Highway 219 — Lowell Swanson of Goodridge was stopped at the stop sign on Main street facing west when Robert Miller of Goodridge came up behind him, was unable to stop due to icy roads, and collided with the rear of the Swanson vehicle. Damages estimated at $150 to the Swanson vehicle and $1,800 to the Miller vehicle. Swanson received a cut lip.

Beiswenger Found Guilty Of Tax Evasion

A Crookston area man was found guilty Wednesday of failing to file federal income tax returns for 1974 and 1975, according to a news release distributed by the U.S. internal revenue service.

Edwin A. Beiswenger Jr., 30, was found guilty following a two and one-half day trial before chief U.S. district court judge Edward J. Devitt. Jury deliberated approximately three hours before returning the guilty verdict, the release said.

U.S. attorney Tom Berg said evidence and testimony during the trial showed that Beiswenger knew he should have filed federal tax returns. Documents he did file, which are not considered valid tax returns by the internal revenue service, contained no dollar figures but rather had the words, "Object: self-incrimination", typed on almost every line. Beiswenger said he attended tax protest meetings and relied on the information he received at these seminars.

Beiswenger was charged on Oct. 10, 1980, with two counts of failing to file federal tax returns. He was arrested on October 16 and pled not guilty to the charges before U.S. magistrate Brian Short on October 23.

Judge Devitt ordered a presentence investigation. Beiswenger faces a maximum sentence of no more than two years in jail and a $20,000 fine.

Curator of Aeronautics Explains . . .

Wrights Were Not First To Design, Fly Plane

by Rita C. Bobowski
Smithsonian News Service

The year was 1903. The place: a desolate strip of beach near Kitty Hawk, N.C.

A strong northerly wind had blown in overnight and by morning puddles of water were covered with thin sheets of ice. Around 10 a.m., two men from Dayton, Ohio, struggling against 25 mph winds, lifted a large, odd-shaped contraption onto a wooden rail.

That day, Dec. 17, 1903, Flyer 1 made four flights, the longest covering 859 feet in 59 seconds, and Wilbur and Orville Wright saw a dream of the ages fulfilled.

According to most popular accounts, the Wright brothers were a couple of eccentric tinkerers, bicycle mechanics who, with a little bit of know-how and a lot of luck, designed and flew the first airplane.

Not so, says Tom D. Crouch, curator of aeronautics at the Smithsonian's national air and space museum in Washington, D.C.

"These self-taught geniuses solved problems that had eluded the best-trained engineers of the century," says Crouch, whose book, "A Dream of Wings: Americans and the Airplane 1875-1905," will be published early next year. "But they did not work in a vacuum. The Wrights used the research and the aeronautical experiments that had taken place before them."

Last half of the 19th century was a time of great achievement in technology and science. The phonograph, the incandescent light bulb, the telephone and monumental engineering structures like the Brooklyn bridge were among the era's developments. A new breed of technical innovators developed as well. They were people who felt that any problem could be solved as long as they dealt with it scientifically. The airplane was one of the most difficult challenges of all.

"Until the 19th century, no one really believed that man could fly," Crouch says. "In my view, one basic ingredient was missing — self-confidence. But all of a sudden, engineers started to think: We have done so many miraculous things, why not build a machine that can fly?"

It soon became apparent, however, that a successful solution would not rest with one individual. The problem of flight was too complex. Areas as diverse as aircraft structures, aerodynamics, power plant and propeller technology had to be reckoned with.

Technical community came to the rescue in the mid-1800s with the formation of aeronautical societies. Through their professional journals, lectures and exhibitions, the societies — made up of leading engineers and scientists — drew attention to the field.

"Before this point," Crouch says, "the mention of flight was good for a laugh. But when well-respected figures of the day began to believe in flight, people started to listen."

When Orville and Wilbur entered the picture in 1899, they made use of this body of information in addition to planning their own experiments. Three contemporaries were particularly influential: Octave Chanute, Samuel P. Langley and Otto Lilienthal.

The Wrights first contacted Octave Chanute in 1900. A close friendship quickly developed as Chanute took the Wrights under his wing, introducing them to prominent engineers, discussing their problems with them and encouraging them.

Trained as a civil engineer, Chanute became interested in aeronautics in 1875. By the 1890s, he was recruiting American inventors to build full-scale gliders. Today, Chanute is considered the first great historian of aviation.

"Though Chanute did not teach Wilbur and Orville much about the technology of flight," Crouch admits, "he kept them going by the simple fact that he was always there. Even from their correspondence, it is obvious Chanute realized that the Wrights were extraordinarily talented."

Samuel P. Langley, later to become the third secretary of the Smithsonian institution, was attracted to flight by Chanute's enthusiasm. A self-educated mathematician and astronomer, Langley was regarded as one of the chief scientists of his day. He began serious investigations into flight in 1887.

Like Chanute, he offered little technical assistance to the Wrights, but he was a source of inspiration. After Langley's death in 1906, Wilbur wrote to Chanute, "The fact that the great scientist, Professor Langley, believed in flying machines was one thing that encouraged us to begin studies."

Otto Lilienthal was a key figure in aviation during the 1890s. This German engineer began gliding in 1891 and, over the next five years, completed more than 2,500 glides — an unmatched record at the time.

The Wrights read about Lilienthal's work and also tried gliding, improving on his concept. Whereas Lilienthal relied on body movements alone to control his craft, the Wrights decided to develop a mechanical control system. This turned out to be critical: The mechanical system provided more control of the craft, allowing it to remain in the air longer.

"Though the Wrights built on the research of others," Crouch says, "they should not be considered a natural step in the evolution of flight. The Wrights, with their outstanding talent, were able to leap three or four giant steps ahead of all contenders, solving problems that had baffled much better trained investigators for over a century."

The result changed the world for all time. The 1903 Flyer now occupies a place of honor in the national air and space museum. To this day, it remains a testament to the perseverance and ingenuity of Orville and Wilbur Wright and all those who came before.

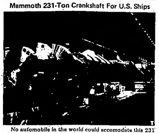
Mammoth 231-Ton Crankshaft For U.S. Ships



No automobile in the world could accomodate this 231 ton crankshaft assembly, but it will fit precisely into a 43,200 hp marine diesel engine being built by the Allis-Chalmers Corp., Milwaukee, Wis. The 80-foot long unit and two more like it were designed by Sulzer Brothers of Switzerland for three low speed diesels being constructed for U.S. container ships. The low-speed design has become popular as an energy saver.

Use Caution In Jump-Starting Any Automobile

What's the difference between a highly explosive bomb and an ordinary six or 12-volt battery that supplies the electrical charge for starting your vehicle?

The answer: very little difference. Both are highly explosive when certain conditions are met. Moreover, the danger of each increases significantly when handled by someone who is unaware of the potential danger of acts carelessly in spite of such knowledge.

Battery explosions can occur in the process of jump-starting your vehicle, usually as a result of one of the following: (1) a spark of flame igniting hydrogen gas which is released in the changing process or (2) connecting batteries with the terminal polarities reversed (or even connecting batteries of widely different voltages).

In order to avoid the above situations, the Minnesota Society for the Prevention of Blindness (MSPB) recommends following these precautions:

+ Keep sparks and flames away from battery. Extinguish all cigarettes, cigars and pipes; above all, do not use a cigarette lighter as a light source when checking battery fluid levels.

+ Provide adequate ventilation near battery by removing filler caps and covering holes with a cloth.

+ Make sure batteries are of same voltage.

+ Make sure cars do not touch.

+ Determine which terminal is positive ("P"), "pos", "+") and which is negative ("N", "neg", "-") before connecting cables.

+ DO NOT jump-start if fluid in dead battery is frozen.

The final precaution is to wear eye protection. This cannot be emphasized too much. Battery acid causes severe burns. As in any chemical situation, if acid gets on the skin or in the eyes, immediately flush the contaminated area with water for 15 minutes. Get medical attention immediately.

For more information on this subject, write for a self-adhesive sticker entitled "Emergency Procedure for Jump-Starting Your Car". This sticker is free of charge and can be permanently stuck inside the hood of your car or on the jumper cable itself for easy reference. Write MSPB, 550 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, MN 55101 or call 1-800-652-9732.

Packaging People

Know why we build skyscrapers? In order to have many more people working in a limited area. We package people vertically!

Among the skyscrapers our photographer has discovered a church. It too has a vertical element — a steeple pointing heavenward.

Church architecture with its traditional spires expresses our beliefs. People today are packaged too tightly. Pressure, custom, conformity crowd in upon our souls. Christ teaches that every person is important . . . each one of us is loved by our Lord.

As we worship God each week side by side, our beliefs point us heavenward.

Senior Citizens

Thursday, December 4, there were only 17 present for our regular meeting. Karen Skadsem of Middle River, Ruth Elg of Greenbush, Marguerite Ellefson of Karlstad and Ivy Ombler were guests.

Mildred and Anna Borsvold sewed the ends on the wool piece quilt, while others fluffed up stuffing. Some filled bed and sofa pillows and we sewed up ends on them to complete a pair of bed pillows and eight sofa pillows. However, we sold two sofa pillows before the day was over, so we have only six sofa pillows left to add to a few we already had on hand for our sale. Yes, we decided to have our sale at the center Saturday, Dec. 13. Santa Claus will be in town, too that day so we hope to see you there. That day the afghan will be raffled off too, so don't be sorry by not having a chance when some lucky person wins it. You can still buy tickets on it and I'd like to call your attention to the Norwegian donut seeds we will be having also at our sale. Get your seeds now so you have them for spring planting. No garden can be complete without a donut plant or two. Even Swedes can plant them or whatever nationality you are — makes no difference, so don't forget to look for some at our center Saturday, Dec. 13.

Mildred accompanied Lee Wernberg to Middle River last week when they delivered some clothing we donated to the SDA church there.

Ivy Ombler gave our center some rug yarn and Gordon Lefrooth gave us $1.50 donation. Thanks.

Five door prizes were given away. Mildred received Gust's, Irene and Marguerite received Ruth's prizes, Karen and Ruth received those given by Elsie. We sang the birthday song for Mable Stromberg and the table grace before Ruth Harper served the lunch.

GULLY . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Senger and family of Olivia were Thanksgiving to Saturday guests at the Wendt Senger home. Other Thanksgiving dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Senger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Moy and family and Doreen and Gay Brovold.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Carlson were also dinner guests on Thanksgiving with the group that was mentioned in last week's paper at the Robert Carlson home. Their name was omitted.

Mrs. Henry Sollen and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sollen of Fosston were Thanksgiving dinner guests at the James Sollen home.

Billy Davids of Brooklyn Center spent the weekend of Thanksgiving with his grandmother, Mrs. Clara Ness. Clara Ness received the sad news her granddaughter, Mrs. Arlene White was killed in a car accident. She was a daughter of Betty and Clifford Hanson of East Grand Forks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bergh of Hallock visited Friday evening at the June Bergh home and with Henry Bergh.

Saturday, November 29 supper guests of Cora Hanson were Anton and Art Boman and Ada Tarstenson and Emma Agnes of Trail.

Mrs. Elin Bergman was a Friday overnight guest at the Ken Forsbergs.

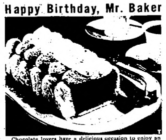
Last Thursday Mrs. June Bergh, Mrs. Lena Sylvester and Roger of Gonvick helped Edwin Wold celebrate his 90th birthday at the Einar Rindahl home where he stays. The self-invited guests brought the lunch. The birthday cake was made by his niece, Mrs. June Bergh.

Renae and Mitch Vakoch of Ada spent the weekend at her parental home, the Elmer Halvorsons.

Nicole Rose, infant daughter of Teri and John Polzin of Lake Elmo passed away November 21. She was four months old. Her grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Groves of Scandia and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Polzin of Forrest Lake.

Faith circle will meet Saturday, Dec. 13, at the Ron Nyland home at 9:30 a.m.

Happy Birthday, Mr. Baker



Chocolate lovers have a delicious occasion to enjoy an Old Fashioned Chocolate Icebox Cake. It's time to celebrate the 200th anniversary of a famous name in chocolate. Back in 1780, the Walter Baker plant began making a blend of quality chocolate. In time, the famous La Belle Chocolatiere, or "Beautiful Chocolate Girl," appeared on packages of bar chocolate to make it more distinctive. The romantic trademark is a gallery portrait of a beautiful Viennese waitress who served hot chocolate to a prince and, in storybook fashion, married him. A silhouette of the chocolate girl appears on sweet cooking chocolate, major ingredient in the rich filling for this "celebration" cake. Whether for a personal birthday or commemorating two hundred years of the famous chocolate name, the easy-to-prepare dessert promises to delight the palate.

OLD FASHIONED CHOCOLATE ICEBOX CAKE

1 package (4 oz.) Baker's German's sweet chocolate
1-1/2 tablespoons water
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon confectioners sugar
1 cup prepared Dream Whip whipped topping
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Line 8x4-inch loaf pan with waxed paper. Place 6 ladyfingers on bottom of pan; set aside 6 for the top. Cut remaining ladyfingers in half and place, cut side up, around sides of pan. Melt chocolate in saucepan over very low heat; blend in water. Remove from heat and add egg yolk, beating vigorously until smooth. Blend in sugar; cool. Fold in prepared whipped topping and beaten egg white. Pour into pan and top with reserved ladyfingers. Chill overnight. Unmold and remove paper. Garnish with additional prepared whipped topping, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Canada Is For Savers

Following editorial is from the St. Louis Globe Democrat:

Despite much talk, those who control the federal government continue to impose policies that discourage saving among Americans.

This can be readily seen when the policies of other governments are compared with those in this country.

Canada, for example, has created a climate for much higher savings than the U.S.

Canada, unlike the U.S., doesn't put a ceiling on interest that can be paid to savers by financial institutions. In Canada, savers receive the open market rate on interest, now more than 10 per cent. In this country, the federal government has imposed a regulation that puts a ceiling of 5.5 per cent on interest that savers can receive.

Furthermore, the first $1,000 that Canadians earn in interest on their savings is tax free. In the United States all savings interest is fully taxable. What a contrast that is!

In the U.S. interest paid on debt is tax-deductible. This has the effect of encouraging people to borrow rather than save. In Canada interest on loans is not tax-deductible. Thus no incentive is given to borrow and there is much less of a drain on savings.

The federal government in this country also provides savers with the worst possible example by running up a colossal debt every year and by consistently refusing to even consider beginning to pay back the more than $872 billion it now owes after decades of red ink.

Dogs, Fleas, Warts And The Flag

Following was written by guest columnist Wint Hartman in the Hastings Star:

There are folks who look at a dog and see fleas. They never notice the beauty of his coat, the love and faithfulness in his eyes, the laughter in his tail. Such folks are so caught up in little annoyances, they never stop to smell the flowers.

There are folks who, seeing a picture of Lincoln, are transfixed by the wart on his face. They will never know the wisdom of his intellect, hear the humaneness of his reason nor the common touch reflected in his glance. Their tunnel vision denies them the emancipator's great gifts.

Folks like these have been America's burden in the last two decades. Since 1960, there have been those among us who have been consumed by picking at the fleas and warts of the U.S.A. Sure, there is an occasional flea or tick in our coat. Sure, America has some warts. Yes, and we've made some mistakes. There is an ancient bit of wisdom. It says, "He never made any mistakes but he never did anything either."

We Americans have done a few things, known some successes and in the course of our scant 204 years, we've made some mistakes. We need to learn from those mistakes — not dwell on them. We need to reflect on and view with pride our successes and our humanity.

I chanced to think about all this the other noon as I whiled away a lunch hour at the Dakota County Government Center. Called to jury duty, I spent considerable time waiting for judges and attorneys to get their act together. Rounding the corner of the building on a walk for a breath of air, I looked up. There, its crimson, white and blue silhouetted against an azure sky, was Old Glory. Rippling in a spanking breeze it never ceases to send the shivers up and down my spine. I'm proud of what that flag stands for. It was a moment for reflection.

What kind of people are we who live under that flag?

Well, to begin with, 205 years ago you couldn't find an American or Yankee to send home any place on the globe. We are a newly emerging people. The Ayatollah Khomeini's charge that we exploited his people, is surely a tragic admission. It makes as much sense as for this 67-year-old grandfather to claim he is being exploited by his 7-year-old granddaughter. The Iranian people — Medes and Persians — have been around for 6,000 years and that oil was there all that time. By all logic, the world — and Iran in particular — should be our intellectual and technological superior. Time was on their side.

The world gravitates to that flag. Never have we built a wall to keep our people in. Our problem has always been that more people wanted in that we could efficiently handle. No one is trying to get out — millions want to enter.

The satanic Americans, as some call us, did not arrive from outer space nor did we spring from the virgin North American soil. No, we are the "wretched refuse" of far shores — "the tempest tossed yearning to be free." We are these and their children's children from every country in the world. Do they really want us to go home and would they take us back?

The world turned us out. With ingenuity, hard work and daring we built a great nation from a foreboding and forbidding wilderness. Freedom made it possible and with generosity and compassion we shared the bounty of our endeavor with the world. No other nation has given more of its treasure or shed more of its blood on behalf of others. No nation has been more magnanimous in victory, more generous to the vanquished — $70 billion plus. No nation contributes more to the work of the United Nations. In disaster, American planes and boats are among the first to give aid.

Considering the world scene, one wonders, if we needed them, who among our beneficiaries would be there? In sadness, one is disposed to ask, why do some hate us so?

I asked that question of an old Bishop in a Coffee House in San Juan, Puerto Rico one afternoon. In his wisdom, he replied, "of all the virtues, gratitude is the hardest to come by — be patient with the world."

Fleas, warts, mistakes and all — this is a good land and we are a great nation of a newly emerging people — Americans. For this we fly the flag.

For Vegetarians Only

There are people who insist that they can encourage plants to grow by talking softly and encouragingly to them. Others point out that polygraphs have indicated plants have emotions and react to pain and happiness.

One avid fisherman had those thoughts in mind when confronted with the information that a group has been organized to ban the old sport of fishing.

"If your average crappie has feelings and joy and likes to jump and play just as we do when we feel happy, then plants must have those feelings, too," he writes.

"Only last week I saw a carrot definitely giggling in response to a risque joke being told by a nearby radish — and you know how hot some of those radishes can get So we decided if the people fighting fishing aren't living on the flesh of animals and fish, they must be subsisting on plant life. They are eating our plant friends

"How could anyone take an inoffensive, harmless, fun-loving pea pod, split it down the middle, shell out its insides and eat them? The very thought is horrifying.

"Doesn't it disgust you that a group of people are cracking wheat heads together, slashing and hacking at zucchini and skewering the tender ears of sweet corn? It's the inquisition all over again. It is horrible, and we should not stand for it."

As an after-thought, the person who passed along the above information added, "If I remember my Bible, some rather respectable people have been fishing."

The Uncommon Man

Following quote — which should provide some mental uplift in the wake of a national election, a holiday for Thanksgiving and the approaching start of another year — was taken from "The Rebirth of a Nation":

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon if I can.

I seek opportunity — not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me.

I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to gail and to succeed.

I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of Utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficene, nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before my master nor bend to any threat.

It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefits of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, 'this I have done!

All this is what being an American means to me.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Sick husband to wife with spoonful of medicine: "Are you sure it's strong enough to kill the germs? I don't want to take something that will just antagonize them "

The young man had just had his vision restored through surgery after several years of blindness. After the bandages had been removed he looked at his wife and said, "Boy, you sure have gotten fat in four years "

1920 — 60 YEARS AGO

Four men were killed when the car in which they were riding was struck by a Great Northern train west of Marcoux. — Mrs. Albert Johnson was named president of the newly organized American Legion auxiliary unit here, with Mrs. T.P. Anderson as vice president.

1930 — 50 YEARS AGO

Members of the I.G. Lane family escaped through an upstairs window when fire attacked their home on State ave. N. — Paul Roy was elected mayor of St. Hilaire. — Fred Herrick, for many years manager of the Thief River Grocery Co., died at Dunseith, N.D. — Ole Moen, local road contractor, was seriously injured when struck by a car.

1940 — 40 YEARS AGO

A total of 500 Pennington county young men have been classified as to their draft status, chairman W.J. LaBree announced. — Some $94,000 in soil conservation payments have been received by county farmers up to this week.

1950 — 30 YEARS AGO

Jeanne Tygeson and Joan Winter were presented with Curved Bars, highest Girl Scout award — City council approved a tax levy for city purposes of $26,000, or 10.54 mills for 1950. — Pennington county Community Chest raised slightly more than its goal of $10,462, chairman E.B. Benson reported.

1960 — 20 YEARS AGO

City council, after two nights of negotiations, cut $97,895 from the city budget proposed by department heads, holding expenditures to 1959 levels and making a tax increase unnecessary. — The mercury dropped to -25 Dec. 8. — City council passed a resolution favoring improvement of the river channel to insure an adequate water supply for the city. — Three local persons were named to recount the ballots cast in this county as requested by Victor Aalbu of Gonvick, who was apparently defeated by L.J. Lee of Bagley by 23 votes in the race for the 65th district legislative seat.

1970 — 10 YEARS AGO

Dedication and open house for the new Marshall County Central high school, recently put into use by School District 441, will be held Sunday afternoon. — John Wold was named to succeed Charles Krause as manager of Peterson-Biddick Co. — Marvin Lundin was elected president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, with Victor Charles named first vice-president. — Winter quarter enrollment at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute reached a new high of 424 full time students.

To The Editor:

My letter to the editor on trapping November 26 was anti-steel jaw leghold trap in favor of more humane methods. It was NOT anti-hunting, anti-sportsman or anti-population control as a certain letter writer mistakenly or deliberately tried to depict.

It is interesting to note in each letter that animals are found "asleep" in traps and doubts are expressed as to any pain felt. These animals are not asleep but are in shock brought on by severe pain and-or hypothermia (lowered body temperature).

In cold weather animals caught and released in leghold traps do not simply walk away unhurt. The part inside the trap freezes; later causing gangrene. More information on this can be obtained from the American Veterinarian Medical association or the American Humane society.

Sincerely,
John Wengeler

dyenamite HINTS FOR homemakers

Looking for new leisure-time projects that are inexpensive and require little time? A visit to the home furnishings department of your local discount store can result in an abundance of potential decorating projects. With a few wicker items, some household dye and a little imagination you're well on your way to refurbishing your home.

Using wicker baskets, fans and trays it's easy to decorate and accessorize a corner, wall or table. You'll find that wicker, which is really just small twigs woven together, "takes" dyes very well.

The dyeing process stains the natural-colored straw so that the color seems to emerge from within. Small wicker pieces — like baskets and serving trays — can be tinted by immersing them in a hot concentrated Rit Dye solution of your favorite shade in a tub or sink. Following package instructions, keep the basket in the dye for 15 minutes, or until the article reaches the desired color. Rinse with cold water.

Natural straw fans and baskets can be dyed and assembled in a cluster for a wall arrangement. Or, the dyed baskets can be filled with pretty linens, flowers or your needles and yarn.

Wicker trays, when dyed, add a finishing touch to your dining or kitchen area. Even mundane straw laundry baskets can be spruced up with a little color. When dyeing larger items that won't fit into a tub or sink, sponge on the solution. First, using a large sponge, wet the wicker with water. Then, mix the hot concentrated dye solution and sponge it on until the wicker is the shade you like. Let the dye "set" 10 minutes before rinsing with cold water. After the dyed item has completely dried, you can add a finishing touch by brushing or spraying the item with shellac. Or, if you prefer, use a neutral paste shoe polish or furniture wax instead of shellac.

Some tips to remember when dyeing wicker: Unlike fabric, wicker is approximately the same color wet as it is dry. Also, the dye tends to rub off wicker, so be sure to rinse the entire piece with clean cold water (try the shower) or a clean sponge after you've dyed it. This "sets" the dye and washes it into crevices.

For more information on dyeing techniques, write to RIT for free dyeing literature, P.O. Box 307, Coventry, Connecticut 06238.

"Meltdowns" of family treasures endanger moments to remember

Baby's first gold locket, your old gold or silver school ring, Grandpa's gold watch—don't let them fall prey to the "top dollar offered for old gold and silver" craze, urges the Jewelry Industry Council.

At this time, with precious metal prices the highest in years, many people are tempted to quickly dispose of jewelry items in their possession.

But, money isn't everything, the experts advise, pointing out that, the fine workmanship in many an old piece of jewelry as well as the sentiment in it cannot be replaced that easily.

Instead of selling off Grandpa's watch because "it isn't working anyway," consider having it repaired by your jeweler, and wear it on a chain as an impressive pendant. That's quite fashionable today.

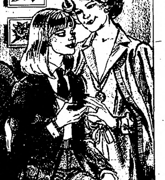
Watchmakers, who have a love for their profession, delight in working on old timepieces. "The old watches were very well-made . . . and even though it's a challenge to find replacement parts, I actually enjoy working on them," one jeweler admits.

That set of silverware that Great Grandmother handed down carries with it a lot of your family's roots, and recalls many a happy holiday or special occasion.

While the appeal of quick money may have its merits in a world of escalated living costs, do keep in mind that a coin collection that is worth a goodly sum today will be worth even more in the future.

Your family jewelry may not rival the Crown Jewels, but it is a sentimental collection of old memories. Furthermore, sterling silver and karat gold retain their value, and keeping them is not only an investment in precious memories, the pieces themselves increase in value through the years.

Another piece of valuable advice from the Council—if you don't know your jewelry, know your jeweler. That old brooch of Aunt Margaret's could be a priceless antique!



FAVORITE JEWELRY PIECES that are passed along in the family often become special treasures and, in time, family heirlooms, the Jewelry Industry Council reports. Aunt Margaret's lapel pin has a sentimental value as well as a monetary value. Think twice before you turn in your old jewelry for "meltdown" money, the experts advise.

WHY A SPACE MAINTAINER?

A primary tooth (sometimes called a "baby" tooth), normally stays in place until the permanent tooth is ready to replace it. If your child's tooth is lost too soon, your dentist may recommend inserting a "space maintainer" to hold the space open until the permanent tooth can erupt in the proper position.

If a space maintainer is not used, your child can have a number of problems. Over a period of time, the teeth on either side often drift into the empty space. Then, when it is time for the permanent tooth to come in, there is not enough room. This is one cause of malocclusion or "crooked teeth". If teeth drift and become crooked, plaque will be hard to remove. This can result in severe tooth decay and will contribute to periodontal (gum) disease.

Prevention of malocclusion caused by early loss of a primary tooth is simple. On the other hand, if nothing is done to maintain the open space, the resulting crooked teeth could lead to more complicated and expensive orthodontic treatment.

How To Warm Up Your Friends The Easy Way

Take the chill off your evenings, relax with your guests, and enjoy the treat of a delicious winter drink: THE HOT TURKEY TODDY.

The Hot Turkey Toddy, with the old-time flavor and richness, is a welcome addition to the great tradition of cold weather drinks for Holiday entertaining.

To make the Hot Turkey Toddy, prepare a cup of boiling water, add a jigger of Wild Turkey Liqueur, and mix. For extra richness, float a pat of butter on top, then savor slowly as the butter melts into the delicious Hot Turkey Toddy.

Wild Turkey Liqueur is America's first premium liqueur. It is bottled exclusively in limited quantity by the Lawrenceburg, Kentucky distillery of Austin, Nichols Distilling Co., the originators of the great Wild Turkey Kentucky Straight Bourbon, from stock specially reserved for that purpose.

Managing Money Good Resolution

If you earn $25,000 a year, you need almost a 20 per cent increase in pay just to stay ahead of a 14 per cent inflation rate and taxes. If such a raise seems unlikely, then it's time to make some New Year's resolutions about your financial future. Financial planning could make the difference, and help you stay ahead.

To get you started, here is a list of financial resolutions from the Minnesota society of certified public accountants.

—I resolve to determine my net worth, so I can get better control of my finances. On one sheet of paper, I will list my assets and liabilities. My assets include real estate, savings and checking accounts and savings bonds, stocks and bonds, and home furnishings, clothing and automobiles. Under liabilities I will list installment debts, loan payments, tax obligations, my rent or the unpaid balance on my mortgage and anything else I owe.

After adding up the two columns, I'll subtract my liabilities from my assets. The resulting figure will be my net worth. (If my liabilities are greater, I have a negative net worth.) Next year, I'll do the same thing, so I'll be able to see if my net worth is increasing or decreasing.

—I resolve to set up a realistic budget based on my goals and lifestyle. I'll add up what I spent during the last quarter of this past year for food, housing, clothing, transportation and entertainment. Next, I'll draw up a "projected" budget for the current quarter. By recording what I actually spend, I can compare these two budgets and adjust my spending habits where necessary.

In making my budget, I'll keep in mind my savings goals and my spending weaknesses. If I'm saving for a vacation or an addition to my coin collection, my budget will reflect this. (I can save $100 a month for four months and take a long skiing weekend.)

—I resolve to keep good financial records to help me take all the tax breaks to which I'm entitled. I'll keep files of all receipts for medical expenses, charitable donations, investment-related financial publications, and other areas in which I must support my claim for a tax deduction. My current bank statements, canceled checks and passbooks will be together in a convenient place close to where I handle my household accounts. At a regular time each month, I'll pay bills and update my current records.

—I resolve to consider buying on credit if: The cost of the item I want to purchase goes up more than ten per cent a year and the item won't be worn out before it is paid for. I will borrow if, by investing my money, I can earn higher interest than the interest I have to pay on the loan. If I can get a loan on my life insurance policy at eight per cent interest, I can use that money to pay for a new car. Instead of buying the car with my $10,000, I can invest it in a savings certificate which may yield 12 per cent interest. On my federal income tax return, I can deduct any finance charges on both credit card purchases and installment loans.

—I resolve to invest, rather than save for a rainy day. There are many ways for me to invest — money market funds, certificates of deposit, collectibles, real estate. Before investing in anything, I will research to be aware of risks as well as benefits. I will keep some standby funds available in case of emergency.

—I resolve to plan for 1981 federal income tax return all during the year. After balancing my checkbook each month, I will file all tax-related canceled checks with other receipts I need for tax deductions. I will keep a running total of my deductions, to see if they exceed the zero-bracket amount of $3,400 on a joint return and $2,300 on a single return. If, toward the end of the year, it looks like I should take the standard deduction rather than itemizing, I can postpone expenses for larger deductions until 1982.

—I will try to manage my money more like a successful business does.

Safeguard your investment in expensive collectibles by taking close-up photos of each separate item. Note characteristics of each item that contribute to its value. Such an inventory will make it easier to identify your collection and verify its market value, in the event of fire or burglary, according to the Minnesota society of CPAs.

Anorexia Nervosa Mental Disorder May Starve Victim

It's less-is-more gone awry, a delirious kind of dieting with a wicked twist.

Anorexia nervosa (literally "the loss of appetite from a problem with nerves") is a complex emotional disorder that launches its victims on a frenzied course of self-inflicted starvation in pursuit of excessive thinness.

And among its most likely targets, adolescent girls and young women, it seems to be on the increase.

"When I was in graduate school nine years ago, I was told that anorexia was a rare disorder that I'd probably never run into," says Pat Neuman, a counselor at Moorhead state university. "Last year we saw 10 students with anorexia. This year already we've seen four new cases."

Anorexia was first medically described by an English physician in 1689, a time when a rounded Rubenesque profile was more fashionable than designer-jean sleekness.

It was named by two European doctors in 1870, although the literal translation (loss of appetite) isn't accurate. "No anorexic is never unhungry," Neuman said.

Neuman, who's developed a working interest in eating disorders, says the causes of anorexia still aren't well defined. Once it was linked to overindulgent infant feeding habits or an underactive hypothalamus gland. But more recent research points to the psychological realm: fears of growing up, family pressures or an exaggerated reaching out for success and self-control.

The typical anorexic, Neuman said, is the classic good girl from an affluent family. She's bright, an achiever and eager to please; she has upscale ambitions and seems destined to succeed. Most are between the ages of 12 and 25 (although it has affected girls as young as eight) and most, over 90 per cent, are female.

In diagnosing anorexia, three symptoms stand out: self-induced starvation (dropping over 25 per cent of their normal body weight); fear of losing control and becoming fat (even at an emaciated 75 pounds, for example, an anorexic sees herself as overweight); and amenorrhea (menstruation stops).

It can be deadly. An estimated five to 15 per cent of anorexics literally starve themselves to death, with maladies ranging from perforated gastric ulcers to cardiac complications.

Dr. Russell Gardner, chairman of the psychiatry department at the University of North Dakota medical school who's studied the disorder and worked closely with some local anorexics, says that no one technique has proven overwhelmingly successful in treating the disease. And even with careful treatment, he said, about 25 per cent of the patients remain severely ill and another 50 per cent show some lingering disabilities.

Incidents of anorexia seem to be on the increase. And not only because health professionals are more familiar with the diagnoses.

In the high risk population, upper and middle class young females, as many as one in 200 will become anorexic, according to some researched estimates.

"It's really a problem surfacing a great deal now," Doctor Gardner said. "In Fargo-Moorhead, we've already had three grand rounds (clinical workshops) for local professionals who might encounter patients with eating disorders."

The nation's infatuation with the slinky Brooke Shields look may be one factor influencing the increase. It's no secret — on television, billboards and magazine pages, even on the back of matchbook covers, advertisers habitually rhyme trimness with happiness and success. And the message seeps in. As one recovered anorexic here said: "The thinner I got, the happier I thought I'd be."

Another social development could also figure in: the new demands of success, independence and sexuality placed on women.

There's some speculation that anorexics, by reverting to an innocent, little girl figure and shutting down menstruation, may be backpedaling from these demands.

Anorexia is rare in impoverished countries and rare among blacks, Neuman said. It's most at home in the middle and upper classes and typically affects disciplined, self-conscious young women, perfectionists who feel under pressure to perform. And most seem haunted by the need to control their lives and surroundings.

"The anorexics I've seen are in absolute terror of losing control," Neuman said.

The disorder is often triggered by a change in life, especially a change that affects feelings of dependence or independence — family conflicts, moving away to school, a failure to live up to their own (usually extreme and unrealistic) standards.

"It's as if they turn to their weight as the one thing in their life they feel certain they can control. It becomes an obsession. And it's rewarding. They believe they're achieving something and glory in the condition."

It takes such a powerful hold, Neuman said, that most anorexics have a greater fear of getting fat than they do of starving to death.

Part of the problem is that anorexics distort their perceptions of themselves. Some insist that their own spindly legs and shrunken stomachs are grotesquely overfleshed. "One girl who looked like an absolute concentration camp victim she was so thin, insisted that she felt like an overstuffed pig when she sat down to eat," Neuman said. Some are convinced that shedding just a few more extra pounds will do the trick.

Other physical symptoms accompany the weight loss — blood pressure drops, skin becomes dry, hair falls out and a light down might grow on other parts of the body.

Why menstruation stops is still a puzzle. Research shows that menstruation is arrested in 30 per cent of anorexics before they begin to starve themselves.

But weight loss itself also affects menstruation. Women normally maintain 26 to 28 per cent of their weight in stored body fat. When that drops below 17 per cent, menstruation tends to stop. It happens to young women athletes who reduce their body fat below that level.

Some anorexics regularly consume less than 25 calories a day — the equivalent of a single carrot or a tiny square of cheese. Yet despite their lack of nutrition, Neuman said, they seem hyperactive and overflow with energy. Part of that stems from their obsession with burning up calories, and many exercise incessantly to complement their diets.

Typically, they're cunning in concealing their eating habits, Neuman said. They'll lie about what, when and where they eat. They'll withdraw to avoid confrontations about their appearance. They'll drink a gallon of water before a physical exam to bolster their weight. And because anorexics tend to be very bright, they manage to get away with the deception.

Almost invariably, anorexics are reluctant to seek help. "They don't feel they need it," Neuman said. "They feel in control."

Most diagnoses come after the condition forces them into a hospital or doctor's office. Sometimes friends or relatives take them by the hand. At MSU, Neuman said, referrals come from resident assistants in the dorms, from roommates and friends and from the university health center.

Under treatment, anorexics rarely show any self-esteem. "They're usually depressed, withdrawn and lack self-confidence. They never seem to think they do anything right," Neuman said. "Their perceptions are extremely distorted.

"I'd ask one how she did on a test and she'd say 'terrible.' I'd check it out and discover that she got an A: 'But anyone can get an A,' she'd say. If she got a B, it would be a disaster.

"One student with anorexia here told me that she baked a pie for the girls on her dorm floor. 'But nobody ate it,' she said. 'Everyone was on a diet.' Later I found out that the girls did eat the pie and thanked her for it.

"Three anorexics I've counseled here have used the same expression to describe themselves: 'no good bum'."

Treating anorexia is puzzling because the causes are puzzling. The disorder can even take on an infectious quality. Doctor Gardner said he once worked with an MSU student who had anorexia and then discovered that her roommate, then a friend of the roommate, became anorexic. "It has a strange kind of attractiveness about it," Gardner said.

The first step in treatment is nutritional rehabilitation — getting the patient back to healthy eating habits. It often requires hospitalization along with some kind of behavioral therapy — using rewards and punishments as encouragement. It is effective on that level. But it doesn't change the underlying psychological problems.

Group therapy appears helpful too, Neuman said, maybe because anorexics feel so isolated, as if they're the only ones in the world who feel that way. Pat Halvorson, a counselor at North Dakota state university, started a support group this fall for people with eating disorders and food focuses, the first of its kind in the area. It includes a share of anorexics.

Family therapy also shows some promise. "I've found that dealing with the internal politics of the family is very useful," Doctor Gardner said. "Maybe that's because many of the problems of anorexia are rooted in the family."

Anti-depressant drugs and individual therapy have shown limited success. But the most effective method seems to be the team approach, using a variety of techniques and specialists. But even that hasn't accomplished any miracles.

In a land of plenty where government figures show that one in every three people are 10 pounds or more overweight, anorexia — sometimes called the "starvation disease" — seems out of place. Yet it appears to be more prevalent than ever.

"It's not common," Neuman said. "But it's not rare either, not when a school like Moorhead state sees over 10 cases a year. And we know there are more out there who we'll never get to see."

Nutrition And You

Stress

Q: How does the body react to stress?

A: Stress prepares the body to handle exceptional situations. The body quickly pumps out what is commonly called adrenalin. The liver mobilizes glycogen to rush to the muscles. This prepares the body for the "fight or flight" syndrome that may have been ideal for our prehistoric ancestors but is less useful when the cause of the stress is something like speaking in front of a group of people.

Q: Isn't it best just to relax until the stress passes?

A: The effects of stress do not subside quickly. After awhile you might feel chilly. Emotional responses—tears, anger, even laughter—may follow. Fatigue is often the end product of stress.

Q: Shouldn't stress be avoided at all costs?

A: Stress is an inevitable part of living. It can come from bad news or good news. Stage fright, busy traffic, a slow elevator—many normal daily events cause stress. Trying to avoid stress can be stressful in itself.

Q: Is stress ever good for you?

A: Athletes use stress by extending beyond their limits day after day until they reach a state of readiness, which previously would have been unachievable. Increased tolerance of stress is a built-in part of many training programs. It doesn't have to be debilitating—it can be the means by which a person learns to excel.

Q: Does stress affect nutritional requirements?

A: Some things are evident. Water soluble B and C vitamins are involved in the synthesis of adrenalin. Trace minerals are lost in excessive perspiration. It is clear that the body must have sufficient quantities of all the nutrients it needs whenever it needs them. The Science and Technology Department of Shaklee Corporation has found that supplementation can help provide the edge to make our bodies ready for the stress of ordinary life.

Agroleum Fuel Use Offers Advantages

Water won't burn or mix with oil, but a chemist has formulas that combine water and alcohol with diesel oil in new fuels that burn well in engine tests.

Arthur W. Schwab says these "agroleum" fuels, hybrids of agricultural and petroleum products, hold the water and remain clear and stable at sub-freezing temperatures. He says fuels that contain watery alcohol and gasoline are ready for the preliminary testing in engines.

Schwab studies oils from soybeans and other farm crops. He designed the agroleum fuel formulas in basic research headed by Everett H. Pryde at the U.S. department of agriculture's northern regional research center.

Agroleum fuels would cost more than petroleum fuels now, Pryde says, but if petroleum prices go up faster than farm prices, products from farm crops could replace some gasoline or diesel oil. Agroleum fuel components, possibly including farm-produced alcohol, could be mixed on the farm.

Pryde says that fuels made with Schwab's formulas can hold more water than any fuel now made and remain stable at low temperatures.

Water contaminates all ethyl alcohol, or aqueous ethanol, that has not been especially distilled for purity. Even pure, 200 proof ethanol absorbs water from the air, from other liquids or from the bottoms of fuel tanks. Ordinary mixtures of this watery ethanol and petroleum fuels separate into two layers Schwab says. The water won't burn, so it causes fuel problems.

Schwab's formulas make special kinds of liquid mixtures called microemulsions. Soap or soap-like compounds, called surface active agents or surfactants, shape the water into submicroscopic droplets and surround them. Coated with surfactant, the water droplets remain dispersed in the diesel oil or gasoline even at low temperatures. The droplets are invisible, and the agroleum fuel is clear.

Some of the formulas use soybean oil fatty acids in making the soap film. Other formulas use butyl alcohol, or butanol, which Schwab says acts as a surfactant. Butanol, as well as ethanol, can be made from plant sugars, glucose from corn starch, for example.

Schwab uses up to a gallon of agricultural product with two gallons of diesel oil in agroleum fuels that have been burned in engines by University of Illinois agricultural engineers. These fuels contain 190 proof ethanol, which is five per cent water. They remain stable at zero, Fahrenheit (-18, Centigrade).

Agroleum fuels containing more of the agricultural products and more water could be tested, Schwab says, if engine parts were designed for a wider range of fuel properties. Either more water or more soap, for example, thickens diesel fuel, and engineers will not test a fuel that is not thin enough to flow into and lubricate parts of fuel injector pumps now used on some diesel engines.

One untested fuel contains 166 proof ethanol, which is 17 per cent water, and diesel oil. It remains stable at three degrees, F. (-16 C.) in laboratory tests. Schwab has a formula that makes agroleum fuel of 160 proof ethanol, which is 20 per cent water, in gasoline. It remains stable at 22 degrees below zero, F. (-30 C.) in Northern Center cold rooms.

In addition to saving petroleum, agroleum fuels would offer advantages because they contain water. Schwab lists such advantages as additional safety, especially in aviation and military fuels, reduction of air pollutants, lower engine temperatures and reduction of engine carbon.

Welcome To Our World

There's no nicer way to welcome a new couple next door than with an informal buffet. It needn't be elaborate and shouldn't require undue effort on the part of the hostess. Baked Chicken with Mushroom Sauce is a happy choice and, thanks to seasoned coating mix for chicken — original flavor, there's little fuss but lots of flair. Golden crispy chicken takes on new dimensions with a sherry mushroom sauce. Elegant for easy entertaining.

Baked Chicken with Mushroom Sauce

- 3 medium or 2 large whole chicken breasts, split
- 1 envelope Shake 'n Bake seasoned coating mix for chicken — original flavor
- 1 can (10-3/4 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1/4 cup water*
- 1/4 cup dry sherry wine*

Or use 1/2 cup chicken broth or water.

Coat chicken with seasoned coating mix as directed on package. Arrange in a single layer in an ungreased shallow baking pan. Bake at 400° for 20 minutes. Combine soup, water and sherry wine. Pour a little of the sauce over the chicken, leaving part of the browned chicken uncovered; pour remaining sauce around the chicken. Bake 20 minutes longer, or until tender. Stir the sauce in the pan and serve with the chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Find Bacterium To Halt Spread Of Elm Disease

Test marketing of a new biological product to control Dutch elm disease could start as early as spring, 1983, it was announced today by Daniel P. Hogan Jr., vice president and general manager of the consumer products division of Chevron chemical company.

The division has entered into an agreement with the Freshwater biological research foundation and Montana state university to pursue an exclusive, worldwide license agreement to develop, produce and market a Dutch elm disease control product. The disease has been the major killer of elm trees for over 60 years.

Hogan told a press conference here today that his company has been field testing a new product for the past year with the Freshwater foundation.

A team of scientists at Montana state university, led by Dr. Gary Strobel, discovered a unique strain of a bacterium called Pseudomonas syringae which produces an antibiotic that kills the fungus which causes Dutch elm disease but does not harm the tree. The team at Montana state was one of three groups of scientists who made up the recently concluded three-year DUEL (for DUtch ELm) research project, created and funded by the Freshwater foundation.

Now that the DUEL project is terminating, the company will carry on with further research and testing of the product. Dr. Joseph C. White, the firm's technical coordinator for special projects, noted that while there are still many unanswered questions, test results to date are "very promising" and it is hopeful that a Dutch elm disease control product can be test marketed during the spring of 1983.

The disease, which was first discovered in this country in 1930, has killed millions of trees at a cost of billions of dollars for removal and depreciation of property. Scientists knew even before the disease arrived in this country that death was caused by a fungus, Ceratocystis ulmi, which impairs the movement of water and nutrients through the tree's vascular system.

Numerous efforts to control the disease have failed and others have been only partially successful. The fungus has ravaged the elm population throughout the U.S. since first being transported here from Europe in some infested logs delivered to a furniture factory. The disease is spread by the elm bark beetle, which carries the fungus from tree to tree during breeding and feeding, and through the root systems of elms growing near one another.

Richard G. Gray Sr., chairman of the Freshwater foundation, instigated the idea of a multi-disciplinary approach toward a possible control of Dutch elm disease late in 1976 and, with nearly $400,000 donated by Minnesota businesses and foundations, the effort commenced on Sept. 1, 1977.

The unique strain of the bacterium can be grown in quantity, freeze-dried and "activated" by mixing with water and other special ingredients. When it is injected into a tree, it is readily transported through it, lives in the tree and provides continuing protection.

Initial field work by Dr. Strobel's team showed that trees pre-treated with the unique strain of P. syringae successfully resisted the disease when challenged with spores of the Dutch elm disease fungus. There has also been success in halting spread of the fungus in trees which are already infected. The disease usually produces a wilting and yellowing or drying of foliage, usually followed by defoliation and death of the trees, often within weeks.

The company plans to expand the field testing program and will continue working with other researchers and university cooperators. While the company is anxious to make a product available, this is dependent on completion of final field research; receipt of full government approval and development of a manufacturing and packaging process.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Let's Take A New Look at the U.N.

The caption beneath her picture read: "La Quingynan is a simultaneous interpreter in Chinese and English who, unlike some (United Nations) Secretariat employees, works hard." The caption and picture were part of a recent article by Bernard D. Nossiter in The New York Times Magazine entitled "Parkinson's Law at the U.N."

It began: "An old saw on the East River runs: 'How many people work at the Secretariat?' The answer: 'About half.' The jibe contains more than a germ of truth. The United Nations Secretariat is a peculiar array of barely coordinated departments, offices and centers. Some perform obviously useful tasks, some engage in activities that might better be discarded and some keep-busy at no discernible work at all."

Consider the case of one person, whom I will not name, and who works in the Peace and Security Studies Section of the Department of Political and Security Council Affairs. For an estimated $61,347 a year, this individual spends most of his hours compiling, digesting and analyzing decisions of U.N. bodies. But as Nossiter observed in his article: "The latest printed edition of his 'Repertory of Practice of United Nations Organs' only goes up to 1966. He hopes a successor will be off the press by early 1981. If it does arrive next year, it will be only seven years out of date."

The most visible characteristic of the United Nations Secretariat is its bureaucratic growth. In fact, critics contend the Secretariat has the ability to create new bureaucracies even faster than it welcomes new member states. During the last 30 years, its staff has more than tripled to 14,906 employees, and its budget has increased more than 12-fold to $624 million.

Also spurring the growth of the Secretariat's bureaucratic power is the ability of departments to survive long after their reason for being has disappeared. For example, in 1945, no fewer than 11 territories were placed under the tutelage of the United Nations to be administered by members in trust for the global organization. These were countries like Togoland (now part of Ghana) and New Guinea. But today, with the exception of Micronesia, the Pacific island group run by the United States, all have won their freedom. Even Micronesia itself will become "freely associated" with the United States sometime next year, and enjoy full control over its domestic affairs.

Nevertheless, this shrinkage will not bother the many people who work in the Department of Political Affairs, Trusteeship and Decolonization. Far from folding, this department will continue and even expand. "We are understaffed," complained one of the department's ranking officials, who happens to earn nearly $75,000 a year.

If these problems make the Secretariat seem like the international community's version of a CETA program run wild, they contain a dangerous element as well. As Nossiter noted: "The Russians and East Europeans. . . have never accepted the concept of an independent international civil service. Their nationals are attached to their home ministries and simply released for a few years duty at the United Nations." This practice, in turn, has heightened concerns about the potential for greater espionage activity.

Depiste these difficulties, I would not go as far as some who believe the United Nations should be severed from the ground and allowed to slide into the East River. I have no doubt that many highly skilled people work at the U.N. who believe deeply in the principles of the U.N. Charter. What's more, the organization is an invaluable meeting place for the Super Powers in times of crisis. It has functioned effectively on occasion to defuse hostilities and carry out a peace-keeping role. It does provide tangible humanitarian and economic assistance to developing countries, and it even plows back revenues to New York City — another area that needs all the help it can get.

Still, with American taxpayers already contributing approximately 25 per cent of the total U.N. budget, and with the incoming Reagan Administration inheriting a budget of its own that has been officially described as "hemorrhaging," I am sure the public would welcome a closer scrutiny on the expenditure of its funds at the U.N.

ENERGY SAVER'S CORNER

How to save and use energy wisely

Driving Tips That Mean More For Your Money

Get more miles for your money this winter by adopting a few energy saving driving habits.

Never let your car warm up for more than a minute. Instead, drive slowly for the first few minutes. According to the U.S. Department of Energy, an idling car wastes approximately one cup of gasoline every six minutes.

While driving on the highway, be sure to hold your speed at 55 mph or lower. You'll not only get better gasoline mileage, you'll reduce your risk of having an accident.

And, at all times, try to anticipate speed changes. Sudden braking decreases gasoline mileage and can be dangerous—especially during the winter months when roads are wet and icy.

Finally, don't forget about the option of using public transportation or joining a car or van pool. Besides helping to trim your gasoline use, it will help you avoid some of the headaches normally associated with winter driving.

Energy...here to serve you today and tomorrow. Use it wisely.

These energy saving tips are brought to you as a public service by the Natural Gas Council of Minnesota.

Bulimia Study Undertaken At MSU And NDSU

A promising young executive developed a $100-a-day food habit that drove her into bankruptcy. She avoided gaining weight, though, by vomiting four to five times a day.

A 19-year-old ballerina consumed two to three grocery bags of junk food after daily workouts, enough to make her stomach swell. But to maintain her airy figure, she chewed laxatives and thyroid pills like candy and forced herself to vomit so often that her eyes turned bloodshot, her voice grew raspy and her teeth were rotting away.

It sounds like a throwback to ancient Rome when the fashionable orgy-goers of the day would gorge themselves with food and then head for the local vomitorium to make room for even more gluttony.

But these two women are among tens of thousands who suffer from a severe psychological disorder called bulimia (from the Greek words for ox and hunger). Some specialists in the field estimate that up to 20 per cent of all women on college campuses may be affected by it in some degree.

Dr. Richard Pyle, director of adult outpatient psychiatry at the University of Minnesota hospitals who's involved in an extensive study of the disorder, is conducting a survey this year of students at Moorhead state university and North Dakota state university. It's part of a broader research project investigating the extent and degree that bulimia affects college-age students.

Pyle says the disorder may be more common than previously believed. Last year his outpatient clinic saw over 70 people with severe cases of bulimia, most responding to a small newspaper ad.

Bulimia is characterized by compulsive swings between frantic eating binges and violent purges, says Pat Neuman, a counselor at MSU who's working with Pyle on the campus survey here. The purges, she said, usually involve habitual vomiting and heavy use of laxatives, diuretics or amphetamines.

Quite a few women turn to vomiting and laxatives as an occasional trick in shedding a few pounds. But bulimia isn't occasional, Neuman said, it's compulsive.

Its victims share many of the same mental attitudes that are symptomatic of anorexia nervosa, the so-called "starvation disease": an exaggerated drive for perfection, thinness and success. In fact, 30 to 40 per cent of anorexics are also troubled with bulimia.

It typically affects young, upward bound women from upper and middle classes, although it has been diagnosed in men (the MSU counseling center worked with one male bulimic last year). The disorder also seems to affect a higher percentage of ballet dancers, models and gymnasts than it does people in other professions.

Unlike anorexics who shy from food, Neuman said, bulimics cling to calories for comfort, relaxation and solace. Like drug addicts, they turn to food as a respite from real or, more often, imagined pressures. "They're literally swallowing their emotions," she said.

What separates them from the compulsive eater is the frantic nature of the binges and the follow-up compulsion to purge. "It's like a rite of purification that clears them of the guilt and calories of the binge," says Neuman, who's currently counseling three bulimic students at MSU.

Because it is embarrassing, bulimics are invariably secretive about their peculiarities. One homemaker, Pyle said, kept her binge and purge cycles hidden from her family for 23 years. It's not difficult. Avoiding the weight gain of compulsive eaters and the wasted-away look of anorexics, their appearance remains relatively normal.

But there are some outward signs, says Neuman. Because of frequent vomiting, bulimics may develop puffy facial features, swollen glands, sore throats, bloodshot eyes and even dental problems. Continued vomiting can also bring on a traumatic tearing of the esophagus, a pH disturbance from a loss of acid stomach secretions, body mineral deficiencies and dehydration. At the worst, its affect of the gastric system can be fatal.

Treatment so far isn't very successful, Pyle said, although some, including two students at MSU, have recovered from the disorder. Catching it early is important.

Like anorexics, bulimics tend to play games in individual therapy, Pyle said. And behavioral therapy, at best, is only temporarily helpful. Group therapy shows some promise because it may relieve the sense of isolation and private guilt associated with the disorder.

But the overall prognosis remains murky. Says Pyle: "We still have a lot to earn."

cancer answers

"Cancer Answers" is a weekly column sponsored by the Red River Valley Medical society, the Red River Valley unit of the American Cancer society and the Thief River Falls Times. Questions may be mailed to the editor, Thief River Falls Times. All questions will be answered, and those of a general interest will be published in "Cancer Answers."

Dear Cancer Answers:

My father has been receiving chemotherapy for cancer for over a year. His doctors told him yesterday that the drugs they've been using don't seem to be effective anymore. They suggested changing to an experimental drug they're testing as part of a research program. We're alarmed at the idea of my father being part of an experiment. Can you tell us something about these research programs?

Worried Son

Dear Worried Son:

Your concern for your father is understandable. It would be helpful if you could ask his doctors to explain to you the specific treatment they are suggesting.

An excellent general description of chemotherapy research programs can be found in a new book titled, Chemotherapy... A Handbook for the Patient and Family written by Candice H. May and Joseph Rubin, M.D. Following is an excerpt from the book.

"Research programs use experimental medicines or standard chemotherapy drugs in new combinations and different ways. Sometimes patients mistakenly get the impression that there's no indication these research drugs might work. However, research programs are designed only after drugs have had extensive testing in animals: these tests must show that animals with cancer which were treated with the research program lived longer than those animals that weren't. Because animals and human beings have many similarities in body functions, it is thought that drugs which have proved to be effective against animal tumors may also work well against human tumors. When drugs are found to be effective against animal tumors, then researchers design programs for humans taking into account the many differences, such as size and weight. Of course, there can be no guarantee that experimental drugs (research treatment) will be effective against human tumors, but they are given only when scientific studies indicated the drugs might be of benefit.

"Before you can be treated with an experimental drug, you must have the research program explained with an emphasis on the goals, side effects, and the experimental nature of the program. After discussing the protocol, you will be asked to sign an "informed consent" sheet stating that you are aware of all these factors. No patient can be treated with experimental drugs without his or her knowledge. If you have started treatment on a research program, and for any reason wish to stop, you may do so.

"Research programs are designed to answer questions in a scientific manner. Sometimes the question is, "Which treatment is best for a type of tumor?" Another question might be, "What is the proper dose for a particular new drug being offered?" A third question is, "Is any treatment effective?" It's for the third question that some programs include a "control" group. This term refers to patients who are either assigned (1) no specific therapy unless problems arise in the future, or (2) standard therapy, if one is available. These patients are asked to return for examinations and consultations at regular intervals, but they don't receive the experimental drug treatment. It's only by comparing these groups of patients that we'll learn whether any therapy is of benefit in certain groups of patients. It may seem confusing to agree to receive experimental drugs and then be told you won't be given them. However, this is the scientific studies must be conducted in order to have accurate results. At the end of the study period, the medical information from all patients will be gathered and interpreted. This information will be used to determine whether the drug (or combination of drugs) was better than the standard (if a standard treatment is available) or better than no treatment at all.

"Many research programs make use of a process called "randomization." This means that several treatments in the particular program are available but no one knows if one of them is superior to the others: your treatment will be selected at random (somewhat as if a coin were tossed). It's only by this system that we can learn which treatment is best.

"Randomization programs are never used if it's known that one of the treatments is superior.

"It's important to realize non-research treatments (treatments that aren't experimental) are also available for some malignant diseases. These drugs have been approved by the FDA and can be used by all physicians. In some cases, experimental treatments might offer more hope. Most cancer centers will offer experimental programs for treatment. Discuss with your physician what your options for treatment are. It's important that you understand the various possibilities. If there's something you don't understand, or are concerned about, you should feel free to ask your physician even if you've asked these questions previously. Although it's important for you to rely on your doctor's judgment, it's also important for you to understand as much about your treatment as possible."

Dear Cancer Answers:

Not long ago, when I had a yearly physical exam, my doctor found a small lump on my shoulder. He said it should come off, and at an appointment a few days later, he froze the area and cut the lump out. After it was examined in the laboratory, the report came back that the lump contained basal cell cancer. Still, my doctor said not to worry — that everything was fine. I thought that every cancer was bad. Should I worry? Should I have more treatment?

C.R.

Dear C.R.:

Basal cell carcinoma is a form of skin cancer that grows mainly on areas of the body regularly exposed to the sun. It is one of the leat serious forms of cancer because it grows very slowly and rarely spreads to other parts of the body. Basal cell tumors are usually fairly simple to remove and require no further treatment. This is one of the few cancers doctors almost always consider cured as soon as the tumor is removed.

Some people seem to be slightly prone to developing basal cell tumors. They may have several of them over a period of years. These new tumors do not mean that the original cancer has spread — each one is independent. People who have had a basal cell skin cancer diagnosed should be alert for any other unusual looking areas on their skin and should have regular physical examinations.

Dear Cancer Answers:

My mother had cancer surgery recently, and she will be starting chemotherapy soon. She's worried about losing her hair. Does everyone who has chemotherapy lose their hair? Is there anything she can do to protect her hair?

Mrs. J.M.

Dear Mrs. J.M.:

There are many different types of drugs and dosages used in chemotherapy for different types of cancer. Some, but not all, of them can cause hair loss. Individual patients also react differently to treatment, so that it's difficult to predict which side effects will affect which patients. It also is important to remember that all side effects of chemotherapy, including loss of hair, are temporary.

Your mother should discuss her concerns with her doctor before her treatment begins. If the doctor thinks it is likely that she will lose some of her hair, she should consider buying a wig. It's a good idea to shop for the wig before hair loss begins because it will be easier to match closely her natural length, style and color. Having the wig early also will insure that she is prepared if she loses her hair quickly.

There are a number of precautions you mother can take to help minimize damage to her hair. She should:

— not use hair coloring or have a permanent immediately before or during treatment

— use gentle hair products, like baby shampoo — use a satin-covered pillowcase

— shampoo less frequently

— consider cutting hair to reduce its weight

— brush or comb gently (try a baby hairbrush)

— avoid heated rollers and blow dryers

— choose a soft, loose hair style free of braids, combs, pins, barrettes, or rubber bands.

These suggestions and others are contained in a booklet titled, Hair Care: Helpful Hints for Chemotherapy Patients. For a free copy, call or write the Cancer Information Service. Minnesota 4-H'ers Win Honors

Bremer

Behrends

Sahl

Stich

Four Minnesota young people have won top state honors for outstanding work on their 1980 4-H projects. Ruth Bremer, 18, Dakota County, Jeanie Behrends, 19, Washington County, and David Sahl, 16, Goodhue County, won expense-paid trips to the 59th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30-Dec. 4. Janis Stich, 18, Dakota County, won a $75 U.S. Savings Bond. They are among 26 Minnesota 4-H'ers earning state awards.

Behrends, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Behrends, South Hastings, took top state honors in the dairy program, sponsored by Insurance Company of North America. She helps care for the family herd which includes 40 dairy cattle, 1,800 poultry, 40 swine and acres of field crops. She says her duties include "everything from keeping records to fixing fences."

Bremer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Bremer, East Hastings, took top state honors in the home environment program, sponsored by The S&H Foundation, Inc. She helped paint the exterior of her house, wallpaper the interior, select new furniture and refinish an antique chest. She also has received numerous awards for her original wall hangings and crafts.

Sahl, son of Donald C. Sahl, Kenyon, led the state in the electric energy program, sponsored by Westinghouse Electric Corporation. He constructed an unusual lamp made of an antique gasoline globe from a gasoline pump, repaired his father's Wabco Hancock elevator scraper by studying the manual and disassembling and rebuilding motors "so that they really worked." He designed and wired his basement workshop.

Stich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome L. Stich, St. Paul, excelled in the veterinary science program, sponsored by The Upjohn Company. She worked at an animal adoption center where her duties consisted on cleaning up, taking the dogs' temperatures, washing, grooming, weighing, feeding and exercising the dogs. She also operated a pet-sitting service out of her home for people who didn't want to leave their animals in a kennel during vacation.

The winners were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, and awards arranged by National 4-H Council.

STORMY WEATHER Friday afternoon and cold temperatures Friday night gave way to a warming trend and pleasant weekend in the Times area. Temperatures rose well into the 20's Saturday under sunny skies and Sunday was still and pleasant. Low temperature last night was 15 degrees.

Holiday Plays Set At Franklin School Tues.

Two Christmas presentations directed by Marcia M. Knuttila and John Hustad will be presented in the Franklin Middle school gymnasium in Thief River Falls tomorrow beginning at 7 p.m.

Webster's dictionary describes a Burro as "a small one used as a pack animal." The burden carried by this "small one" in the presentation has had an everlasting effect on mankind.

Cast of characters for the production include Allen Sorum (Pablo); Mike Sparby (Gonzales); Kevin Barth (voice I); Jeff Wilkens (voice II); David Winjum (voice III); Kris Hoff (mother); Peter Bortnem (David); Shawn Fremstad (auctioneer); Renee Larson (neighbor I); Shelly Trontvet (neighbor II); Michelle Lord (neighbor III); Dan Bartsch (man); Marlene Wernberg (lady); and Chad Fladeland (soldier).

Seventh and eighth grade chorus members performing in the 7 p.m. production are listed with photos in this issue of the Times.

The second Christmas presentation, "Christmas on Angel Street," a musical play reaffirming the true meaning of giving, will begin at 8 p.m. Eighth grade mixed chorus, directed by Marcia Knuttila will present the play.

Parable centers around the story of Jed (Jeff Vanyo), a newsboy of 13, and Cassie (Julie Koppenhaver), his eight-year-old sister — orphans who live alone in a room behind the hardware store. Though their only means of support is the paper money, Jed wants to buy Cassie a special Christmas present. This leads to involvement with the evil Colonel (Janel Helms) and subsequently to an encounter with Mr. Worthing (Dean Prestegaard) and his daughter Katey Jo (Tama Eckstein) which teaches Jed a profound moral lesson that will stay with him all of his life.

Other characters in the production include Teri Klopp (Toad); Rayton Dargon (Worm); Troy Walseth (Fish); Paula Bergan (Charlie); Leslie Grisanti and Jackie Hahn (duet carolers); Kevin Fanfulik (policeman); and Karla Johnson (choir director).

Peddlers appearing in the production include Sheila LeTourneau, Carla Dick, Scott Fowler, Jeanne Hamlin, Pam Srnsky, Deb Kazmierczak, Cindy Moser, Joy Enderlein and Jay Anderson; shoppers — Mark Juhl, Tina Langevin, Vikki Weigand, Erin Brandt, Tami Gustafson, David Cota, Dawn Williamson, Connie Skibicki, Ann Donarski and Valerie Christiansen.

Gang in the production includes Lisa Arnold, Annette Barth, Sheri Carpenter, Tami Freeman, Debbie Jablinske,

Santa needed his spectacles to read the names and model numbers of the items, but insisted he could remember what they were. Santa greeted hundreds of youngsters at the chamber of commerce office in the Soo Line depot from 10:30 to 3 p.m. following his arrival by horse-drawn sleigh.

3 From County Win Dist. 4-H Record Contest

Pennington County 4-H'ers did well last Wednesday during district 4-H record judging in Crookston.

Prize for first place record in beef was awarded to Kirk Hamre, son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Hamre of Thief River Falls. Gene Mosbeck received first place on his conservation record. Gene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mosbeck of Red Lake Falls. First place wood science record was awarded to Kim Koropatnicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Koropatnicki of Goodridge. Kim also received first alternate in the achievement, citizenship and leadership record and interview judging.

Placing second in the dairy records judging was Dale Rupprecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rupprecht of Thief River Falls. Also competing in the day long event were Mark Thune, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Thune; Scott Muzzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Muzzy; and Wanda Sylvester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sylvester. Mark was competing in the horse and achievement, citizenship and leadership areas while Scott and Wanda entered their records in the dairy division.

First place records selected at the district level will now go on to state level competition which will take place in May

To Broadcast School Concert

Washington elementary school Christmas program will be broadcast Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. on the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute's educational radio station KAVS. The station broadcasts at 90.1 on the FM dial and recorded the concert for play-back at the evening hour.

Henry Paneks Are 1980 Co. Conservation Farmers

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Third generation to live on and farm land in Silverton township, the Henry Panek family of rural Thief River Falls is the Pennington county conservation farm family of the year. Selection was made by the Pennington soil and water conservation district.

It was in 1904, when the Red Lake Indian reservation was opened for settlement, that Kasmir Panek homesteaded a quarter section of land located eight miles east, three miles north and a half-mile east of Thief River Falls.

Now the Henry Panek family farms about 1,000 acres in the area, including 640 acres owned and 400 rented, with the latter primarily for pasture. Much of the home farm had to be cleared of trees and brush and broken for farming. This was accomplished by mostly hand labor over a period of years.

"There were six of us boys in the family," Henry explained. "We would cut firewood for the winter and clear an area of land, using a tractor to pull out the stumps. There was a lot of work that went into it, but the farm is all cleared now. In fact, we have planted back some trees for a windbreak around the house and put in half a mile of field shelterbelt. And next spring we are going to put in some more."

Henry's father, Stanley Panek, began his farming in 1920 on the quarter section of land south of the home farm where Kasmir homesteaded. Henry grew up there and in 1955 built a house and moved back on the original homesite. An addition has since been built on the house and farm buildings and grain bins have been added.

In addition to grain farming, the Paneks have about 30 head of Hereford and Shorthorn cross beef cows and raise their calves to about 600 pounds for market as feeders. They also have a few hogs and finish about 150 feeder pigs each year.

The grain crops produced are mostly wheat and barley with about 100 acres devoted to alfalfa hay. A firm believer in the value of summer fallow, Henry plants about 60 acres of sweetclover as a plow-down crop each year. Fertilizer is done according to soil test, primarily with dry fertilizer applied down the drill or broadcast.

Extensive field ditching has been done on the farm and the ditch system is maintained each fall following harvest and fall plowing. The farm also has two stockwater pits.

Henry has been active in community affairs for many years. He was a member of the board of directors of Farmers Co-op Grain and Seed association of Thief River Falls for 15 years, serving most of those years as secretary. He also served on the county extension committee, including service as a vice chairman, and has been a supervisor on the Silverton township board for more than 25 years. He has served as president and secretary of the Silver Leaf local of the Far-

NOBODY EVER SAID farming doesn't have its surprises. Pennington county conservation farmer Henry Panek and his son Steve weren't expecting this calf until February. But it arrived on Friday in cold and wind in the feedlot and was moved with its mother into the shelter of the Panek barn. The Paneks have about 30 beef cows, primarily Hereford and Shorthorn cross, and feed out their calves to about 600 pounds.

Lincoln Team Places Third At UMC Ag Day

Three high school students from the Thief River Falls FFA received awards at UMC's ag activities day. Bruce Johnson, George Reiman and Jim Panek placed third in the agriculture mechanics judging contest.

Approximately 1,200 students and advisers from Minnesota and eastern North Dakota attended the twelfth annual ag activities day, sponsored by the agriculture division of the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC). Students were from 4-H clubs, high school agriculture departments and Future farmers of America chapters.

Judging contests and workshops were held in the areas of crops, dairy cattle, general livestock, horses, agriculture mechanics, dairy products, farm management, wildlife, horticulture, meats, soils and forestry.

Plaques were given to first, second and third place teams; ribbons to fourth, fifth and sixth; a plaque to first individual and ribbons to second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth individuals.

Hog Wrestling Case Dismissed

Case brought against Robert Fincher of Viking by the state of Minnesota as the result of a hog wrestle scheduled for August 17 in Thief River Falls has been dismissed by Judge J. A. Harren of Pennington county court.

Following a hearing in county court November 26, Judge Harren determined that the state did not establish that an offense occurred and that the case should be dismissed.

Fincher, president of the Northern Minnesota Pork Producers association, participated along with three other directors of the association in a hog wrestle at the Pennington county fairgrounds August 17. The event had been scheduled as a contest for which four-member teams would pay an entry fee and the object was the shortest time in which it took to capture a 200-pound or larger hog and deposit it in a barrel.

Admission was to be sold to the public to witness the event and the proceeds from the entry fees and admission used to finance prizes for the winners and to support other activities held throughout the day.

The one hog wrestle held was to test Minnesota Statute 346.34 regarding greased pig contests and turkey scrambles. The pork producers association had been notified of the statute by local law enforcement personnel and members of the Minnesota Humane society prior to the event. Immediately following the wrestle, the four participants were cited by the Thief River Falls police department.

The law regarding greased pig contests states: "No person shall operate, run or participate in a contest, game, or other like activity, in which a pig, greased, oiled or otherwise, is released and wherein the object is the capture of such pig . . ."

Kurt Marben, attorney for Fincher and the pork producers association, petitioned the court for dismissal on the grounds that (1) the statute under which the defendant is prosecuted is void for vagueness and (2) the arrest and charges against the defendant are not supported by probable cause.

After citing facts of the hog wrestle as presented in testimony at the hearing, Judge Harren stated in his order that "The pig was not greased or oiled. The only lubricant was the mud from the floor of the pen. If the above facts had established that the pig was greased or oiled prior to being released, the state would have met its burden of establishing probable cause."

While he acknowledged that the statute was apparently intended to be very broad, the

17 Pennington 4-Hers Attend UMC Ag Day

Friday, December 5, was the University of Minnesota — Crookston college annual ag activities day in which 19 Pennington county 4-H'ers competed against about 1,200 other 4-H and FFA members from northern Minnesota.

Representing Pennington in the dairy judging contest were Dale Rupprecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rupprecht; Scott Muzzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Muzzy; Monica Rausch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rausch; and Nichole Boughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Boughton, all of Thief River Falls.

Pennington's livestock team consisted of Cindi Solem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Solem; Doug Courneya, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Courneya; Daryl Rupprecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rupprecht; Todd Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Carlson; and Kirk Hamre, son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Hamre.

Judging on the horse team were Rona Broten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Broten; Lori Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erling Thompson; and Mark Thune, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Thune.

Dale Dobias, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dobias of St. Hilaire, represented Pennington county in the wildlife management contest. Mary Courneya, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Courneya and Jill Stenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stenberg participated in the horticulture contest, while Cammy Altepeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Altepeter and Deb Torgerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Torgerson competed in the meats contest.

Saturday Fires Destroy Homes In T.R. Falls

Two Saturday fires, both believed related to wood heating devices, caused severe losses to homes in Thief River Falls, according to Duane Noel, city fire department chief.

The first fire at the Jean Eggerud mobile home at Lot 15, Northwestern Trailer court, resulted in the loss of all of the family's possessions as the interior of the trailer was extensively damaged by fire, smoke and water. All family members escaped the blaze reported at 6:05 a.m. but two dogs were lost in the fire.

Later in the day a fire call was answered to 937 LaBree av. N. where a fire had started in the Lyle Johnson home. Most of the fire damage was in the upstairs and attic although the house and its contents suffered smoke damage.

Sorenson And Willett Vows Spoken At Plummer

Rebecca Mae Sorenson and Thomas Joseph Willett exchanged marriage vows recently at a 2:00 p.m., ceremony at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Plummer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sorenson of Plummer. Parents of the groom are Joseph Willett, Oklee, and Mrs. Teckla Willett, Plummer.

Rev. Clifford Randall officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by approximately 225 relatives and friends. Linda Hesse presided at the organ, playing "We've Only Just Begun," as the processional. Dee Ann Huotari and Deb Koskela sang "Follow Me," and "Wedding Song."

Arrangements of fresh flowers graced the altar. Pink bows marked the pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in an empire fashioned gown of white organza featuring a bouffant skirt with a triple tiered lace flounce that flowed back into a chapel-length train. Chantilly lace with iridescents graced the bodice, traced the Queen Anne neckline and flowed over the shoulders and onto the sheer bishop sleeves. A sheer illusion headpiece graced with lace florets, iridescents and bands of seed pearls, held her double tiered veil, edged with lace trim. She carried a hand bouquet of pink, white and burgundy roses, miniature white carnations and babies' breath, backed by a lace ruffle.

Sheila Sorenson, Plummer, attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Cathy DuChamp of Thief River Falls, a friend of the bride. Their floral gowns in shades of burgundy and salmon were styled with rounded necklines, slit flutter sleeves and full, pleated skirts, elasticized at the waist. They wore matching burgundy hats and carried bouquets of pink and white roses, miniature mums and babies' breath, backed by a lace ruffle. Their heart necklaces, set with a pearl, were gifts from the bride.

Melanie Skjerven was the bride's personal attendant.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Arnold Willett. Russell Sorenson, Plummer, a brother of the bride, was groomsman. Serving as ushers were Karl Sorenson and Daniel Willett of Plummer, brothers of the bride and groom. All wore burgundy tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts and pink carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was centered with a white rose bud.

The mother of the bride was attired in a dusty rose floor-length gown featuring a blouson bodice with V-neckline and slit sleeves, tied at the wrists. The groom's mother wore an ivory polyester floor-length gown topped by a poncho styled cape. Their corsages consisted of three rosebuds.

Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Prestegaard, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Art Frolland and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marquis, godparents of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toulouse, godparents of the groom.

A reception followed with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Opdahl, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary LaCoursiere, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, as hosts and hostesses. Virginia Sorenson, cousin of the bride, registered the guests as Mr. and Mrs. Carl Magers, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, ladled the punch. Terry Konickson distributed the rice packets.

The four-tiered wedding cake, with each tier supported by ornate pillars, was iced in white and decorated with white wedding bells and pale pink roses. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Oscar Houske and was cut and served by Corlan Magnell, aunt of the bride, and Monica Fallon, aunt of the groom. Delaine Hammer, aunt of the bride, and Betty Hamilton, sister of the groom, poured the coffee.

Waitresses were Kari Grafstrom, cousin of the bride, Peggy Skjerven, Mary Westlake and Lanette Konickson, friends of the couple. At the gift table were Wesley Magnall, cousin of the bride, and Penny Fullmer, a friend of the couple.

Relatives and friends attending the wedding were from Westfield and Madison, Wis., Fargo, N.D., Soudan, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Virginia, Argyle, Goodridge, Oklee, Plummer and Red Lake Falls.

The couple is now at home at Plummer where the groom is employed at the Plummer Co-Op creamery. Both are graduates of Pershing high school Plummer. The bride is also a graduate of the Thief River Falls AVTI. Photo, Mrs. Dave Opdahl, Madison, Wis., aunt of the bride.

Homemakers Of Rocksbury Hold Christmas Party

Combined December meeting and Christmas party of the Rocksbury Homemakers club was held recently at Oakland Park Nursing home with club member Beatrice Erickson as hostess. The event began with the members visiting with the residents and serving lunch.

Later the group assembled in a private room for the club's annual Christmas party. A brief business meeting was held with chairman Evelyn Nelson presiding. She welcomed the guest, Henrietta Peterson, and led the group in reading the club creed. The 13 members present answered roll call by giving a new year's resolution.

The spring achievement day was discussed and suggested plans were noted by the children who will share those ideas at the next homemakers council meeting. It was noted that the event will include a luncheon, fashion show and displays.

A thank-you note was sent to Ruth Shelveland and a card was sent to Olga Engelstad, who was unable to attend the meeting.

Adding interest to the meeting were the gift exchange, the revealing of the secret pals for the past year, and the selection of new secret pals. Winning door prizes were Beatrice Erickson, Bertha Anderson and Hildur Lian.

Lunch hostesses were Viola Husby, Hildur Lian, Inga Geving and Goldie Brieland.

Other members attending, in addition to those already mentioned, were Julia Finstad, Ann Gunderson, Gina Gunderson, Gladys Heinze, Gloria Johnson, Dolly Mead, Minnie Krause and Clara Voldness.

The January meeting of the Rocksbury homemakers club will be held at the home of Ivadell Reierson.

Harry Hansons Of Trail Note 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson, rural Trail, observed their 40th wedding anniversary recently at an open house at the Nazareth Lutheran church dining hall at Trail.

Hosting the ruby wedding anniversary celebration were their son, Howard, and daughter-in-law, Linda.

A program was given with Duane Howard in charge. Rev. Charles Keeler gave the devotional meditation, Les and Mauri Torgerson played the trumpet duet "Sentimental Journey;" and Les Torgerson, Gene Arveson and Henry Burrack, accompanied by Torgerson, sang "Side By Side," and "I'm Just Wild About Harry." Grandchildren participated in the program by giving appropriate readings. Wendy read "40 Years Together," Joanne read "Special Grandma and Grandpa," and Dean read "No Place to Go." Following an introduction of the family, the honored couple expressed their appreciation to everyone attending.

For the reception that followed the tables were covered with ruby runners and baskets of silk flowers. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered Lady Windermere anniversary cake, iced in white and decorated with ruby red roses. A ceramic Bible, inscribed with the Lord's Prayer, graced the second tier; and the upper tier featured a bouquet of red silk roses with lace accents, corresponding with the corsage and boutonniere worn by the honored couple. The cake was baked and decorated by Rose Aaknes of Trail and was cut and served by Mrs. Clarence Howard and Mrs. Arnold Brovold. Mrs. Albert Howard and Mrs. Evelyn Hanson presided at the coffee service.

Of interest was a display of photos and mementos from the lives of the Hansons and Howards. The display, accented with ruby red and white was arranged by Mrs. Arnold Brovold, Mrs. Clarence Howard and Mrs. Orville Christianson. Complementing the guest book table, decorated in red, was a fall arrangement, a gift from Mrs. Hanson's brother, Oliver Howard, Los Angeles, and his daughters Gail and Sally.

Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Arveson. Mrs. Arveson was also flowers hostess, presenting fall colored silk corsages and boutonnieres to the relatives and friends that assisted at the event.

Mrs. Orville Christianson was at the guest book table and distributed the thank-you booklets. Punch was served by Rosemary Kragness and Corrine Haugen. Carol Torgerson and Doreen Brovold served as waitresses; Mrs. Oscar Nerhus made the punch; Esther Rindahl and Clara Bjerklie were in charge of the coffee, and Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. Olof Olson, Mrs. Glenn Tasa and Cora Oftelie assisted in serving the reception.

The couple received a large number of cards and gifts from relatives and friends attending the observance. Those attending were from Trail, Gully, Crookston, Clearbrook, Goodridge, Oklee, Gary, Hazel Run, Plummer, Thief River Falls, Fosston and Winger.

Remembrances and congratulations were also received from relatives and friends unable to be present. Among them were greetings from the couple's attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Howard of Belgrade, Mont.

Mrs. Gary Hoglo And Jacki Lyn Feted At Shower

Mrs. Gary Hoglo and infant daughter, Jacki Lyn, were honored at a shower on Sunday afternoon, December 7, at their home in rural Thief River Falls.

Hostesses for the event were the child's aunts, Mrs. Karen Walseth and Jodi Hoglo.

Games were played, prizes awarded, and the gifts were opened and passed around for viewing. A stork centerpiece highlighted the buffet luncheon table from which cake and ice cream were served. The cake was made by Miss Hoglo.

Present, in addition to the guests of honor and the hostesses, were Deloris Hoglo and Jimmy, Mrs. Jeanette Walseth and Lisa of St. Hilaire; Mrs. Ann Dyrdal and Kristy, Mrs. Tammy Hallstrom, Lori Carlson, Mrs. Sharon Hoglo, Mrs. Edith Dyrdal and Mrs. LuAnn Lewis.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were Marion Hoglo, Vonnie Hoglo and JoAnn Offerdahl.

Cheese Cake Bars

Crust

1 box yellow cake mix
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 stick margarine

Method: Combine and mix with pastry blender. Pour into a slightly greased 9x13 inch pan and press down to form a crust.

Topping

1 eight oz. pkg. Philadelphia cream cheese
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 lb. powdered sugar
Flavoring, such as lemon or vanilla, optional

Method: Combine cream cheese (room temperature) and eggs. Beat until well blended, about 3 minutes, and gradually add the powdered sugar. Pour on top of crust and bake at 350 degrees for about 35 to 40 minutes. Cool before cutting into squares.

The Rolandsons live six miles south on Highway 59 and two and one-half miles east, where they farm in Smiley township. They have four children: Beverly, who teaches in Minneapolis; Gary, who has a body shop in Erskine; Delores, a beautician in Grand Marais; and Ken, who is employed by UPS at East Grand Forks. They also have 13 grandchildren and two foster daughters: Dawn Muzzy and Kelly Millard. Since 1966, they have had 26 foster children in their home.

The Rolandsons are members of St. Pauli Lutheran church. Mrs. Rolandson is a member of the ladies aid and is stewardship chairman of the Naomi circle.

High Adventure Trip Set For Area Scouts

Older scouts and Explorers in the Northern Lights council, Boy Scouts of America, will travel next summer to Philmont scout ranch for an experience in high adventure.

Mike Ward, scoutmaster, will lead the local contingent to New Mexico for the 10-day trek at the national base. Also serving as leaders will be John Bemis, district member at large, and Gordon Przybylski, district executive stationed at Thief River Falls.

Philmont is one of the five high adventure bases operated by the Boy Scouts of America offering a variety of unusual activities in different parts of the country. These bases are used each year by older scouts, the young men and women of Exploring, and their leaders.

In accepting a leadership for the trip, Ward said, "this experience provides young people with a unique personal opportunity to accept the challenges of the outdoors beyond those available at summer camp."

Information about the upcoming high adventure trip is available through the Council Service Center, 301 South 7th Street, Fargo, ND. Phone (701) 293-5011.

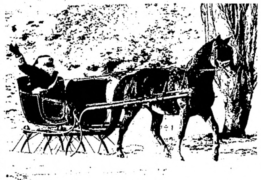
ASCS Reports Changes In Grain Program

Alton Nybladh, chairman of Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service (ASCS) committee, announced that the grain reserve program has been improved. Producers who place 1980 or 1981 crop wheat, barley, oats or corn in the reserve program will receive higher loan rates.

New loan rates for Marshall county are (wheat, increased from $3.06 to $3.36 per bushel; barley, increased from $1.74 to $1.86 per bushel; oats, from $1.06 to $1.13 per bushel; and corn, from $2.15 to $2.30 per bushel. Also included in the improvements are the waiver of interest on these loans for the entire three-year period of the reserve contract.

Producers may now take a commodity loan at the higher rates and place the grain immediately in the reserve program. Storage rates will remain at 26.5 cents per bushel per year for wheat, barley and corn and 20 cents per bushel per year for oats.

Nybladh concluded by saying these changes have made the grain reserve program more attractive to producers.



COMING OFF THE RIVER near the Soo Line railroad tracks, Santa Claus drove his one-horse sleigh to the chamber of commerce office Saturday morning to meet and greet area youngsters. Prior to the visiting, however, he made a hurried tour of the business districts. Santa said he borrowed the horse and sleigh from Dr. E. O. Thorsgard to rest his reindeer for the long Christmas eve journey.

H. Paneks Are Conservation Farmers For '80

mers Union and is now an action officer for the local.

One of the originators of the cooperative formed to build and operate the alfalfa pellet plant located north of Thief River Falls, he managed the plant for two years following its sale to a private organization. It has since been sold to a third owner. Henry is also a member of the Our Lady of Lourdes council of the Knights of Columbus.

Three of Henry's brothers are also farming in the area. Stanley Jr. has the home farm and farms 480 acres, Walter operates 320 acres and George, recently elected a Marshall county commissioner, has 240 acres in Marshall county. A sister, Mrs. Henry Bendickson, is also involved in farming in the area.

Mrs. Panek, the former Marjorie Russell, is a past president of the PM Homemakers (the PM stands for Pennington and Marshall counties, not the time the members begin the day's work) and has been a 4-H club adult leader. She is a member of the St. Bernard's Catholic church guild in Thief River Falls and the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters.

The Paneks have three children, Son John and his wife, the former Sheila Maidment, live in a mobile home near the Panek homesite and recently presented Henry and Marjorie with their first grandchild, a girl named Tia Joan. Son Steve lives at home and daughter Sue is a junior at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

All of the Panek children have been active in 4-H club work, carrying beef and poultry projects as some of their major efforts.

Mrs. Panek maintains a flower and vegetable garden and freezes a large amount of garden produce each year. She enjoys ceramics as a hobby. Henry tries to work in a couple of summer and winter fishing trips to Lake of the Woods each year and he and Marjorie enjoy traveling.

"We went to Europe in 1975," Henry said. "Isn't it funny?" he chuckled. "All my life I hadn't been any further from home than North Dakota and then the wife and I go to Europe. Times sure do change."

In more recent years they have been to the Phoenix, Ariz., area and to Washington state for extended visits. This winter they again hope to make a winter trip, possibly to Florida.

As winners of the conservation farmer of the year award, they will receive a plaque and commendation at the annual meeting of the soil conservation district this coming spring.

Conservation practices on the Panek farm include approximately 21 miles of field drainage ditches, nine erosion control structures for carrying field drainage water into outlet ditches; tree planting on two farmstead windbreaks and one field shelterbelt and digging of the stockwater ponds.

WHEN TIME PERMITS, Marjorie Panek enjoys working with ceramics. The Christmas tree pictured above accepts an interior light bulb which illuminates tiny plastic bulbs on the tree and the star at the top. In addition, the base contains a music box. Mrs. Panek says it is one of her favorite projects.

MIKE BEAUDRY, youth minister and music coordinator for St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls, will be guest speaker when the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International meets tonight (Monday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. A worker with high school students since September of 1975, Beaudry has been involved in charismatic and other renewal movements and will present several musical numbers as well as speak at the meeting.

Note Change In Several Social Security Areas

Some important changes in social security will become effective January 1, according to William Phalen, Grand Forks district manager. Maximum amount that beneficiaries may earn annually and still receive all of their benefits will increase from $5,000 to $5,500 for those aged 65-71 and from $3,720 to $4,080 for those under 65. Benefits are reduced $1 for every $2 of earnings exceeding these amounts. But, beneficiaries 72 and over may earn any amount without any reduction in their social security checks.

Maximum amount of earnings subject to the social security tax will increase from $25,900 to $29,700. Change will give workers earning above $25,900 greater protection because a larger amount of their earnings will be credited toward benefits than before. This will mean higher benefits for them and their families at retirement or in the event of disability or death.

Another change, which is effective now, will make it easier for people getting disability checks to try working without having their payments stopped right away. Phalen said anyone wanting more information about this may contact the Social Security office for details.

Hog Wrestling Case Dismissed In County Court

judge also noted the following:

"The particular words 'or otherwise' have no limit either by literal meaning of the words or by reference to other words in the statute. If such unlimited scope should be given to these words, the statute would have been worded in the following manner:

"'No person shall operate, run or participate in a contest, game or like activity in which a pig is released and wherein the object is the capture of such pig.'

"Because the statute is not so worded it is obvious that certain and specific facts must be presented to constitute the offense. The actual title 'Greased Pig Contests' affords the basis for holding that a specific element of the offense in that the animal must be lubricated. In this case the facts do not establish that the pig or hog released was intentionally libricated with grease or oil.

"Mud was thrown on the animal, however the extent to which the animal was covered with this mud was not established. The facts do not establish that this mud was in this case effective so as to lubricate the animal. This being an essential element not established it follows that probable cause has not been established that an act prohibited by statute occurred."

Judge Harren thereby having determined "... that the complaint should be dismissed for failure to establish an offense, there is no need to consider the second ground asserted by the defendant which questioned the validity of the entire statute."

Judge Harren's order was issued Friday. John Novacek, who represented the state of Minnesota in prosecuting the case, was out of town today and unavailable for comment on a possible appeal of the decision.

Matt J. Guttu Dies Nov. 26 In California

Mathias (Matt) J. Guttu, 87, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died November 26 at his home in Los Angeles, Calif., following a long illness.

Funeral services for Matt Guttu were held December 1 at the Memorial chapel at Rose Hills Memorial Park in Whittier, Calif., Rev. Walton F. Berton officiated with Rev. Lyle R. Guttu, assisting.

Mathias J. Guttu was born July 22, 1893 in Norway and came with his parents to the United States at the age of seven years. He was baptized in Norway and confirmed at the Turtle Mountain Lutheran church in Carbury, N.D.

He was preceded in death by his paternal grandparents and his maternal grandfather.

Ronald Nelson, Once Of TRF, Dies In Calif.

Ronald W. Nelson, 66, formerly of Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire, died November 30 at Santa Ana, Calif., following a long illness. Memorial services were held in California.

Ronald W. Nelson was born in St. Hilaire. He was a grandson of William A. Sorsoliel, who together with his brother-in-law Washington M. Adams were the first settlers of Pennington county. He was a graduate of the St. Hilaire high school with the class of 1932. In 1937, he was married to Frances Kavanaugh of Thief River Falls.

Nelson began his business career in Thief River Falls with F.W. Woolworth company. He managed stores for 25 years, and at the time of his retirement was regional operations manager for City Products company in Los Angeles, Calif.

He is survived by his wife, Frances of Tustin, Calif.; a daughter, Carol Hontzicker, Dodge City, Kans.; three grandchildren, Lisa, Beth and Tommy; two brothers: Carl Nelson, 6801 Madrea Court, Citrus Heights, Calif. 95610; and Herbert of Bellflower, Calif.; three sisters: Helen Lancette, St. Paul; Bernice Keksi, Brush Prairie, Wash.; and Betty Molstad, Thief River Falls; and a half-sister; Evangeline Streeter, Fergus Falls.

L. Thompson, Housemover At Karlstad, Dies

Leonard O. Thompson, 67, of Karlstad, who operated a housemoving and construction business in that community, died Monday morning, December 8, in a car-train accident near the Farmer's Elevator at Karlstad.

Funeral services for Leonard O. Thompson were held Thursday at 2:00 p.m., at the Karlstad Gospel Tabernacle with Rev. Kenneth Brown and Rev. John A. Riviness officiating. Vocal selections were by Mr. and Mrs. Ingolf Ingebrigtsen and Mr. and Mrs. Chet Haire. Mrs. Ingebrigtsen served as organist and Mrs. Wendell Jorgenson was the pianist. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Peter H. Thompson, Peter E. Thompson, Ole Thompson, Edwin Madson, Isaac Thompson and Danny Renstrom.

Serving as active pallbearers were Leon Thompson, Rodney Englund, Nimrod Englund, Doug Thompson, Sid Germundson and Donny Anderson.

Leonard Oliver Thompson, a son of the late Torkel and Kari Thompson, was born June 16, 1913 in Kittson county, near Karlstad. He attended school in the Strandquist community, graduating from the Strandquist high school with the class of 1933.

He was married at Roseau on Nov. 30, 1939 to Bessie Fick. Since their marriage, they have made their home at Karlstad where Thompson engaged in housemoving and construction. Among the many buildings moved in the area by his crew were the Viking depot, Thief River Falls Burlington Northern depot, the Asphult church, the large house and several log houses at the Pennington County Historical Pioneer Village.

He was an active member of the Karlstad Gospel tabernacle and served on the church board for many years.

Surviving are his wife, three sons: Leon Thompson and Rodney and Nimrod Englund, all of Karlstad; a granddaughter, Angela Englund, five brothers: Peter, Ole and Clarence Thompson, all of Karlstad; Norris, Davenport, Iowa; and Henry, living in Oregon; and three sisters: Marilyn Johnson, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Toby (Thelma) Nay, Lake Bronson, and Mrs. Edwin (Esther) Madson, Davenport, Iowa.

He was preceded in death by a son and two sisters.

Melinda Lunde Services Held At Park River

Funeral services for Melinda Lunde, 29, of this city were held Monday, December 8, at 2:00 p.m., at Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Park River, N.D. Miss Lunde, a former resident of Park River, died unexpectedly on Friday, December 5, in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Reuben Jacobson officiated at the services. Interment was in the Memorial Park cemetery in Park River.

Pallbearers were Barry Liimatainen, Mark Kelley, Ron LeBlanc, Ollie Urdahl, Kurt Jacobson and Daniel Larson.

Melinda J. Lunde was born Jan. 9, 1951 in Grafton, N.D., to Edmund and Delia Musil Lunde. She attended public schools in Park River, graduating from high school in 1969. Following graduation, she attended Bethany Fellowship in Minneapolis for three years and interned at Minneapolis and at Bethany Book store in Thief River Falls. She attended the local Area Vocational Technical Institute, graduating in June of this year as a practical nurse. At the time of her death, she was employed at Northwestern hospital.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lunde, Park Rapids, N.D.; two sisters: Mrs. Norman (Eloise) Jacobson, Bowden, N.D.; and Mrs. John (Corinne) Spake, Marengo, Iowa; a brother, David Lunde, Longmont, Colo; and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her grandparents.

H. Peterson Dies In Accident At Karlstad

Hilmer E. Peterson, 69, of Lake Bronson died Sunday morning at the Karlstad Memorial hospital of injuries received the previous evening when he was struck by a pickup on Main street in Karlstad.

Funeral services for Hilmer E. Peterson were held Wednesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Karlstad Baptist church with Rev. Harry Ratzlaff officiating. Mrs. Ratzlaff was the organist and Richard Anderson, the soloist. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Oscar, Arthur and Marvin Johnson, Glen Bronson, Clifford Olson and C. Edward Carlson.

Hilmer Emanuel Peterson, a son of the late Hjalmer and Anna Peterson, was born Dec. 22, 1910 in Jupiter township, Kittson county, near Kennedy. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Jupiter community.

On June 11, 1932, he was united in marriage to Esther Martinson. Following their marriage, the couple lived and farmed for 17 years near Lake Bronson. He then worked for several years on farms in the area. For the past two years, he had made his home near Lake Bronson.

He is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Charles (Ardyce) Levenhagen, Lake Bronson; Mrs. John (Arlene) Dorr, Erskine; and Mrs. Herbert (Lois) Johanneck, Red Lake Falls; three sons: Dennis Peterson, Lake Bronson; Lowell, Erskine; and Ronald, Oklee; 25 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren; three brothers: Maynard, Arnold and Norman Peterson, all of Flint, Mich.; and two sisters: Mrs. Edith Smeby, Flushing, Mich., and Mrs. R. Sheldon (Rose) Frei, Stephen.

He was preceded in death by a son, one daughter, who died in infancy; a great-grandson, one brother and a sister.

Delia Olson Services Held Here Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Delia Olson, 80, of Thief River Falls were held Friday at 10:30 a.m., at Redeemer Lutheran church. Mrs. Olson died Tuesday morning at Oakland Park Nursing home.

Rev. Keith Prekker officiated at the services. Mrs. William Halbasch was the organist and Mrs. Nancy Hendrickson and Jane Halbasch sang. Interment will be in the Landstad cemetery with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Leonard Brekke, William Halbasch, LaMarr Hanson, J. G. Kraemer, Winton Fellman and K. E. Gigstad.

Mrs. Olson, the former Delia Hansen, was born in Bray township, Pennington county, on April 6, 1900, to Halvor and Dorothea Hansen, now deceased. She grew to womanhood in the St. Hilaire community.

On Aug. 20, 1923, she was married in Grand Forks, N.D., to Walter H. Olson. The couple farmed near St. Hilaire until 1934, when they moved into the city of St. Hilaire. For the past few years, Mrs. Olson had been a resident at Oakland Park Nursing home.

She was a member of the American Legion auxiliary and the VFW auxiliary.

Surviving are two sons: Harlan and Wesley Olson, both of Phoenix, Ariz.; two daughters: Mrs. C. H. (Darlene) Rausch, Meza, Ariz., and Donna Rolland, Coon Rapids; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in May of 1964; five brothers and one sister.

Dear readers,

The final resting place should be an area that can be returned to when the bereaved feel the desire to remember the final separation. This final place of remembrance is also vital to those who could not attend the funeral service, yet need confirmation that the death was a reality.

Respectfully,

Tax Advantage Exists With Certain Gifts

As you draw up your holiday gift list, remember the tax advantages of giving cash, stock or property, either to your family or to a charity. Gifts to employees can also qualify you for a tax break.

A gift to your secretary may be considered a business gift, and the value of this holiday present plus any other gifts made to this person during the year may be deducted, but only up to $25. To deduct the cost of a gift on your federal income tax return, keep records of each business gift, says the Minnesota Society of CPAs. Record how much it cost, when it was given, the reason for giving the gift, who received it and that person's business relationship to you, plus a description of the gift.

When you distribute specialty items such as a calendar with your company name, costing less than $4 each, you can deduct the cost for these items as business gifts. (This cost is not included in the $25 per person gift limit, so you can give a business associate a $25 present plus a specialty item.) If you send out holiday greeting cards imprinted with your company name, this expense is also tax-deductible.

If you own your own business and you give each of your employees a cash bonus, the total amount of the bonuses may be deducted. Should you, as an employee, receive such a bonus, you must report it as income on your tax return. When you receive a gift of nominal value, like a turkey or ham, you don't have to report it.

In order for your contribution of property to a charity to be tax-deductible, it must be to or for the use of the organization itself. For example, when you donate books or quilts to a charity to sell at its holiday bazaar, you may deduct the fair market value of the items. If you donated the goods to a bazaar organized by a person outside the charity who then donated a percentage of the proceeds to the charity, then you may not take a deduction.

You may donate works of art, securities and real estate and qualify for a tax deduction. There are various rules which determine what portion of the fair market value of this type of property may be deducted, so check with your tax advisor for the tax advantages of making such a contribution.

Your business can donate ordinary income property (property which would not result in long-term capital gain if sold). For example, you could contribute a supply of calendars to various hospitals, churches and schools. Generally, you can deduct what the property originally cost you. If the supply of calendars cost $2,500 to produce, then you could deduct $2,500.

When your firm donates property that can be sold for a capital gain, such as a piece of real estate, you usually can deduct the fair market value of the property at the time of the contribution. Again, consult your tax advisor.

You can give a cash gift of up to $3,000 each to as many individuals as you wish during each calendar year. If your spouse joins in the giving, the amount of each gift can be increased to $6,000. Should your gift to an individual exceed these limits, you'll be required to file a gift tax return.

When you give a family member a gift of stock he or she pays no tax upon receipt of the stock. Upon sale of the stock, however, gain or loss by the recipient generally is figured on the price you paid for the shares. For example, you give your niece 100 shares of stock for which you paid $30 a share. When she sells the stock, its current market value is $35 a share. She figures her gain or loss on your cost of $30 per share.

MEETING A FRIEND was this youngster when he visited Santa Claus at the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce office Saturday. With a smile wide enough to reach from here to the North Pole, he hopped up on Santa's lap and confided his Christmas gift desires.

Grain Program Loan Rate Increase Noted

Department of agriculture has announced an increase in the loan rate for all 1980 grain which is contracted for entry into the three-year grain reserve program.

In Pennington county, the rates on wheat have increased by 30 cents to $3.38 per bushel. Barley rates have been raised by 12 cents per bushel, and are now at $1.87. Loans on corn are available at $3.20 per bushel.

Harold Kalsnes, chairman of the Pennington county agricultural stabilization and conservation (ASC) committee reports that all farmers who participated in the wheat and feed grain program are eligible to place their 1980 crops of wheat, barley and corn in the reserve. Oats is now being accepted for reserve agreements at this time.

Kalsnes also reported that the reserve loans are interest free from the day the loan papers are signed. Grain cannot be sold when the national price is lower than the release level, and the loan is due and payable when prices exceed the call level. The release level on wheat is now $4.20 and the call level is $5.25. Advance storage will be paid on any grain in the reserve program when national prices are below the release level.

Call the ASCS office on Dale Street in Thief River Falls (681-1612) for details.

Karla Nelson Is Snowmobile Region I Queen

Miss Karla Nelson of Thief River Falls was recently selected to represent Region One of the Minnesota United Snowmobile association as their Miss Minnesota U.S.A. Snow Queen candidate.

Karla is a member of the TRF Sno-Drifters snowmobile club and was its representative in the regional competition held at Detroit Lakes. As regional winner, Karla will advance to the state contest, which will be held in conjunction with the Minnesota U.S.A. annual convention at Hill City February 6-8.

Miss Minnesota U.S.A. represents the association and all state snowmobilers at various functions during 1981. Candidates for this title must be between 18 and 22 years old, single and a member of the association. Contestants are selected on the basis of appearance, poise, personality and the potential for promoting a positive image of snowmobiling.

As a regional winner, Karla will receive a trophy and personalized "Miss Minnesota U.S.A." apparel. She will attend the December 14 Vikings football game as a special guest of the state association and the Multiple Sclerosis society and following the game will attend a celebrity banquet where she will receive her regional trophy.

Destined For 1984?

Following editorial is from the Grafton (ND) Record:

Within the literary genre of science fiction there is a subgenre loosely described as apocalyptic, though the world collapse writers depict is seldom the Biblical one. The Armageddons of speculative fiction run the gamut from nuclear holocaust (On the Beach, Canticle for Liebowitz) to worldwide starvation (No Blade of Grass, Soylent Green) and social reordering along totalitarian lines (1984, Brave New World).

Though writers of this literary type apply a pessimistic view to any number of world trends, up to now the nuclear holocaust has been penned their favorite. That may soon change. For the past month, writers of all sorts have been receiving indications that another Armageddon — this one aimed straight at many of them — is brewing. The dual prophecies of Ray Bradbury's 'Fahrenheit 451" (the title is the temperature at which books burn) and George Orwell's "1984" may be upon us.

The book burners and banners are back, and according to the American Libaray association, reports of their activities have multiplied fivefold since election day. Pornography is not the issue. Materials being used in the classroom and libraries are.

On the banned list are such classics as the "Red Badge of Courage," "Huckleberry Finn," "Tom Sawyer," "The Pearl," "The Good Earth," "Flowers for Algernon," "To Sire With Love" and "Up the Down Staircase," magazines such as Time, Newsweek, and U.S. News and World Report and no less than five dictionaries!

Those advocating bans include fundamentalist preacher Jerry Falwall (of the Moral Majority), parent groups who in some instances have no background in education, who have not read the literature they seek to ban, and whose children do not attend classes they object to; as well as Jews, blacks and women seeking elimination of discriminatory references in classroom literature.

At the heart of the matter is a desire to teach children not HOW to think, but WHAT to think. We call that thought control, a phrase we hope anyone living in a free country would greet with the loathing it deserves. Bans, in any case, have a habit of reinforcing the behavior they were supposed to eliminate.

Those behind the literary attacks are preceived as interpreting the conservative resurgence that swept Reagan into office as their mandate.

It should be noted that Reagan, though a conservative, may not be aligned with the "New Right." Two fundamentally different schools of conservative thought exist. There is first the libertarian branch which believes that the best government is that which governs least, and which puts personal freedom first. The "New Right," on the other hand, wishes to use government to impose its brand of morality on the country, essentially destroying freedom granted by the U.S. Constitution's Bill of Rights.

Which side Reagan has taken is thus far unclear. It remains to be seen whether the prophecies of Orwell and Bradbury — along with a host of new writers of doomsday fiction — will come true by the fateful year of 1984.

Effective Service

Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota recently wrote his last personal report to the people of North Dakota prior to his leaving the senate post he has held for just under 36 years. It was the longest continuous term of service by any republican in the history of the senate.

Sen. Young was enormously successful at getting things done for his state, particularly attracting federal dollars. His reputation for giving service was established early, and one of the reasons he attained the remarkable record of never losing an election since first being elected a township supervisor in 1924. He served 48 years as a legislator, including 12 years in the North Dakota state legislature before being elected to the U.S. senate.

"My interest in politics began during the depression and drought years of the late 20s and 30s," he wrote in his final column for North Dakota newspapers. "I felt strongly then that much of the terrible poverty farmers and others suffered in those years could have been averted by good farm legislation."

The senator was recognized by the senate agriculture and forestry committee for having served longer on that committee than anyone since it was first established 148 years ago. Ranking Republican member of the Senate Appropriations committee, he was also ranking Republican on the subcommittee on defense appropriations.

"I have always felt strongly that we should have the most modern weapons possible," he wrote.

"I can't help but leave this office with mixed feelings," he added. Greatly missed will be the close association with so many people over these years and the enjoyment of being able to help them with their personal problems, as well as our beloved state."

The senator lost some vitality due to advancing age, but his interest and spirit has never dimmed. The country could do worse than have people like Milton Young involved in its government.

Best Advice His Own

Following editorial is from the "Washington Report":

Economic conditions were worse the day Ronald Reagan was elected president than the day he was nominated. And they will be worse the day he is inaugurated than they are today, according to nearly all forecasts.

The worsening of problems that he was elected to correct has produced a chorus of conflicting advice. The president-elect is being urged to retreat on his tax-cut pledges, soften his assurances of reduced government spending and back off on his conviction that firm action is needed to curtail inflation. He is being accused of letting down his conservative supporters here and his moderate supporters there as he assembles the administration that will take office next month.

He should move swiftly and drastically against major problems as soon as he takes office, some advisers say. No, others counter, that would risk a political backlash if his initiatives were not immediately successful.

And what does the president-elect think of all this? Fortunately, he appears to be keeping very much in mind the reasons why the American people gave him such a stunning election victory.

Since the election, Mr. Reagan has set forth in unmistakable terms his perception of why he and other Republicans who won on Nov. 4 had been chosen:

"We said to the American people this year, all of us, that we are going to make the government work better for the people, that we would control and limit federal spending, we'd reduce taxes, stimulate work and savings and investment, that we would relieve labor and business of burdensome and unnecessary regulations and still maintain high standards of environmental and occupational safety, that we would reduce the cost of government by eliminating billions of dollars lost to waste and fraud in the federal bureaucracy, a problem that we labeled as an unrelenting national scandal.

"And we pledged to restore the vitality and health of local and state governments by returning to them control over programs that would be best run at those levels of government, and that we would fight to bring integrity to government and men and women of competence to service in government. I think these are very important pledges, and we have to work together, all of us, to achieve them.

"But beyond those promises, I hope that we'll bear in mind that our victory in November was not a bestowal of power but a stewardship for the people. I hope we can learn to be practical, but I hope we'll also never forget the ideals that brought us all here in the first place."

Of course, there will be difficulties as the Reagan transition team strives to shape a government for this most crucial period in our history. And there will be disagreements, even within the president-elect's team of closest advisers, over stragegy and timing of the steps to be taken in the first week, the first month, the first 100 days, the first year.

Our own view is that strong, powerful action at the outset would help alert the nation to the hard choices it faces.

But we feel that Mr. Reagan's reaffirmation of commitment to the overall goals he was elected to pursue is far more important to the nation at this time than the chorus of advice he is receiving from his official and unofficial advisers.

Whatever decisions Mr. Reagan finally makes on timing and strategy, we hope he will keep in mind the notion that he is the recipient, not of "a bestowal of power, but a stewardship."

Borrowed Nonsense:

The day's poorest pun: "How did you get here?" one angel asked another. "Flu," the second angel replied.

JED (Jeff Vanyo) and Cassie (Julie Koppenhaver), two orphans who live alone in a room behind a hardware store, are faced with problems when Jed decides to buy Cassie a special Christmas present. Scene occurs in the musical play, "Christmas on Angel Street," to be presented by the eighth grade mixed chorus tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the Franklin middle school gymnasium under the direction of Marcia M. Knuttila.

New York City Theatre Tour Offered By MSU

"Backstage on Broadway," a no-frills, six-day study tour of New York City's theatre district, will be offered for credit next spring through Moorhead state university.

Led by Dr. Robert Badal, an associate professor of speech and theatre at MSU, the one-credit (plus one optional credit) course will leave Fargo-Moorhead by bus on March 1, arrive in New York the next day and leave for home again on March 7.

Tour includes two orientation seminars with leading Broadway directors and performers, attendance at four Broadway and off broadway plays along with a backstage tour of Lincoln center. An hour behind the scenes of a major Broadway show and a walking historical tour of Greenwich Village, the home of the off Broadway theatre movement, will be included in the package along with visits to New York scene and costume shops and other attractions.

Cost of the tour — including transportation, show tickets and accommodations (four to a room) at a theatre district hotel — isn't expected to exceed $400, Badal said, plus $14.45 for credit fees. Special accommodations will cost extra. A group of 35 is required to run the tour at this price.

For more information, contact the MSU continuing education office at 236-2181 before December 21.

Prevent Child Abuse; See How You Can Help

The act of sexually molesting children is unfortunately all too real. Many would perhaps like to deny it by not talking or even thinking about it, but the fact remains that tens of thousands of children are sexually abused each year by a close friend, neighbor, parent, or other member of the family. And it's only one form of the larger problem called child abuse.

Most people equate physical harm with child abuse and rightfully so, but it is only part of the picture. Child abuse may be neglect and denying or ignoring a child's needs for proper food, clothing and shelter. It's also emotional abuse, where perhaps a child is belittled to the point he or she feels inferior. Child abuse is also physical and sexual mistreatment. All forms of child abuse damage young personalities and they often result in death.

An estimated one million children suffered from abuse in America last year — a true tragedy, because child abuse can be prevented. Not talking about it won't help; finding out what can be done will.

Soil And Water Conservation Role Discussed

Representatives of Minnesota soil and water conservation districts met in St. Cloud December 7, 8 and 9 to discuss methods of improving and expanding their assistance to farmers and other landowners.

The meeting was the 44th annual convention of the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts, and a record 640 persons attended the meeting.

Soil and water conservation districts are local units of government responsible for helping landowners improve soil and water conditions, primarily through controlling erosion and reducing runoff.

In presenting awards to outstanding conservation farmers, Bob Rupp, editor of "The Farmer" magazine, told the soil and water conservation district representatives that since they are the unit of government closest to the soil and water problems and to the landowners, they need to strengthen their local programs through more contact with the public and the state legislature.

"Soil erosion is still greater than the conservation efforts are," Rupp said. "Consumers are beginning to recognize that there is a connection between the food supply and the condition of the soil and this should result in greater funding and support for soil and water conservation."

Harland Christianson, director of legislative services in the Minnesota legislature, told the convention that the legislature needs to be better informed about soil and water problems in the state, and that soil and water conservation districts need to provide that information.

In discussion about a water plan that is being prepared for the state, Tom Kalitowski, chairman of the state water planning board, said that the water management role of local government units is being better defined so that the state legislature can give local government more responsibility in water projects.

Jerome Bechtold, chairman of the Stearns county soil and water conservation district, told the convention that soil and water conservation districts need to increase their cooperation with other local organizations and government units working in the natural resources area.

In a session in the urban responsibilities of conservation districts it was suggested that conservation districts should be advising more municipalities about the effects that development projects may have on soil and water, near the development sites. The conservation districts would favor legislation requiring planning and zoning departments to secure conservation district review of development plans.

4H CLUB

City View

The City View 4-H club met on December 8, 1980 at the city auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting was called to order by President Kirk Hamre. Flag pledges were recited and roll call was favorite Christmas goodie. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Betty Gonsorowski read the Leader's council report. The Share-the-Fun is April 10 and the play contest is April 7.

New business was that Betty Kezar resigned as 4-H leader. The club members wish to thank her for her 18 years of service as a 4-H leader for the City View 4-H club.

A junior leader who wants to be a counsellor at Lake Sarah 4-H camp must have assisted at least 1 year at a 4-H day camp.

Betty Gonsorowski reported that scholarships are available to qualifying members. Anyone interested should call the county extension office.

Nicole Boughton, Cindi Solem and Kirk Hamre reported on their trip to the Crookston Ag Days.

A motion was made and seconded that the club help a needy family at Christmas.

A motion was made and seconded that the club buy a box of pencils for birthday favors.

Junior leaders were assigned to help younger members with their projects.

Coreen Larson is to assist Julie Berard and Kelly Amundgaard; Shelly Solseng is to assist Jason and Sheri Erickson; Cindi Solem is to assist Dusty Gehrls, Scooter Wilson and Londa Hanson and Stephanie Dagen is to assist Jodi and Ann Perkins.

The meeting was adjourned.

For the program the club members made Christmas tree ornaments.

Lunch was served by all the families.

SWCD Board Members At Convention

Annual convention of the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts held in St. Cloud December 7-9 was the largest convention in that group's 44-year history.

Attending from the local area were supervisors Leonard Skaar, Danny Johnson and Clair Larson, representing the Pennington soil and water conservation district. Al Gustafson, district conservationist, also attended.

Dean Curtis of KDHL radio of Fairbault was the keynote speaker at the convention banquet. Curtis urged those in attendance to apply even more effort in soil conservation work to avoid a possible food shortage in the years ahead.

Delegates to the convention passed a number of resolutions, including one to seek legislation allowing a special mill levy for financial support of districts. The association will also seek funding to provide liability and other insurance coverage for all districts in the state.

Business sessions of the convention were conducted by out-going president Dennis Sullivan of Kellog. Milo Hanson of Dawson was elected to serve as president during the coming year.

Lambert And Kertz Honored At Wahpeton

Five hundred and seventy-two students at the North Dakota state school of science at Wahpeton earned superior academic honors during the fall quarter and were named to the president's honor list.

To be included on the list, students must earn a 3.5 G.P.A. (B plus letter grade) while enrolled in no fewer than 12 credit hours of classroom, laboratory and shop work.

Those listed for this achievement from Thief River Falls are John P. Kertz, architectural drafting and estimating and Randy H. Lambert, civil engineering technology.

Viking-Land's Brochure Lists Snow Activitiy

A new brochure on winter activities in northwest Minnesota is now available for distribution, according to Dave Mattila, president of Viking-Land USA. This free brochure describes snowmobile, cross-country and downhill skiing areas in the 17 counties represented by Viking-Land USA.

The winter brochure may be obtained at chamber of commerce offices throughout the region or by writing Viking-Land USA, 206 N. Broadway Ave., Alexandria, MN 56308.

"We are very pleased to offer this brochure to snowmobile and ski enthusiasts," stated Mattila, "as we have many trails and ski areas in northwest Minnesota with which people are not yet acquainted."

The winter brochure was prepared for the public by Viking-Land USA, a non-profit regional tourism organization representing the counties of Becker, Clay, Clearwater, Douglas, Grant, Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Otter Tail, Pennington, Polk, Pope, Red Lake, Stevens, Wadena and Wilken.

UMD Faculty Voteless In U of M Senate

Faculty-student senate at the University of Minnesota voted December 4 to invite faculty members at the University of Minnesota-Duluth (UMD) to participate in senate discussions.

But a possible confrontation between the senate and university president C. Peter Magrath and the board of regents was avoided when the senate voted against another part of the resolution, which would have asked Magrath to restore the UMD faculty's voting power in the senate.

Last month the regents suspended senate participation by UMD faculty, who recently chose the University of Minnesota Duluth education association as their collective bargaining agent. University legal advisers said the suspension was required by the state public employment labor relations act. Medical faculty at UMD, who opted out of collective bargaining, are still members of the senate.

A letter from Magrath on the reasons for the suspension appeared as a full-page ad in the "Minnesota Daily" and in the UMD "Statesman" last week, and Magrath spoke briefly to the senate Thursday. Magrath said he had heard allegations that the suspension was intended to punish UMD faculty for choosing collective bargaining, but he said that "punitive intent is alien to my thinking and nature and to that of my colleagues."

Debate on the motion to ask Magrath to restore the UMD faculty's voting power appeared to be evenly divided, but the final vote was 97-56 against the motion. The first half of the resolution, to invite UMD faculty to participate in discussions, was approved on a voice vote.

Constance Sullivan, who presented the resolution as chair of the senate committee on business and rules, explained that the intent was to give UMD faculty the same status as all other university faculty members who are not members of the senate. Any faculty member may attend senate meetings and comment on the issues under discussion, but only senators are eligible to vote.

Application For Fuel Aid Taken At Oklee

Community agencies throughout the state now are accepting applications for aid under the 1980-81 low income energy assistance program, according to the office of economic opportunity, department of economic security.

A total of $72.4 million is available for distribution to Minnesota households to help pay fuel bills.

To receive assistance, recipients must meet income guidelines and be at least partially responsible for paying household energy costs.

Income limits are different depending on where persons live in the state. Agency serving Pennington county can explain what the income guidelines are for this area. To find out how to apply, phone Inter-County Community Council, Oklee at 218-796-5144.

Fiddlers' Fest At BSU Set In January

Competitive old time fiddling will enter its eighth year at Bemidji state university in January, as the annual Fiddlers' Fest takes place on campus. Scholarship funds for BSU symphony string students will once again be earned at the event, scheduled to take place at 8 p.m. January 10 in Memorial hall.

Entries are now being accepted for the upcoming competition. According to coordinator Felix Spooner, no registration fees are required but all performers will receive a plaque. As in years past, contestants are asked to play two numbers — a waltz and a dance tune of their choice. Trick fiddling and novelty tunes will not be considered by the judges. A maximum of two accompanists is permitted. Winners are selected on the basis of timing, intonation and difficulty of the pieces.

Following the contest, an old time dance with music provided by the visiting fiddlers will be conducted.

For further information, write Felix Spooner, Bangsberg Fine Arts Complex, Bemidji state university, Bemidji, MN 56601; or phone 218-755-3392.

Rural Finance Program Gets EDA Funding

Midwest Minnesota community development corporation (MMCDC) of Detroit Lakes has received word from the economic development administration (EDA) that its application for investment capital under the rural development loan fund (RDLF) has been approved.

The RDLF will provide MMCDC with a long term loan which will be used to capitalize a relending program referred to as the Midwest rural finance program. This program is designed to provide direct loans and loan guarantees to qualified businesses located within the 13 counties of Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Norman, Red Lake Roseau, Becker, Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Mahnomen and Lake-of-the-Woods in Regions I and II.

These loans and loan guarantees will facilitate business expansion and new business development which will generate or preserve local jobs for residents of the area. This fund is expected to become fully operational by January of 1981. Additional information can be obtained by calling Howard Mattson, MMCDC (218) 847-3191.

Winter Solstice Was Celebrated By Native Americans

by Rita Bobowski
Smithsonian News Service

It goes by many names — the beginning of winter, the shortest day of the year, midwinter's night. This year, it will occur on December 21 at precisely 11:56 a.m. EST.

To astronomers it is known as the winter solstice, the moment when the sun stops its southern migration in the sky. In fact, the word solstice comes from the Latin "solstitium," meaning "the sun comes to a halt."

Most people today are scarcely aware of the winter solstice. But the early Indian peoples of North America celebrated that event with elaborate rituals. Indeed, recent archaeological evidence supports the theory that native Americans not only revered the sun but that they devoted much time and ingenuity to observing its position and movement in the sky.

The sun, like the land, played a central role in the lives of native Americans. Its light and warmth brought life to the people and their crops. Its movements were incorporated into their cultures and thoughts. Its cycles lent a structure to their societies, providing a calendar on which to base their ceremonial, agricultural and hunting activities.

"Early peoples saw themselves as an integral part of the natural world," says Von Del Chamberlain, an astronomer at the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C., who has studied astronomy in ancient cultures.

"When the sun would rise, they were thankful; when it set, they were hopeful it would rise again. If they lost the sun, they knew that they would lose life itself. Thus sun-watching was a crucial activity, and the winter solstice was one of the most significant religious festivals of the year."

"On the day of the winter solstice," Chamberlain continues, "the sun rises and sets at its most southerly position on the horizon. At noon on this day, the sun appears at its lowest point in the southern sky. Early native Americans were afraid that the sun might continue to sink lower and lower in the sky until it disappeared altogether. They felt they had to perform a variety of rituals to guarantee that the sun would continue to rise and set and return to the northern sky."

The Hopi Indians of Arizona, for instance, celebrated the winter solstice for many hundreds of years with a complex, nine-day ceremony called "Soyal." Chants, dances, prayer offerings and public rituals were held to entreat the sun god to turn back from his southward course and begin anew a northward journey, bringing light and warmth for the coming growing season.

Anthropologists have observed the Soyal festivities firsthand since the late 19th century. Their reports indicate how the Hopi Indians made prayer sticks, or Pahos, of assorted objects, such as feathers, string, herbs and willow sticks. The sun priest placed the offerings at a "sun altar" facing the direction of the midwinter solstice, just as the sun peeped over the horizon.

During another part of the ceremony, the priest, this time representing the sun god, held a rawhide sun symbol fastened to a stick. As he danced from east to west and back again, he shook the stick, symbolizing the coming and going of the sun.

Recent archaeological discoveries reveal that native Americans not only carried out ceremonies but also developed ingenious ways to observe the sun.

Consider, for example, Cahokia, in what is now southwestern Illinois. Cahokia was a major Indian city between the 10th and 14th centuries on the Mississippi River near present-day St. Louis. In the 1960s, archaeologist Warren Wittry of the Cranbrook Institute of Science near Detroit discovered within the limits of the ancient city a series of pits, arranged in a circular fashion.

From the shape and dimensions of the pits, Wittry surmised that they once held wooden posts which could have been used to mark the directions of sunrise at the summer and winter solstices and at the equinoxes (the two times of the year when the sun crosses the equator and day and night are everywhere of equal length). This finding and the discovery of several interesting artifacts (among them a ceremonial goblet) suggest that the Cahokians might have used the site not only to observe the sun but also to stage ceremonies to mark the winter solstice.

In the western United States, several large stone "medicine wheels" left centuries ago by the Plains Indians along the eastern flanks of the Rocky Mountains also seem to indicate various sun-watching techniques. Some of these wheels are aligned with important astronomical points, including the positions of sunrise and sunset on the day of the summer solstice in June. The summer solstice is the longest day of the year, and for many ancient cultures it was the most important astronomical date.

The Bighorn Medicine Wheel built around 1760 in northern Wyoming, for instance, is a circular structure of rocks laid out on the ground across a diameter of about 90 feet. Discovered by prospectors in the late 1880s, the structure has a large cairn, or rock pile, at its center, with "spokes" of rocks that radiate from the center to the rim. Five smaller cairns lie along the rim at irregular intervals, and a sixth, more prominent cairn stands several feet outside at the end of one of the spokes.

This odd formation takes on new meaning when viewed from an astronomical standpoint. The number of spokes in the wheel is 28, about the same as the number of days in a lunar month. The positions of two of the cairns indicate that they might have served as horizon markers for sunrise and sunset. Many astronomers now believe that this arrangement enabled the Plains Indians to mark the time of the summer solstice with precision.

"To the ancients," Chamberlain says, "astronomy was a fundamental part of everyday life, incorporating religion, art, mythology. It was part of their concept of themselves, their origins and their world. It provided a calendar that regulated agricultural activities, essential to communities like the Hopi who eked out a marginal living from the land. It also served to regulate the rituals that gave the community an identity."

Today, some native American celebrations of the sun survive in ceremonies and art — the Hopis, for instance, still celebrate Soyal — although the sun no longer plays the same crucial role in their lives as it did in the lives of their ancestors. But to ancient native American astronomers, it was only natural that the sun, so central to life itself, should be so closely observed.

Recovered Victim Of Anorexia Says Help Necessary

She loved paging through glamour magazines, like most girls her age, and was enchanted by the willowy profiles of the fashion models.

A slender figure promised so much: attention, confidence, happiness, independence.

She was 17 and in her first quarter at Moorhead state university, a little scared and lonely, a straight-A student from Finley, N.D. who didn't want to fail.

That summer she gained a few innocent pounds. Hardly noticeable, but convincing enough to join her mother and grandmother on a Weight Watcher's diet.

When she moved into the dorms, Nancy Sartori was a svelte 120 pounds on a 5'10" frame — an enviable shape by the voguest of standards.

But her quest for less-is-more took an aberrant twist. Before the quarter was out, she was admitted to the psychiatric ward of St. Ansgar hospital at a haunting 95 pounds. Her problem: anorexia nervosa.

"The illness is tricky and can become chronic very easily," Nancy said from her home in Chisholm. She's 21 now, married and working as a teacher's aide. But it took her a year and a half to recover from the disorder, including a five-month stay in the hospital ward.

After the ordeal, she brushed herself off and went on to graduate summa cum laude from Moorhead state.

"Many of the problems that caused and complicated the disease (anorexia) are very deep rooted," Nancy said. "It's not just the desire to be thin and attractive, although that's part of it. I grew up wishing my life could be different, always trying to control and manipulate it to the way I felt it should be. I harbored this overwhelming responsibility to solve the problems around me. I couldn't, of course. But I could control my weight. It was like gaining control over something no one else could."

Nancy's difficulties began before she got to college. "I fought depression all through high school," she said. It included a few half-hearted suicide attempts.

But as a college freshman, her jumbled emotions seemed to coalesce into a self-induced kind of starvation.

It was a classic case of anorexia: a bright, pretty, middle class girl, very self-conscious and self-critical, trying to gain a grip on her life.

"I always wanted to be real thin," Nancy said. "The thinner I was, the happier I'd be. I guess I thought that if I were thin, guys would swarm all over me and that would solve all my problems."

Like many cases of anorexia, her slide into the disease began with an exaggerated response to dieting. She wanted to gain that extra edge on her weight — five pounds, maybe a few more, that's all.

She began by skipping breakfast, maybe grabbing a salad for lunch. Before long she was taking naps during supper, a convenient pretext for staying away from food and friends during mealtime. "When someone asked me what I'd eaten that day, I'd just make something up," she said.

Eventually, there were days she wouldn't eat anything, at the most an apple, some lettuce or a handful of popcorn. "At the worst, I must have been consuming 50 to 100 calories a day," she said.

On top of that, she'd walk three miles a day, from MSU to the Holiday mall, "just to burn up a few calories." She also worked two hours every morning in the maintenance department of her dorm, dragging around a 50-pound industrial vacuum cleaner.

"Really, it felt good not to eat," Nancy said. "I felt all clean, no impurities in my body. I felt light and airy and full of energy. Just eating a soda cracker would make me feel bloated."

Her appearance turned from chic to gaunt. "You're SO thin," friends would tell her. But she wouldn't believe it. "The thinner I got, the fatter I thought I was."

Her family was scared and encouraged her to eat. They'd fix her favorite meals.

"That didn't work. Because my weight was something I took pride in controlling on my own, any attempt by someone else to interfere just reinforced my behavior. I wanted to show people that I could control my own life."

She resembled a frail stick figure at this point, and her hair began to fall out. Her menstrual cycle stopped and didn't return to normal for a year and a half — a typical emotional and nutritional response to anorexia.

Three friends in her dorm got together and approached Nancy about her condition. "When they came to the door I was scared. I thought they were going to force me to eat."

She says now that she was fortunate to have such friends before the disease got out of hand. They convinced her to seek help at the MSU counseling center.

Because of her weight loss, Nancy was taken to St. Ansgar hospital, tested and placed on a behavioral modification program in the psychiatric ward there. She had to eat three meals and three snacks a day, or else be subjected to periods of isolation. "I couldn't take that, isolation. They only had to do it to me once."

The program did make her eat. Meanwhile, she was receiving counseling, group therapy and other psychiatric help at the hospital.

Within a month and a half, she was out of the hospital and on a contract to maintain a weight of 115 pounds. It didn't last long. Between a newfound interest in jogging and a return to her scant eating habits, she dropped 10 pounds right away and was back for an extended stay in the hospital.

When she was finally released, Nancy was eating again — three meals a day. But she was still teetering on the edge of a remission.

She met her real cure that fall, her husband Mark.

"After we started going together, I began to relax and started eating between meals," she said. "He taught me that I was a good person the way I was. Thinness didn't matter. He made me feel secure, loved and happy and helped me on the way to recovery more than anyone. I also got a lot of support from friends."

Nancy says she no longer feels the need to go to extremes to gain control over her life. "Anorexia is part of my past, an intense period of my life, but it's all kind of blurry now."

Today, Nancy weighs 125 pounds and says she eats sensibly. And that's fortunate. According to the experts, about 25 per cent of anorexic patients remain severely ill even after careful treatment and another 50 per cent show some lingering problems.

Nancy's even helped an old high school friend who came to her seeking help for anorexia. "I believe the best help for an anorexic is a recovered anorexic," she said.

Ironically, Nancy knew all along about the symptoms of anorexia. She read about it while paging through Seventeen magazine, a timely article then, but hardly preventive medicine for a complex disorder that threatened to starve her to death.

57 Area Bus Drivers Attend Safety Meeting

Area schools sent 57 school bus drivers to a three-hour safety workshop in Newfolden recently, sponsored by Marshall county central schools in cooperation with St. Cloud state university.

Rod Dobey, instructor, discussed topics such as new laws for bus drivers, emergency exit procedures, pre-trip inspection of buses, energy conservation and school bus safety procedures.

Drivers from Stephen, Warren, Middle River, Grygla, Karlstad, Greenbush, Argyle and Marshall county central attended.

Farm Bureau Convention In Bloomington

Farm Bureau members from this area were in Bloomington December 4-6 to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation. The 3-day convention concluded with an annual banquet with U.S. Senator Rudy Boschwitz as speaker.

Al Christopherson of Pennock, a beef cattle feeder and cash grain farmer, was reelected to a two-year term as federation vice president. Mark Sather of Hanska, a Brown county grain and hog farmer, was elected to a three-year term on the MFBF board of directors. Elected to fill an unexpired term on the board was Charles Sylvester of Fisher while Donald Birkholz of Howard Lake was reelected to a three-year board term.

Mrs. M.J. Fellows of Worthington was chosen chairman of the state Farm Bureau women's committee for a three-year term, succeeding Mrs. Earl Prigge of Goodhue, who served six years in the position. Filling Mrs. Fellows' unexpired committee term is Mrs. Roger Coudron of Marshall. Mrs. Armi Tesch of Waldorf was reelected to a three-year committee term.

Honorary life memberships were presented Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bredlie of Eldred, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson of Brainerd and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strand of Chisago City. Farm Bureau's '81 farm wife of the year is a Wilkin county woman, Mrs. Eugene (Debra) Drewlow of Wolverton while Owen Gustafson of Maynard won the MFBF young farmer committee - sponsored discussion meet. Gustafson is now eligible for national Farm Bureau discussion meet competition.

Young farmer of the year is a 28-year-old Shakopee area farmer, Stephen J. Boegeman. He and his wife, Pauline, own and rent 320 acres and are crop and dairy farmers. Loren Schoenrock of New Richland was approved by MFBF voting delegates as chairman of the young farmer committee. The state Farm Bureau organization's outstanding service to agriculture award was presented Leonard L. Harkness, program director for 4-H youth development in Minnesota for 31 years until his retirement this fall. The recognition cited him for "outstanding and distinguished service to agricultural education."

As a vital resource, water will become increasingly important in the future production of food and fiber, said Dr. Joseph Rossillon, executive director of the Freshwater Biological Research foundation. Declaring there are no longer "any 'private' waters," Dr. Rossillon said supply-demand shifts today are determining use priorities. Use pressures, he added, need to be minimized, with multiple uses of water resources needed.

Bruce Hawley, assistant national affairs director in the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington, D.C., office, said growth in the federal government's regulatory structure since 1970 has proved costly for farmers and non-farmers alike. The regulatory price tag, he pointed out, has mushroomed in the past decade from $800 million to $6 billion. Cost to U.S. taxpayers of federal regulations now ranges between $100 billion and $150 billion a year, Hawley said.

The success or failure of farmland preservation legislation rests with farmers, local citizens and local elected officials, said Dr. Richard Barrows, a University of Wisconsin extension agricultural economist. Neighboring Wisconsin has a farmland protection law to assist locally in the preservation of productive agricultural land and to provide tax relief to farmers participating in the program.

LASAC Meet Discusses MN. Airline Service

Minnesota's small and medium-sized communities are faced with serious scheduled air transportation problems, according to Lawrence E. McCabe, assistant commissioner for aeronautics in the Minnesota department of transportation.

Representatives from Bemidji, Brainerd, Chisholm-Hibbing, Duluth, Fairmont, International Falls, Mankato, Rochester, Thief River Falls and Worthington met late in November 1980 at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport to discuss ways of dealing with scheduled air service problems. These communities form the Local Airline Service Action committee (LASAC) which meets as required. MnDOT provides technical assistance to the organization on air transportation matters.

Attending from Thief River Falls were Robert Wurst, LASAC chairman who presided at the meeting; George Singer, Thief River Falls regional airport manager; Dr. Donald Goodrich, member of the city council; Jerry Wigness, city clerk-treasurer; Mayor Bob Carlson; and Jerry Sandstrom, executive vice president of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce.

LASAC has, among other things, been pushing for reductions in air fares in the shorthaul-markets. Republic Airlines has recently adjusted its air fares downward on a test basis. Air fares in the Brainerd, Bemidji, Chisholm-Hibbing, Duluth, International Falls and Thief River Falls markets were reduced 30 per cent or more. Republic Airlines announced at the meeting that it would introduce, effective Dec. 1, two system-wide discount fares to encourage families and individuals to travel on Republic's domestic route system.

The communities are vitally concerned about the "bumping provision" in the airline deregulation act that allows one air carrier to apply to replace an existing air carrier serving a city on a subsidized basis as of Jan. 1, 1983. The applicant need only to show that a "substantial improvement in service or a decrease in subsidy will result." LASAC feels that the state and the communities should have a greater voice in determining what constitutes a "substantial improvement of service."

The communities are also concerned about the lack of provisions in the current Act for taking air cargo into consideration when the essential air service levels are established for a community by the Civil Aeronautics board.

Wurst indicated that "the committee will ask the Minnesota congressional delegation to sponsor legislation to amend the act to remedy these shortcomings in the current law."

Before adjournment, the following were elected to the board of directors: Robert Anderson, International Falls; John Grinden, Duluth; Ray Stougaard, Fairmont; Lowell Helgerson, Rochester; and George Singer, Thief River Falls.

Says Omnibus Act Will Help Curb Spending

Congressman Arlan Stangeland's interest in effecting cuts in government spending was rewarded as President Carter signed the omnibus reconciliation act of 1980 into law.

"Inflation is still this country's number one problem and the leading causes of this economic cancer are excessive and unnecessary government spending coupled with an unwillingness by members of Congress to say no to billions of dollars in spending requests. It is up to government to take the lead in fighting inflation and economic distress and the omnibus reconciliation act of 1980 is truly a positive step in this direction," Rep. Stangeland said.

"This bill, which I supported wholeheartedly from its inception, will result in a savings of $4.6 billion in 1981 and a total of some $20 billion over the next five years. It is also proof that Congress can cut the budget equitably when it wants to," he added.

Savings were achieved by suspending social security disability benefits for prisoners convicted of a felony and delaying the application of new regulations for federally funded day care centers. This section also reallocated, for two years, money from within the old age, survivors and disability trust fund (OASDI), increasing money for old age and survivors programs and decreasing money for the disability program. Without passage of this bill, sufficient OASDI funding would have been severely threatened.

According to the Seventh District Congressman, savings will occur in:

+ Capital gains of foreign real estate investments — Non-resident alien and foreign corporations were made subject to capital gains on the sales of U.S. real estate.

+ Alcohol import duty — The bill imposed a 10-cent-per-gallon duty on 1981 foreign imports of ethyl alcohol used as a fuel. The duty would increase to 20 cents per gallon in 1982 and 40 cents in 1983 through Dec. 31, 1992. This section of the bill is designed to create greater incentive for buyers to purchase alcohol from domestic producers, thus helping to strengthen the American alcohol market.

"The election results on November 4 indicated to me that the people are tired of government allowing the economic well being of the American people to take a backseat to the whims and desires of politicians. The people are demanding action on the economy and, maybe now, Congress will bear down and get to the roots of our economic problems and stop trying to smooth them over by greater spending," the congressman said.

"I am optimistic that the passage of this bill is only the beginning and that Congress, in the future, will be much more careful about what it does with the hard earned dollars of taxpayers," said Stangeland.

AHSA To Hold Special Meeting This Thursday

Agassiz health systems agency will hold a special meeting with newly elected legislators on Thursday at 9:30 a.m. at the Ramada Inn, Grand Forks.

Board members will acquaint legislators with the purpose of the agency and will stress the agency's 1980-81 priorities: Accident reduction — developing an emergency medical system; inpatient hospital care — providing necessary care; non-institutional care — the hospital as a base for community outreach; community-based services; public awareness — health education; and healthy people — personal responsibility.

Following luncheon with the legislators, the board of directors will meet in regular session to conduct business and review changes in the North Dakota certificate of need statute.

At 1 p.m. a public meeting to discuss Agassiz's developmental disabilities issue paper will be opened. The paper will form the basis for Agassiz reviews of services for the developmentally disabled population: those persons diagnosed as having mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, or other neurological conditions which substantially limit major life activity.

Public comments will be received and incorporated into a final version of the paper.

All Agassiz meetings are open to the public. Board members from Pennington county are Richard Kruse and Sherryll Irvine. For further information, please contact your county representative or Mary Ellen Preston, Agassiz Health Systems Agency, 31 South Third — Box 129, Grand Forks, ND 58201 (701) 746-0441.

Pennington ASC Committeemen Elected For '81

Pennington county community committeemen for 1981 have been selected in the mail balloting completed recently through the county agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) office, according to Phil Bergland, director.

County convention will be held today at 1:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Thief River Falls regional library. At that time the chairman, vice chairman and regular member of each community committee will assemble to elect a county chairman for a three-year term. Present chairman is Harold Kalsnes.

There were 383 votes cast in the community committee election with 1,311 voters eligible in Pennington county. Ballots had to be postmarked by December 1 and they were counted on December 4 in the county ASCS office.

Results of the community election are as follows with chairman, vice chairman, regular member, first and second alternate listed respectively:

Numedal, Bray, Sanders and Polk Centre — Charles Naplin, Red Lake Falls; Irwin Aaseby, Curtis Swanson, Chester Swanson and Clarence Anderson, all Thief River Falls;

Norden, North and Rocksbury — Kermit Finstad, Dake Ayers, Andrew Skaar, Donavon Dyrdal and Clayton Mathson, all Thief River Falls;

Smiley, Wyandotte, River Falls and Black River — Verdeen Grove and Arnold Hammer, Thief River Falls; Robert D. Peterson and Kenneth Schroeder, St. Hilaire; and Bryan Steiger, Red Lake Falls;

Silverton, Cloverleaf and Kratka — Donald Longevan, Thief River Falls; Carl Lindblom, Goodridge; Clayton Hanson, Thief River Falls; Ivan Downs and Daniel Johnson, Goodridge;

Mayfield, Deer Park and Hickory — Orlan Stolaas, Oklee; Ernest Mostrom, Darrow Lundeen, Loren Vettleson and Harry Hanson, Trail;

Goodridge, Reiner, Star and Highlanding — Kenneth Coan, Selmer Holen, Robert O. Parnow, Glenis Iverson and Marlin Sand, all of Goodridge.

MSHSL Seasons May Be Shortened

Based on a survey mailed to the 515 member schools of the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL), 57 per cent of those responding favor proposed changes to reduce the lengths of seasons in some athletic activities, according to the November issue of the MSHSL bulletin.

Mailed to schools on Sept. 24 and requesting the response and recommendations of each school district, the survey revealed by deadline day Nov. 1 that 250 of the 441 schools responding desired a distinct break between the fall, winter and spring activity seasons.

As a result of that majority response, the board of directors of the MSHSL submitted an amendment to the representative assembly Nov. 7 that would reduce length of seasons in certain athletic activities by one or two weeks, effective with the 1982-83 school year. The amendment will be voted on by the 90 delegates of the assembly on March 27, 1981.

In addition to reducing the length of seasons in athletic activities, the mailed survey to schools also suggested several options for determining the maximum number of games, meets or contests school should schedule. None of the options received a high percentage of favorable response, and as a result the board of directors did not submit any amendments for change in contest maximums.

Each member school of the MSHSL was requested to conduct a local hearing to discuss and gather recommendations of their constituency relative to the survey. Based on the number of press clippings received at the league office, reported the MSHSL, a great number of hearings were conducted state-wide.

Thief River Falls meeting on the subject, hosted by Lincoln high school principal Frank Hamerlinck and athletic director Russ Smith, drew a small public response, but did include members of the coaching staffs.

"They didn't like the idea of the shorter seasons, but they didn't come up with anything different," mentioned Smith.

As submitted by the board of directors, the amendment will establish an 11-week season for cross country; reduce swimming and gymnastics seasons from 15 to 14 weeks; basketball from 19 to 17 weeks; wrestling from 16 to 15 weeks; skiing from 14 to 12 weeks; baseball and softball from 14 to 13 weeks; and would establish a 13-week season for both track and golf.

The amendment doesn't affect the length of seasons for football, hockey, tennis and volleyball.

Smith figures the amendment will "probably pass" the representative assembly vote March 27. Hamerlinck, who looks for a very close vote, doesn't think it'll pass.

LHS Schedule Gets Tougher

Lincoln high school basketbal team, after opening the 1980-81 season against Roseau, Grafton and Kennedy, now faces a much more taxing schedule, starting Friday when the Prowlers travel to Moorhead for an 8 p.m. game against the always-strong Spuds.

In a battle of Region 8AA contenders recently, Moorhead defeated Little Falls 61-44 by out-scoring the Flyers 21-10 in the fourth quarter when the Spuds were using a line-up that went 6-5, 6-5, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2. Not to be out-done, Little Falls measured 6-5, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 and 6-3.

The Friday game will be the first North Half Region 8AA test of the year for both teams.

After tackling the Spuds, the Prowlers will take a holiday break before opening Northwest Athletic Conference play Jan. 9 at Bemidji, followed by a Jan. 16 home date against Crookston. The toughest part of the 1980-81 Thief River Falls schedule continues with a Jan. 17 trip to International Falls and a Jan. 23 visit to East Grand Forks.

That string of five games — four on the road — against quality opposition will be a real test for the Prowlers.

Miscellaneous

+Vince Parker, a 5-7 junior transfer from Northland community college, came off the bench and scored 20 points to lead the University of Minnesota-Morris to a recent 76-75 basketball win over Valley City State. The Cougars face North Central Conference opposition this week, playing North Dakota State University Tuesday in Fargo and the University of North Dakota Wednesday in Grand Forks.

+An interesting Northwest Athletic Conference girls high school basketball game will be played Thursday when Crookston visits Bemidji. The Pirates were figured to give NWAC favorite Fergus Falls its strongest challenge this winter, but Bemidji has been most impressive to date with three straight wins over Park Rapids, Brainerd and Moorhead. Center Ginny Neville, despite picking up four first half fouls, scored 17 points as the Lumberjills surprised Moorhead, the preseason North Half Region 8AA favorite, 42-38 last Tuesday.

+Tony Kellin, an all-conference quarterback and an all-state defensive back, was named captain of the 1981 Grand Rapids high school football team that will visit Thief River Falls next fall.

Skippers Snap Bears Winning Streak, 84-59

"We did everything right." Those words belonged to Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, whose Skippers pulled off a major coup Friday in beating defending Region 8A champion Lake of the Woods 84-59 in a North Border Conference high school basketball game played at Baudette.

The outcome snapped the Bears' 40-game home court winning streak that covered all or parts of six seasons. It also stamped the Skippers as the early season North Border Conference and District 32 favorites.

"We played pressure defense and made them turn the ball over," explained Sparby. "They're weak at guards and we took advantage of it."

Middle River blitzed Lake of the Woods, the 1980 Minnesota Class A state tournament runner-up, 24-14 in the first quarter, maintained that 10-point spread at halftime, 40-30, then broke it open with a 28-point third quarter, 68-43.

The Skippers' 6-3 Jon Neumann scored 14 of his 23 points during that third quarter burst when he held the upper hand against the Bears' 6-7 John Oren, who was tiring after helping his beleaguered guards try to break the Middle River press. Middle River, still without the services of standout Scott McKeever, a member of the 1,000-point club who won't be playing until after Christmas because of a football injury, also got a 16-point game from Delray Ness, 12 from Jeff Scramstad and 10 from Eugene Kaml. Oren and 6-4 Spencer Pickering, veterans back from last year's club, led Lake of the Woods with 25 and 14 points, respectively.

Middle River shot a hot 61 per cent from the field, hitting 39 of 64 attempts. Lake of the Woods shot 48 per cent, making 25 of 52 shots. The Skippers were 6-for-8 at the free throw line, while the Bears struggled through a 9-for-20 night at the line. Middle River held a 26-20 rebound advantage, with Neumann complementing his scoring with 12 rebounds.

Despite the victory, Middle River still can't claim the title of Region 8A favorite at this point, having dropped a 67-57 season-opening decision to Warren. The 2-1 Skippers will host Warroad Friday.

Prowlers 3-0 After Beating Kennedy 48-29

It wasn't pretty, but it was a win and the Lincoln high school basketball team is 3-0 for the year following a 48-29 victory over Kennedy Friday.

"It was a struggle for us," admitted Thief River Falls coach Glen Peters. "It should have been a runaway; we should have put them away. But some of our inexperience showed. We lost our composure out there. We didn't play that well."

Still, the Prowlers weren't pressed. They led 14-3 at the end of the first quarter and sat on a 22-9 halftime lead. It was 35-21 after three quarters.

Paul Koppang came off the bench and led the Prowlers with 11 points, a figure matched by the Rockets' Ron Urbaniak.

Kennedy actually had a better shooting percentage than Thief River Falls, 45 to 41 per cent. But the Rockets were just 10-for-22 from the field while the Prowlers went 21-for-51. Thief River Falls was 6-for-16 at the free throw line where the Rockets were 9-for-22.

Thief River Falls finished with a 32-24 rebound edge, with Dave Kays grabbing 13 caroms to earn post-game praise from Peters. Kennedy topped the turnover charts 23-17.

The Prowlers' unbeaten status will be tested Friday when Thief River Falls visits Moorhead for an 8 p.m. game.

BSU JV Tops Northland 7-2 On Thursday

Bemidji State University junior varsity hockey team matched its earlier 6-1 victory over Northland community college Thursday with a 7-2 decision over the Northmen by scoring five times in the last 12 minutes of the game.

Mike Schmitt and Wade Hoppe scored for the Northmen. No other details were made available.

Sportsmen's Club Meeting Is Wednesday

Pennington county Sportsmen's club meeting and election of officers will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

All members are encouraged to attend.

Northland 103, Lake Region 84 . . .

NCC Remains Unbeaten By Out-Scoring Royals

Unbeaten in six starts, the Northland community college basketball team posted its most impressive victory to date Saturday when the Northmen handled a well-regarded Lake Region ball club 103-84 with a point-producing full court press defense.

"I'm very pleased," reported Northland coach Chet Engelman after the home court win. "The press was very effective. It was enjoyable."

It wasn't so enjoyable for the Royals, who suffered through 35 turnovers and watched as Northland scored 19 straight half-ending points to break the game open by intermission, 55-33.

"I'm happy on several accounts," said Engelman. "First, we got off to a good start — which hasn't been our trademark. Then when Lake Region came back, we didn't fold. And we turned the ball over just five times in the first half."

Northland, playing without guard Joe Kraska, who injured his back in practice Thursday, featured a high-scoring trio in Terry Harris, who had 31 points, Jeff Nolan with 24 and Tony Smith 20. Warren's Steve Brekke, who poured in 43 points in a recent victory over Crookston, again led Lake Region, but with just 15 points.

Lake Region finished with a 53-47 rebound edge and shot better than Northland did from the field. But the Royals' board strength and 39-for-75 (52 per cent) shooting from the field was lost in the turnover department when Northland, 43-for-91 from the field for 47 per cent, lost the ball only 14 times. And despite being out-boarded, Northland pulled down 17 offensive rebounds. Nolan, who "did a great job inside," according to Engelman, had 11 rebounds.

Northland also had an edge at the free throw line where the Northmen were 17-for-28 and the Royals were just 6-for-10.

The Northmen will be back in action tonight (Monday) with an 8 p.m. game against the Grand Forks Air Force base, a team that will open this weekend's annual Northland Arctic Cat tournament with a 7 p.m. game Friday against Waseca. Second game that night will feature host Northland, against two-time defending tournament champion Bottineau at 9. Third place and championship game will be played Saturday beginning at 1 p.m.

Fergus Falls, TRF Tie 2-2

It was a win, a loss and a tie all rolled into one for both Thief River Falls and Fergus Falls Saturday when the two Section 8 high school hockey teams skated through an eight-minute sudden-death overtime period without breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

The game was worth four points in the Section 8 standings — double what a game is worth if the two teams meet twice during the year. And although the Prowlers and Otters will tangle again in Fergus Falls Feb. 20, it'll be after the deadline for games to count in the Section 8 point standings. Thus, in effect, the two teams split their two regular season meetings Saturday night, each winning two points but also losing two.

And the coaches had different feelings about the outcome.

Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand, whose Prowlers held a one-goal edge for much of the game, said he was "disappointed" with the tie. "With the number of good scoring opportunities we had, I feel we should have won the game. I felt we had the better opportunities, but we just couldn't put it in the net."

Billy Colpitts, on the other hand, was smiling after the first-year Fergus Falls head coach saw his Otters climb to 1-2-1 for the year. "I'll take the tie — it's better than a loss," he said. "But the thing that I'm most pleased with is the improvement our team made. It was our best game of the year. At this point of the season I'm not so concerned about the point thing, than in just making improvements from game-to-game. And tonight we took a giant stride."

Grand's post-game demeanor was also affected by a pair of injuries the Prowlers suffered during the game. Defenseman Mark Harder, who along with fellow blueliners Scott Wiebolt and Steve Olson, make up the strength of the team, was lost when he suffered a severe bruise on a bone in his wrist at 3:55 of the first period. Forward Rob Blankenfeld, who earned an assist on the Prowlers' second goal, spent the night in the hospital after being driven into the boards by a pair of Fergus Falls defenders at 5:01 of the third period. He was knocked out and spent considerable time on the ice before being moved to the lockerroom.

Thief River Falls started the scoring with a power play goal at 11:06 of the first period. The Prowlers applied plenty of pressure around the Fergus Falls net before Jeff Imgrund was set up in front for the goal.

Fergus Falls tied it when the puck came out to Matt McGuire, who was standing alone in front of Thief River Falls goalie Jeff Mongoven, at 2:13 of the second period. He had plenty of net to shoot at.

But it took the Prowlers just 44 seconds to regain the lead as Rick Engelstad lifted the puck over Fergus Falls goalie Jay Drechsel at 2:57.

It looked like the Prowlers might get by with a 2-1 victory, but the Otters' Tony Johnson slipped through the Thief River Falls defense and lifted a close wrist shot past Mongoven at 8:09 of the third period for a 2-2 game.

Thief River Falls had the best chance to win it in overtime when Imgrund banged one off the pipe with 4:16 remaining.

Thief River Falls, 1-0-1, will be at Bemidji Tuesday.

*Little Falls and Crosby-Ironton do not play enough games against Section 8 opponents to qualify for positioning in the point standings. They will be seeded No. 17 and No. 16 at tournament time.

LOOKING TO SEE where the wall was, Kevin Grochow finished his lead leg of the 200-yard backstroke relay as Thief River Falls teammate Tom Eckstein was ready to hit the water during Saturday's sixth annual Prowler relays high school swimming meet in the Franklin middle school pool. Grochow, Eckstein, Nate Gjovik and Dave Ose swam a second place 1:59.69 in the event, the second race on a nine-event card. Bemidji successfully defended its meet title with a nine-point victory margin over runner-up Thief River Falls.

Bemidji Wins Prowler Relays Swimming Title

Expenses were cut Saturday when favored Bemidji went home with the season-opening Thief River Falls Prowler relays swimming title. The Lumberjacks maintained possession of the team traveling trophy they won a year ago, but the prize needn't be returned to the jewelers for engraving since it already read: 1980 champion — Bemidji. That's because the list of winners wound up a year ahead when the meet was switched from a January mid-season date to the season-opener last year.

Anyway, Bemidji lived up to its pre-meet expectations by accumulating 44 points, followed by Thief River Falls 35, Fosston 22, Moorhead and Park Rapids 21 apiece.

Bemidji won four of the nine relay events in the Franklin middle school pool, including a meet-record 1:50.84 victory in the key 200-yard medley relay when the Lumberjacks' Martin Bruestle, Mark Bjerken, Rick Sundvahl and Des Sagedahl edged Thief River Falls' Tom Eckstein, Steve Poissant, Keith Grochow and Mark Isaacson (1:51.10) to turn a narrow 28-24 edge into a 34-28 margin over the Prowlers going into the day's final two events. Thief River Falls had hopes of winning the race to pull within 32-30.

A second place finish in the next-to-the-last 600-yard individual medley relay clinched the title for the Lumberjacks, who capped the day with an easy victory in the 400-yard freestyle event. Bemidji's earlier wins came in the 200-yard back and 800-yard freestyle races.

However, Thief River Falls coach John Kopari wasn't disappointed with the Prowlers' showing.

"I'm real happy with our kids," he said. "The medley relay was a good indication — you do every stroke in the meet — and we had our best time ever. We could have beaten Bemidji in both the medley relay and the backstroke, and that would have made a difference of eight points. But even if everything would of gone perfectly for us, we still would of come up one point short. Bemidji has a real fine team."

Thief River Falls and Fosston came up with a pair of wins and Park Rapids claimed a single event. Moorhead was the only team shut out of the winner's circle.

The Prowlers set a meet record when Keith Grochow, Eckstein, Kevin Grochow and Poissant swam the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:10.18, and came up with another victory in the 200-yard butterfly where Nate Gjovik, Keith Grochow, Isaacson and Dave Ose swam a 1:53.57.

Thief River Falls and Bemidji will go at it again tomorrow (Tuesday) in a 4 p.m. dual meet at Bemidji.

Charged with 30 turnovers, the Lincoln high school girls basketball team saw its record slip to 1-1 Thursday following a 55-31 defeat at Fisher.

The Flyers built a 13-8 first quarter lead and were never challenged, leading 27-17 at halftime and ahead 39-25 after three quarters.

"Fisher used a full court zone press, but we had no problems breaking it," explained Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer. "But we couldn't do anything after we broke it; that's when we'd turn the ball over. It was frustrating."

Bev Beiswenger and Kelly Knox of the Flyers nearly out-scored the Prowlers, getting 16 and 13 points, respectively. Tara Nicholson was the only Thief River Falls scorer in double figures, getting 15 points, along with nine rebounds.

Thief River Falls shot 31 per cent from the field, hitting 15 of 48 shots. Fisher was 25-for-58 for 43 per cent. The Prowlers were just 1-for-2 at the free throw line, with the Flyers making five of nine gift tosses. Fisher finished with a 55-31 rebound edge.

The Prowlers lost the services of junior forward LeAnn Paetznick, who sprained an ankle in the fourth quarter. Her status for Tuesday's 7:30 p.m. game against Warren in the Lincoln gym is uncertain.

Thief River Falls' junior varsity raised its record to 2-0 with a 21-15 win at Fisher.

1980 Football Playoffs Draw 60,172 Fans

Official paid attendance for the 35 games played in the five classifications of the ninth annual Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) state football playoffs held throughout the state in late October through mid-November was 60,172.

Attendance figures became available after the MSHSL office in Anoka received all advance ticket sale reports from the various schools involved in this year's playoff series.

The total attendance figure is down 4,579 from the 1979 total of 64,751. In 1978 a record 73,619 watched state playoff games. The biggest difference in the decline this year compared with a year ago was in the quarterfinal round where 3,549 fewer persons witnessed 1980 play. Semifinal and championship games drew 1,030 less fans than in 1979.

One new all-time class attendance figure was broken, and two all-time single game marks were eclipsed this year. The class attendance mark was broken in the nine-man division where a record 7,928 fans watched the seven playoff games in that class. The former record was established in 1979 when 5,025 persons witnessed games. The single game records were championship games in Class C and nine-man divisions. The Class C title game at Willmar won by Bird Island-Lake Lillian over Mountain Lake attracted 2,439 spectators, while a record setting crowd of 2,004 watched Hoffman-Kensington win the nine-man crown over Toivola-Meadowlands in Hoffman.

While Class AA attracted nearly one-half of last year's total attendance, this year AA figures only accounted for about one-third of the total.

Largest crowd to watch a game was 6,627 that looked-on at the Class AA title game at Parade Stadium in Minneapolis won by Burnsville over Cambridge.

SCORING A SHORTHANDED goal that clinched a 5-3 Friday night victory over Northland, Hibbing wing Tom Lundgren (11) flipped a backhand shot past goalie Mark Tangen with just 2:09 remaining in the MJCAA community college hockey game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. There were 29 penalties called in the opening game of the two-game weekend series between the Northmen and Cardinals.

Twenty-Nine Penalties Called In Northland-Hibbing Opener

Penalties — 29 of them — overshadowed the hockey Friday as Hibbing defeated Northland 5-3 in the first of a two-game MJCAA community college hockey series in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

"I have to be happy with the win, but that many penalties verges on being completely stupid," said Hibbing coach Frank Catani after watching his Cardinals accumulate 16 of the infractions. "They were all stupid penalties — holding, grabing, trying to compensate for being beaten on plays time and time again. I feel very fortunate to come out of it with a win. We played a poor hockey game."

However, at least Catani and the Cardinals had a win to show for it. That's more than first-year Northland coach Tom Goddard had in his MJCAA home opener in front of a good-size crowd.

"It wasn't a good game for us at all," he confirmed. "We weren't taking the man at all; too many stick checks."

Save figures weren't made available, but Northland had a decided territorial edge, only to mis-fire, mis-handle or be turned back by Hibbing goalie Steve Mohn, a freshman from Eveleth. "He kept us in there," acknowledged Catani. "We certainly had enough chances to win," sighed Goddard.

Hibbing began with a two-goal edge that proved to be the winning margin. Dave Kukowski scored the first of two Hibbing shorthanded goals when he beat goalie Mark Tangen with a long slap shot from the blue line just 2:17 into the game. Hibbing did an excellent job maintaining possession of the puck on a prolonged delayed penalty call against Northland to set up a Scott Stazness goal on a scramble in front of Tangen at 6:33 for a 2-0 head start.

Northland's Roger Olimb deflected in Jeff Hockin's slap shot from the point at 12:03 to cut the margin in half, but Ken Henning's power play goal at 18:03 rebuilt the two-goal Hibbing margin, 3-1.

Skating two men short, Hibbing saw its lead shrink to 3-2 just 24 seconds into the third period when Olimb collected his second goal, beating Mohn to the short side.

The Northland come-back tied the game 3-3 during a 4-on-4 situation at 13:59 when Gary Usitalo, sidelined much of the first part of the season with a thigh bruise, whistled a rising slap shot past Mohn.

But the deadlock lasted only briefly before Hibbing's Jon Swan, on another of those frequent 4-vs-4 match-ups, avoided one of those stick-checks Goddard alluded to and beat Tangen with an unassisted close range backhand at 16:06.

A shorthanded goal by Tom Lundgren iced the decision at 17:51 when he, too, went with the backhand to beat Tangen from point-blank range.

"It looked like we match up pretty well," admitted Catani, who tried to downplay the strength of his team during a mid-week telephone interview. But with 29 penalties, who could tell?

Catani might have gotten better indication of his team's strength Saturday afternoon when the Cardinals raced to a 4-1 first period lead and finished with a 9-6 victory that completed an unexpected weekend road sweep.

The two losses at home, which followed a season-opening sweep over Rainy River at International Falls, left Northland 2-2 in the MJCAA. Northland, playing without freshman Wade Hoppe Saturday after he injured his hip in the first period at Friday's game, is 2-4 overall. Northland will be in Minneapolis this weekend to play the University of Minnesota varsity-reserve team both Friday and Saturday.

SEVERAL MISSED SCORING opportunities plagued Northland community college in a 5-3 MJCAA hockey setback at the hands of Hibbing Friday, including this second period shot by forward Gary Usitalo, who came in on Hibbing goalie Steve Mohn all alone, but was turned back at the 13:43 mark. The Northmen put plenty of pressure on Mohn, but came up short in the first of a two-game weekend series played in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Nordics Have Tough Schedule

Facing a schedule that calls for four straight road games to open the 1980-81 season, including back-to-back trips to Argyle and Warren to start the year, you couldn't blame basketball coach Ron Ueland if he were upset with the Marshall County Central high school athletic director for drawing up such a slate. The only problem is that Ueland is also the Marshall County Central athletic director. The Nordics' coach and A.D. watched his team fall to 0-2 Friday with a 68-57 loss to Warren — exactly one week after Argyle triumphed 62-59.

"We've seen a couple of the better teams in the region," acknowledged Ueland. "We maybe would have liked to play them a little later, but when you make up a schedule, you have to accommodate people."

Warren won by dominating Marshall County Central on the board to the tune of 33-17.

"That's the story of the game," said Ueland, pointing to the rebound figures. "We knew that was going to be the key. They're a little bit bigger than we are at every position."

Warren led it 17-10 at the end of the first quarter and ran away with a 37-22 halftime cushion.

"Warren has got a really fine team. They have to be the favorite in the region (8A) right now," pointed out Ueland, whose ball club is expected to be a district 32 challenger.

Bob Lubarski led a balanced Warren attack with 16 points, while Brian Lunggren hit 13 and Mike Brekke 12. Jeff Dahl and Dave Kragness had 15 and 14 points, respectively, for Marshall County Central.

The Ponies shot a nifty 53 per cent from the field, sinking 28 of 53 tries. The Nordics were 26-for-60 for 43 per cent. Warren made 11 of 16 free throw attempts while Marshall County Central connected on five of nine tries.

Marshall County Central plays at Badger Tuesday.

Goodridge committed 24 of the game's 33 turnovers Friday and lost a 56-44 game at Oslo.

"Our guard play was pathetic," said Goodridge coach Rick Nelson. "They put on a half-court trap and we just didn't penetrate."

Oslo led it only 23-17 at halftime, but broke it open in the third quarter, 39-21.

"We played with no emotion until the fourth quarter," mentioned Nelson. "We just didn't play very inspired basketball."

Don Bushaw poured in 27 points for the winners, with Tony Rakowski adding 17. Randy Henrickson and Kurt Wiseth scored 12 and 11 points, respectively, for the Huskies.

Oslo enjoyed a decided edge in the shooting department, going 22-for-40 from the field (55 per cent) and 12-for-19 at the free throw line. Goodridge was 18-for-42 (43 per cent) in field goals and 8-for-17 in free throws. The Huskies out-rebounded the Bobcats 27-19.

Goodridge, now 1-1, will be at Red Lake Falls Friday.

Plummer 46

Fisher built a lopsided 65-14 third quarter lead Friday before settling for a 73-46 win over Plummer. The host Cardinals, trailing 16-6 at the end of the first quarter, struggled into halftime down 45-12.

"We were out-manned," acknowledged Plummer coach Dean Miller. "They were a lot bigger than we were. They out-rebounded us — they really took it to us."

Four Fisher scorers hit double figures, including Brian Connerman with 20 points, Ron Wentzel 15, Brent Wagner 12 and John Erickson 10. Brian Delage scored 16 points for Plummer and Kenny Fisher added 10.

Fisher was 29-for-63 from the floor for 46 per cent and 15-for-27 at the free throw line to go along with a 30-16 margin on the boards. Plummer was 18-for-50 from the field for 36 per cent and 10-for-14 at the line.

Plummer, 0-2, hosts Oklee Tuesday.

A DIVING EFFORT by Hibbing goalie Bob Wheaton knocked the puck off the stick of Northland forward Mike Stoskopf in the first period of Saturday's MJCAA community college hockey game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Hibbing defenseman Brett Smith helped out on the play. The Cardinals beat the Northmen 9-6 to complete a weekend sweep.

Middle River Girls Win Double Overtime Game

Dawn Nelson scored 24 points and Patty Blazek had 18 Thursday as Middle River outlasted Grygla 54-51 in a double overtime girls high school basketball game played at Grygla.

It was a see-saw contest that saw Grygla build a 17-10 first quarter lead but fall behind 21-20 at halftime. Middle River ran up a 41-28 third quarter bulge, but Grygla rallied to tie it 45-45 at the end of regulation time.

Nelson might have won it for the Skippers at the end of the fourth quarter, but the timer ruled her 20-foot jump shot did not beat the buzzer.

Grygla also had a chance to pull out a victory, but Lois Verbout missed two free throws with nine seconds remaining in regulation time, and Kim McLean's 12-foot jump shot at the end of the first overtime was in-and-out, leaving the score deadlocked at 47-47.

"It was a real good ball game," mentioned Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "Our girls were a little nervous and we had some turnovers, but it was a good game."

Middle River used its decided size advantage to out-rebound Grygla 44-26 and control most of the game's jump balls. "We were bigger than they were," acknowledged Neibauer. "It helped to get 20 extra possessions."

Jill Saurdiff scored 17 points for the Eagles before picking up her fifth foul in the first overtime session. Sherri Anderson contributed 16 points. The loss of Saurdiff was matched by the Skippers' loss of Blazek, who left the game with a sprained ankle after scoring 12 points in the third quarter. The Eagles capitalized on her absence by out-scoring the Skippers 17-4 in the fourth quarter to get back in the game.

"We had the opportunities to win," noted Grygla coach Bill Raduenz, who was taking some of the blame for the loss. "We changed defenses in the second half and it was the wrong one," he explained.

Middle River finished with an impressive 56 per cent shooting mark from the field, 23-for-41. Grygla was 24-for-64 for 38 per cent. From the free throw line the Skippers were 8-for-17 and the Eagles were 3-for-12.

The loss was the Eagles' first in three starts. They'll play Lake of the Woods Thursday in Baudette.

Plummer 44

Goodridge out-scored Plummer 13-2 over the final 3½ minutes of the fourth quarter Thursday to claim a come-from-behind 49-44 victory at Plummer.

"We were in the driver's seat," offered disappointed Plummer coach Rick Koivisto. "They pressed us and our inexperienced showed."

The Cardinals led at the first quarter stop 9-7. It was tied 19-19 at halftime, with Plummer regaining the lead, 33-29 at the end of the third quarter.

"We put a little pressure on them with the press and got a lot of turnovers," confirmed Goodridge coach Susan Saurdiff, who was also delighted with her team's 8-for-12 fourth quarter free throw shooting. "That really came through for us," she said.

Debbie Anderson scored 14 points and received special praise from Saurdiff. Bonnie Fisher led Plummer with 15 points and 11 rebounds.

The Huskies shot poorly from the field, hitting 19 of 65 attempts for 29 per cent, but limited Plummer to just 47 shots, with the Cardinals making 18 for 38 per cent. Goodridge finished 11-for-19 at the free throw line where Plummer was 8-for-19.

Plummer, 1-3, will be at Oslo Friday.

Strandquist 33

Marshall County Central closed out the 1980 portion of its 1980-81 schedule Thursday with a 71-33 rout of Strandquist on the Warriors' court.

The Nordics led only 27-17 at halftime, but exploded for 44 second half points to improve their record to 3-0.

"We played well in the second half," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "We beat them down the floor; we got a lot of lay-ups in the second half off our fast break. It was a nice way to end before Christmas."

The Nordics' top three returning scorers from a year ago — Jill Johnson, Sue Olson and Lisa Busch, finally formed a high-scoring trio that Mjelde has been looking for as Johnson collected 22 points, Olson 18 and Busch 16. Laurel Opheim, who scored 16 points, was the only Strandquist scorer in double figures.

Marshall County Central was 27-for-63 from the field for 43 per cent while Strandquist was just 14-for-77 for 18 per cent. The Nordics went 17-for-30 at the free throw line while the Warriors were 5-for-11.

Marshall County Central will be idle until Jan. 8 when the Nordics visit Grygla.

LOW 39

Dawn Nelson pumped in 31 points Friday to carry Middle River to a 46-39 victory over previously unbeaten Lake of the Woods at Baudette.

The Bears out-scored the Skippers from the field, but Middle River made 18 of 27 free throw opportunities while Lake of the Woods cashed in on just three of 12 chances at the line.

CeCe Hildebrandt scored 11 points for the Bears, who led 31-30 going into the fourth quarter.

The victory improved the Skippers' record to 3-2. They'll host Greenbush Tuesday.

FWS Charges 62 With Game Law Violations

A year-long undercover investigation into the illegal trafficking in wildlife climaxed December 3 when special agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Illinois Department of Conservation officers simultaneously arrested 28 individuals on state charges in the Beardstown, Browning area of west central Illinois. The early morning raid involved 65 individuals who allegedly committed more than 600 violations of federal and state wildlife laws.

Many of the violations involved the alleged taking and subsequent sale or barter of protected migratory waterfowl and deer for commercial gain.

The raid involved about 85 federal and state agents. A command center in Beardstown, headed by Illinois Department of Conservation and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service law enforcement personnel, coordinated the efforts of the officers who arrested the defendants and interviewed other subjects in the Beardstown, Browning, Rushville and Frederick area. Officers also executed 12 federal search warrants at 11 locations. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents assisted in the execution of six of the warrants.

A partial list of the state and federal violations includes the unlawful taking, sale and barter of migratory waterfowl, exceeding the bag and possession limits of migratory birds, unlawful taking of migratory birds by the aid of bait and during a closed season, and unlawful possession of migratory non-game birds, all in violation of federal and state law.

Sale of waterfowl is a felony under federal law, punishable by up to two years in prison and-or a $2,000 fine. Other violations punishable by up to six months in prison and-or a $500 fine include unlawful trespassing and killing of deer on the Chautauqua national wildlife refuge.

State of Illinois violations also involve illegal possession and taking of non-migratory wildlife, including deer, which are punishable by up to six months in prison and-or a $1,000 fine, and violations of the Illinois endangered species act punishable by fines of up to $1,000 and-or one year in prison.

Northwomen Win 1, Lose 2 During Red River Tourney

Following five road games to open the 1980-81 season, the Northland community college women's basketball team will finally have the home court edge this week when the Northwomen host Bottineau and Rainy River in back-to-back 5 p.m. games Thursday and Friday.

The Northwomen tried their hand at international rules-type basketball over the weekend in Winnipeg by participating in the Red River community college invitational tournament. Northland dropped two out of their three starts, falling to a very strong Winnipeg Express team 105-37 Friday night, losing to the East Kildonan Grads 45-41 Saturday afternoon but finishing with a 57-56 victory over the Warren,

Brad Hulings Wins Second Sno Pro Race

Brad Hulings of the Scorpion Squadron won his second Sno Pro race of the year Sunday in snowmobile racing competition at Aberdeen, S.D.

Hulings, a winner a week earlier in the 1980-81 Sno Pro season opener at Winnipeg, was followed across the finish line in the feature final by Jacques Villeneuve on a Ski-Doo and Bob Elsner of Team Arctic.

Next stop for the Sno Pro racers is this weekend at Alexandria, the only Minnesota appearance of the year for the professional snowmobile circuit.

Illinois Goose Clubs Raided By FWS Agents

Federal agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service cracked down on commercial goose hunting clubs and guides in the southern Illinois goose quota zone the weekend of November 29-30 in response to hunter and citizen complaints.

Before the operation is over federal agents expect to cite over 90 club owners, guides, commercial pickers and individual hunters on over 400 violations of federal and state wildlife laws. Violations include the felony sale of migratory game birds, exceeding the daily bag limits, illegal gifts of migratory birds, improper record keeping and falsification of daily kill sheets, all in violation of the migratory bird treaty act.

The two-year undercover investigation into commercial goose hunting operations in one of the prime goose hunting areas in the U.S. revealed that many hunters are dismayed with the widespread practice of guides killing limits of geese for clients.

During the early stages of the investigation an elderly hunter relayed to federal agents details of a violation that he witnessed during the 1979 goose hunting season. While he waited to bag his limit, three club guides in an adjacent blind proceeded to methodically shoot 25 geese.

Assistant special agent in charge, Terry Grosz, of the Fish and Wildlife Service's Minneapolis district office said this type of gunning pressure exploits both the hunter and the hunted. "Neither the geese nor the hunter has a sporting chance when professional guides finger the trigger. The guides, through constant shooting exposure, have a higher success rate, and some hunters and undercover agents are leaving the pits with their two-bird limit without killing a goose," he pointed out.

Hunters pay an average of $35 per day to hunt at the many commercial gunning clubs in Alexander, Union, Williamson and Jackson counties in southern Illinois. Guides accompany hunters to the pits to call in geese, and for this service receive $5 to $10 per bird from the hunter. Investigation has revealed, however, that many guides, often at the direction of their club owners, take shotguns to the blinds and kill geese for the client hunters. Once the daily limit of two geese per hunter is obtained, the hunters are rotated out of the pit and replaced with two new hunters. This constant rotation of hunters yields more money for the club, more tips for the guides and a high number of illegally taken geese.

In addition to investigating club owners and guides, Federal agents also inspected numerous commercial waterfowl picking facilities in the four county area. Serious felony violations involving the commercial sale of migratory waterfowl were detected at several facilities. The individuals involved will be formally charged for the illegal sale of migratory birds.

Subjects involved in these investigations could receive federal violations notices (tickets) totaling more than $50,000. Under the migratory bird treaty act the sale of waterfowl is a felony punishable by two years in prison and-or a $2,000 fine. Most violations of this act are misdemeanors punishable by up to six months in prison and-or a $500 fine.

This investigation is part of a continuing effort by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to combat the illegal commercialization and exploitation of our nation's wildlife resources.

Northwomen At Red River

Man. Grads 57-56 later that day.

"It took us a long time to learn the different rules," confessed Northland coach Deb Jacobson, whose team will carry a 1-4 record in the Thursday contest against Bottineau. "We played much better our second game, and the first half of our third game was our best effort of the weekend."

Favorite Food In Right Place Attract Birds

Feathered friends on your holiday gift list would like nothing more than to find their favorite foods in your backyard this winter. The secret of attracting wild birds to your feeding stations is to provide the foods they like best and to put them in the right places, says Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

Just as some birds would rather eat suet than nuts, many birds prefer to eat on the ground rather than from hanging feeders.

The National Wildlife Federation's monthly publication for children offers these guidelines for providing a variety of wintering birds with the right foods in the right places:

Ground feeders include blue jays, sparrows, juncos, quail, mourning doves, pheasants, chickadees and house finches. Their favorite foods are sunflower seeds, cracked corn (inexpensive, but will also attract starlings, grackles and pigeons), wild bird seed mix and peanuts.

Feeders can be split fireplace logs (flatside up), hubcaps (for food or water), garbage can lids, trays, shallow pans or birdbath tops (for water).

Tabletop or window feeders include cardinals, goldfinches, grosbeaks, chickadees, house finches, redpolls, purple finches, mockingbirds and jays. Their favorite foods are sunflower seeds, shelled peanuts, wild bird seed mix, raisins and currants.

Feeders can be trays placed on picnic tables, benches, or stumps, or attached to windowsills.

Hanging or high post feeders include cardinals, chickadees, goldfinches or other finches, pine siskins, redpolls, titmice and nuthatches.

Their favorite foods are niger or thistle seeds, sunflower seeds, wild bird seed mix and peanut hearts or other nutmeats.

Feeders can be plastic tube feeders, round or square post feeders (some shaped like little houses), or recycled milk cartons, detergent, or bleach bottles, which have been cut open for easy access.

Trunk feeders include chickadees, woodpeckers, nuthatches and many seedeating birds.

Their favorite foods are suet or suet cakes, which can be mixed with peanut butter, seeds and other treats.

Feeders can be wire mesh holders, plastic mesh bags (used for onions, oranges, etc.) or log holders.

"Don't be discouraged if the birds don't come flocking into your yard the first day you put out food," advises Ranger Rick. "Sometimes it takes a while for the birds in your area to discover your feeders. Once they've found them, they'll keep coming back so long as there is food for them."

Feeders should be kept clean and checked every day. Don't put out large amounts of food that could spoil or attract rats or mice. And remember that besides food and water, birds need cover. "Most birds seem to feel more comfortable eating at feeders near trees or bushes where they can perch and hide from hawks, or neighborhood cats," says Ranger Rick.

It's always nice to wake up on a frosty winter morning and see a perky chickadee feeding in your backyard. And it's a perfect way to wish wildlife a "Happy Holiday."

We are glad to report that Mrs. Elmer Engstrom returned home from the Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. She was a patient there for nearly one month.

Visitors at the Elmer Engstrom home recently were Mary Lou Rindahl, Cora Oftelie, Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. Howard Hanson, Mrs. Virgil Radniecki and Julius Olson.

Mrs. Gary B. Johnson was a brief caller at the Marvin Bakken home on Wednesday forenoon.

Clara Bjerklie spent Monday at the Gene Marquis home.

Callers at the Clara Bjerklie home recently were Cora Oftelie, Orben Good, Craig Fast, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Bjerklie and family.

A week ago Thursday, Clara Bjerklie called at the Jorgen Bjerklie home in Gonvick. In the afternoon she attended funeral services for Mrs. Peggy Brovold held at the Samhold Lutheran church in Gonvick. Our sympathy is extended to the Brovold family.

Cora Oftelie visited at the Duane Erickson home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Bjerklie and Kelly called at the Gerald Sjulestad home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen and Kelly Bjerklie called at the Cora Oftelie home Wednesday afternoon.

Visitors at the John Nelson home recently were Mr. and Mrs. George Ness of Gully, Cora Oftelie, Stanley Danielson of Gonvick, Melvin Rindahl and Jimmy Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson spent Thanksgiving Day at the Don McKercher home in Bemidji.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bratrud of Walker attended the golden wedding for Mr. and Mrs. George Norquist held at the Samhold Lutheran church in Gonvick.

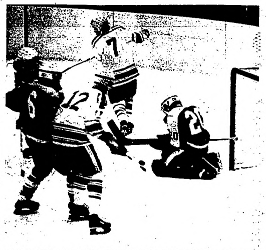
Visitors at the Ricky Bjerklie home recently were Cora Oftelie, Clara Bjerklie, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bjerklie, Christopher and Jami of Goodridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sjulstad and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Bjerklie motored to Hibbing a week ago Saturday to attend the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Thorwold Dahle.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sjulstad are the proud parents of a baby girl born on Dec. 8 at the Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Ricky Bjerklie and Mrs. Rodney Bjerklie visited with Mrs. Sjulstad and they also made the acquaintance of their little niece. They named her Mandy Jo. Congratulations Karen and Howard.

Callers at the Arnold Haugen recently were Ted Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Haugen, Jared and Jeremy, Mrs. Gary B. Johnson and Floyd Haugen.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sjulstad was pleasantly surprised on their 44th wedding anniversary. All their children attended. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tharaldson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Bjerklie and Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Bjerklie and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Sjulstad and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sjulstad and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sjulstad and family, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Sjulstad of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lundeen and family, Susie and Sheila Johnson and Kim Swanson. They all enjoyed anniversary cake.



MAKING A SAVE and then quickly covering the puck, Fergus Falls goalie Jay Drechsel stopped this Thief River Falls scoring opportunity during Saturday's high school hockey game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. The Prowlers' Tom Kenville (7) and Tim Bergland (12), a pair of sophomores, were involved in the action. The Section 8 game ended in a 2-2 draw.

NUMEDAL . . .

Mrs. Edward Berg and Mrs. Lilas Klefstad or Norden accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Berg and Sandy when driving to Fargo Sunday to attend the capping services for the student nurses at the St. Lukes school of nursing where Karen Berg is receiving her nurses training. Following the capping services they attended the reception held for the students at the First Lutheran church in Fargo.

TRINOX
SEED-TREATMENT
EARLY PURCHASE BONUS $3.75 Lb.

TRINOX, a dual purpose seed treatment (35¢ per bu.) will perform equal to or better than any other seed treatment that costs 50¢ per bu. or more. IT'S THAT SIMPLE!

GUARANTEED PERFORMANCE - BIGGER CROP

- Protects seeds through all kinds of ADVERSE weather conditions.
- Excellent WIREWORM control.
- INCREASES stands by reducing damping off, seed rot, decay and wireworm.
- EXCELLENT control of seed and soil-borne diseases.
- TRINOX gives QUICKER GERMINATION, FASTER EMERGENCE, LARGER ROOT STRUCTURE under any planting conditions.
- Can be planted IMMEDIATELY after treatment.
- A MAXIMUM stand is assured with TRINOX whether planting in warm, dry soil or cold, damp soil.
- Protection remains FULL STRENGTH until conditions are right for seed germination.
- Seed planted in cool, wet soil risks serious loss from seed decay. Under these conditions TRINOX seed treatment is UNEXCELLED.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

December 15, 1980
Official Proceedings
Board of County Commissioners.
Pennington County, Minn.
December 8, 1980

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board met in the Commissioners Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., December 8, 1980.

Members present: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

A group consisting of Chas. Vander Weg, Herman Witt, Chas. Naplin, Erving Evensen and Warren Mosbeck appeared along with Bryan Steiger and Douglass Steiger relative to a problem at or adjacent to the intersection of SA 3 and SA 12 at the intersection of Section 6 in Black River Township and Section 1 of Polk Centre Township. The land owners, Steigers, have done some work consisting of moving a dry crossing and considerable field ditching and have left the roadside and ditch banks in such a condition that it would be impossible to mow or maintain the ditch banks and as a part of the work have probably changed the nature of the drainage to a point that some of the people present could be damaged. An amiable discussion was held resulting in the Steigers agreeing to correct any problems they may have caused. The County Engineer was instructed to work with the people involved to be sure the work was accomplished properly. It was pointed out that it may be necessary to construct a small dike along the North edge of the Steiger property with control structures into the drainage ditch along with gates on the culverts to control any possible flow out of the ditch. The Board expressed satisfaction at the verbal agreement and suggested that should mutual drainage efforts be undertaken between individuals that written records be made and recorded in order to ensure perpetuation of the agreement. Legal drainage ditches provide for maintenance but when individuals do drainage work on their own no County records are available.

The minutes of the meetings of Oct. 28, Nov. 4, 14 and 25 were read and approved as read.

In response to a letter written under the direction of the Board, Oliver Dahle, Office Mgr. of the Red Lake Watershed appeared with a verbal response to some questions. Mr. Dahle indicated that the funds collected under the Statutory provision where a 2 Mill levy is divided between the Lower Red River Watershed and the local Watershed becomes a dedicated fund and can be used only for specific purposes. The share that is sent to the lower Red River Watershed is also dedicated and is being used in planning and providing for flood protection along the Red River and its tributaries. Several projects under discussion and in planning such as the Pine Lake project, the Black River (Wylie Twp.) project and the Moose River Project will deplete all of the accumulated funds that are on hand. Financial reports will be given each participating county in the future on an ongoing basis.

The Board expressed appreciation for the discussion and the apparent desire for closer and more communications.

At 11:30 a.m. the Board was presented with the matter that had been suggested for discussion, that of renewal of Licenses — 3.2 Beer and Liquor Licenses for 1981. Several persons were present that were involved. The Board indicated that the fee for such licenses (3.2 Beer) had not been changed for many years (actually since 1938) and that some changes were in order. After discussion it was moved by Koop and seconded by Grabanski that the "On Sale" 3.2 License be $50.00 per annum and the "Off Sale" 3.2 License shall be $25.00 per annum. Motion carried.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Koop that the County On Sale Liquor Licenses be the same as for 1980, the sum of $1,200.00 per annum with Sunday Sales when authorized by Local Vote the sum of $100.00 additional. Motion carried.

Moved by Grabanski seconded by Koop that On Sale Club Liquor Licenses that are issued only to bonafide Clubs and in this instance the Thief River Golf Club, a Club on a part time basis, shall be $300.00 per annum. Motion carried.

Jackie Schweitz, Claire Courneya and Ken Murphy then presented a petition protesting the sale and display of Drug paraphernalia in the County, as well as the sale and display of reading material associated with the sale and use of drugs. Several items purchased in certain stores in Thief River Falls were circulated for the board to examine. Deputy Sheriff Wold then displayed some confiscated items that were in possession of the Office of Sheriff and the items were identical or very similar. It was obvious that the items were intended for a specific use. A request was made that the County adopt an Ordinance to regulate the sale and display of drugs and associated paraphernalia. A lively and detailed discussion was then held relative to many aspects of the matter which emerges as a real problem. The County Attorney was then instructed to search the Statutes for the County responsibilities and proper jurisdiction and to report back at the earliest opportunity.

Norris Thune of Thune Upham & Assoc. then reviewed the County insurance program in detail and indicated that the total for the annual renewal would be $46,635.50 as compared to $47,675.60 in 1980. The billing will be submitted for payment in 1981.

Commissioner Hoffman introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, That the County Board Chairman is hereby authorized and directed for and on behalf of the County of Pennington to execute and enter into contract with the Commissioner of Transportation for the removal of snow from particular portions of all of the roads, highways or runways under the jurisdiction of the County all on the terms and conditions contained and set forth in "State of Minnesota, Department of Transportation, Division of Field Operations, Snow Removal Agreement", a copy of which said form was before the Board, assuming on behalf of the County all of the contractual obligations therein contained; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That Arvid Olson, the County Engineer of said County of Pennington, be and he hereby is authorized to request and order from time to time men and equipment for the removal of snow in accordance with and under the terms of the foregoing contract. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon vote declared unanimously adopted.

The Board then discussed a request from the City of Thief River Falls for an agreement on division of the cost of maintaining the new signal lights. The original Contract describes the procedure of payment of these lights and it was thought that in the event there is an unresolved understanding that a written agreement should be drawn up to clarify the matter and to provide for proper billings. Engineer to undertake this problem.

At 3:00 P.M. the Board convened to conduct a Public Hearing on the proposed adoption of an Ordinance to regulate Bingo in Pennington County. County Attorney Olin reviewed the proposed Ordinance and enumerated the provision that the Licenses would be available in the County to fraternal, religious, veterans or other non-profit organizations which have been in existence for at least three years at a fee of $25.00 per annum with certain specific exceptions and then only when more than five bingo occasions are held in any calendar year. Upon motion by Hoffman seconded by Koop and declared unanimously carried, the following resolution was adopted:

RESOLVED, By the Board of Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, that THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA, adopt the attached Ordinance for REGULATING AND ALLOWING THE CONDUCT OF BINGO WITHIN UNINCORPORATED AREAS OF PENNINGTON COUNTY, in its entirety, effective January 1, 1981. (Ordinance incorporated into the minutes by reference as ORDINANCE NO. 3.)

Adopted at Thief River Falls, Minnesota this 8th day of December, 1980.

Glenn Tasa, Chairman

ATTEST:
C. W. Rodekuhr, Clerk

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Grabanski that the Engineer and Auditor be authorized and instructed to advertise for bids for equipment rental for the year 1981 with bids to be opened at 2:00 P.M., January 20, 1981. Motion carried.

At 3:30 p.m. the Board convened to conduct a PUBLIC HEARING relating to the allocation of Revenue Sharing Funds that may be received in the ensuing year, or to consider any re-allocation of funds not being utilized.

No one appeared in response to the Notice of Hearing published according to Law.

The Board discussed the possibility of Congress renewing the Revenue Sharing Program but this is not known at this time and any allocation of funds would be an exercise in the unknown. The possibility of re-allocation of certain designated funds that have been assigned for specific purposes but which for one reason or another those purposes are no longer an immediate need. After discussion it was moved by Hoffman seconded by Koop that the auditor be instructed to re-allocate those funds previously dedicated to a Sheriff's Tower, for a Sheriff's car, for a Highway By-Pass, for a Solid Waste Site and unallocated accumulated interest to new designations as follows:

Library	$15,000.00
Sr. Citizens Bus	5,112.00
Highways — Grader	79,000.00
Barrier Free	97,064.20
Courthouse	$196,176.20

Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Hoffman that the sum of $15,000.00 be pledged for support of the Northwest Regional Library for the Budget request of July 14, 1980 and said amount be appropriated and paid for the 1981 budget, from the Revenue Sharing Fund. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Koop seconded by Hoffman that the County support the Pennington County Soil Conservation District in the amount of $15,000.00 for their 1981 budget which was requested on October 28, 1980, and said $15,000.00 be appropriated and paid from tax receipts for the year 1981. Motion declared unanimously adopted.

River Valley

Mrs. Orlando Chervestad
Oklee, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Radnecki were honored on their 35th wedding anniversary November 29. The special event was hosted by their 13 children at their home north of Oklee. Virgil and Theresa have enlarged their family to 33 descendents. Sybil Radnecki from Brainard sent anniversary greetings by telephone. Many relatives attended and Regene Radnecki from Minneapolis showed a film and slides on her trip to Poland. She visited the 840 acre Radnecki estate. Regene showed slides on the Radnecki heritage from their great-grandpa John Radnecki, who was born in Poland, to great-grandma Emma Vattendahl Radnecki's birth place in Setesdahl, Norway.

Fred and Evelyn Lundeen spent 10 days at the Iron Range recently visiting their families. Al's (the Prigges) of Gilbert, Charles of Gilbert and Virgil's of Embarras. Also the Milton Myrums of Chisholm, Chester Myrums of Hibbing and Gunda Myrum of Chisholm. They all attended the wedding of Julie Prigge, daughter of Al Prigge and Dave Hughes of Grand Rapids held at the Lutheran church of Babbit. Mr. and Mrs. Darrow Lundeen of Trail drove up for the wedding last weekend and Fred and Evelyn accompanied them home. Evelyn and Fred were Thanksgiving Day dinner guests at the Chester Myrum home.

Richard and Gloria Rustan visited their new granddaughter born to proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rustan at the Fosston hospital weighing 9 lbs. 9¼ oz. They were accompanied by their grandson, Ryan. They were all supper guests at the Scott Strand home of Erskine. Proud grandparents are Richard and Gloria Rustan and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Srnsky and great-grandfather Oscar Lundeen of Oklee.

Dinner guests at the Merle Lundeen home Sunday were Luella Lundeen, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Silk of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lundeen and Shannon of Goodridge and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Hilgeman and Francis. They all attended the baptism for little Jennifer Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Olson at the Eckland Lutheran church of rural Goodridge. Sponsors were Greg and Rebecca Olson. Witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lundeen.

Pennington NFO President Merle Lundeen attended the National NFO convention held at Cincinnati, Ohio from Nov. 30 to Dec. 5.

They all enjoyed a pot luck supper.

The Deer Park Garden club annual Christmas party was held at the Richard Radnecki home Saturday evening. A pot luck supper was enjoyed followed by progressive whist. Mrs. Lynn Hanson was in charge of the entertainment. We all mentioned an interesting highlight of our bygone Christmas days, the hardships and happiness of what little we all had to work with and our Christian attitude.

Last Minute Gifts From The Supermarket

At Christmastime, the "last-minute gift" syndrome can be a problem. Your gift budget is depleted; you've run out of ideas — so why not let your imagination run wild at the supermarket?

One fast trip can net great gift dividends. Look to the dairy case for a selection of natural cheeses and process cheese spreads to be accompanied by a box of fancy crackers. Add a bottle of wine and you have a thoughtful present for anyone who entertains during the holidays. Another gift might be a selection of exotic teas, with a bake-shop bread, cream cheese, and a favorite flavor jam or jelly. A few ribbon bows and evergreen sprigs give a special touch to almost any gift idea.

Your friends and co-workers will enjoy a "Holiday Coffee Break" gift suggestion from the Kraft Kitchens, which can turn an office or neighborhood get-together into a mini-Christmas party. First, pick up some bright ribbons, wrapping paper, and an ornament or two from the Christmas display at your supermarket. Then, personalize coffee mugs with individual stick-on labels, and fill each with a homemade Lemon Surprise Muffin wrapped with a colorful napkin. A bottle of Kraft orange juice decorated with a Christmas ornament, a bake-shop coffeecake for sharing, and a pot of coffee complete the festive presentation. Tote all the fixings in a grocery bag that you've decorated with ribbon and wrapping paper.

Lemon Surprise Muffins

2 cups flour
1/3 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Parkay margarine, melted
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon lemon rind
1/3 cup Kraft grape jelly or apricot preserves

Combine dry ingredients. Add combined margarine, milk, egg, lemon juice and lemon rind, mixing just until moistened. Pour into greased medium-size muffin pan, filling each cup 1/2 full. Dot generously with preserves; top with remaining batter. Bake at 425°, 20 to 25 minutes.

Volume 69 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, December 17, 1980 Number 99

Men Born In '62 Must Register Starting Jan. 5

Selective service registration for men born in 1962 will take place during the week of January 5, 1981. Men born in 1963 (and later) should register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays. This is a continuation of the program begun last summer, whereby men born in 1960 and 1961 visited post offices across the nation to fill in the registration form.

Purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses from which the selective service system could draw in an emergency. According to Dr. Bernard D. Rostker, director of the selective service system, "Registration directly improves our capability to respond . . . actually reducing lead time by at least four weeks. We think that provides a significant advantage, especially when matched with the very low cost of the registration effort." The direct costs of registration are less than $2 per registrant.

One of the basic underlying assumptions of the all-volunteer force concept was that the country should always maintain a stand-by selective service, with an on-going system of registration. When the draft was ended in 1972, registration was in fact continued until suspended in 1975, Dr. Rostker said.

"Over the next few years, the capabilities of selective service steadily declined to an unacceptable level, prompting a total revitalization which began in November 1979," he added. "This program — of which registration is a part — is designed to return the selective service system to the readiness level required for an emergency back-up to their peace time volunteer armed forces. Other actions underway include the development of greatly improved computer support, and the development of a training program for potential draft board members."

Registration Guidelines

Who Must Register — Male citizens and aliens residing in the United States born in 1960, 1961 or 1962 except those on student or similar visas or who are members of trade or diplomatic missions, and men already serving on active duty with the armed forces. Members of reserve components not on active duty must register. Men born in 1963 and later years will be required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

When — Men born in 1962: during the week of January 5. To help avoid lines, individuals are encouraged to register on a day of the week keyed to the month of birth: On Monday, January 5, for those born in January, February and March; on Tuesday, January 6, for those born in April, May and June; on Wednesday, January 7, for those born in July, August and September; and on Thursday,

Toastmasters Honor 2 With Annual Awards

Northwest Toastmasters club 1291 recently held its annual awards and installation banquet with two local men receiving special recognition.

"Most Improved Toastmaster" award was presented to Jim Goldesberry, an English instructor at Lincoln senior high school. "Toastmaster of the Year" award was presented to Don Stanislawski, publication department manager at Arctic Enterprises.

Installation of officers for the coming year was held with the following elected: President, Randy Adamson; administrative vice president, Ward Aas; educational vice president, Jim Goldesberry; secretary, Don Stanislawski; treasurer, Tom Przybylski; Sergeant-at arms, Leroy Stumpf; and past president, Lowell Knutson.

Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesdays at 7 a.m. in the upstairs meeting room at the chamber of commerce office. Individuals interested in the group can call 681-7073 or 681-5573 for information.

Sheriff Richards

Elect Richards First VP Of Sheriff Ass'n.

Sheriff Charles R. Richards of Pennington county was elected first vice president of the Minnesota state sheriff's association at the 89th annual informative conference held recently in Mankato.

Elected to serve as president for the coming year was Sheriff George T. Witty of Nicollet county, succeeding Sheriff Darrell Wolff of Wright county.

Other sheriffs elected were Charles VonWald, Olmsted county, second vice president; Paul Moe, Yellow Medicine county, third vice president; William Sobey, Aitkin county, secretary-treasurer; and Rod Boyd, Dakota county, sergeant-at-arms.

Clearwater county sheriff Ken Felt was among six elected to serve on the state association's board of directors.

Orthopedic Surgeon Will Join Clinic

Falls Clinic professional association has been successful in its efforts to recruit an orthopedic surgeon for the Thief River Falls community, according to information received from the clinic. Dr. Jeffrey T. Garske will join the clinic in August of 1981.

Dr. Garske is a native of Glenwood City, Wisc., received his Bachelors degree from the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire in 1972 and his Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of Wisconsin medical school in Madison in 1976.

For the past three and one-half years Dr. Garske has been an orthopedic surgery resident at Akron general medical center in Akron, Ohio. He will complete this program in June of 1981 prior to his arrival to start practice in Thief River Falls.

AVTI Matters Occupy School Board Thursday

Vocational-technical institute budgeting and other matters occupied much of the meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education Thursday in room 120 at the AVTI. Budget and program proposals for the institute are covered in a separate article in this issue of the Times.

Approval was given for the sale of the AVTI carpentry department's house project at 405 Riverside av. S. to Forest G. Hull for $42,200. Northland Realty handled the transaction and the district expects to net $39,500 from the sale after deduction of fees.

Director Orley Gunderson of the AVTI was authorized to submit the complete 1981-82 tentative budget to the state vocational education department for review. Administration was also authorized to advertise for a student personnel service coordinator for the AVTI as budgeted in 1980-81 and to post and advertise for an architectural drafting instructor at the AVTI. A vacancy in the drafting position was created by the death of instructor Ralph Hanson.

Transfer of Greg Sandahl from full-time custodian at Knox to full-time custodian at the school district service center effective Dec. 15 was approved. Delmer Rux was hired as a full-time custodian at the rate of $6.01 per hour effective Dec. 15 with assignment to be determined.

Angela Sinn was hired as a certified advanced lifesaving lifeguard at the Franklin middle school swimming pool at a rate of $2.50 per hour. Edlyn Vatthauer's resignation as a regular route bus driver was accepted. Darwin Boutlette's assignment as 11th grade advisor at a fee of $370 was approved.

Bid of Kordel Furniture in the amount of $10,044.46 was accepted for carpeting of 1,260 square yards of floor in the school district service center and at Lincoln high school.

AVTI Budget Request Is Geared Toward Programs

TINY ELVES appearing in the Goodridge school program "A Christmas Parade" to be presented December 22 at 8 p.m. are Rhoda Rhuby, Shannon Manderud, Brad Kragness and Jason Hoffman. The elves (kindergarten students at the school) will present "Toytown Express" and "Elfin Song," during the evening performance.

When Thief River Falls board of education gave approval last Thursday to a district budget request to the state department of vocational education, they approved a substantial increase targeted toward program improvement at the local AVTI.

"I cringe when I think about it," stated AVTI director Dr. Orley Gunderson, "but I know what other vocational programs have and what other AVTIs in the state are doing. There has to be a concentrated effort to bring our 20 instructional programs forward to where they all offer first-class, top-flight education to our students. It is impossible to reach those goals without investing substantial sums of money."

Those sums of money will have to be justified to the state department of education's vocational division, because that is where the funds must originate. Of the local AVTI budget, only a small amount (less than $30,000) for debt service comes from local tax levy.

With approval of the budget request by the board Thursday, the budget proposal will be submitted to the state division for review next week. Then, sometime in February, Dr. Gunderson and others from the local school district will journey to St. Paul to meet with state education officials and answer questions to substantiate the requests. Only after state approval has been given can a definite budget be prepared for official local adoption.

For the 1981-82 school year, Dr. Gunderson proposes an expenditure budget of $2,974,623. Comparative figure for the current school year is $1,848,509. Revenue budget of $3,097,134 for 1981-82 compares with $1,827,113 this year.

The figures do not drift into the budget request out of thin air, the director affirms. Each of the 20 instructional programs and 12 other service area budgets are studied separately. The 50 AVTI instructors, with input from student services, special needs and buildings and grounds supervisors, have worked since November 1 on the various individual budgets. Advisory committees have had review and input on all budget requests for equipment. Seven staff members from the state division of vocational education made visits to the school and gave recommendations on budgeting.

Administrative review took place at the AVTI and District 564 levels prior to presentation of the budget proposal to the board. Checks were made with computer print-outs on all of the state's 31 area vocational-technical institutes to compare program costs. Thief River Falls AVTI

31 Youngsters In Operation Christmas Sat.

Thirty-one area youngsters were assisted toward having a merrier Christmas by the Thief River Valls Jaycees and Jaycee Women through "Operation Christmas" conducted on Saturday.

Under the co-chairmanship of Allen Rux and Ken Yutrzenka, the project involved 16 volunteers who took the 31 children shopping for gift items for members of their families. The Jaycees provided money for purchase of the gifts and assisted in the wrapping and marking of the packages at United Methodist church following the shopping tour.

Assisting with the project were Kirby Stittsworth, Larry Mike, Tom Wang, Larry Hansen, Rod Axtel, Tim Faver, Betty Faver, Roger Hagman, Lana Christianson, Sue Sculthorp, Diane Paulson, Karen Lehrer, Cheryl Lee, Jonel Axtel and Yutrzenka and Rux.

Youngsters who were taken shopping at Kmart, were also provided with stockings stuffed with various gift items. Providing the stocking stuffers were Tony Dorn, Inc., First Northwestern and Northern state banks, Arctic Enterprises, Hardee's and McDonald's. McDonald's also provided hamburgers, French fries and soft drinks to the children after the gifts were wrapped.

Rux and Yutrzenka expressed thanks to Kmart for special arrangements and to the county social services office and local churches for assisting in finding children who would be helped by the project.

"The best part of a project like this," stated co-chairman Rux, "Is that it helps kids who need help, and we hope that when these young people grow up to be adults, they think of this day and in turn will be more willing to help others.

Christmas Eve Dinner Slated December 24

Sixth annual Christmas eve dinner for those in the Thief River Falls community who have no family to be with at Christmas will be served on Wednesday, December 24, at the AVTI and Northland community college commons.

Serving at the family-style sit-down dinner will begin at 5:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by calling Sue Kruse at 681-6002 at any time until Christmas eve. Transportation will be provided if necessary, including pick-up at home and a ride home following the dinner.

A full traditional holiday dinner with turkey, lutefisk and other items will be served. For those who are unable to leave home to attend the dinner, meals will be delivered on request. Make requests by calling 681-6002. Last year 220 dinners were served. Guests at the dinner are also provided with entertainment, a gift and a dinner to take home for the following day.

Turkeys for the dinner have been donated. Persons who would like to contribute money, food or time may contact Kris Kremer at 681-2946. Those who can help by provoding rides should contact Dr. Alex Easton at Northland community college, who is coordinating transportation.

Dr. Stafford Seeks Excellence For BSU

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

If Dr. Rebecca Stafford has her way, Bemidji state university will become the major university in this area. It will offer pertinent programs of excellence which produce highly employable graduates — men and women with their horizons broadened by a liberal education and with a fluent command of the English language in both writing and speaking.

And maybe the Pope will become a Baptist, you say.

Don't sell Dr. Stafford short. The new president of Bemidji state has high ideals and difficult goals, but to listen to her is to become a believer that she just might be able to accomplish what she seems sure she can. She doesn't doubt it for a minute.

By her own self-analysis her strengths lie in organization and curriculum. Her bachelor of arts degree is from Radcliffe college and her master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees are both from Harvard university. She spent three years as professor and chairperson of the department of sociology at the University of Nevada after serving as an associate professor there for four years.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

J. Kappes - D. Barron Marriage Vows Spoken

Miss Jean Marie Kappes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Kappes of this city, and Darby Barron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barron, also of this city, exchanged marriage vows here recently at a 3:00 p.m., ceremony at St. Bernard's Catholic church.

Officiating at the ecumenical ceremony were Rev. John Kleinwachter and Rev. Berton Hushagen, pastor at Trinity Lutheran church. Servers were Jerry Kappes, brother of the bride, and Douglas Johnson, a cousin of the bride. Ida Nordvall, a friend of the couple, was organist. She played "The Theme from Ice Castles," and the traditional "Wedding March," for the processional and "Follow Me," as the recessional. Vocalists were Cheryl and Karen Barron, cousins of the groom. Selections sung were "God A Woman and A Man," before the ceremony, "The Gift of Love," "The Wedding Song," as the couple lit the Unity candle, "The Lord's Prayer," and "Follow Me."

Forming the background for the wedding party were arrangements of red roses, babies' breath and greenery. Pink bows marked the front pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. She was attired in an empire styled gown of organza and Chantilly lace fashioned with a Queen Anne Neckline and long tapered sheer sleeves edged with a lace appliqued ruffle. Her A-line skirt, also with lace appliques, was complemented by a lace banded ruffle that extended into a cathedral-length train. Topping the gown was a fitted bolero jacket of Chantilly lace, closed in front with pearl buttons, matching the buttons on her sleeves. A Chantilly lace headpiece held her tiered, fingertip-length mantilla of imported bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of 12 long-stemmed roses, accented with babies' breath, greenery and red and white ribbon streamers.

Maid of honor was Jackie Kappes, sister of the bride. Bridesmaid was Sharon Koop, a friend. They wore pink qiana floor-length gowns featuring scooped necklines, butterfly sleeves and fitted waistlines accented with a peplum. Clipped in their hair was a rose accented with babies' breath. Their identical bouquets featured three long-stemmed roses, babies' breath and greenery with pink and red streamers.

The rings were carried by James Kappes, brother of the bride. Like the men of the wedding party, he wore a burgundy Regency tuxedo, a pink ruffled shirt and a white carnation boutonniere. The groom wore a white Chancellor tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt, white bow tie and a red rose boutonniere.

Best man was Lee Barron, brother of the groom. The groomsman was Rick Brunner, a friend. Serving as ushers were James Haller and Tim Sheridan, friends of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kappes selected a light blue floor-length gown topped by light blue waist-length jacket. The groom's mother was attired in a light green floor-length gown featuring a floral print cape in shades of green.

At the reception that followed Mr. and Mrs. Donald Geray, uncle and aunt of the bride, served as host and hostess. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hagen, brother-in-law and sister of the groom. Judy Johnson, a cousin of the bride, was at the guest book.

Highlighting the serving table was a white, three tiered wedding cake, iced in white and decorated with pink roses with touches of green. Between the tall Roman columns that supported the cake was a flowing water fountain. Greenery and babies' breath surrounded the base. A miniature bride and groom, backed by a floral heart, topped the cake, which was cut and served by Marlys Johnson, aunt of the bride, and Melba Penning, a friend of the groom.

Punch was ladled by Judy Brunner and Diane Haller, friends of the couple. Kathy Barry, Dena Poole, Susie Olson, Nancy Noreen, Cyn Noreen and Lollie Noreen were waitresses. Mrs. Rux, assisted by Katherine Kinsman, prepared the wedding dinner.

A wedding dance followed at the Meadow brooke ballroom in Middle River.

The bride and groom are now at home in Thief River Falls. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school.

Kvernen-Flattum Vows Said At Mayville, N.D.

Marriage vows were exchanged recently at a 7:30 p.m., ceremony at the Mayville Lutheran church, Mayville, N.D., by Lois Renae Kvernen of Portland, N.D., and David Alan Flattum of this city.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Ruth Kvernen of Portland and the late Ray Kvernen, Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Flattum of Thief River Falls are parents of the groom.

Rev. Arthur Ree officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by approximately 250 relatives and friends. Mrs. Elaine Klath, a friend of the bride, was organist, and Mrs. Rosella Kvernen, a sister-in-law, was pianist. They played Ariso's "Ice Castles," for the processional and "Hallelujah," for the recessional. During the ceremony, Mrs. Ron Carlson, a cousin of the bride, sang "Evergreen," Mr. and Mrs. Craig Roble, friends of the couple sang "God, A Woman and A Man," and Don Kvernen, brother of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Highlighting the ceremony was the exchanging of the vows, written by the couple, who also sang to each other, "He Has Chosen You For Me."

Ferns and white ribbon bows graced the church for the candlelight ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Don Kvernen. She was attired in an Alfred Angelo's Designer gown with a sheer overlay enhancing the floor-length skirt and train. Chantilly lace traced the Queen Anne neckline, flowed down over the bodice and formed the deep cuffs on her sheer, puffed sleeves. Her ankle-length veil of bridal sheer was held by a brimmed hat trimmed with lace motifs. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses, Japanese orchids, and greenery, accented with stephanois and spider plants.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bev Nelson, Hillsboro, N.D., sister of the bride. Other attendants were Mrs. Debbie Musselman, Lynchburg, Va., sister of the groom; Carrie Iverson, Hampden, N.D., Mrs. Kim Knoble, Oakes, N.D., and Mrs. Laurie Berry, Mayville, N.D., friends of the bride. Their floor-length gowns of garnet qiana knit featured knee-length capes. They carried arm bouquets of silk deep-red roses, champagne carnations, ferns and ribbon streamers.

Serving as flower girl was Michelle Nelson, Hillsboro, N.D., a niece of the bride. She wore a silk floor-length gown of a white print on white, styled in empire fashion with bell sleeves and a back tie.

The rings were carried by Matthew Kvernen, Grand Forks, N.D., a nephew of the bride. He wore a white tuxedo.

The groom, who was escorted to the altar by his parents, was attired in a white Lord West Kent-tailed tuxedo with black accents, and a white ruffled shirt, also accented in black.

Best man was Glen Ihle, Minneapolis, a friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Luther Kvernen, Grand Forks, a brother of the bride; John Ihle, Thief River Falls, John Benson, Minneapolis, and Jon Pudwill, Grand Forks, friends of the groom. They wore grey Lord West cut-away tailed tuxedos with white shirts and ascots. The ushers: Mark Hemmesch, Minneapolis, a friend of the groom; Harold Nelson, Hillsboro, N.D., brother-in-law of the bride, and Ken Dahl, Bottineau, N.D., a friend of the groom, wore gray stroller tuxedos with white shirts and ties. Their boutonnieres were white silk roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a Norman Rockwell "Marriage License" plate. Her gift to him was a communion picture.

The mother of the bride, was attired in a rose floral floor-length gown topped by a street-length jacket. The mother of the groom wore a mint green A-line gown with a blouson bodice trimmed with rhinestones. The gown was styled with a high neckline with sheer ties creating a cape effect. Their corsages were pink silk carnations. They also carried their single long-stemmed red roses which they received from the groom, prior to the ceremony.

Honor guests were Mrs. Barb Wagner, grandmother of the groom; Berger Nelson, great uncle of the groom, James Wagner and little Jim Wagner, uncle and cousin of the groom. All are residents of Kenmare, N.D. Also among the honor guests was the bride's personal attendant, Julie Vernon.

Following the ceremony, the bride's mother hosted a reception in the church parlors. Mrs. Jan Kvernen, sister-in-law of the bride, registered the guests as Kris Newman and Mrs. Kathy Lerfald, friends of the bride, ladled the punch. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Don Flattum, St. Paul, uncle and aunt of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs Bob Kringlen, uncle and aunt of the bride.

The three-tiered wedding cake, with pillars supporting the tiers featured a fountain at the base. The cake was iced in white and decorated with pink and rose flowers. Staircases, with miniature replicas of the bridal party on the steps, led to the double layered cakes on each side of the cake. Topping the center cake was a double wedding bell ornament featuring two wedding rings. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Avis Karlstad, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Arlyce Twistol, Thief River Falls, a friend of the groom. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Amy Haugen, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Gladys Eugelberg, a friend.

Waitresses were Laurie Wagner, cousin of the groom; Lee Brown, Jan Melvie and Carol Wellman, friends of the groom's family. Jan Eng and Kim Kringlen arranged the gifts.

The evening prior to the ceremony, the groom's parents hosted a dinner for 40 guests at Paula's Steak House in Mayville, N.D.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Penn Hills resort at Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the bride wore a plaid woolen skirt, with a cream colored silk blouse and a black velvet jacket.

The couple is now at home at North Douglas Drive, Minneapolis, where the groom is department manager at Donaldson's Department store. The bride is employed as a registered nurse at North Memorial Medical center.

The bride is a graduate of Mayville-Portland high school; and the groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school in this city. Both are graduates of the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N.D. Photo, Gaylor Studio, Grand Forks

Deer Park Club Christmas Party Held Recently

Deer Park garden club Christmas party was held recently at the Dick Radniecki home. The event began with a buffet supper featuring roast goose with dressing and a variety of festive favorites brought by the members.

As the guests arrived, they were greeted by a lawn display and outdoor Christmas lights. This set the scene for a surprise visit from old St. Nick. Keeping time to the sleigh bells on his boots, he danced down the stairway, doing the Indian war dance, and distributed the gifts. Norma Hanson served as Santa Claus and also was in charge of the program, "Christmas is a time for remembering." The group participated by singing carols and by sharing their memories of past Christmases. The evening concluded in playing whist with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson receiving the high point honors. Ethel Wiseth recorded the events by taking numerous pictures.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Inga Coan. The topic will be "Forced Bulbs." Roll call will be flowers that grow from bulbs. Members are reminded to bring a miniature arrangement based on the theme "Sleeping Beauty." The arrangements are not to exceed five inches in height or width.

Santa Day Hosted By Legion And Auxiliary

Approximately 200 children attended Santa Claus day on Sunday at the American Legion club rooms. The event was sponsored jointly by the Ecklund Holmstrom post and its auxiliary.

Cartoon movies were shown with James Goldsberry in charge. Santa Claus made his appearance and presented each child with a bag of goodies. During the afternoon, cookies, nectar and coffee were served to the children and their parents by members of the auxiliary.

Greg Brekke is post commander and LaVonne Swanson is unit president.

Grief Supportive Meet Cancelled For December

Legion Auxiliary Yule Donations Total Over $500

Donations amounting to over $500 were alloted at the meeting of the Ecklund-Holmstrom unit of the American Legion auxiliary held December 3 at the Legion club meeting room.

Donations given were $200 to the gift shop at the Veterans hospitals; $100 to the American Legion hospital association for providing crisp dollar bills to Veterans in VA hospitals; $50 to the Servicemen's center at the Minneapolis airport; $50 for the Christmas party at the Fargo VA hospital; $50 to the Minneapolis VA hospital and $50 for local veterans at Christmas. Baskets of fruit will be distributed to veterans who are shut-in, hospitalized or in nursing homes.

A $20 donation was also given to the Junior auxiliary to assist with their project.

The district bulletin and communications were also read. It was noted that the local auxiliary will be sponsoring a Poppy Poster contest in May for junior auxiliary members and retarded children. Betty Groff reported that the local membership to date totals 558.

Guest speakers at the meeting were Sheryl Solheim and Mrs. B. Blankenfeld of Ripley Alliance for Battered Women.

The meeting concluded with a silent auction in place of a gift exchange. The $50 proceeds went to the Scholarship fund.

Lunch featured Christmas goodies brought by the members.

Erick Rensla Honored On His 82nd Birthday

Erick Rensla was honored on his 82nd birthday when relatives and friends gathered at his home in this city to help him celebrate the occasion. Lunch was served by the self invited guests.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Algot Eriksson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nehus, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kompellen and Kendall, Mrs. Floyd Dalzell, Noris and Inga Trontvet, Mrs. Bella Kompellen and Mrs. Kent Christenson.

Among the birthday greetings received were telephone calls from nieces at Goodridge and Spokane, Wash.

Wells Damaged By Waste Runoff

Runoff of human and animal waste into farm wells has created a "potentially serious" health problem on some Minnesota farms, according to University of Minnesota veterinarians.

A recent survey of farm wells in Fillmore county found evidence of cow yard and septic tank drainage into drinking water sources on 26 farms.

The study found little evidence of infectious disease in the wells, but the water sampling methods used were not designed to detect the presence of some diseases.

"Just because we didn't find infectious disease in the well water doesn't mean it isn't there," said Ashley Robinson, professor of veterinary medicine.

The high concentrations of nitrates the study did find increase the risk of bacterial contamination and could have serious effects on infants and livestock, he said.

Well water contaimination on most farms in the study could be eased either by digging new, deeper wells or channeling cow yard runoff away from existing wells, the study concluded.

But replacing wells is a costly proposition. Recent estimates place the cost of plugging an old well and digging a new one at $10,000, a major expense for a small family farm.

If water pollution in southeastern Minnesota continues at current levels, a state health department official said, the region could face serious economic problems within five to 10 years as communities are forced to seek new sources of clean water.

Although there is no apparent danger at current levels, infants up to nine months old who consume water slightly higher in nitrates run a slight risk of developing a blood disorder called methomoglobinemia that prevents the blood from carrying oxygen through the body.

Two cases of the disease have been reported in Minnesota in the last 10 to 15 years, according to Michael Osterholm, chief of the Minnesota health department's acute-disease epidemiology section. He said only a few cases have ever been documented in the United States.

Among livestock, only newborn calves were adversely affected by high concentrations of nitrates. Coupled with nitrates in feed grain, nitrates in the water can have serious effects on calves. The University study could not, however, find a relationship between nitrates in well water and the high calf mortality rate in Fillmore county. Mortality rate is most likely linked to an individual farmer's experience, the study found.

In the last several years, southeastern Minnesota has been plagued with water pollution problems from industry and private sources. Of major concern to pollution control officials is the buildup of nitrates in groundwater.

Damages to aquifers, or water-bearing rock formations of, for example, limestone and sandstone, is irreversible. Already degradation of groundwater quality is extending to waters in deeper and normally protection aquifers, a state health department official said.

Groundwater contamination in southeastern Minnesota is of enormous consequence because it is the only source of drinking water for that region and represents the most extensive body of fresh water in the state.

Wastes that are not discharged into lakes and streams can migrate downward to contaminate groundwater. Nitrates are deposited in groundwater from land sediments, from chemical pesticides and fertilizers and from animal wastes. Runoff from agricultural land is high in organic material and nitrates.

It has been estimated that one dairy cow produces waste equivalent to that of 17 humans, and a beef cow's waste is equivalent to that of 12 humans. Each animal produces more than half a ton of manure (dry weight) in 120 days.

In Fillmore County alone, waste production of an estimated 170,000 cattle is equal to that of the population of the Twin Cities metropolitan area, according to the health department.

Biological contamination from agricultural land can be controlled by holding wastes in properly constructed ponds or tanks for a certain period of time, which has been shown to reduce pollutants, making the material safe for discharge.

Miller To Be Installed At Plummer Parish

Rev. and Mrs. Miller

To be installed Sunday as the Plummer Lutheran parish pastor will be Rev. Timothy Curtis Miller, a native of Sandusky, Ohio who recently completed a year of internship at Miller's Lutheran church in Hickory, N.C.

Rev. Arnold Blum of Bemidji will serve as the installing pastor at installation services to be held at 9:30 a.m. at Immanuel Lutheran church of Plummer and at 11:15 a.m. at Ebenezer Lutheran church of rural Oklee. Coffee will be served following the service at Immanuel and a potluck dinner following the service at Ebenezer.

Born May 24, 1954, at Sandusky, Rev. Miller graduated from Margaretta school and received an AA degree in social science from Waldorf junior college in Forest City, Ia. He earned a BA degree in history from Capital university in Columbus, Ohio, and graduated from Trinity Lutheran theological seminary in Columbus.

Rev. Miller and his wife, the former Barbara Wierson of Ames, Iowa, have one son, Jason, born Jan. 15, 1980.

Choir Cantata Set Sunday At Redeemer Here

Redeemer Lutheran senior worship choir will present a special cantata entitled "Night of Miracles" by John W. Peterson on Sunday during worship hours scheduled at 8:15 and 10:45 a.m. at the church. The cantata tells the story of the incarnation with scripture narration and song.

A Sunday school program will also be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. It is entitled "Christ Is the Heart of Christmas." Nearly 200 students of all ages will take part in the program which will feature singing, narration and special music by seventh and eighth graders playing musical instruments. The offering will be designated for the world hunger appeal.

Christmas eve at Redeemer will be celebrated with identical traditional Christmas candlelight services at 5 and 10:30 p.m., featuring Christmas carols, Scripture readings and meditation.

"During the service with only the light of candles, prayers are prayed and the hymn "Silent Night" sung as a reminder that Christ is the light of the world and that his light shines through us into the world today," states Rev. Keith Prekker, pastor. Public attendance is invited.

Dr. Stafford In Quest Of BSU Excellence

state she had been dean of the college of arts and science at the University of Nevada at Reno. She had begun her career in teaching and research at Harvard where she was employed from 1964 to 1969 as a research sociologist in the department of social relations and lecturer in the Harvard University health services.

Her visit to Thief River Falls Monday was one step toward that lofty goal of excellence for BSU. "What better way is there for me to receive input in the process of program planning, than to find out from all the high schools in the area what kinds of programs their students need, where we can be doing a better job, how we can be more responsive?" she asked.

To receive that input and to establish personal contacts with educators in the Bemidji state service area, Dr. Stafford has set aside each Monday for the past several weeks to visit high schools and community colleges in the area. Her visit here on Monday included Lincoln senior high school and Northland community college.

Many good ideas have been received on the visits to schools so far, she said, and the visit schedule will continue, reaching about three schools each Monday. Notes which she takes will be integrated, Dr. Stafford said, to find specific problems and general problems so that an effort can be made to solve them. Educators have been very candid and very helpful in their input so far, she said.

One of the first areas to attack will be the publications area, she said. A publications task force has been formed and will be given the concerns of area educators with a view toward improving those publications.

Dr. Stafford said that she hears frequent concern that engineering is not being developed as a program outside the metropolitan area, and she will be looking into that concern. There is interest in secondary school administration and in nursing. She would not be as aware of these concerns and interests, she said, if she did not make contacts with educators to learn them first hand.

On the trips she brings with her at least one faculty member, usually from the subject field that is of concern to particular schools or areas being visited. On the Thief River Falls visit it was the chairman of the business department faculty because there had been some difficulty experienced in the transfer of business credits, Dr. Stafford said.

Also making the trips are someone from the student services area and someone from administration.

Dr. Stafford says she was fortunate in being able to hire her own team of administrators and is extremely pleased with the "very, very able people we have been able to attract to Bemidji". She notes that the administrative team is "sort of out of the same mold" and shares a common concern to push for quality and excellence in the college educational experience.

Referring to the image of Bemidji state as a teacher's college, she noted that only about 40 per cent of the graduates are oriented toward careers in education. Placement of those graduates is about 90 per cent, she said, and could be virtually 100 per cent if graduates were willing to leave the immediate area. It is a misconception to say there are more teachers being graduated than are needed, she said, since the college receives many requests it is unable to fill in a number of subject areas.

Dr. Stafford is a firm believer in the importance of proper attention to the English language. She insists that her staff members read, write and speak good English, she said, and they know it is expected of them. If she receives a memo with a poor use of grammar or with words spelled incorrectly, she makes the corrections and returns it to the writer. The practice has a tendency to make people more aware of how they write.

Judgments of intelligence are made most often on the basis of how well a person writes or speaks the language, Dr. Stafford said. It may be difficult for a student to realize, but it is often a fact that a poorly written job application or letter receives an automatic rejection from potential employers, she added.

With the benefit of the program planning and review program now underway, the university should be able to develop and grow in program offerings and quality, Dr. Stafford believes.

"You should expect great things in the future from Bemidji state university," she concluded, adding that suggestions and ideas from educators and the public are always gratefully received. No letter goes unanswered, she said. If she refers a letter to someone in charge of a specific area, she receives a copy of the reply sent by that person.

"We are concerned and we do appreciate suggestions," she said. "I'm really finding these visits to be most helpful."

AVTI Budget Request Aimed At Programs

generally showed up on the low end of the scale of program expenditure on a per-student basis.

"We receive no basic pupil unit aids from the state such as the public elementary and secondary schools and the community college do," Dr. Gunderson said. "We do receive an instructional aid figured on a computer formula that almost nobody can understand. That provides about a third of our revenue. The remaining two-thirds is basically discretionary — and it involves 11 other aid categories. We have to show that we need it and how we will use it well enough to convince those who distribute it that we should get it."

The AVTI makes its request for funds in supply aid, capital aid, support service aid, special needs aid, federal work study and financial aids as well as projecting revenue from tuition and fees and the sale of supplies.

Paramount in Dr. Gunderson's budget effort is making AVTI instruction more accessible. He believes that people should be able to enroll for specific areas of learning for a week or a month or several months, rather than being confined to a structured full-term program.

"If somebody wants to learn to lay brick and blocks, he shouldn't have to wait until next fall and go through two years of a carpentry program. He should be able to start next week and learn how to lay brick and blocks and then get out and go to work," the director said. "The potential is here; all we have to do is implement it, but it will take people and equipment to get the job done."

That's what the budget preparation and program planning process is all about.

Mrs. Johnson Honored By History Group

Mrs. Elmer Johnson of Goodridge was honored by the Goodridge area historical society at its annual meeting held recently at the Goodridge school. Mrs. Johnson was presented a plaque for her contributions to the society since its infancy. Her family presented her with a bouquet of red roses. "This Is Your Life" resume was read by her daughter, Mrs. Helen Holen.

The business meeting was called to order by President Norma Hanson. Mrs. Lois Swanson presented the curator's report. Mrs. Hanson gave a report on the activities of the society for the past year and Dr. David Brown presented the annual financial report.

Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Norma Hanson, Mrs. Lois Swanson and Mrs. Rosella Scholfer were elected to the board of directors. Bruce Bjerklie was appointed to serve the unexpired term of Peg Anderson.

Discussion was held on the purchase of property by the society in the city of Goodridge but no decisions were made at this time.

The program included old movies, one of which was a silent movie of Charlie Chaplin.

Reorganization of the board took place that evening with Norma Hanson elected to serve as president; Clara Iverson, vice president; Dr. David Brown, treasurer; Marcella Hanson, secretary; and Lois Swanson was appointed to continue to serve as curator of the society.

Rites Held In Colorado For Jens Kierk, 89

Funeral services were held in Arvada, Colo., for Jens Kierk, 89, a former Thief River Falls resident, who died December 8 at the Lutheran Medical Center in Arvada. Interment will be in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery, Thief River Falls. The Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Jens Kierk, a son of Anna Bredahl and Kristian Kirk Sorenson, was born in Thystad, Denmark on Sept. 19, 1891. He immigrated from Copenhagen, Denmark to the United States, arriving in New York City on March 28, 1913. From New York, he went to Minden, Neb., and lived there until 1916, when he came to Thief River Falls.

He was married Aug. 10, 1918 in Thief River Falls to Ella Engen. The couple settled on a farm in Norden township, Pennington county, where they resided until 1970, when they moved to Arvada, Colo.

He was a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Gordon (Joyce) Olinger, and two grandchildren: Lee and Tawnie Olinger, all of Arvada, Colo.; and a brother, Christ Kierk, Tacoma, Wash.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died November 20 of this year.

Memorials may be given to the Heart Fund.

H. Anderson Of Middle River Dies Monday

Hilmer Anderson, 63, of Middle River died unexpectedly on Monday at his home.

Funeral services for Hilmer Anderson were held today (Wednesday) at 2:00 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Middle River with Rev. Donald Fredine officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery. The Collins Funeral home, Middle River, is in charge of arrangements.

A complete obituary will be published in a later edition of the Times.

Jennie Hoffman Dies Dec. 17; Rites Pending

Jennie Hoffman, 81, of this city died this morning (Wednesday) at the CNC unit at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Jennie Hoffman are pending. The Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be published in a later edition of the Times.

Albin Guzek Rites Held At Red Lake Falls

Albin M. Guzek, 71, of Red Lake Falls died unexpectedly Sunday morning at his home of an apparent heart attack.

Mass of the Christian Burial for Albin M. Guzek was offered today (Wednesday) at 1:30 p.m., at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Red Lake Falls with Rev. Jerome Fellon as celebrant. Grandsons served as altar boys. Music was provided by St. Joseph's Children's choir with Sister Patrice as organist. Interment will be in the church cemetery. The Petterson Funeral home, Red Lake Falls, is in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Leo Cota, Milo Vilven, Ed Sirek, Al Boileau, Wally Magnan and Lyzum Cota.

Serving as active pallbearers were Medi, Edward, Henry and Adelore Cota; George Weiland and Harvey Mercil.

Alvin M. Guzek, a son of the late Joseph and Frances Lepak Guzek, was born Feb. 16, 1909 in Superior, Wis. He lived at Federal Dam, Minn., and Mandan, N.D. In 1930, he moved to Crookston and was married there on Oct. 26, 1932 to Cecilia Cota. After their marriage, the couple farmed near Dorothy from 1932 until 1975, when they moved into Red Lake Falls.

He is survived by his wife, four sons: Alton Guzek, Red Lake Falls; Clarence, Terrebonne; Joseph, Torrance, Calif., and Louie, Detroit Lakes; two daughters: Mrs. Robert (Rosemary) Stuckey, Gentilly; and Jeanette Guzek, Grand Forks, N.D.; 16 grandchildren, a brother, Francis Guzek, Pontiac, Mich.; and two sisters: Mrs. Al (Amelia) Boileau and Mrs. Wally (Margaret) Magnan, Brainerd.

He was preceded in death by two brothers and one sister.

Rites Held For Mrs. Patrick McCullough, 73

Funeral services for Mrs. Patrick McCullough, 73, of rural Newfolden were held today (Wednesday) at 2:00 p.m., at the Evangelical Free church in Newfolden. Mrs. McCullough died unexpectedly Saturday evening.

Rev. Earl Eveland officiated at the services. Mrs. Steve Hanson was the organist and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hogberg were the vocalists. Interment will be in the German Evangelical cemetery in cedar township, Marshall county, with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Dolly Larson, Otelia Lokstad, Earl Ness, Linnea Ness, Clara Smith and Rudolph Smith.

Serving as active pallbearers were Randy Burrell, James McCullough, Jake McCullough, Dwight Peterson, Ray Wagner and Wayne Wagner.

Mrs. McCullough, the former Selma Wagner, was born Sept. 3, 1907 in Cedar township, Marshall county, to Wilheim and Ida Paetznick Wagner, now deceased. She attended school in that community and grew to womanhood there.

On Oct. 1, 1930, she was married at Warren to Patrick McCullough. Following their marriage, the couple lived for three years in the Middle River area before moving to their present farm in Holt township, Marshall county.

She was an active member of the Evangelical Free church, Newfolden.

Surviving are her husband and nine children: Mrs. Delores Thomas, Pleasant View, Tenn.; Mrs. Kenneth (Arlene) Johnson, Inver Grove Heights; Mrs. Gary (Marlys) Chaput, Brooks; Mrs. Arden (Patricia) Peterson, Fort Dodge, Iowa; Gordon, Minnetonka; Russell, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Dennis, Thief River Falls; Dale, Marine-on-the-St. Croix; and Loren, Brooks.

Also surviving are 21 grandchildren, a great-granddaughter, one brother, Emmett Wagner, Middle River; and three sisters: Mrs. Carl (Adeline) Burrell, Thief River Falls; Alma Wagner, Middle River; and Mrs. Gene (Ann) Peterson, Gatzke.

She was preceded in death by one granddaguther and three brothers: John, Anton and Harvey Wagner.

CETA Funds Allocated For 1981 Programs

Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall has allocated $324.4 million in CETA funds to operate employment and training programs in the private sector in the 1981 fiscal year.

The funds were distributed to 476 state and local governments acting as prime sponsors for the labor department in the administration of CETA (comprehensive employment and training act) programs within their jurisdictions.

The private sector initiative program (PSIP), as it is called, coordinates and focuses the efforts of CETA prime sponsors and private enterprise in finding jobs and training for economically disadvantaged persons in local areas.

Approximately 100,000 such persons are expected to be assisted through PSIP this fiscal year, ending Sept. 30, 1981. Key to the PSIP effort are the private industry councils (PICs), established in each prime sponsor area to provide the basic linkage between government and the private sector.

Two monetary incentives are being offered to boost the private sector effort. Secretary Marshall has announced that an additional $14 million in Title VII (PSIP) CETA funds is being made available to publicize and administer the targeted jobs tax credit (TJTC) programs. This provides private employers up to $3,000 in tax credit for each person hired from specially designated groups certified as needing assistance to get jobs.

The other incentive is for $7.4 million for prime sponsors who join together for multi-jurisdictional PICs. The incentive fund for PIC is included in the total allocation announced.

A minimum of $200,000 was allocated to each CETA program sponsor. New York City, with $13.5 million, received the largest share among city jurisdictions. Other large city recipients were Los Angeles, $4.8 million; Chicago, $4.7 million; Detroit, $3.4 million; Philadelphia, $3.4 million; and Baltimore, $2.4 million. Los Angeles county was allocated $3.5 million.

VARIETY OF trees are found in the Christmas tree forest in the production of "A Christmas Parade," to be presented by the Goodridge school Monday at 8 p.m. under the direction of Jodi K. Bergland. Two trees pictured are among second graders who will be performing "Christmas Tree Waltz," "Oh Christmas Tree," and "Green Christmas Trees," during the evening.

President Will Send 100,000 Holiday Cards

If you're the average American, you'll probably be sending 45 to 50 Christmas cards this holiday season, but for President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter the total is expected to be 100,000.

This year's card features a painting called "The President's House," which hangs in the oval office. The painting was executed by an unknown artist and is based on a drawing of the White House by William H. Bartlett, an English artist who first visited America in 1836.

In the foreground of this romantic mid-19th century work is Tiber creek, which is now Constitution avenue. Mrs. Carter said that she selected the painting for use on the card because it is both Presidential and historical in feeling.

The 7¼" by 5⅝" card bears the inscription, "With best wishes from our family for a happy holiday season.". it is signed in script by "Jimmy Carter" and Rosalynn Carter," and is embellished with a gold-embossed Presidential seal.

In contrast to the Carters, Vice Prusident and Mrs. Walter Mondale selected for their card a contemporary painting depicting the Vice President's official residence emerging from a grid system of repetitive shapes.

Production of the Christmas cards was paid for by the Democratic national committee, and volunteers have been hand addressing and inserting the cards into envelopes for the past several months.

W. Strombergs Attend Heart Fund Meeting

Myrtle and Willard Stromberg, Thief River Falls, recently attended the 1981 state Heart Fund leadership conference sponsored by the American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate, Inc., according to Peggy Atmore Mason, 1981 state heart fund chairman.

Conference conducted at the Radisson Inn, Plymouth, provided Heart association volunteers with information and training in coordinating local heart fund campaigns. Annual campaign will reach its climax in February when over 60,000 Minnesota volunteers call on their neighbors to receive their contributions. Funds are used to finance the Minnesota affiliate's programs in heart research, professional and public education and community services.

Theme of the conference was "A Heart Trilogy: Problems, Promises and Performances."

Volunteers toured the design and production facilities of Medtronic, Inc., a biomedical engineering firm; and toured the medical research laboratories at the University of Minnesota hospitals and observed surgery.

Simultaneous workshops were conducted in the afternoon on fund-raising, publicity and campaign management techniques. The conference concluded with a dinner banquet and awards presentation.

American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate, Inc., is a statewide health agency and is part of the American Heart association which is represented by 55 affiliates in all states and territories of the U.S.

MYRTLE AND WILLARD Stromberg, Thief River Falls, recently attended the 1981 state Heart Fund leadership conference sponsored by the American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate, Inc., at the Radisson Inn in Plymouth. At the conference, Tricia Dahl, Montevideo, was crowned 1981 state heart fund princess.

New Minimum Wage To Start On January 1

New federal minimum wage of $3.35 which goes into effect January 1 entitles an estimated 5.6 million workers covered by the fair labor standards act (FLSA) to pay increases, the U.S. department of labor announced.

The increase from $3.10 to $3.35 was provided for in 1977 amendments to the act.

"The minimum wage increase is a matter of equity for low wage workers and assures that they are not forced to bear a disproportionate share of the burden of inflation," stated secretary of labor Ray Marshall.

Approximately 60 million workers are subject to provisions of the act, which also establishes overtime pay and child labor standards.

In addition, the FLSA allows for the payment of wages below the statutory minimum in order to prevent loss of job opportunities for certain workers.

Handicapped workers, full-time students and student-learners in specified industries may currently be employed at subminimum wages under appropriate regulations. Employers must apply for authority from the labor department to pay such wages.

Certificates are issued by the department permitting the employment of full-time students at not less than 85 per cent of the federal minimum wage in retail trade establishments, in agriculture and in institutions of higher education employing their own full-time students.

The act also provides for payment of sub-minimum wages to persons employed in sheltered workshops whose earning or productive capacity is limited by age or physical or mental disability.

In fiscal 1980, the department issued 47,517 certificates which authorized payment of sub-minimum wages to approximately 663,699 workers.

There is also a special FLSA provision for tipped employees. Tipped employees are those who customarily and regularly receive more than $30 a month in tips. The employer may consider tips as part of the wage so long as the wage credit does not exceed the percentage of the minimum wage specified by law.

Employers who elect to use the tip credit must inform the employee in advance and must be able to show that the employee receives at least the minimum wage when direct wages and tip credit allowance are combined.

The FLSA amendments also include a three-step increase in the dollar volume test for coverage of certain employers. These employers are required to pay workers minimum wage and overtime pay, in accordance with the FLSA, dependent on the total amount of business done in a year.

The "dollar volume test" applies to employers or enterprises comprised exclusively of one or more retail or service establishments whose annual gross volume of sales or business done is not less than the amount specified by the act.

The current test of $325,000 went into effect on July 1, 1980, and will increase to $362,500 after Dec. 31, 1981.

Administration and enforcement of the FLSA is the responsibility of the employment standards administration's wage and hour division.

William Marvin In Business Hall Of Fame

William S. Marvin of Warroad, president of Marvin Windows, Inc., has become the second northwestern Minnesota businessman in five years inducted into the Minnesota business hall of fame. Ray Stordahl of Silverline, Inc., at Moorhead was inducted in 1978.

It was noted in a summary of accomplishments of the inductees that the Marvin Windows company currently employs 885 workers and has normal summer employment of 1,155 people. In comparison, the official population of the city of Warroad is listed at 1,086.

Others selected for the business hall of fame this year were Mrs. Reiko Weston, president of Fuji-Ya, Inc., a Minneapolis restaurant chain; Raymond Plank, chairman of Apache corporation in Minneapolis; Gerald Rauenhorst, chairman of the Rauenhorst corporation in Bloomington; and Alan K. Ruvelson, president of First Midwest corporation and First Midwest Capital corporation in Minneapolis.

Hall of fame members are selected on the basis of exceptional success in business while contributing to the betterment of communities in Minnesota, and who have also contributed to achievement of broader social goals such as provision of quality jobs with advancement opportunity.

Originated in 1976 to promote a better public understanding of competitive private enterprise, the hall of fame is sponsored by the Minnesota bankers association; Minneapolis, Bloomington and St. Paul chambers of commerce; Minnesota association of commerce and industry; College of St. Thomas; Minnesota department of economic development; U.S. small business administration; and participating local chambers of commerce.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

In regard to Mr. John Wengeler's letter in the December 10 edition of the Times:

It's good to hear that you're not anti-hunting, anti-sportsman or anti-population control. . . but the things you said in your latest letter are still inconsistent with the facts. First you say that the trapped animals are in a pain-induced shock which makes them appear to be asleep. Why is it then that when a trapper approaches, the animals suddenly become alert and wary and seemingly have their senses intact?

You bring a new factor into the argument this time. That is hypothermia. . . (lowered body temperature or the process of freezing to death). First I will say that the great majority of animals caught are caught in a time of year when temperatures are above freezing. As for animals caught and released — dogs, cats, etc. — unless they are left in the trap for an extended period in freezing weather, the majority will go off unharmed.

Many animals are living proof of having survived the "Horrors" of being in a leghold trap. My own dog is one of them. He was caught in a trap in 20 below weather last winter for nearly a full day without any ill effects. By the way, he was in a place he was not supposed to be. Wild animals are not housepets and are designed to be outside. They are used to extended periods of cold weather and unless left in a trap for a long period, will not freeze to death.

There are traps, Mr. Wengeler, aside from leghold traps which do induce a usually instantaneous death to the trapped animal. A trap called a conibear is one of them. When an animal springs that particular trap, the jaws, which are closed by a powerful spring, close around the body of the animal and death is caused by suffocation. . . . again usually instantaneous. These traps are fine and work well, especially on water animals like beaver. One of the reasons why they're not used as extensively as they could be is the cost of the traps. They're approximately three times more expensive than legholds.

You said you were not anti-hunting, anti-sportsman or anti-population control. You did not say, however, that you supported any of these activities and failed to mention trapping. It appears fairly obvious that you do not actively support any of these. As a result, your statements using the sources you mention hold very little credibility to those of us who pursue these pastimes.

Your statements act as a threat not only to trappers but to hunters and fishermen alike whose pursuit consumates in the killing of game. These pastimes are a treasure to some and for lack of participation you would not understand the logic behind it. Your attempt to secure support for a ban on the leghold trap acts as a bond to sportsmen and will make your attempt all the more difficult. A ban on those traps would simply be a stepping stone to further suppress the rights of gunowners and anyone of like interests. These rights are already being suppressed by more and more rules and regulations. You are making people more and more aware of the threat. Thanks for the warning.

Sincerely
Dave Halvorson
Viking, MN

To The Editor:

This letter is in regard to the article on trapping by John Wengeler on December 10:

Mr. Wengeler, it is interesting to note that in both your letters, you stressed the pain supposedly brought on by the leghold trap and you also mentioned that the animal goes into shock or hypothermia instead of sleeping. I don't see where you get the authority to write these lies.

Have you ever seen a trapped animal in a leghold trap in life? Have you ever gone with a trapper when he checked his traps? I think you should. Your knowledge of trapping and the leghold trap seems very, very limited, except for your reading anti-leghold trapping material which is written by some arm-chair experts with little or no knowledge on animals or the leghold trap.

I have seen trapped animals that were sleeping that are caught in leghold traps and when they wake up, they are as lively as ever. Now if they were in shock, how could they be active?

When I went to the hospital one time to get stitches in my ear, they made my ear numb. They were putting a needle through my ear and there was no pain. That's what happens to an animal's paw when caught in a leghold trap. There is no pain. I know that for a fact. And in really cold weather, a released animal could lose its pain, because the circulation could be cut off in the paw, depending on how long an animal has been in the trap. If that happens, the leg soon heals over and the animal is none the worse. I have trapped a fox that had lost its paw. The wound had healed over and the fox was in perfect health.

All your knowledge is based on reading some anti-leghold material. Being a trapper, I've got first hand knowledge on what really happens to an animal that is caught in a leghold trap. I know the leghold trap is the only trap that can effectively control the population. Being a trapper, I know this is true. I think you are a little outclassed in the knowledge department concerning the leghold trap.

Sincerely,
Gene Mosbeck

Area Sheep Producers To Meet Monday

Monthly meeting of the area sheep producers is scheduled to be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Pennington county courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls.

Speaking at the meeting will be West Polk county extension director and long time sheep producer Sam Bigger. His topic will be "Getting a 150 per cent Lamb Crop, and the Nutrition to Do It". Sam has worked closely with the University of Minnesota experiment station at Crookston and its sheep researching efforts and will relate many of these findings at the Monday evening meeting.

All area sheep producers are urged to attend.

TIPS
GREENHOUSE
AFRICAN VIOLETS
African Violets have become a very popular plant, partly because they are an inexpensive blooming plant. Violets are quite easily taken care of if they have the two important ingredients, warmth and light. A cool draft will soon cause a violet to quit blooming. Violets can also be easily cleaned by spraying them with warm water and heat out of the sun's rays until they are dry. Never put cold water on the leaves for they will spot. Next time you need an inexpensive gift, remember the violet, it will surely brighten anyone's day.

Farm Worker Numbers Rise From Year Ago

Minnesota's total farm employment during the survey week of October 12-18 totaled 205,000 workers, up seven per cent from a year earlier. Farm operators and unpaid family workers totaled 175,000 compared with 160,000 last year, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

Total hired farm work force at 30,000 was down 1,000 from a year ago. Main farm activities during the week included fall plowing, applying anhydrous ammonia and putting the final touches on the 1980 harvest.

Employment on United States farms during the survey week at 3.79 million workers is four per cent less than October of 1979. Farm operators working one hour or more and unpaid family members working 15 hours or more totaled 2.48 million while hired workers numbered 1.31 million.

Minnesota farm operators averaged 58 hours and unpaid family members 35.8 hours for an overall average of 46.4 hours worked during the October survey week. Hired workers averaged 38.6 hours in October compared to 45.4 a year ago.

For the United States, all family members averaged 41 hours worked during the survey week compared to 41.9 a year ago. Farm operators reported an average of 41.7 hours worked. Hired farm workers averaged 40.1 hours for the week, the same as a year ago.

Average Minnesota farm wages for all hired workers at $3.68 per hour during the week of October 12-18 are up one per cent from $3.64 a year earlier. Livestock workers averaged $3.05 per hour compared to $2.75 in October of 1979. Field workers averaged $3.65 per hour and machine operators averaged $3.80.

The nation's farm wage rates for all methods of pay converted to an hourly rate averaged $3.85 compared to last year's $3.57. Hourly workers receiving cash only averaged $3.83 this year compared to $3.58 the previous year. Field workers received an average of $3.82 compared to $3.53 a year ago. Livestock workers averaged $3.40 compared to $3.04 in October of 1979. Machine operators averaged $3.82, up from $3.52 a year ago.

Labor Dep't. Explains Law, Regulations

U.S. department of labor has published a booklet to help business, particularly small employers, understand and comply with major laws and regulations administered by the department.

Entitled "Major Laws Administered by the U.S. Department of Labor Which Affect Small Business", the booklet describes in non-technical language the provisions of laws such as the comprehensive employment and training act (CETA), the fair labor standards act, the occupational safety and health act (OSHA), and the employee retirement income security act.

The booklet briefly describes 20 laws and regulations, lists the agency within the department responsible for administering the law, and gives a regional address and phone number where employers can get more detailed information. Some of the laws described apply to all businesses; others apply only to those businesses working under government contracts and subcontracts.

Developed by the labor department's office of small and disadvantaged business utilization, the booklet may be obtained from the regional administrator of the office of the assistant secretary for administration and management at: U.S. Department of Labor, 911 Walnut St., Room 100 Federal Office Bldg., Kansas City, MO 64106.

ABOUT 50 PERSONS attended a Minnesota legislative meeting in Crookston sponsored by the Minnesota rural electric association and Minnkota Power cooperative, along with its eight associated distribution cooperatives in northwestern Minnesota. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss topics that may come before the legislative session, and give the legislators an overview of the rural electric cooperative's stand on the various topics. Among those attending were, left to right, Sen. Marvin Hanson, Hallock; Edward Reitmeier, director for Minnkota Co-op; and Representative-elect LeRoy Stumpf, Plummer.

W. Bjorgaard Participates In Navy Exercise

Navy Radioman Second Class William J. Bjorgaard, son of Avis M. Hjelle of Newfolden, recently participated in exercise "Valiant Blitz" in the Philippines. He is a crewmember aboard the amphibious command ship USS Blue Ridge, operating from Yokosuka, Japan.

"Valiant Blitz" was a combined amphibious landing exercise which involved 16 navy ships, 5,000 marines and forces from the Republic of the Philippines. The exercise provided the participating forces with experience in amphibious landing techniques and combined operations ashore. The operations were supported by the marine corps' vertical take-off attack aircraft, the AV-8 "Harrier."

The Blue Ridge is 620 feet long and carries a crew of 720. It serves as the flagship for the commander of the seventh Fleet's amphibious forces and can accommodate more than 700 members of the amphibious force staff.

A 1973 graduate of Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden, Bjorgaard joined the navy in March of 1976.

Higher Loan Rates Noted On Reserve Grain

Effective immediately, all 1980 grain in the reserve program will not only be interest free, it will also carry a higher loan rate than the regular nine-month loans, according to Phil Bergland, Pennington ASC executive director.

Pennington county loan rates on reserve grain will be as follows: wheat — $3.38, barley — $1.87, corn — $2.30. Since the national price of oats is higher than the call level, oats is not being accepted into the reserve program at this time.

If you have 1980 grain in the reserve program, the interest stopped on the day you signed the papers.

If you have 1980 wheat, barley or corn in the reserve and want to increase your loan to the new loan rates, please call at the county office, 681-1612.

If you have 1980 grain under the regular nine-month loan, you are eligible to place it in the reserve at a higher loan rate, and the interest will stop the day you sign the loan papers.

If you participated in the wheat and feed grain program and you have 1980 grain on which you have not taken a loan, you are eligible to do so at this time. If you place it in the reserve you can do so immediately at the higher loan rates and interest free.

Since the national prices of wheat, barley and corn are higher then the release level of the reserve program, advance storage will not be paid at this time. If prices fall below the release level, storage will automatically be paid. Any time your reserve grain is in release status, you are free to sell it and repay your loan.

Call Lucille at the county office for details.

1980 was as poor a crop year, Bergland said. To date 374 applications have been approved for low yield payments on wheat, barley and corn. Total amount paid to these Pennington county farmers is $834,625.20.

"If your harvest of wheat, barley or corn was less than 60 per cent of the established yield for your farm, you may be eligible for a low yield payment from this office. We will soon have to close the date for these applications. Call Kathy at the county office for details," he added.

"If you have sold wool or unshorn lambs during 1980, you are probably eligible for incentive payment from the U.S. department of agriculture. Please call Ruth at the county office for details. Jan. 31, 1981 is the last date that applications for payment on 1980 sales can be accepted."

Farmers who had a 40 per cent feed loss and are buying feed for livestock may be eligible for financial assistance under the emergency feed program. Applications cannot be accepted after December 31. Call Ruth at the county office for details.

RIC Office Has Staff To Serve Special Needs

Organized in 1969 to provide diagnostic and consultive services to school administrators, teachers and parents for children with differences that might limit their ability to adapt to school, home and community, the Northwest Regional Inter-District council now has 22 staff members serving 15 school districts in northwestern Minnesota.

Operating out of offices at Newfolden, the council attempts to provide a full range of services to children with special needs. Since 1975, public law has reinforced the mandate for schools to serve handicapped children age four to 21 years of age.

Director Darrell Peterson defined children with special needs as those who need special services in order to reach their fullest potential. The law describes them as deaf, hard of hearing, blind, partially sighted, have defective speech, are physically impaired, have a learning disability, are mentally retarded or are a behavior problem.

The council coordinates services within schools, among schools and between other agencies and the community to assure that handicapped students receive optimal service, Peterson said. Persons who have concerns about their child may contact school principals, the child's teacher and-or the council office at Newfolden (874-8215).

Staff of the council in addition to Peterson as director include: Gloria Bjorkman, child study coordinator; Phillip French and Kenneth Williams, psychologists; Steven Kaatz, elementary SLD coordinator; Loren Lusignan, secondary program coordinator; Colleen Rekdal, occupational therapist; Mavis Benson, physical therapist; Betsy Werre, early childhood coordinator; and Jill Geidel, speech coordinator;

Also Jan Westra and Janeen Kalsnes, social workers; Linda Conely, school nurse; John Nicholson and Lona Schuett, work experience teachers; Lova Hodny, Sheree Setterholm, Linda Baumiller and Donna Wucherpfennig, preschool teachers; Karen Walseth, director's secretary; JoAnne Holmstrom bookkeeper; and Pat Mjelde, secretary.

McEwen At UND Seminar

Neil McEwen of Thief River Falls was among 137 attorneys, legal assistants, legal secretaries, students and others who examined ways of meeting the escalating costs of operating a law office at a seminar presented recently in Grand Forks by the state bar association of North Dakota through the assistance of the University of North Dakota division of continuing education.

The seminar discussed office management, records, fees, economic trends, time management, business practices and the utilization of legal assistants.

Republic Notes October Profit Of $3 Million

Republic Airlines recently reported an October profit of $3 million. "This achievement is significant, as it was the first month to include the former Hughes Airwest operations," said Daniel F. May, president.

"The profit was attained on revenues of $115.7 million. Gradually improving passenger traffic, revised schedules, and fare adjustments contributed to the earnings," May said.

October expenses totaled $106.7 million, compared with $34.1 million a year ago. In 1979, Republic incurred a loss of $1.9 million on revenues of $53.6 million. (The substantial variations reflect the Airwest acquisition on Oct. 1, 1980.)

Year-to-date, Republic has a loss of $21.7 million, compared with a $13.9 million profit in 1979. Revenues for the 10-month period this year totaled $695.6 million and expenses, $689 million. Revenues were $506.8 million in 1979 and expenses, $475.2 million.

December 1, to further stimulate traffic, Republic inaugurated several discount fare plans, including a new "Saturday Special" which offers an unconditional 40 per cent discount for travel originating on Saturday and returning the following Monday or Tuesday, or on any Saturday within 30 days.

Republic's new "Family Plan" provides 50 per cent discounts for spouses and all children, provided one adult pays full coach or night coach fare. Advance ticketing and reservations are recommended, but are not required, for these two plans.

KAWE Viewers Pledge $20,000 To Aid Station

Over 500 households in northern Minnesota pledged over $20,000 to KAWE Channel 9 at Bemidji during the fundraising effort, "Nine Great Nights on 9", November 29 to December 7.

During the breaks between programs, KAWE staff members along with various local guests, requested viewers to call in their pledge support to KAWE, that area's public teltvision station. Volunteers from numerous community organizations answered the pledge calls received from households in the viewing area.

Land O' Lakes Pays Members $13.1 Million

Land O' Lakes, Inc. has made cash patronage and revolvement payments of $13.1 million in 1980 to over 850 member association cooperatives and nearly 9,000 direct farmer members.

Included in the total is a recently authorized equity revolvement of slightly more than $6 million. Payment was authorized by the Land O' Lakes board of directors which determines the amount and method of distribution of margins in accordance with the cooperative's by-laws. Payments for 1980 are as follows:

Cash patronage paid in June — $6,540,000; revolvement of prior equities paid in December — $6,022,000; estate payments made throughout the year — $570,000; total — $13,132,000.

This total represents 60 per cent of the cooperative's patronage margins in 1980.

Commenting on the December cash payment, Ralph Hofstad, president of Land O' Lakes, commended the board of directors for adhering to sound principles of money management. "Land O' Lakes," he said, "is in excellent financial condition. The board is returning equities in cash according to plan while maintaining a sound structure upon which to build for the future needs of the members."

Land O' Lakes total cash equity redemptions for the past 10 years amount to approximately $110 million.

Land O' Lakes, Inc. is a farm supply and food marketing cooperative headquartered in Minneapolis. Approximately 250,000 upper midwest farmers hold membership in it.

COMMENTATORS, Angie Berndt (left) as Angelique Bardeau, a French film star, and Sheri Swanson as the anchorwoman, explain activities surrounding "A Christmas Parade," the production to be presented Monday at 8 p.m. by the Goodridge school, under the direction of Jodi K. Bergland.

Senate Halts IRS Regulation On Family Farm

Senate, by unanimous consent, has approved an amendment introduced by Senator Rudy Boschwitz which will prevent the Internal Revenue service from denying estate tax relief to small family farms.

"The purpose of this amendment," Boschwitz said, "is to prohibit the IRS from implementing regulations that are contrary to legislation passed by congress and enacted into law in 1976 which was designed to provide necessary estate tax relief to small family farms."

In 1976, the congress adopted legislation that would assess farms on their income producing value rather than their fair market value for estate purposes. This favorable treatment would apply if the farm was passed on to a family member and if it continued to be operated by a member of the family.

"The IRS," Boschwitz said, "was attempting to allow this favorable treatment to rented farms only if the farm is rented on a crop share basis. If the owner cash rents his farm to an heir, the farm will not qualify for the favorable tax treatment. There is no good reason," he said, "to distinguish between cash rent to a family member and crop share rented land for estate tax purposes and my amendment will put an end to this IRS proposal.

Research Done On Leading Cause Of SIDS

Leading cause of death among children between the ages of one and 12 months is sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS). A University of Minnesota pulmonary specialist, Dr. Richard S. Kronenberg, is the recipient of a Christmas Seal research grant from the Minnesota Lung association to study "Respiratory Control in Sudden Infant Death Syndrome."

Dr. Kronenberg indicated the objectives of his two-year project were twofold. "First, we want to see if there are any clues we can get that identify an infant that may be susceptible to SIDS. Second, we hope to identify mechanisms responsible for the syndrome."

Cause of SIDS is unknown and researchers are confronted with many unanswered questions. Before scientists will be able to look into prevention of sudden infant death syndrome, it will be necessary to discover what causes the syndrome and ways in which those at risk can be identified.

In his research, Dr. Kronenberg is testing parents of children who were the victims of SIDS and also parents of children who survived an encounter with "threatened sudden infant death syndrome."

Christmas Seal research grant of $18,694 was approved by the Minnesota Lung association research committee and is for the first year of Dr. Kronenberg's work. The study will be reevaluated at the conclusion of the year for possible second year funding. Project is being carried out at the University of Minnesota in cooperation with the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome center at Children's hospital in Minneapolis.

Zion Cubs Get Pinewood Race Cars Monday

Zion Lutheran church Cub scout pack 59 met Monday evening for caroling at the CNC unit of Northwestern hospital. Webelos leader Dan Shafland led the group.

Following the caroling all Cub scouts and parents met at the church fellowship hall for a brief meeting.

During the singing of "Jingle Bells", Santa Claus made his arrival at the meeting. He distributed to the scouts pinewood derby cars which were donated by American Legion Post 117.

A lunch of hot chocolate and Christmas cookies was served. Next pack meeting will be January 26 with the highlight of the evening being the pinewood derby races.

Soo Line R.R. Declares $1.25 As Dividend

Dividends totalling $1.25 per share on the capital stock of the Soo Line Railroad were declared recently by the company's board of directors meeting in Minneapolis.

Dividends will be paid Jan. 29, 1981, to holders of record Jan. 9, 1981.

The board declared two dividends, including 50 cents per share as a first quarter 1981 dividend and 75 cents per share with respect to 1980.

Board also took action to initiate quarterly payment of dividends in the future. Future payment of dividends will be made on the last business day of January, April, July and October. In the past, the board normally considered dividends only at its June and December meetings with payments made in January and July.

During 1980, Soo Line paid total dividends of $1.88 per share, compared with $1.62 two-thirds per share in 1979.

The company currently has 7,595,455 shares of its single class of stock outstanding among approximately 5,500 shareholders.

Senate To Cut Committees' Staff Spending

Supporting a Republican plan to trim spending for committee staffs and operations, Sen. Rudy Boschwitz said "we can do this because we are in the majority and we should do this because it will prove we are serious about cutting government spending."

The plan requires that committee chairmen achieve at least a 10 per cent reduction from the spending levels for 1980 in the combined total costs of the senate committees. In addition, the sergeant-at-arms and the secretary of the senate will also reduce their spending for service operations by 10 per cent.

Boschwitz said "the majority leader will be appointing a person to coordinate the cuts and receive reports from the chairman and senate officers on their progress. The accomplishments will be reported to the public," he said.

"The Republicans were elected on the basis of their efforts to cut spending and now that we have the opportunity in the senate, we should proceed," Boschwitz said. "This savings will be meaningful," he said, "and it will show our willingness to put our own house in order before cutting in other areas.

"It is a start in the right direction, and if we are going to attain the balanced budget we all seek, we must start somewhere. At least in the senate we can act immediately, and that is what we are doing."

Obey Safety Tips For Happy Holiday Season

The holiday season is supposed to be one of the happiest times of the year but it can become one of the saddest unless people remember to practice safety in two particular areas, according to public safety commissioner John Sopsic.

Sopsic reminds party hosts to keep guests from driving after drinking too much and urges observance of Christmas tree safety rules.

"Alcoholics are not necessarily the greatest traffic risk on the road. The casual party drinker or the once a year imbiber are equally dangerous when behind the wheel. For that reason, careful planning and some practical preventive measures by hosts can make a celebration both fun and safe," said Sopsic.

Some of the preventive measures are:

+Do not pressure anyone to drink. Offer an assortment of drinks including non-alcoholic beverages such as pop, punch and cider.

+ Always serve food with alcohol. Serve high-protein foods such as cheese and meats because they stay with your guests longer.

+ Keep the party emphasis on recreation and not just drinking.

+ When someone has had too much to drink, offer a ride home, suggest a stay for the night or call a taxi and pay for it. If all else fails, call the police and prevent the person from driving.

+ Your responsibility as a party giver is not limited to seeing that your friends have a good time. Making sure that everyone gets home safely is important because you could be legally responsible for damages caused by someone you have served alcohol.

+ On a typical Friday or Saturday night there are between 20,000 and 30,000 drunk drivers on Minnesota roads. During the holiday season these numbers could be greater unless party givers and goers use common sense.

State fire marshal Wes Werner offers these tree precautions for the holidays:

+ When buying a natural tree, look first for freshness and check for a deep green color and a strong pine scent.

+ Before setting up a tree, cut a couple of inches off the trunk, sawing diagonally, so water will be absorbed more easily. Mount the tree in a sturdy base which has a reservoir for water. Never set the tree close to any heat source.

+ Before stringing the lights on your Christmas tree, check to be sure that there are no broken or cracked sockets, loose connections or frayed wires.

+ Werner recommends that no more than three sets of lights per single extension cord be used. Always turn off all decorative lights before leaving home or going to bed.

+ Displaying a flame-retardant artificial tree is highly recommended. An artificial tree decorated with UL (Underwriters Laboratory) tested electrical lights is acceptable in all occupancies.

On behalf of the Department of Public Safety, Sopsic wishes a safe and happy holiday season to all Minnesotans.

Scout Troop 59 Awards Court Held Monday

Zion Lutheran church Boy scout troop 59 court of awards was held Monday evening in the church fellowship hall.

Viking patrol opened the meeting with the four freedoms flag ceremony. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Darrin Sumner.

Scoutmaster Jim Hoks presented the honor unit ribbon to committee chairman Elling Iverson. Iverson then presented honor unit patches to all boys, scoutmasters and committee members of the troop.

Senior patrol leader Mike Melby invested Cliff Sumner as assistant scoutmaster for the troop. He also led the troop in the scout oath and promise.

Scoutmaster Jerry Okland recognized the following boys for their skill award achievements: David Jacobson, citizenship and first aid; Mike Johnson, family living, first aid and hiking; Jay Jonson, first aid and hiking; Tracy Larson, citizenship and first aid;

Also David Novak, first aid; Bill Nygaard, first aid; Darrin Sumner, cooking; and David Rausch, conservation, first aid and hiking.

Troop 59 "Big hand" awards were presented to the following parents for their assistance with troop activities: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jonson, Mr. and Mrs. Garret Reierson, L. John Larson, Barb Okland, Maxine Sumner and Mary Ann Lofberg.

Traveling scout award was presented to Brian Casavan by scoutmaster Jim Hoks.

Following Boy scouts were presented merit badges by scoutmasters Jerry Okland and Jim Hoks and assistant scoutmaster Cliff Sumner: Bill Nygaard, bookbinding; David Sumner, home repairs, bookbinding, first aid, fishing and pet care; Darrin Sumner, bookbinding, home repairs, model design and building and first aid; Quincy Lofberg, bookbinding and first aid; Chris Okland, home repairs and bookbinding; and Mike Melby, emergency preparedness and rifle-shotgun.

Eagle patrol presented a short skit on first aid at a campout.

Scoutmaster Jerry Okland announced rank advancements and senior patrol leader Mike Melby presented them to the following: Tenderfoot — David Jacobson, David Novak, David Sumner and Tracy Larson; and Second Class — Darrin Sumner.

Meeting closed with trumpeters playing "Taps". Next troop meeting will be January 5.

Search On For State's 18th Teacher Of Year

Search for Minnesota's 18th teacher of the year has begun.

The program, sponsored by the Minnesota Education association (MEA) and the Minnesota state fair, has produced two national teachers of the year and placed a number of others in the top five.

The 1980 Minnesota teacher of the year — Cecelia R. Quaife, third and fourth grade teacher at Mounds View's Sunnyside elementary school — has been nominated by education commissioner Howard B. Casmey for 1981 national teacher of the year, to be announced next spring.

In addition to being nominated for national honors, the Minnesota teacher of the year receives a $500 scholarship from the state fair.

Minnesota teacher of the year will be announced during ceremonies August 23, first Sunday of the state fair.

Nomination forms are being distributed to local school boards, Minnesota Congress of parents, teachers and students chapters, MEA local associations and other agencies. Nominations must be postmarked no later than Feb. 2, 1981.

Health Dep't. Finds Water Tests Positive

Tests conducted by the state health department have revealed "no evidence of contamination" in the public water supplies for Spring Valley and Ostrander, according to department officials. Questions had been raised about the safety of the water following reports that certain kinds of industrial waste had been disposed of in nearby Ironwood landfill.

Department also tested water samples from the Root river and from six private wells located near the landfill. One of the wells was found to be contaminated with ethylene dichloride. Ethylene dichloride has a variety of industrial applications, and is also used as an insecticidal fumigant, a metal degreaser and an ingredient in paint, varnish and finish removers, soap and scouring compounds. The source of the contamination has not been determined, department authorities said.

The department has indicated that it will test "a few more" private wells in the area, in addition to resampling the well in which evidence of contamination was found.

Health Line For Refugees Is Announced

Minnesota Medical association, professional organization of Minnesota physicians, has announced a telephone service called the "Refugee Health Line" to provide information and referral service to physicians, dentists, nurses and other related professionals working with refugees. MMA has contracted with the Minnesota department of public welfare to administer the program.

Users of the refugee health line will receive answers from an information and referral specialist who can provide information on health care resources and other supportive services for refugees.

Physicians, hospitals, dentists and other providers throughout Minnesota are being notified of the service and the telephone numbers.

Medical providers who desire further information should contact: Sharon Henry at Refugee Health Line, Space Center, 2nd Floor, 444 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55101 or call (612) 297-3584.

Safety Dep't. Advises Testing Woodburners

Department of public safety has issued several reminders on woodburning safety this year but another one is needed, according to public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic.

Late last year and early this year the number of woodburning fire fatalities has risen dramatically in Minnesota. There were 15 fatalities in just over two months in 1980.

State fire marshal Wes Werner said it is important for prospective purchasers of woodburning appliances to be sure they have been tested by nationally recognized testing agencies.

Werner urges new owners to follow manufacturers' instructions and check local building and fire codes. It would also be advisable, he added, to see that older stoves are checked to determine whether clearances to combustible surfaces are adequate.

A checklist for winter heating update should also include:

+ making sure wood is properly dried. If it is not, the creosote buildup in chimneys would result in a quick fire hazard.

+ installing a space heater as close as possible to the home chimney outlet.

+ making sure each heating unit has a separate chimney flue.

+ making sure you have the right kind of chimney for your heating appliance.

+ locating an approved fire extinguisher near the heating unit.

+ installing smoke detectors if your home does not have them.

Welfare Board To Meet Friday

Pennington county welfare board will meet Friday at the court house at 1:30 p.m.

No Bus Service Dec. 25 And 26

There will be Para-Transit bus service on Thursday or Friday, December 25 and 26.

Viking

Mrs. Orville Peters
City, 681-3250

Special Notice

News release from the North Pole: Santa will arrive in Viking Saturday afternoon at three o'clock and will be at the community center until five o'clock. So come out, kiddies.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustafson, Jon and Nancy Hanson and Nathan Stokke were Sunday dinner guests at the John Gustafson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Nelson visited at the home of Mrs. Tilda Nelson and Jack of Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon and were luncheon guests there.

Weekend guests at the Gordon Skjerven home were Mr. and Mrs. Randy Skjerven of Fargo, N.D., Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Weleski and Anthony of Lancaster. Also joining the party for Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Corey Skjerven and boys of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Olson, Tricia, Timmy and Terry.

Sunday dinner guests at the Halward Anderon home were Diane Maki and Danny Engen of Neewfolden.

Saturday evening after the Christmas program at the Zion Lutheran church Mrs. Dagny Peterson and Robert Anderson entertained to a luncheon at their home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Grandstrand, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Erickson and Jayne.

Special Notice

Coffee will be served at the post office in Viking on Friday, Dec. 19 until three o'clock in the afternoon in honor of Alvin Grandstrand, who is retiring as postmaster, hosted by fellow employees, Mrs. LeRoy Gustafson, Mrs. Tom Yutrzenka and Virgil Hjelle. So, stop in and have a cup of coffee.

Tuesday forenoon Glen Halvorson was a caller and coffee guest at the home of Mrs. Dagny Peterson and Robert Anderson.

Viking Covenant Women Hold Christmas Party

The Viking Covenant women held their annual Christmas party at the church Sunday evening with opening remarks by their chairwoman, Mrs. Halward Anderson, who then turned the program over to Lloyd Ranum, chairman of the church. Program was given by the men of the church which began with devotions by Gerald Peterson, followed by a solo by Virgil Hjelle.

All the men in the audience sang a number after which Clarence Tangquist gave a reading. Clarence Gustafson rendered a violin solo and Scot Gustafson gave a reading — a quartet number by Halward Anderson, Rev. Sheldon Loreson, Virgil Hjelle and Danny Olson was sung, after which Danny Sustad gave a reading. Raymond Drotts played a piano solo and Danny Olson sang a solo and a duet was sung by Rev. Sheldon Lorenson and Virgil Hjelle. Rev. Lorenson brought a meditation. Following the program a Christmas luncheon was served in the lower auditorium. The exchange of Christmas cards followed the lunch and an offering was taken for the Wisconsin rural missions instead of a gift exchange.

Birthday

Mrs. Florence Drotts entertained at an evening dinner party Saturday at her home in Thief River Falls in honor of Mrs. Clarence Tangquist, who celebrated her birthday that day. 8 LEC Cases On Dec. 16 List

Law enforcement center report dated December 16 listed the following individual cases by reporting date.

December 5 — Mary Olson of Thief River Falls reported that someone had stolen two five gallon gas cans from her pickup while it was parked at Northland Community college and had bent her radio antenna. Total damages and theft estimated at $80.

December 6 — Red Owl store reported that a sum of money was taken from the store during business hours. Case is under investigation.

December 9 — Lowell Johnson of Thief River Falls reported that someone had broken into the vacuum cleaner and coin changer at the car wash on Highway 59 south causing estimated damages of $80 and total theft of $5.50.

December 9 — 100 block of E. Fourth street — Pamela Dallmann of Thief River Falls was traveling west on Fourth street when Sandra Bluemke of Thief River Falls attempted to walk across the street in the middle of the block by Valley Dairy in front of the Dallman vehicle and was struck. Bluemke suffered a scraped and bruised right leg.

December 10 — Third and Horace — Stella Stenberg of Thief River Falls was traveling north on Horace and collided with Scott Bergdahl of Thief River Falls who was traveling west on Third street. Damages estimated at $500 to both vehicles. Stenberg suffered a bump and cut near her right eye.

December 10 — Sixth and Horace: Milo Hemmesch of Thief River Falls was traveling north on Horace and Charles Sehler of Thief River Falls was traveling west on Sixth street in a van when the two vehicles collided in the intersection. Steve Alby, a passenger in the Hemmesch vehicle, suffered minor cuts on his left hand. Estimated damages were $600 to the Hemmesch vehicle and $500 to the Sehler vehicle.

December 11 — Glenn Kalsness of route 4 reported that someone had punctured a tire on his vehicle while it was parked at Lyng Sunflower on North Davis causing estimated damages of $73.

Pennington county sheriff's department case included the following:

December 8 — Marvin Carlson of Thief River Falls reported that someone had broken into his fish house by Long's bridge and had stolen an ice chisel valued at $18. Five dollars in damages resulted to the house.

A correction in last week's LEC report was made by the Thief River Falls law enforcement center. It was stated that December 6 Marilyn Nelson of Thief River Falls was traveling west on Third street when she collided with the back of a truck driven by Chad Thompson of Thief River Falls which was stopped in traffic facing west on Third street. The collision, instead, resulted when Marilyn Nelson was struck in the rear by the truck driven by Thompson, causing estimated damages of $300 to the Nelson vehicle and $500 to the Thompson vehicle.

Health Board Members Have Terms Expiring

Boards of commissioners of Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties will soon be appointing persons to serve on the Quin county community health services board of Health and advisory committee.

This board and its advisory committee were established in 1978 in response to the community health services act passed by the Minnesota state legislature. Members of the board and committee direct the administration of community health services within the five-county area.

Community health services are designed to protect and improve the people's health within a geographically defined community. These services include community nursing, home health, family planning, nutrition, dental and public health, emergency medical, health education, environmental health and disease prevention and control.

Quin county board of health consists of 11 members, two from each of Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake and Roseau counties and three from Pennington county. Advisory committee consists of 20 members, four from each of Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Roseau and Pennington counties.

Terms expiring in January of 1981 from Pennington county are board member, Dr. Arnold Berg and advisory committee members Dr. Berg and Clarence Peterson. Marshall county board member Kenneth Price's term also expires.

Terms expiring from Red Lake county are board member Gladyce LaCrosse and advisory committee members Bennett Larson and JoAnn Thibert.

Names of persons interested in serving on this board or the advisory committee may be submitted to county commissioners for consideration.

ELF DANCE is performed by these tiny elves (kindergarten students at the Goodridge school) in the production of "A Christmas Parade" to be presented by the school Monday at 8 p.m. under the direction of Jodi K. Bergland. Lunch will be served following the program.

Lunch will be served following the program.

Mn/DOT Is Not Permitted To Tow Vehicles

If you skid into a snowbank this winter, don't expect one of the Minnesota Department of Transportation's (Mn-DOT's) orange trucks to tow you out, Curtis Christie, state maintenance engineer, cautions.

Although Mn-DOT maintenance forces are able to offer emergency assistance such as obtaining medical help, calling a tow truck or summoning the state patrol, Mn-DOT crews are prohibited from towing stranded vehicles, Christie said. "We can't risk incurring liability for the state by possibly bending a bumper or otherwise damaging a car in pulling it out."

Christie added that since the driver's physical condition is sometimes a factor in causing the predicament, it's not always advisable to put a driver back on the road. "Our employees can't be expected to make judgments more appropriately in the province of the state patrol," he said.

"Stranded motorists often become indignant when maintenance personnel won't tow them out of a snowbank, but we really have no choice in the matter."

Christie advised motorists to heed the travel advisories issues by the department through the media and not to travel roads known to be drifted or in dangerous condition. "Motorists who ignore a barricade on a road risk their lives and the lives of our crew who must then open a lane for emergency assistance if the motorists become stranded," Christie said.

Department's road information unit receives road condition and weather reports from all maintenance areas statewide and furnishes up-to-date road information to the news media by teletype and to the individual traveler who calls for information: (612) 296-3076 in St. Paul.

Christie warned it's not unusual to have clear weather in one part of the state and stormy weather in another.

Poor Market Forces Change In Timber Law

Currently depressed condition of the timber market has prompted the Department of Natural Resources to extend some help to loggers.

Ray Hitchcock, DNR forestry director, said he has instructed field personnel "to provide as much leeway as legally possible" in granting extensions in expiring state timber sales.

He explained that state law requires that any forest products not removed from logging permit areas when the permit expires become the property of the state.

Hitchcock said extensions will be granted where legally possible on all expiring permits so as to give the logger a chance to sell the harvested timber.

He emphasized, however, that extensions cannot be granted on permits where there is a balance due the state for any timber that has already been cut.

Prairie Public Television Fund Reaches Goal

General manager Dennis Falk announced recently that Prairie public television raised $130,508 during its 10-day membership drive as 2,228 callers pledged $114,902 between programs to contribute roughly 90 per cent of the goal.

Another $15,606 was mailed to Prairie public television, boosting the total over the $125,000 goal. The 10-day evenint began on November 28. Forty-nine per cent of the calls received by Prairie public television were made by Canadian viewers. Their pledges totalled $57,645.

Prairie public television operates four stations — KGFE-2-Grand Forks, KBME-3-Bismarck, KSRE-6-Minot and KFME-13-Fargo.

Marshall Co. ASCS Elects New Members

Marshall county ASCS community committeemen reelected Alton Nybladh, a Stephen farmer, to a three-year term on the ASC county committee. He will serve as vice-chairman.

New chairman is Leo Orpen, Middle River. Einar Strandquist was elected as a regular member. ASC committees are responsible for administering federal farm programs at a local level.

Survival Will Be Stressed By Safety Dep't.

Minnesota department of public safety, through a campaign coordinated by its emergency services division, will stress winter survival during the first Winter Awareness Week, December 14-20.

To give the event more notice, Governor Al Quie has signed a Winter Awareness Week proclamation on December 11.

One of the practical projects emphasized during the week will be a winter survival kit which, according to Public Safety Commissioner John Sopsic, makes an excellent Christmas gift.

Designed for use by stranded motorists, most of the items needed for the kit are reasonably priced and easily available.

Items included in the kit can be packed into an empty three-pound coffee can. The coffee can, besides serving as the package for other items, could serve as an improvised kettle for melting snow and heating food. Punch 3 holes around the top edge of the can in a triangular pattern. By fastening a cord, string or wire (stored inside the can) through the punched holes, it can be used to heat soups and water.

Among items suggested for placement in the can are:

—Work gloves, mittens, scarf and stocking cap tied around the can with a string.

—A flashlight, spare batteries, candles and matches or disposable lighter.

—A bright red or orange cloth for signal banner, face mask, or first aid purposes.

—Small sharp knife, can opener, safety pins and spoon.

—Facial tissue or paper towels.

—Two dimes taped to top of container for phone calls.

—Any high calorie food such as canned stews, honey, chocolate, raisins, candy bars or dried foods. Coffee, tea or powdered soup are other possibilities.

The kit should be kept in the passenger compartment. A collision could make the trunk inaccessible. Other items such as first aid kit, fire extinguisher, flares, booster cables, shovel, heavy clothing, blanket, sleeping bag and sand may be kept in the trunk but should be moved inside the car if severe weather appears imminent.

Other winter survival suggestions are contained in a pamphlet entitled, "Winter Survival In Your Car." The pamphlet is available at the Office of Emergency Services, B-5 State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155.

4H CLUB

Sanders

The Sanders 4-H club met December 12 at the Sanders town hall for their Christmas party. Twenty-three 4-H members, ten parents and six visitors were present.

Roll call was taken by secretary Tracy Lord.

December birthday people were Troy Peterson and Edna Johnson.

Christmas carols were sung at the homes of older people in the neighborhood.

A bob sled ride to the ponds on the Koop farm was given by Rudy Martinson. There we had a bonfire, roasted marshmallows and went ice skating. We returned to the Sanders Town Hall where hot chocolate and Christmas treats were served by the members of the Christmas planning committee. A gift exchanged followed. A good time was had by all. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year from the Sanders 4-H club.

The next meeting will be January 10.

Old Arena To Have Natural Ice

A natural ice sheet will be put to use in the Thief River Falls old arena for the balance of the 1980-81 skating season after officials of the artificial ice plant project for the building decided not to waste any more "ice time" while trying to overcome problems that developed in the installation of the plant.

The weather will decide when the old arena will be ready for skating. Plans called for workers to start flooding the arena today (Wednesday). Officials hope to have ice ready next week, with an eye on the annual Thief River Falls Pee-Wee A and Bantam A Arctic hockey tournament scheduled to utilize both the old arena and the sports arena Dec. 26-28.

Work will resume next spring on the $40,000 artificial ice plant project.

NWAC Basketball Schedule Underway

Bemidji and Fergus Falls will kick off the 1980-81 Northwest Athletic Conference high school basketball season Friday when the Lumberjacks and Otters meet at Fergus Falls.

Since the two teams meet just once this winter the game will be worth two points in the standings and could go a long ways in determining the expected close NWAC pennant race where Crookston, East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Fergus Falls could all be title contenders.

Fergus Falls finished 12-9 a year ago and new head coach Bob Bjorklund has eight returning lettermen back from the team that reached the 1980 North Half Region 8AA finals before losing to Moorhead 76-57. But the Otters are battling a problem common among NWAC members — no height. At 6-3, non-letterman Jim Einarson is the tallest player on the team.

"Every team we'll face this season will be taller than us," said Bjorklund. "It's safe to say we're not going to overpower anyone, and we won't get many second shots. What it will take (for the Otters to have a winning season) is a fastbreaking offense, and we'll have to pressure every team right from the lockerroom door right up to the final horn."

The Bemidji-Fergus Falls game is the only NWAC match-up scheduled to be played before the first of the year.

A key early season NWAC girls basketball game will be played Thursday when Bemidji visits Crookston in a match-up of teams that are expected to challenge favored Fergus Falls for top honors in the first year of conference basketball action for the girls. Fergus Falls beat East Grand Forks 61-29 last Friday in a two-point game to open the NWAC girls schedule. The Green Wave had 30 turnovers in that one.

Bemidji will be the first conference opposition for both the Thief River Falls teams, with the Prowlers and Lumberjacks meeting Friday, Jan. 9, at Bemidji, while the Prowlers and Lumberjills will tangle Monday, Jan. 12, in Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls and Bemidji shared the 1979-80 Northwest Athletic Conference basketball title.

Miscellaneous

+Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state hockey tournament will return to the Thief River Falls sports arena in 1982, it was reported by athletic director Al Adams of Northland community college, the host school. The event was held here in 1974 (when Thief River Falls also hosted the NJCAA national tournament) and in 1979. Next year's tournament was scheduled to be held in Crookston, but UMC officials declined the opportunity to serve as host school. The 1981 MJCAA state tournament will be played Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 21-22 at International Falls, where Rainy River will be the host school. Mesabi will host the 1981 MJCAA national tournament in Virginia in early March.

+Members of the Paynesville school board rejected a proposal by athletic director Jim Loomis that radio stations be charged $25 per game to carry high school athletic events. He felt gate receipts were being hurt by the broadcasts.

Nordics Beat Badger 82-42 For First Win

Twelve players broke into the scoring column as Marshall County Central broke into the win column for the first time in three starts Tuesday with an 82-42 high school basketball victory at Badger.

Jeff Dahl led the Nordics with 16 points, while Dave Kragness contributed 13 and Scott Lindquist had 10. Sophomore Mark Frosaker led Badger with 14 points.

Marshall County Central built quarter leads of 21-10, 45-16 and 62-26.

The Nordics were 32-for-72 from the field (44 per cent) and 18-for-29 at the free throw line. The Rockets were just 17-for-61 from the field (28 per cent) and 8-for-17 at the line. Marshall County Central also forced Badger into 24 turnovers, but the Nordics continued to have their troubles on the boards, being out-rebounded 36-32.

"Pretty sad rebounding," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "We did a lot of other things right; we shot well from the outside, and our pressure defense was effective. But we're going to have to improve on our rebounding. And there's no reason we can't; we've got the size and they're pretty good jumpers. It's just technique."

Marshall County Central, after beginning the year with back-to-back losses to highly regarded Argyle 62-59 and Warren 68-57, will complete a string of four straight season-opening road games at Greenbush Friday before the Nordics stage their home

COMING UP WITH a clean block, Thief River Falls' Tara Nicholson rejected this shot by Warren's Pam Edgar in the first quarter of Tuesday's high school basketball game played in the Lincoln gym. Although she was stopped this time, Edgar finished with 14 points to lead the Ponies past the Prowlers 38-36.

Lincoln Girls 1-2 For The Year . . .

TRF Rally Falls Short In 38-36 Loss To Warren

Warren scored eight straight points to open the fourth quarter, then held off a Thief River Falls rally at the end to pull out a 38-36 girls high school basketball victory in the Lincoln gym Tuesday.

The Ponies, who were a terrible 3-for-28 from the field in the first half but still trailed just 14-11, connected on four straight fourth quarter field goals to break open a close game. Baskets by center Joni Demeyere and forwards Pam Edgar and DeAnna Carlson all followed Thief River Falls turnovers as the Ponies expanded a narrow 25-24 third quarter edge to a 31-24 cushion with just 2:12 gone in the fourth quarter.

Warren maintained a 37-30 spread when guard Elly Wages hit a long jumper from the side with 3:30 remaining.

But that's when Thief River Falls started its comeback. A long jumper by sophomore Paula Meyers, followed by two Ann Goodrich free throws, made it an interesting 37-34 with 2:24 left.

Sophomore guard Brenda Potucek briefly interrupted the Prowlers' rally by sinking one of two free throws for the defending Region 8A champion Ponies with 56 seconds to go, making it 38-34.

Thief River Falls' domination of the boards continued when the Prowlers got two offensive rebounds and forward LeAnn Paetznick put the second one back in for a 38-36 game with 31 seconds still showing on the clock.

Warren was going to try to hold the ball, but Thief River Falls' Patti Blackstad came up with a steal and headed downcourt on a potential game-tying fast break with 12 seconds remaining. But her lay-up bounced off the underside of the rim. Goodrich was trailing the play, though, and she grabbed the rebound, only to have her shot roll off the rim with five seconds left. Wages finally corraled the rebound for the Ponies to put an end to the exciting finish.

It was a different story in the first half when not much happened as both teams sat back in their zones. Three free throws gave Warren a 5-2 first quarter lead, but a huge 29-14 rebound advantage gave Thief River Falls a 14-11 halftime edge, even though the Prowlers shot just 20 per cent from the field.

But things picked up after intermission when the Ponies found their shooting eye, hitting 13 of 25 shots for 52 per cent.

"What happened was what I was afraid would happen — Warren caught fire," explained Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer, who did not expect to hold the Ponies down for the entire game like the Prowlers did in the first half.

However, he was satisfied with the Prowlers' performance. "I'm happy with the way we played. We were doing the things we wanted to do, but we just weren't making the shots. The first half hurt us — we couldn't buy a basket. We had good shots, but they weren't going in."

So instead of burying the Ponies, the Prowlers kept them in the game with their poor first half offensive production. They finished the game 17-for-65 from the field (26 per cent) and just 2-for-4 at the free throw line. Warren was 16-for-53 (30 per cent) and 6-for-14 at the line. The Prowlers held a decided 44-28 advantage on the boards, but also led the turnover figures 15-9, with five of those turnovers coming in the fourth quarter.

Edgar got 14 points and Goodrich 10 to lead all scorers.

Thief River Falls, now 1-2, will close out their pre-holiday schedule by hosting Roseau Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Stolaas, Smeby Named To 1980 All-State Team

Joel Stolaas of Oklee and Glen Smeby of McIntosh-Winger were named to the 1980 coaches' association nine-man all-state football team, following a recent meeting of the coaches at Alexandria.

Stolaas, a 5-11, 240-pounder, was named to the all-state defensive team. Smeby, a 5-9, 205-pounder who was the most valuable lineman in the North Tri County Conference this fall, was named to the all-state team as an offensive lineman.

Other area players given nine-man all-state status were Brent Wagner, a defensive lineman from Fisher, and Kevin Brekken, a linebacker from Mount St. Benedict.

Keith Swanson of Hoffman-Kensington was named all-man coach of the year.

NCC Tourney Highlights Busy Week Of Basketball

Basketball, highlighted by the eighth annual Northland community college Arctic Cat tournament, will be featured on the Thief River Falls athletic schedule this week, with no less than eight games scheduled to be played over a three-day period, Thursday through Saturday.

It starts with the 1980-81 home opener for the Northland community college women's basketball team Thursday, a 5 p.m. affair against Bottineau.

Friday's busy schedule will find the Northwomen hosting Rainy River at 5 p.m.; first round games in the Arctic Cat tournament matching Waseca vs. Grand Forks Air Force Base at 7 and Northland vs. Bottineau at 9; Lincoln high school girls will entertain Roseau at 7:30 and the Lincoln boys will be in Moorhead for an 8 o'clock start.

Third place and championship games in the Arctic Cat tournament will be played Saturday afternoon at 1 and 3 p.m., respectively.

Biggest attraction of the entire weekend might be that 9 p.m. first round Arctic Cat tournament game Friday at Northland as the host Northmen tackle two-time defending tournament champion Bottineau.

The Lumberjacks surprised favored Northland 76-75 in the 1979 Arctic Cat title game on Brad Onarheim's 17-foot jump shot from the side with just one second remaining. That snapped an eight-game season-opening winning streak for the Northmen, who beat Waseca 78-73 the first night. Bottineau opened with an 88-69 victory over Lakewood, a team replaced this year by the Grand Forks Air Force Base.

Waseca defeated Lakewood 98-70 in last year's third place game.

Northland dominated the Arctic Cat tournament at the start, winning five straight titles before Bottineau broke the streak with a 97-85 championship game victory over the Northmen in 1978.

Bottineau began the 1980-81 season with a 5-4 record, beating the University of Regina 70-67, Mary College junior varsity 97-96, Concordia junior varsity 89-81, Northwest Bible College 114-87 and Trinity 70-58, while losing to Williston 77-66, Lake Region 70-56, Concordia junior varsity 107-99 in triple over time and Wahpeton 86-53.

The Lumberjacks have a good shooting guard in 6-1 Brian Thomas, a freshman from Chicago who combines with 6-7 transfer Ed Carsons and 6-4 Kevin Amundson, who hurt the Northmen a year ago, for a solid inside-outside game.

"I'm sure Bottineau is going to be ready for us," mentioned Northland coach Chet Engelman. "If we play well, I think we'll win, but a lot depends on us being emotionally ready. If we're ready emotionally, I think we'll win."

However, Northland has to concern itself with being ready physically, too. They were without high-scoring Terry Harris (ankle) and starting guard Joe Kraska (back) Monday when they beat the Grand Forks Air Force Base 97-74. Kraska isn't expected to play in the tournament. Harris is listed as questionable.

The Air Base-Waseca opener could be a good one, too, said Engelman, the tournament manager. The Rams, although they've played in five of the previous seven Arctic Cat tournaments, are looking for their first opening round win.

Waseca is 2-6 for the year, beating their Alumni 72-70 and the Mankato State junior varsity 88-87, while losing to Waldorf, Ia. 83-62, Iowa Lakes 87-78, Minneapolis community college 77-63, North Hennepin 79-60, Lakewood 57-54 in overtime and Inver Hills 84-69.

The Rams have a strong rebounder in 6-5 Corey Wolff; an excellent assist man in 6-2 Norb Serbul; height in 6-8 Dave Persig; and a good outside shooter in 5-8 Dave Shriner. What they don't have is a winning record.

Engelman was impressed with the Grand Forks Air Force Base team Monday, as Mike Kreekmore scored 19 points and Ron Perry had 15 in a losing effort that dropped the team to 0-4. They lost twice to a strong Canadian team, St. Andrews, 91-55 and 81-67, along with a 97-74 defeat at the hands of Lake Region.

Northland is 7-0, with wins over an Alumni team 105-68, Jamestown junior varsity 72-70, Lake Region 103-84 and the Grand Forks Air Force Base 97-74, along with three wins and a tournament title at the Red River community college invitational in Winnipeg.

Robyn Dallmann, Shari McGann Named Swim Team Co-Captains

Junior Robyn Dallmann and sophomore Shari McGann were named co-captains of the 1981 Lincoln high school girls swimming team at the Prowlers' annual post-season banquet Monday in the Lincoln cafeteria.

Special awards went to senior Brenda Lund, most valuable; sophomore Sarah Green and eighth grader Shelly McGann, who shared the most improved award; and senior Joan Giauque, hardest worker.

Lund and senior Betsie Hallstrom were presented with Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) state meet participation certificates. Lund was a third place finisher in the diving portion of the state meet, with Hallstrom swimming in the 50-yard freestyle.

Athletic letters were presented by head coach John Hustad and assistant coach Dan Vrudney to seniors Andrea Lia, Franki Kuyath, Kathy Dillon, Lund, Hallstrom and Giauque; juniors Lori Swanson, Lisa Desrocher and Dallmann; sophomores Mary Geatz, Loudeen Flom, Karen Dillon, Shari McGann, Green and student manager Mary Ness; freshmen Karla Lokken and Denice Anderson; and eighth graders Connie Geatz, Georgia Howard and Shelley McGann.

Hallstrom, Kuyath and Giauque served as tri-captains this fall as the Prowlers fashioned a 9-4 dual meet record, along with a victory in their own Prowler relays. They also participated in invitational meets at Fergus Falls, Brainerd and Grand Rapids, and swam in the 1980 Section 3 meet.

Skippers Win Second Overtime Game, 50-49

Middle River scored six straight points to begin a three-minute overtime period Tuesday and collected a 50-49 win over Greenbush in a girls high school basketball game played at Middle River.

It was the second overtime victory within a week for coach Tom Neibauer's 4-2 Skippers, who have been in four games that have been decided by four points or less.

Middle River led 11-9 at the end of the first quarter, but trailed 26-16 at halftime. The Skippers closed the gap to 36-33 in the third quarter and tied it 44-44 at the end of regulation time when Becky Jeame hit an eight-foot jump shot from the side with six seconds remaining.

However, Greenbush had a chance to win it when Paula Reese was fouled at the buzzer. But standing alone at the free throw line with no time showing on the clock, Reese missed the bonus free throw opportunity.

Patti Blazek, who returned to the line-up with a 13-point performance after being sidelined by an ankle injury, scored to start the overtime, followed by a field goal and two free throws by teammate Dawn Nelson, the game's high scorer with 29 points.

Middle River hosts Roseau Thursday to close out its pre-holiday schedule.

Lincoln Girls Beat Warren 26-21 Tuesday

Lynette Huot scored 10 points to lift Thief River Falls past Warren 26-21 Tuesday in girls junior varsity high school basketball action.

Thief River Falls 3-0 for the year, trailed 10-6 at the end of the first quarter, and faced a 14-10 halftime deficit before gaining a 16-16 third quarter tie.

Tuesday's scheduled Thief River Falls vs. Warren freshman game was canceled because of sickness that hit the Warren squad. The Lincoln freshmen girls will open their 1980-81 season Friday with a 5:45 p.m. game against Roseau in the Franklin middle school gym.

Mary Jo Kiesow scored 18 points, while Susie Johnson and Angie Berndt contributed 14 and 12 points, respectively, Tuesday as Goodridge outscored Sprague, Man. 61-45.

"They all played very well," praised Goodridge coach Susan Saurdiff, who welcomed the addition of Val Sand to the Huskies' line-up. Sand, who missed the Huskies' first four games, moved into the center spot, allowing Kiesow to move outside, and she responded with her highest point total of the year. "The whole team plays better when she (Sand) is in there," explained Saurdiff.

Goodridge led at the quarter stops 16-11, 31-21 and 51-34. The host Huskies helped build their margin by hitting 11 of 14 free throws, while Sprague sank just three of 13 gift tosses.

It was the home opener for the Huskies, 3-2 for the year. Goodridge closes out the 1980 portion of its 1980-81 season Thursday by hosting Red Lake Falls.

Prowlers Score Early In 7-5 Victory Over Bemidji

Thief River Falls got off to a 3-0 first period lead, but scrambled at the end before collecting a 7-5 Section 8 high school hockey win at Bemidji Tuesday.

The victory kept the Prowlers unbeaten at 2-0-1 heading into a 7:45 p.m. game at Grand Forks Red River Friday.

"We're happy to win," said Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand, "but we didn't play particularly well. Maybe those first three (goals) came too easy."

Murray Jorde started it with a goal at 4:29 of the first period. Jorde then collected two quick assists when Rick Engelstad and Jeff Moser scored just nine seconds apart late in the period.

There were eight goals scored during a wild second period, but Bemidji never got closer than two goals. Jeff Imgrund scored twice for the Prowlers during the outburst, with Todd Bergland and Tom Kenville assuring a 7-3 Thief River Falls cushion going into the final 15 minutes.

Jim Toninato scored twice in the final period for a hat trick performance for the Lumberjacks, who were outshot 35-26 for the game. The defeat dropped Bemidji to 0-3 in Section 8 play.

The Prowlers were without the services of defenseman Mark Harder and forward Rob Blankenfeld, both injured in Saturday's 2-2 overtime tie against Fergus Falls. Blankenfeld, who was knocked out after being crashed into the boards by a pair of Otters, spent two nights in the hospital, but may be skating with the team Monday. However, Harder, a standout on defense, was lost to the team for eight weeks when a wrist injury, at first diagnosed and reported as a severe bruise, turned out to be several broken bones. His loss will be a real blow to the Prowlers, who have been counting on their defensive crew of Scott Wiebolt, Steve Olson, Harder and Dean Dokkin to carry the team. Freshman Jim Geatz has stepped into the line-up on the blueline.

Northmen Win 97-74 Monday

Jeff Nolan, Eddie Duckworth and Tony Smith combined for 66 points and 45 rebounds Monday as the Northland community college basketball team ran its record to 7-0 with a 97-74 home court victory over the Grand Forks Air Force Base.

Nolan scored 25 points and grapped 16 rebounds; Duckworth had 24 points and 13 rebounds; while Smith collected 18 points and 16 rebounds for the Northmen, who broke open a close 44-40 halftime score by opening the second half with 19 straight points.

"The kids all did a pretty good job," mentioned Northland coach Chet Engelman, who besides praising the play of Nolan, Duckworth and Smith, also cited Kyle Hams (9 assists), Lyndell Knight (6 loose ball recoveries) and Randy Harrison (13 rebounds).

Northland opened with a 21-10 bulge just 8½ minutes into the contest. The Air Base battled back, only to see Northland score on its first seven possessions of the second half. The Northmen led it 82-55 with 8:21 remaining.

Shooting figures were below par for both teams. Northland was 42-for-108 from the field (39 per cent) and 13-for-25 at the free throw line. The Air Base was 31-for-77 from the field (40 per cent) and 12-for-25 at the line. Northland held a 76-61 rebound advantage and the Air Base topped the turnover figures 29-12.

Licenses Valid Through Feb. 28

Those who fish, hunt or trap in Minnesota are reminded by the Department of Natural Resources that their 1980 licenses are valid through Feb. 28, 1981.

Although a change was made in the law five years ago establishing a March 1 to March 1 "license year" for sportsmen, there are many who apparently still haven't "gotten the word," said DNR license officials.

Arctic Tournament

Annual Arctic Bantam A and Pee-Wee A tournament will be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 26-28 in Thief River Falls.

Pee-Wee A portion of the tournament will feature teams from International Falls, Virginia, Moorhead, Bemidji, Crookston, Fergus Falls and the Rivercast Royals of Winnipeg.

Bantam A entries will feature International Falls, Grand Rapids, Fergus Falls, Columbia Heights, Virginia and Roseau.

Price of admission is "zero" and TRFAHA would like to welcome everyone to watch some good youth hockey and future hockey stars in Minnesota.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON in the trapping business is being enjoyed this year by Scott Olson of rural Thief River Falls. He recently marketed 37 red fox pelts on an agreed price through Evans Seed, Wool and Fur of Thief River Falls, catching a high point in the market which has dropped more recently. Olson is still trapping but says catches are more difficult since many of last spring's pups have already been taken. "All of the recent catches have been older foxes," Olson said. "They're scattered and pretty cagey by this time of the year."

AFTER STEALING A Warren pass with 12 seconds remaining in Tuesday's girls high school basketball game, Thief River Falls guard Patti Blackstad took the ball down court for a fast break lay-up, but had her potential game-tying shot hit the underside of the rim and fall away in the Prowlers' 38-36 loss to the Ponies. Warren's Brenda Potucek trailed the play, but Thief River Falls guard Ann Goodrich grabbed the rebound, only to have her shot roll off the rim with five seconds left to preserve the Warren victory.

Bemidji Beats LHS Swimmers 51-31 Tuesday

Bemidji, a winner in last week's Prowler relays staged in Thief River Falls, outscored the Prowlers again Tuesday when the Lumberjacks came out a 51-31 dual meet winner in the Bemidji pool.

It was the dual meet opener for both teams. The Prowlers came up with three first place winners, as Mark Isaacson won the 50-yard freestyle in 24.7; Tom Eckstein covered the 100-yard backstroke in 1:08.0; and Dean Booth, Nate Gjovik, Jay Gjovik and Kevin Grochow swam the 400-yard freestyle relay in 3:55.2.

Dennis Magnell, one of three Oklee players in double figures, scored 21 points Tuesday as the Bobcats defeated area rival Plummer 63-43 on the Eagles' court.

Oklee turned a narrow 13-12 first quarter edge into a 33-23 halftime cushion. It was 48-31 after three quarters.

"We had a good first quarter, but then went downhill after that," reported Plummer coach Dean Miller. "They out-hustled us on rebounds, and we had too many turnovers. They had a lot of turnovers, too, but we didn't take advantage of them."

Plummer, 0-3, will be at Oslo Friday. Oklee, 1-1, will wait until Monday before playing in the Red Lake Falls holiday tournament. First round games that might will feature Plummer vs. Erskine at 7 p.m. and Oklee vs. Red Lake Falls at 8:45.

Some Hunting Seasons Will Close Dec. 31

End of 1980 will also bring the close of several Minnesota hunting and trapping seasons, the Department of Natural Resources noted.

Hunting seasons on squirrel, ruffed grouse, Hungarian partridge, raccoon and the falconry season on pheasant will end Dec. 31, as will the trapping season on raccoon.

Trapping seasons on mink and muskrat will close a week earlier on Dec. 23.

Hunting seasons on fox and badger will remain open until Jan. 24 and lynx and bobcat may be hunted through Jan. 31.

Trapping seasons on badger and fox will end Jan. 24 and the lynx and bobcat trapping season will close Jan. 31.

Rabbit and hare may be hunted through Feb. 28, the same date selected for closing of the beaver trapping season.

Rams, Falcons Pin Losses On Cardinals

Every match was decided by a pin Monday as Plummer-Erskine dropped a 42-30 high school wrestling decision to the Fertile-Beltrami junior varsity at Fertile.

The defeat followed a 36-21 Plummer-Erskine loss at Roseau Friday, lowering the Cardinals' dual meet season record to 0-5.

However, the Cardinals' Troy Gustafson, Jim Mattison and Paul Lindseth all raised their records to 4-1 Monday with wins at Fertile. Gustafson stopped John LaBlanc in 4:25 at 138 pounds; Mattison pinned Steve Jacobson in 3:16 at 145; and Paul Lindseth dispatched Joel Gullickson in 1:05 at 185.

"We really work for pins," acknowledged Plummer-Erskine coach Gary Brantl, "to make up some points."

The Cardinals close out the 1980 portion of their 1980-81 season Saturday by participating in an invitational tournament at Warren.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Perry Buchholz who passed away 3 years ago, Dec. 19. Gone but not forgotten. Missed by your Mother. 1t99p

Card of Thanks
We would like to thank all who assisted during the illness and death of our mother, Delia Olson. Special thanks to the staff at Oakland Park Nursing Home, Dr. Heinrichs, Pastor Prekker and Belmont Funeral Home for their many kindnesses. Also to all friends and relatives who sent memorials and flowers, to the Redeemer church women and to all who participated in the funeral services.

May God bless each and everyone of you.

Card of Thanks
We would like to express our sincere thanks to all the friends and relatives for their kindness and expressions of sympathy shown us during the illness and death of Ida Julin. A special thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff of Riverview hospital for their wonderful care and concern. Thanks to all who gave gifts, memorials or in anyway helped at the funeral, to the pallbearers, to Ruby Holmaas, Harvey Dyrud and Ardyce Knutson for music, and to Pastor Merle Knutson for his message, to the Westaker Ladies aid for serving lunch and to the Green Funeral Home for their excellent service.

We want to express our thanks and appreciation to the entire staff of the Good Samaritan Center for the excellent care and the many kindnesses shown to Ida during the years she was a resident of the nursing home. Thanks to the friends who remembered her by their visits while she lived there and also to Pastor and Mrs. Merle Knutson for their visits.

May God bless each one of you in return.

Card of Thanks
We would like to extend our appreciation to everyone for all the kindnesses shown at the death of our son and brother, Ralph Hanson. Special thanks to Dr. Davidson and Dr. Herber for care through the years, Rev. Hushagen and Rev. Hovland for visits and comforting words, the Circle for serving lunch, the organist and soloist, pallbearers, school administration, faculty and Ralph's students at AVTI, and all relatives, friends and neighbors for their calls, cards, memorials, flowers and the food brought to our home. God bless each and every one of you.

State of Minnesota
County of Pennington
PROBATE COURT
COUNTY COURT
PROBATE DIVISION
In Re: Estate of Ralph Hanson, Deceased
TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS:

Notice by publication is hereby given that on the 21st day of January, 1981, at 2:00 o'clock P.M., a hearing will be held in the above named Court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, for the probate of an instrument purporting to be the Will of the above named decedent, and for the appointment of Myrtle G. Hanson as personal representative of the estate of the above named decedent in supervised administration. That, if proper, and no objections are filed, said personal representative will be appointed to administer the estate, to collect all assets, pay all legal debts, claims, taxes, and expenses, and sell real and personal property and do all necessary acts for the estate. Upon completion of the administration, the representative shall file a final account for the allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the Court, and close the estate.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or to the Clerk of the Court within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

Stress Listed As National Problem

Stress may be our leading national health problem. The list of diseases that medical researchers have linked to stress reads like the "Top 40" of American illnesses, with heart attacks, strokes and cancer heading the list.

"Most of us are better equipped to escape from sabre-toothed tigers than we are from the chronic stress of the 1980s," says Judith Steller, a psychologist in St. Paul. "Unfortunately, most Americans escape from stress by routes that only compound their health problems."

The most popular escape routes from stress are drinking liquor, frequent or heavy eating, smoking, drinking high-caffeine drinks, using marijuana or other mind-altering drugs, withdrawing psychologically, robotizing one's behavior or lashing out at others.

"We need to learn new behaviors that will end our obsession with killing ourselves from the inside out," Steller says.

Stress is an internal, physiological response of the body to demands made on it. The demands can be physical, emotional or biological. In other words, stress is normal. We get into trouble, however, when our stress reactions remain "turned on" for too long. The overload interferes with our peace of mind and eventually our health.

"It's important to become aware of things that are typically stressful for others," Steller says. "Then you can take a look at what's going on in your own life."

Karl Albrecht, author of "Stress and the Manager," puts the most frequent causes of prolonged emotional stress into four groups:

(1) Time Stress: Time stress is an anxiety reaction to the feeling that time is running out and something terrible will happen. Many Americans are obsessed by "hurry sickness." They constantly make unrealistic demands on themselves, and are threatened by deadlines. They feel desperate and trapped.

(2) Anticipatory Stress: Anticipatory stress is commonly known as "worry." Sometimes the anxiety is about an impending event or it can be a generalized anxiety with little or no basis. Everyone experiences anticipatory stress and our bodies pay the price if we don't find appropriate ways of dealing with it.

(3) Situational Stress: Situational stress is anxiety that results from finding yourself in a situation that is threatened or beyond your control The threat might be physical injury or loss of status and acceptance in others' eyes.

(4) Encounter Stress: Encounter stress is anxiety about dealing with people you find unpleasant or unpredictable.

So what can you do if you recognize yourself within these categories or have other kinds of stress in your life? You can think about learning new behaviors that will help you "turn down" your stress reactions, Steller says.

Learn to "read" your body, she suggests. When your stress reaction remains turned on at high levels for long periods, your body will tell you. You will feel tangible discomfort, such as a knot in your stomach, muscle aches in your neck and shoulders or chronic fatigue. The earlier you can recognize your internal signals, the easier it is to deal with the cause, Steller says.

According to Steller, deep muscle relaxation seems to be the most effective factor in managing daily stress. However, most adults have forgotten how to do it, she says. "If you don't currently use some part of your day — a half hour at least — for privacy, detachment and relaxation, perhaps you should re-evaluate your time priorities," she advises.

Deep muscle relaxation is a profoundly restful condition. People who enter this state for 15 to 20 minutes open their eyes later with a pronounced sense of peacefulness and release from former tension. There are various methods of deep muscle relaxation and a number of books are available on the subject.

The person who is physically fit handles stress more effectively, Steller says. Improved physical condition enables the body to consume stress chemicals and makes relaxation skills easier to learn and maintain. Steller defines exercise as anything you do that makes you breathe hard for more than three minutes. Some examples are jogging, handball, tennis, energetic bicycle riding, fast walking or similar activities that require a high expenditure of energy. (Golfing doesn't qualify.) However, no strenuous exercise program should be undertaken without your physician's approval.

Thought patterns are learned behaviors. You can rethink dead-end thoughts and substitute more constructive thoughts in their place. Instead of thinking, "This is terrible. . . What can I do?. . . Those stupid idiots," you can demand of yourself a rational answer to the problem. Steller reminds herself to "rethink" when she falls into thought behaviors that don't solve anything. "Instead of thinking that this is the worst day of my life, I remind myself that I've coped with a similar situation before and I can do it again," she said.

Most people aren't very successful at making lasting behavior changes without help, Steller concluded. "The idea of consciously using our friends is foreign to us, but a friend who knows and cares about the changes you're trying to make may be the key to avoiding relapse behavior," she said.

Lorne Greene Rides Again . . .

Rose Parade Celebrates "Great Outdoors"

PASADENA, CA—Embracing the critters of the piney woods and the denizens of the swelling seas, the upcoming 92nd annual Tournament of Roses Parade will be a bonanza of nature's wonders.

The world's largest entertainment production—staged on New Year's Day—combines 61 magnificently decorated floral floats, 24 bands and 250 equestrians in a two-hour salute to America's love affair with "The Great Outdoors."

Who could be more appropriate to lead the parade than veteran entertainer Lorne Greene, a devoted sportsman and outdoorsman?

Greene—known to millions throughout the world as Ben Cartwright—makes his second appearance in the famed Rose Parade. In 1960, he and his television cohorts from "Bonanza" rode horseback down Pasadena's Colorado Blvd. during the early years of one of the most popular series of all time. This time Greene will be riding in a horse-drawn carriage.

"I'm very pleased with 'The Great Outdoors' theme. The magnificence and beauty of the outdoors is very deserving of a celebration of this magnitude," says Greene.

He joins a prestigious list of Hollywood greats who have served as Grand Marshal, including Mary Pickford, Shirley Temple, Edgar Bergen, Leo Carillo, Harold Lloyd, Kay Kyser, Bob Hope, Walt Disney, Lawrence Welk, John Wayne, Kate Smith, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans and Frank Sinatra.

Reigning as the Rose Queen is Leslie Kawai, an 18-year-old freshman at Pasadena City College. Her reign has special meaning to her family, as her grandfather, who moved to Pasadena from Japan in 1898, designed and built some of the prize-winning, horse-drawn entries from the earliest Rose Parades.

Coincidentally, Queen Leslie's aunt and four other Pasadena Japanese-American girls rode on a float entered by the Imperial Hotel of Tokyo in the 1917 Rose Parade. The world-famous parade has had international entries ever since.

The 1981 Rose Parade promises to be bigger and better than ever, with several sponsors entering special non-judged units.

Leading the way down the boulevard will be the Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream entry, which features 31 separate units, each one a "critter" from the "The Great Outdoors." There's everything from a bunny, gator, hippo to a snail.

As a finale to the colorful pageant, an enormous blue whale (more than 100 feet long) swimming along with her 35-foot calf has been entered by Avco Financial Services.

The Rose Parade, beginning at 8:30 a.m. PST (11:30 a.m. EST, 10:30 a.m. CST) is expected to be seen by 1.5 million curbside spectators and another 125 million television viewers worldwide. It will be broadcast by CBS, NBC, Metromedia, Golden West, Spanish International Television Network, Asahi Television and the Philippine Television Network.

A companion event, the Rose Bowl football classic, kicks off at 2 p.m. PST (5 p.m. EST, 4 p.m. CST). More than 70 million fans will watch the football match exclusively televised by NBC.

For additional information on Tournament of Roses activities, please call (213) 449-4100 or 681-3724. The Tournament also has a 12-month, 24-hour general information hotline, which can be reached by dialing 449-5281.

ROSE BOWL 1981

GOING FOR THE ROSES—Veteran entertainer and outdoorsman Lorne Greene and Rose Queen Leslie Kawai will preside over the 1981 Tournament of Roses including the world-famous New Year's Day Rose Parade and Rose Bowl football classic.

Researchers At 'U' Set Out To Prove Smoking Addictive

by Pat Kaszuba
'U' M News Service

Addiction rather than weak will could be the reason millions of cigarette smokers can't quit, a team of University of Minnesota researchers may prove.

Working under a grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, the four-member team is studying behavior of smokers and those trying to quit. The project will attempt to show that nicotine can cause addiction similar to alcohol and drug dependency.

"We're trying to show it's more than a habit," said John Hughes, a psychiatrist with the laboratory of physiological hygiene. "Basically we're at the same point that narcotics researchers were in the 1940s."

Study will focus on three major questions: Is smoking addictive, what drug in tobacco makes it addictive, and how can smokers best be withdrawn from the drug?

Although it has long been assumed that nicotine is the ingredient in tobacco that gets smokers hooked, it has never been proven, said psychologist Roy Pickens. However, a series of studies at the University will attempt to show the link.

"We're taking a drug abuse approach toward the problem," said Pickens, an expert in drug problems. "We're trying to capitalize on everything we know about drug dependency."

Smokers in the study will be given a nicotine-blocking drug while they continue to smoke to determine if their bodies react as if they had stopped smoking. Another phase of the project will involve administering nicotine to smokers to see if their desire to smoke is satisfied.

One indication that smokers develop a physical need for daily levels of nicotine, Pickens said, is that those trying to cut down gradually unconsciously begin to compensate for the decrease.

For instance, if a smoker goes from two packs a day to one pack, each cigarette may be smoked longer and the smoke held in longer. "This seems to show that the underlying purpose of the habit is to regulate the daily level of nicotine," Pickens said.

To monitor this, smokers will be given cigarettes containing varying amounts of nicotine and then observed for changes in smoking habits.

The research could change society's attitude toward smokers, Hughes said. "One of the problems of smokers and ex-smokers is that people don't understand how much distress they're in . . . they think it's just a silly habit," he said.

"Society used to tell alcoholics and drug addicts to just stop, and say they were weak-willed if they didn't," Hughes said. "Most people don't understand it's not something you can just do or not do."

One indication that attitudes are changing comes from the federal government's shift of smoking research from the National Institutes of Health to the National Institute on Drug Abuse, Hughes said.

Once researchers understand what causes the physical problems — irritability, insomnia, increased appetite and nervousness — associated with giving up cigarettes, they'll be able to develop better treatment for smokers, Pickens said.

"If we find it is a physical dependency, we may be able to detoxify patients, get them through the transition period and keep them from falling back into smoking," Pickens said.

"Most people would like to stop, but they know it's going to hurt," Hughes said. "But we don't know how long it hurts and why it hurts longer in some than in others." He said studies indicate 95 per cent of all smokers would like to quit and 65 per cent would if there were an easy way.

Minnesota team is currently working on a highly precise out-of-the-laboratory study of smoking behavior. Volunteers will carry small electronic recording devices attached to cigarette filters that monitor the number of cigarettes smoked per day, the length of time each is smoked and the time between cigarettes.

Pickens said 20 of these devices should be in use soon. Data collected should give a more accurate picture of smoking behavior than what has been available so far.

"We want to understand what happens to the body that makes a smoker decide to have a cigarette and what physiological events regulate time between cigarettes and duration of inhalations," Pickens said.

Terry F. Pechacek of the Laboratory of Physiological Hygiene and Dorothy Hatsukami of the department of psychiatry are the other members of the team which will be involved in smoking research for the next four years.

The Right Motor Oil Can Save Gasoline

The good news for American motorists is that fuel-saving oils really work.

How do they work? Very simply. They are very good at reducing friction so that metal parts rubbing against each other can do so more easily.

If you were to look at a metal surface under a microscope, it would look uneven or "rough" even though it looked smooth to the naked eye. Scientists at Pennzoil have come up with an effective way to coat those rough spots with a film that resists being wiped off the engine's moving parts. The result is a smoother surface between sliding metal parts and less friction.

Motorists are now getting more out of their cars by watching what they put into them.

Now, smart motorists don't have to pay extra to get extra miles. This gas-saving oil, called Pennzoil Multi-Vis is available at regular Pennzoil prices in the weights motorists use most, 10W-30 and 10W-40. While each driver will see different levels of fuel economy, even a two percent saving will have a huge impact on gasoline used in the United States. On a yearly basis, two percent translates into almost two billion gallons of gasoline saved. That means while American motorists are saving money with extra gas mileage, they are also conserving energy.

Birth defects strike 1 of every 12 infants born each year in the United States, says the March of Dimes. One infant is born every other minute with physical or mental damage.

Interest Rate Becoming U.S. Top Problem

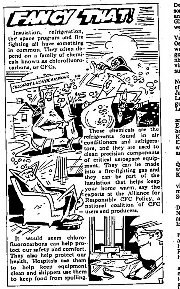
Congressman Arlan Stangeland today called on the administration and the congress to respond to the cry of the American people for help in solving what has become the nation's number one problem — soaring interest rates.

Stangeland reminded his colleagues in the House that "this is the United States of America — not a volatile, semi-developed country withstanding the unpredictable vacillations of an uncontrollable economy." He questioned what is happening in our country which is known for its economic and industrial leadership.

"The prime interest rate just reached 20 per cent — when this first occurred last spring, we said that it was unbelievable. Now it has happened again in just a few months," said the Seventh district congressman. "Businesses cannot borrow for modernization or expansion; small businesses are thrown into bankruptcy; the ailing car industry cannot survive under these conditions. The house industry is coming to a standstill, and unemployment remains high and can be expected to increase."

He urged the current administration not to be frightened into inaction and called on the President-elect to be bold and take the necessary difficult steps to bring our economy under control. Stangeland called for governmental fiscal restraint as an initial step to relieve the competition for capital and reduce inflationary pressures.

"The American people have spoken. They have elected a congress and an administration which has said that they are willing to take the difficult steps which must be taken to revive and stabilize our economy," Stangeland said. He called on everyone to work together to solve this problem.



Insulation, refrigeration, the space program and fire fighting all have something in common. They often depend on a family of chemicals known as chlorofluorocarbons, or CFCs.

Those chemicals are the refrigerants found in air conditioners and refrigerators, and they are used to clean precision components of critical aerospace equipment. They can be made into a fire-fighting gas and they can be part of the insulation that helps keep your home warm, say the experts at the Alliance for Responsible CFC Policy, a national coalition of CFC users and producers.

It would seem chlorofluorocarbons can help protect our safety and comfort. They also help protect our health. Hospitals use them to help keep equipment clean and shippers use them to keep food from spoiling.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold returned home Wednesday after a ten-day visit at the home of their daughter, Dorothy Bakke at La Peer, Mich. They become great-grandparents again, as Donita, Dorothy's daughter, gave birth to a baby girl while they were there. Congratulations Dorothy on your first grandchild and the Borsvolds for another great-grandchild.

Senior Citizens

There were 21 present when the senior citizens met for their weekly meeting December 11. Bertha Fredrickson was here from Thief River Falls, Karen Skadsem of Middle River, Ruth Elg of Greenbush, Pastor Moyer and Marlys Lefrooth were luncheon guests.

We were busy pricing items, making a few more pairs of bed pillows and some sofa pillows for our sale on Saturday.

Two door prizes were given away. Gust received Irene's and Anna Rud received Ruth Harper's.

Amanda Johnson served the lunch Thursday.

Saturday, Dec. 13, our center was open at 12:30 and our sale began. Sixty-nine registered in our record book, but I know many came and did not register. We want to thank everyone for coming and for your sales as well as purchasing of tickets for our raffle. Elsie Jordie of Drayton won the afghan. Congratulations, Elsie, and thanks for selling some ticket books for us. We did appreciate that. Evelyn Kline sold the most tickets and to show our appreciation the center gave her a gift of money.

Thanks again to you all for patronizing us in sales and the purchasing of raffle tickets. We will be closing the center soon, but God willing, we will open again when spring comes. See you all then.

According to the March of Dimes, more than 60,000 deaths occur annually because of birth defects among Americans of all ages.

To Test Wood Conversion For Energy Uses

Congressman Arlan Stangeland said today he is "hopeful that President Carter will immediately sign a bill authorizing a pilot program to test new methods of converting wood resudues into fuel and other products for homes, industries and power plants."

It is essential that we expand all programs for studying alternative methods of producing energy. Our dependency on foreign oil is too great and our national security is continually threatened," he said.

"This bill (S: 1996) permits a five-year experiment designed to spur development of practical new ways to harvest energy and other resources from logging residues and other wood which is currently being wasted. This includes an estimated 10 to 15 million tons of wasted materials which could be recovered annually from national forests managed by the U.S. Forest service."

Authorized by the bill would be two types of experimental projects during the five fiscal years beginning October 1, 1981. They are: A series of utilization projects, carried out by government and private groups on both private and government-owned forests to test techniques which might later be widely used. Examples of such projects include consolidation and distribution centers for fuel wood and other products and construction of access roads for residue removal. Tests conducted on National Forest lands using a self-financing "residue removal credit" program. Under this program, the forest service would pay firms which cut federal lumber to haul formerly wasted residues to points at which they could be coverted to fuel or other products. The payment would be in the form of a credit which the timber firm would deduct from the amount it pays for national forest timber. The forest service would then get its money back by selling the products.

Up to $25 million in annual financing for all projects and tests included in the legislation would be authorized by the bill. Actual financing, however, would be determined later by Congress in annual appropriation bills. The eventual cost to taxpayers will be reduced by government sales of residues under the "residue removal credit" test.

"This type of legislation is one of the many keys to developing an energy policy which promotes domestic energy production and not foreign dependency. It points out the importance of conservation and maximum utilization of existing energy supplies. We cannot afford to waste energy in our personal lives and we cannot afford to waste energy as a nation.

"Wood residues are abundant in Minnesota and they are important to our national energy policy. Their use must be taken seriously, especially since for every ton of residues left in the forest, the U.S. must import three barrels of oil," Stangeland concluded.

NEWS OF SAFETY

WINTER DRIVING TIPS

Driving accidents increase dramatically during winter but by adjusting your driving habits to fit winter road conditions, you can avoid many hazards. Gilbert N. Drake, training consultant—motor vehicle safety at Liberty Mutual Insurance Company suggests these tips:

First, make sure your car is "winterized." Battery should be fully charged, brakes working properly, and exhaust systems checked for dangerous leaks. The car should also be equipped with snow or all-purpose tires.

One of the biggest dangers of winter driving is poor visibility, so make sure the windshield, rear and side windows are free of dirt, snow or ice. It's also a good idea to brush snow off the car hood and roof so it doesn't fly back on the windshield or rear window. And don't forget to make sure headlights and taillights are clean so other cars can see you.

On the road you can compensate for bad weather by putting on your low beams and turning on your directional signals well in advance. You should also allow extra space between you and the car ahead of you, since ice and snow increases the car's stopping distance. Avoid hard, sudden braking which could lock the brakes and cause a skid. When you do stop, pump the brakes to give the car more traction with the road.

Liberty Mutual's Drake also suggests you watch out for icy spots—which often appear under shaded areas, on bridges and at intersections where the stop-and-go motion of the traffic polishes the road surface. If you do hit an icy spot, don't panic—and don't touch the brakes. Ease up on the gas, steady the steering wheel and drive through. If you're stopped on the ice take off slowly so the wheels don't lose traction and spin.

If your car does begin to skid, don't overreact and slam on the brakes. Instead, keep your foot off the brake and gas pedals and, if the car begins to spin, immediately turn the steering wheel in the direction you want to go. When the wheels regain traction, lightly pump the brakes.

By following these safety tips and keeping your car in good condition, you'll increase your chances of having an accident-free winter.

Bake Someone Happy

Holiday Hurry-Up Idea

It's the hurry-up holiday season with so much to do. Often there's no time to make those special goodies so appropriate for the season.

Here's a fancy holiday bar idea you can make in a few minutes with Betty Crocker® Big Batch® cookie mix. You save time because the ingredients are already measured. Even the shortening is ready to use from the flavor packet.

Another time-saver—using preserves for the filling. It tastes like it took hours to make.

APRICOT-OATMEAL BARS

- 1 Big Batch® Flavor Packet
- 1 Big Batch oatmeal cookie mix pouch
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup apricot preserves
- Powdered sugar

Heat oven to 375°. Knead Flavor Packet about 10 seconds. Mix cookie mix, Flavor Packet, egg, coconut and walnuts in large bowl until moist; reserve 1 cup. Press remaining dough evenly in ungreased square pan, 9x9x2 inches. Spread preserves over dough in pan to within 1/2 inch of edges. Drop reserved dough by scant teaspoonfuls onto preserves. Bake until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, 18 to 20 minutes. Cool at least 30 minutes; sprinkle with powdered sugar. Cool at least 2 hours; cut into bars, about 2x1 inch. 32 bars.

Cherry-Oatmeal Bars: Substitute cherry preserves for the apricot preserves.

Note: For 60 bars, double all ingredients. Prepare as directed except—reserve 1 1/2 cups dough. Press remaining dough in ungreased jelly roll pan, 15 1/2x10 1/2x1 inch. Bake about 25 minutes. Cut into bars, about 2 1/2x1 inch.

Tips On Toys

Helpful Hints For Fun, Safety and Economy

A CHILD'S FIRST PLAYMATE — YOU

One of the delights to be enjoyed when playing with a child is to discover the child in yourself. Yet playing with children isn't always child's play. Here are a few simple rules that can help you to know how and when to join in.

1. Observe. Determine through close observation a child's skill levels and play interests.

2. Play along. Enter and play at the child's level. Be careful not to impose a play level that is too sophisticated and adult, for this may cause disenchantment for both you and the child.

3. Play a little above. After playing awhile at the child's level, you can then introduce a newer, slightly more complex play level. A conversation between two dolls, for example, can be demonstrated by you after the child has mastered playing with one doll.

4. Back away and observe again. After demonstrating a new concept and arousing a response, leave the child alone to practice and learn. After the new skill is mastered (it will take months in some instances, minutes or hours in others), you can then playfully demonstrate another, more advanced concept.

Adult involvement in play with children is important to their emotional and intellectual development.

Nevertheless, play should be spontaneous, says the Toy Manufacturers of America. Never attempt to force or rush children through these various stages of play and learning. While the toys children play with are vital to their education and development, it is also important to note that play sessions with a child should be fun.

Law Professor At U of M Opposed To Juvenile Justice

Juvenile justice system encourages juveniles to be irresponsible and should be abolished, according to a professor of law at the University of Minnesota.

In an article in the December issue of the Minnesota Law Review, Barry Feld says that when Minnesota's juvenile code was amended by the legislature earlier this year, distinctions between the adult and juvenile court systems were virtually eliminated.

Feld suggests that since juvenile proceedings are now criminal proceedings "in all but name" there is little justification for maintaining a separate system. "All offenders, regardless of age (should be tried) in district court with full procedural safeguards," he said in an interview.

Juvenile justice system was established at the turn of the century when society believed it was necessary to coerce moral values, Feld said. Hence, the juvenile court was given jurisdiction over "status" offenses: truancy, running away and under-age smoking. Underlying goal was to Americanize people, he said.

At the same time, because the notion of rehabilitation rather than punishment was built into the system, it was considered necessary to keep juvenile court proceedings informal and confidential. The process operated as a discretionary system with few rules or procedures, Feld said.

Since then, juveniles up to the age of 18 who committed crimes have been processed through the juvenile court system without the opportunity for a jury trial. This has sometimes resulted in racial or class discrimination, Feld said. The juvenile process has focused on rehabilitation, while the adult criminal court has placed greater emphasis on the seriousness of the crime.

While the juvenile system has always implied that young people are not responsible for their crimes because of their age, Feld said, it has responded to crimes by punishing rather than rehabilitating the offenders. "We mislead kids by saying we've got this nice, informal process so we can rehabilitate them," Feld said. "Then we send them away to places that are small prisons."

Although juvenile court records are supposedly confidential, Feld said the reality has been that employers and the military have been able to find out whether a youth has been in court anyway. And maintaining confidentiality during proceedings robs the system of its potential as a deterrent. "In order for deterrence to work, others have to know what is happening," he said.

Dealing with the persistent and violent youthful offenders, Feld said, has always posed one of the most difficult issues in the administration of the juvenile justice process. "Ripping off little old ladies and busting into houses is serious business," the law professor said. "By keeping the juvenile justice system informal and confidential we are minimizing the seriousness of the crimes."

Recent legislation in several states, including Minnesota, has attempted to resolve inequities in the juvenile system by moving it closer to the adult criminal system. Certifying juvenile offenders for adjudication as adults has been one method of dealing with those who commit serious crimes, but that also poses problems, Feld said.

A youth can be transferred into the jurisdiction of the adult court through either judicial or legislative waiver. A judge may waive juvenile court jurisdiction following a hearing that considers the youth's amenability to treatment and whether public safety is threatened, or a legislature may provide guidelines to the juvenile jurisdiction on which youths can be excluded when charged with certain offenses.

In the Law Review article Feld points out that statutes "mandating adult prosecution on the basis of the seriousness of the offense charged rather than on the basis of the characteristics of the offender are inconsistent with the rehabilitative philosophy of the juvenile courts."

Even a serious first offense is not a good predictor of future behavior, he writes. A legislature attempting to identify serious offenders "should do so on the basis of persistence rather than seriousness."

When Minnesota's amended juvenile code went into effect August 1, Feld said, distinctions between the adult and juvenile court systems were essentially eliminated. Under the new law, the purpose of the juvenile court has been redefined to focus on public safety, making it similar to the adult criminal code. Other changes will make the juvenile process more complex, time-consuming and formal, Feld said. The role of attorneys in juvenile litigation, for example, will expand.

Feld predicts that as a result of the legislative revisions, more juveniles will be tried as adults and sentenced accordingly.

Revisions also will force the juvenile court system to focus on serious offenders. Since there won't be time to handle minor offenders, Feld considers that change an improvement since his data indicates that those juveniles who commit "status" offenses usually do not graduate to more serious crimes.

Consent Decree In Sex Discrimination Causes 'U'M Scurry

by Maureen Smith
'U' M News Service

Ever since the University of Minnesota signed a consent decree in August to settle a seven-year-old sex discrimination suit, university officials and academic departments have been scrambling to meet deadlines and follow the procedures required by the decree.

About 16 claims have been filed with Leonard Lindquist, the Minneapolis attorney who has been chosen as the "special master" to monitor the University's compliance with the decree and to hear grievances.

A woman faculty member has been hired for the chemistry department, and a search is on for another. The original suit was filed by Shyamala Rajender in 1973 when she was not given a tenure-track position in chemistry. The consent decree mandated that two of the next five positions in chemistry be filled by women.

Charles Mays, the University's attorney, has estimated that the maximum benefit to female faculty members and job applicants over the 10-year life of the decree will be "somewhere in the range of $735,000," an estimate that differs widely from the plaintiff's estimate of nearly $60 million.

Financial implications of the decree have been the subject of widespread speculation. One reason that the estimates from the two attorneys are miles apart is that the figure the court accepts may affect the amount the University will have to pay to Rajender's attorney, who is seeking more than $1 million. The University agreed in the consent decree to pay "reasonable" attorneys' fees.

Both estimates are of the financial benefit to the class, not the cost to the University. Most of the $60 million in the plaintiff's estimate, for example, is for the salaries of women who it is assumed will be hired as a result of the decree (an assumption the university disputes). If a woman is hired for a position instead of a man, the woman will benefit but there will be no extra cost to the University.

Brown university has been under a consent decree since 1977. All suits have now been settled, and a total of $107,000 has been awarded to claimants. Brown's total cost of $1.1 million includes $1 million in attorney's fees.

The decree at Minnesota will clearly benefit two women in chemistry who would not otherwise have been hired this year. Becuuse a pattern of discrimination was found in the chemistry department, the decree said that two of the next five faculty members hired in chemistry must be women.

By the time the decree was announced the chemistry department had already made offers to four men who were scheduled to join the faculty this past fall: Following the decree, the following media attention to the offers to the four men, it was decided to hire two of the men on permanent appointments and the other two on temporary appointments. Then the search began for two women.

Marian Stankovich, an analytical chemist, from the University of Massachusetts, will become the first woman on the chemistry faculty when she takes a position as an assistant professor January 7. Harold Swofford, acting chair of chemistry, said he expects that another woman will be hired during this academic year.

No quotas are set for any other departments, but the decree outlines a set of hiring procedures that must be followed. Some apply to all departments, some to those departments in which women are underrepresented, and some to departments that have not attracted enough female applicants. National availability pools are to be used as the basis for comparison.

For a tenured position in physics to be filled next year, for example, the availability pool would be all recipients of Ph. D. degrees in physics during the academic years 1965-66 through 1974-75. The assumption is that a physicist who earned a Ph. D. in those years would have gained appropriate experience in the five or more intervening years. For a nontenured position, the pool would be all recipients of the Ph. D. in the most recent five-year period for which data are reported.

When a position is to be filled in a department in which women are underrepresented compared to their numbers in the availability pool, the decree stipulates that preference be given "to an approximately equally well qualified female candidate over another candidate who is not also a member of a protected class" (in other words, a member of a minority group).

Departments that have not been attracting enough female applicants must advertise their positions in the New York Times and the Chronicle of Higher Education.

Complying with the decree is one thing. Hiring women may be another, especially in fields in which there are few women and those few are in great demand. Take forestry as an extreme example.

In the past few years more women have been going into forestry as undergraduates, and some are now entering Ph.D. programs. But women who already have doctorates in forestry are rare. "It's been an empty pool to fish in," said Dean Richard Skok.

In the availability pool for tenured positions in forestry — people who earned doctorates in forestry 5 to 15 years ago — exactly one women is reported in the data. Because she represents 0.15 per cent of the pool, and because the College of forestry has not attracted female applicants for its tenured positions, the college will have to spend $600 or $700 to advertise each of its vacancies nationally. "It would be cheaper to find that woman and send her an airplane ticket," Skok said.

Most of the procedures required by the decree "were already in place long before we had a consent decree and others were in the works, said assistant vice president Betty Robinett. "What the consent decree has done is to accelerate the pace."

Nothing in the decree will prevent the University from hiring the most qualified people for its faculty, said Patricia Mullen, assistant director of the University's Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action. "Affirmative action does not require the University to employ or retain a woman if another person is more qualified than she," the decree says.

"Like any other good affirmative action program, this one should make things better for everyone, not just women and minorities," Mullen said. "If you're fair all around, then you're fair all around. If your advertising is restricted, it's not just women who don't hear about your positions."

University departments have been cooperating in meeting the requirements of the decree, Robinett and Mullen said. "Most people are very eager to get on with this. The thinking is that we've got it, and let's make it as positive as we can," Mullen said.

"From the regents and the president on down, the University is firmly committed to affirmative action," Robinett said. "The end and the beginning of everything is that we simply want to make this a better place for all our employees, including women and minorities and white males. We want the best possible people hired in an open process."

Minnesota 4-H'er Wins Trip

Thompson

A Steele County 4-H'er has won an expense-paid trip to the 59th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30-Dec. 4, as a Minnesota winner for his 1980 4-H project. Nathan David Thompson, 18, is among 26 Minnesota 4-H'ers selected for state awards.

Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Thompson, Owatonna, excelled in the forestry program, sponsored by International Paper Company. He planted his own windbreak on the family farm to reduce heat loss in buildings and for his livestock. The nine-year 4-H'er also conducts demonstrations on proper planting, maintenance of wooded areas and windbreak-wildlife shelters. He is a freshman at the University of Minnesota, majoring in diversified agriculture.

Winners are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service. The awards program is arranged by National 4-H Council.

Blind veterans entitled to Veterans Administration compensation for a service-connected condition are eligible for additional benefits such as adjustment to blindness training, guide dogs, low vision aids, and talking books, tapes and braille literature available from the Library of Congress.

It snowed yesterday and when it stopped, I walked along the creek in a world of frosty splendor. The woods were hushed in majestic stillness, and I tread softly. A jay screeched overhead, and bending trees shivered stealthily, with squeaking, icecoated branches. The falls at the curve of the creek stood immobilized with hoarfrost and icicles, but bending near I heard soft and surely the murmur of the moving creek beneath the icebound surface.

It came to me, how like that creek, my faith has been. At times this faith has been covered by rimes of doubt and selfishness. Often it has been embittered by anguish and despair. But always under that glacial exterior there coursed a stream of consciousness that knew no turning from God — and the things I had been taught from childhood.

How glad I am my parents took me to church and brought me up with such a sure knowledge of God's love that it sustained me even when I tried to turn from His ways.

Autistic Children Helped By Center

by Leslie Martin

Everyone said Neil was a hopeless case. Expert after expert assured Neil's adoptive parents that their son would never speak, that he didn't understand anything, and that he would have to spend his life in an institution for the mentally retarded.

Neil's parents were not at all satisfied with the prognosis.

They knew that Neil's biological parents had not wanted a child, and that they sometimes locked him in a room and fed him only when they remembered to. Before Neil's new parents adopted him, they saw him thrash around and throw things for hours at a time. They heard his animal-like noises. They knew his behavior was unpredictable, that he did such things as stick pins in his ears. Yet they felt Neil was a bright child, and refused to believe he was "virtually unteachable," as they had been told.

As it turned out, the parents were right, and all the "experts" were wrong.

Since enrolling in the program for autistic and other exceptional children at a Minneapolis health center in October, 1979, "virtually unteachable" five-year-old Neil has learned to say such words as "Mama," "bye bye," and "eat," and is attempting many new words. He has learned to play simple games with adults and other children, and has learned to ride a tricycle.

Neil still has serious problems, but for his parents, the progress so far seems like a miracle.

In the not too distant past there was little hope for children like Neil and other children who display similar behavior — often called autistic or autistic-like — but who come from stable, loving families. However, the program for autistic and other exceptional children can boast many such tales of improvement among their students — children with moderate to severe problems in learning, behavior, communication and interaction.

Allyson, whose symptoms were similar to Neil's, was such a difficult child that her public school system didn't know what to do with her. The system simply had no program that could handle her severe problems, and her lack of speech only made things worse. After five months in the program at the health center, Allyson is talking almost like other children, and is able to attend public school.

Four-year-old Conrad used to throw temper tantrums when he first came to the program. At music time, he would plant himself firmly on the floor, and with his heels, turn himself around and around, screaming. Now Conrad sits with the group at music time, and requests his favorite songs.

How have these children been able to progress so remarkably in the program despite the grim predictions of experts?

One reason, according to program co-director Sheila Merzer, is the method used for teaching. In this program, the key ingredient is fun.

"Play is a child's work," Merzer, a licensed psychologist explained. "It's how they learn. These children don't automatically play, so we have to teach them how."

And, she added, a fun lesson is more appealing than a dull one.

"If you're trying to teach the different parts of the body to one of these children, you can sit with the child all day long saying, 'Show me your hand' over and over again and the child is not likely to learn much," Merzer said.

"Or you can do what we do here. You can make it fun. If the child likes bubbles, you can ask if he or she wants you to blow bubbles onto a hand or a foot. That way you've combined something the child is already interested in with the language or skills you're trying to teach."

Music is one of the most popular activities at the program, and one of the most successful. Every morning the children and their teachers — there is one teacher for each child — gather together in a circle and sing songs that focus on each child and something special that child can do.

"Where is Neil? Where is Neil?" they sing to the tune of "Frere Jacques." That signals Neil that it's his turn to stand up and either jump or dance or turn. If Neil starts turning, the group, under the leadership of program co-director Lyle Chastain, will sing, "Neil is turning, Neil is turning. Good for you!" By the end of the song, all the children will have received praise for their contributions.

According to Chastain, also a licensed psychologist, the song teaches children to enjoy participating in group activities, to follow directions, to recognize their names, stand unassisted, perform a motion and sit down when asked.

"The song provides positive attention for each child," Chastain explained. "Because of their behavior, many of these children get a lot of negatives: 'Don't do this, don't do that.' Here, we say, 'Good job!'"

Some children have made their first attempts at speech during the music sessions, Chastain said.

"Communication is the single most important skill we can teach them. Once they can say, 'help,' or 'all done,' there is less need for them to throw things or scream because they now have the ability to verbally express what they're thinking and feeling."

Other fun activities used for teaching useful tasks include swimming, carpentry, making popcorn and muffins, and going to the store.

Families of children in the program are encouraged to participate in activities. Brothers and sisters meet to discuss the problems they encounter, such as what to do when other children tease them. Parents learn to cope better with their child once they've met with other parents in the same situation and learned they aren't alone, Merzer said.

Merzer and Chastain spend a good deal of time traveling to schools throughout Minnesota to evaluate children who present severe behavior and language problems, and to show teachers how they can more effectively reach those children. Through this outreach program, Merzer and Chastain maintain contacts with 200 exceptional children. They also help instruct pediatricians to recognize early the signs of autistic-like disabilities: delayed, deviant or nonexistent speech; avoidance of eye contact or interaction; excessive self-stimulation, such as rocking, banging the head or gazing at the fingers; and repetitive or ritualistic play.

"We cannot overemphasize the importance of early screening," Merzer said. "The sooner we reach these children, the more likely it is that they'll learn and eventually become independent adults."

Program for autistic and other exceptional children began in 1971 at the University of Minnesota, and joined the health center in 1978. Funded mostly by the public schools and donations, the program enrolls six preschool children during the school year, and 25 children, ages 2 to 13, in the summer. Most are from Minnesota, but some have come from South Dakota, Wisconsin and other states in the region. During the school year, many of the children attend their school district's preschool in the afternoons, so they can interact with children who learn and play more normally.

"We wish we had more space and more staff so we could take on more children," Chastain said. "We're booked months in advance for evaluations and meetings with public schools. And there is little turnover. Once we take on a child, we keep up the contact sometimes until the child enters junior high school."

Added Merzer, "Not all the children make dramatic improvements in the program. But for all the children we try to find ways to make their school services more effective and to enrich their lives."

Minnesota's Representation to the 92nd Tournament of Roses Parade

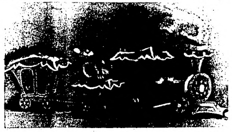
Lower Right BC&T Float-"The Sweet Outdoors"



In a celebration of "The Great Outdoors" – theme of the 92nd Pasadena Tournament of Roses – the Hibbing, Minnesota High School "Bluejackets" Marching Band will be featured in the New Year's Day floral extravaganza.

Minnesota's delegation will number in excess of 280 members. The Minneapolis Aquatennial will be represented by President and Mrs. Douglas Head, General Festival Chairman Chris Christofilis and Queen of the Lakes Cathy Linsmier (the former Hopkins Raspberry Queen). Queen Cathy will ride on the Bakery, Confectionery and Tobacco Workers Union float, titled, "The Sweet Outdoors."

The 180-member Hibbing High School Band and 100 band boosters and parents will complete the Minnesota delegation which will mark 21 years of Minnesota's representation in the Tournament of Roses. Hibbing is the smallest city to be represented by a band in the parade, one of the 13 out-of-state entries.

The Hibbing High School Band and Aquatennial representatives will be headquartered at the Sheraton Newport Beach Hotel and will conduct a number of public appearances during their 10-day visit to the West Coast including Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm and Universal Studios.

The appearance itinerary will begin on December 27th as the delegation departs from the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport. Air travel for the delegation is being coordinated by Western Airlines and ground travel by National Car Rental System. The parade will be viewed by an estimated 150 million viewers the world over and will be broadcast locally by NBC and CBS beginning at 10 a.m., New Year's Day. The band is unit 48 and the float will appear as unit 22 in the 160 unit parade.

Ronnie's Dilemma

Following editorial is from the Ely Echo:

Riding into office on a bandwagon of righteous indignation against big government, high taxes, inflation — you name it — President-elect Ronald Reagan is being touted as having the answers to the multiple problems facing the nation. One of the biggest boosts is coming from the industrial community which feels that if the government would just "Get its hands off business" the nation would be in for a period of unprecedented prosperity, full employment, etc., etc. Nobody likes the heavy hand of government on business, particularly HIS business. . . but like the guy with diarrhea said when he found a skunk in the outhouse: "Life ain't that simple."

A good case in point is the matter of acid rain. Unless the federal government does not take action to curb the emission of sulphur dioxide from the coal-fired power plants in the industrial centers, we stand a good chance to lose a big chunk of our multi-million dollar Minnesota tourist business. It is a case where the by-products of one business can sink another one. And it is not something that can be handled on a local level. Much of the polluting material which is damaging the lakes here comes from the Ohio River Valley. Ely, St. Louis County, and the State of Minnesota could pass all the laws they want against acid rain but it would have absolutely no effect. Only enforced federal regulations can do the job.

And this means more government. The power companies in the Ohio River Valley will scream their heads off that federal "red tape" is running up their costs. Ohio Congressmen will also scream. The point is, neither the businesses in Ohio nor the elected officials give a frank damn about what happens in Minnesota — to the lakes, to the tourist industry or anything else — not if it is going to cost the people of Ohio more money to clean up their act.

There is going to be some real warfare in the next Congress over this issue alone, and Reagan will be right in the middle. The argument from Ohio will be that any attempt to clean up the smoke stacks will put people out of work: "Job or fish" will be the slogan, the fact that fish mean jobs up here, notwithstanding. If Reagan can figure this one out and come up with a cheap answer which includes less federal regulations, he's got a better cauldron of magic than the Wizard of Id.

Classroom Gems

These answers to questions asked of school children were published in the Land O'Lakes Mirror:

—Julius Caeser was murdered by the Ides of March. As he was dying he looked up and said, "You two brutes."

—Rome was overthrown by invasions of Huns, Visigoths, and Osteopaths.

—The motto of the French Revolution was Liberty, Equality, Fertility.

—The artichoke was an ancient instrument of torture.

—A bamboo is an Italian baby.

—The climate is hottest next to the Creator.

—The cold at the North Pole is so cold that the towns are not inhabited here.

—Some people are punished for their sins, and not for Adam's transmission.

—The equator is an imaginary lion that runs around the earth and through Africa.

—All I know about the heart is that it is shaped like a Valentine.

—An epidemic is a needle the doctor uses to put medicine in your arm.

—In order to prevent smallpox, an incision is made in the arm and a cow's limb is inserted.

—When two babies are born together they are called twins. When three are born they are called culprits.

—A somnambulist is the car they take you to the hospital in.

—To be a good nurse a lady has to be absolutely sterile.

—Filet Mignon is an opera by Puccini.

—One of the rights people enjoy with the Constitution is the right to keep bare arms.

—When we see an object, light passes through the eye and into the brain where little light exists.

—Heredity is a bad thing and should be prevented.

—Pasteurized milk comes from the great French doctor, Pasteur. He was French, but now his milk has gone so far that he is really international.

—Cynaide is so poisonous that one drop of it on a dog's tongue will kill the strongest man.

—The Black Death killed so many people that it greatly reduced the popularity of Eruope.

—Socrates died from an overdose of wedlock.

—Louis XIV was gelatined.

—Queen Elizabeth was the Virgin Queen. As a queen she was a big success.

—The people in Hong Kong ride around in jigsaws.

—An executive goes home at night tired and often he cannot get his mind off the drudge at the office.

—An Indian reservation consists of a mile of land for every five square Indians.

—A virgin forest is a forest where the hand of man has never set foot.

—A goblet is a male turkey.

—A microscope is used to see things that are smaller than the naked eye.

—When a lady and a gentleman are walking on the sidewalk, the lady should walk inside the gentleman.

—The climate of Bombay is such that its inhabitants have to live someplace else.

—The Mediterranean and the Red Sea are connected by the Sewage Canal.

—Often when people are drowned you can revise them by punching in their side but not too hard. This is called resurrection.

—Heresy is where a child looks like his father.

What Made America Rich?

Wheeler McMillen, editor-in-chief of the "Farm Journal" magazine for many years, writes the following thoughts on agriculture from his home in Virginia:

Out of the energy crisis has come a whole new way of looking at the world — particularly at its limitations. We now know that there's a limit to how much crude oil we can pump out of the ground; a limit to the ore we can mine; even a limit to the fish we can catch.

Perhaps now at last, the people of this country will finally be able to see something they have not seen, or at least acknowledged, before: that the one true source of America's wealth is its farms.

Nearly all of the orginal wealth from which our people have created great industries and built our populous cities has come from work done by farmers. Where else could it have come from? The earth contains only three major sources from which capital and enterprise can develop: the soil, the mines and the seas. The once-great fishing ports of Mystic, Conn., and Gloucester, Mass., are now mostly tourist sites. Ghost towns abound in the West where the mines have played out. Only farming has persisted and kept the cities growing.

It was the farm products from upstate and later from the Midwest via the Erie Canal that originally built New York City. Certainly it was grain and livestock, gathered by rail, barge and Great Lakes shipping, that built Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Louis. Cotton built Memphis and New Orleans. Timber, wheat, wool and the fields of California built our West Coast cities. Walk the streets of these cities and admire their museums, hospitals, libraries and universities. Where did the great philanthropic fortunes come from to build them? Occasionally from fish or mines. But mainly from industrialists who made the machines to produce crops; from the rail tycoons who hauled the grain and cattle; or from the manufacturers who processed the food.

The nickel, dime or dollar profits that these handlers could garner from each bushel or each hog could and, at times, did make millionaries. They not only gathered great fortunes, but they also got most of the credit for "building America." The farmer, only one of millions, got little of either.

Today, the nation is looking around for a more dependable, indeed renewable, source of wealth. Our people are recognizing at last that there is only one: the rain, sunshine and soil that makes our lands productive.

Perhaps it's too much to hope. But as our people look forward to a future based on our farms, maybe they will look back a moment and realize that through all of our yesterdays, it has been the farmer's land and his labor that have produced this nation's industries and its accumulated wealth. Maybe someday the historians will mention this fact in their books.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Husband reading newspaper: "It says here that a professor found frozen buffalo meat in Alaska that was 2,700 years old and still edible.

Wife: "So?"

Husband: "So how come yesterday's leftovers are inedible?"

From Colorful Confections . . .

Create Christmas Ornaments

The first Christmas tree was decorated with confections, paper roses, apples and cookies in France during the 1600's. Since then, tree trimming has become one of our most important holiday traditions—often cause for a celebration in itself! This year why not invite a group of family and friends to an old-fashioned tree trimming party, and let them create some edible ornaments from an assortment of colorful candies.

According to the confectionery industry, there are over 2,000 varieties of candies in almost every color of the rainbow which can be used to make your tree look simply spectacular. Here are a few ideas to get the party started.

Ornaments simple enough for even young children to make, start with squares of cellophane filled with an assortment of bright confections, and then are tied to the tree with bright yarn.

Provide children and adults with cardboard cut-outs of wreaths, angels, and stars. Let them "glue" on a mosaic of candies with a special edible icing made by beating 2 egg whites until frothy, then gradually beating in 2½ cups of confectioners' sugar, and continue beating until stiff. Each ornament becomes an original artwork.

Another idea is to hang personalized Christmas stockings on the sturdier branches. Fill them with special candies representing their individual interests. For example, a coin collector would be amused by a stocking brimming with foil-wrapped chocolate coins, while the ski buff could use a wool sock filled with energy-boosting hard candies.

Ornaments made from attractive confections lend a personal touch to your tree with designs limited only by imagination. Oh—and since confections are so irresistible, be certain to have plenty of extras on hand at the party for everyone to enjoy while trimming the tree.

Gov. Quie's Column

The Double Dip Recession Hits Minnesota

Minnesota received some discouraging new last week when economists predicted a second major downturn in the U.S. economy for early 1981.

In a press briefing at the State Capitol last week, Commissioner Wayne Burggraaff and State Economist Harold Lofgreen said that this latest economic news means that Minnesota will enter 1981 with extremely limited new revenues.

In November, the Minnesota Department of Finance had estimated a range of $1.7 to $1.2 billion in new revenues for the next budget period. But Commissioner Bruggraaff said a review of economic activity now suggests that we must focus efforts to further refine our revenue forecast on the low end of the range. He indicated that there was a strong possibility economic factors external to Minnesota may cause new revenues to fall below the $1.2 billion point.

Let me outline why Commissioner Burggraaf has had to revise the anticipated range of new revenue estimates for 1982-83.

First of all, national growth projections for 1981 have taken a sharp decline in the last month and a half. As late as Oct. 28, 1980, forecasts had indicated the U.S. would see a projected real output growth of 1.4 per cent in 1981. By Nov. 25, 1980 that figure had been re-evaluated and changed to a projected growth rate of only .8 per cent in 1981.

If these projections are correct, it would be the second time in the last year that our national economy has taken a nosedive — thus, the expression "the double dip recession."

Number One Cause: High Interest Rates

Economists are blaming the high interest rates, created by restrictive Federal Reserve System monetary policy, as the number one cause of this projected second slowdown.

Last week the prime interest rate reached 20 per cent, with many economists speculating that the prime rate would continue to rise during December and early 1981.

The erratic movement of the prime rate within the last year illustrates the volatility of our national economy.

Just 12 months ago, interest rates were 11¾ per cent. By April 1980, they had quickly risen to 20 per cent. The prime rate slipped back to 11 per cent in August 1980, only once again to skyrocket to 20 per cent in December 1980.

Other Indicators

But interest rates aren't the only reason Commissioner Burggraaff sees a bleak financial picture ahead for Minnesota. Indicators of a slowing national economy include:

—Total U.S. employment is 557,000 below the February 1980 level. (Minnesota employment is 26,800 less than last year's levels.)

—Retail sales have been flat since July.

—Auto sales for the 30-day period ending Nov. 20 are at recession levels.

—New home starts were down 13.8 per cent in October and permits for new construction fell 14.8 per cent in November.

—The average motrgage rate for new homes was 14.1 per cent in November, up ½ per cent since October and likely to rise further.

—Non-defense capital goods orders, adjusted for inflation, were down in October.

As Commissioner Burggraaff stated in his news conference the national downward trend in the economy will be reflected in Minnesota. While the state has no control over the formation of federal economic policies that created the recession, we at the state level must be prepared to cope with the effects of the national economic slump on our Minnesota economy.

Within the next month, the Department of Finance will issue revised revenue projections that will incorporate the new national economic predictions. Once this information is available, I will meet with state finance experts, legislative leaders and private economists to determine the best course of action for our state to take to meet the challenges of our future.

Look For Safety When Buying Christmas Toy

Of all toys purchased annually, more than one-half are bought during the holiday season. At this peak in the buying year an awareness of toy safety should be a primary consideration in selecting toys that are fun — and safe. Even though many hazardous toys have been banned and toys are regulated by the consumer product safety commission, constant vigilance is still necessary on the part of the consumer.

Minnesota Public Interest Research group (MPIRG), long a staunch supporter of safe toy legislation and regulation, offers the following guidelines for safe toy buying:

+ Choose a toy appropriate for the child's age and development. While people think their child is brighter than average, buying toys clearly marked for an older child can pose special problems and definitely increases the need for parental supervision.

+ Remember that younger brothers and sisters may have access to toys designed for older children.

+ Check fabric labels for "nonflammable," "flame-retardant," or "flame-resistant" notices.

+ Look for sharp glass and metal edges and sharp points. (Regulated in toys for children under eight years of age.)

+ Avoid toys that produce excessive noise. (Even a toy cap pistol fired too close to a child's ear can cause damage. Warnings are required on boxes of caps that produce noise above a certain level.)

+ Avoid shooting games that do not have soft cork tips, rubber suction cups or other protective tips which are securely fastened.

+ Check for small parts which may lodge in the windpipe, ears or nostrils of a child (regulated in toys for children under three years of age).

+ Avoid long strings and cords as they may entangle an infant or young child and cause a strangulation hazard.

+ Carefully check the construction of the toy to be sure it not made of glass or brittle plastic that may break easily into small parts of leave jagged edges. Discard any plastic material used in packaging.

+ Check for parts which can pinch fingers or catch hair.

+ Exercise care when buying electric toys. Avoid flimsy wiring and poor construction, and look for warning labels.

+ Beware of toys that contain poisonous or toxic elements or have an exposed flame.

+ Check instructions. They should be easy to read and understand. Instruct the child in the proper use of any toy that might cause injury through misuse.

The consumer product safety commission (CPSC) is the federal government's agency charged with the responsibility of establishing, enforcing and monitoring product safety regulations. Even though there is generally a high level of competence by the toy manufacturers, consumers must remain alert, concerned and informed, the commission said. MPIRG and representatives of the CPSC encourage cosumers to contact the product safety agency regarding any product safety information. Many free materials are available to the public upon request.

If a toy looks unsafe or if a consumer has a "near miss," contact the CPSC at their Twin Cities district office, 612-725-7781, or their toll-free hotline 800-638-8326. They would rather test a potentially hazardous toy before an injury or death occurs. And, of course, if a toy is involved in a product, related accident, call them immediately.

Today there is a greater awareness of toy safety among consumers and manufacturers than there was 10 years ago. This awareness has produced safer, higher quality playthings for children. However, consumers cannot assume that retail shelves are totally free of unsafe toys. Constant attention to safety features is advised.

Public cannot test toys by dropping them or taking them apart in a retail store. Often, plastic covered packages and glued or stapled boxes prevent even the most cursory examination. Consumers who have doubts about a packaged toy should ask their retailer to open it for them to examine.

MPIRG is a student funded and student governed, non-profit organization. MPIRG's lawyers, researchers and student interns work on social change issues relating to consumer protection, energy and the environment.

Labor Secretary Reacts To CETA Ban Proposal

Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall expressed alarm about a proposal by an advisory group to the incoming Reagan Administration to phase out the comprehensive employment and training act (CETA) program.

The proposal, by a group headed by Mayor Pete Wilson of San Diego, is "an American tragedy in the making," Secretary Marshall said in an address before the ninth annual employment policy conference of the National Association of Counties in San Antonio.

"To cut CETA out of the American government is to make it more difficult for the poor and disadvantaged to participate in American society," Marshall emphasized. "CETA is the best hope — maybe the last hope — of reaching people who fall further behind every day — but who will never disappear."

Marshall explained that the Carter Administration had pushed legislative changes to the CETA program that focus it more sharply on meeting of the needs of the disadvantaged and long-term unemployed. "We realized that the CETA system had many problems. That's why we've worked so hard to improve the management, carefully target the program and develop a close working relationship with the private sector through the private sector initiative program.

"Setting up CETA was a struggle," he told the county officials' organization. "Improving it was a struggle. And maintaining it now will be an even more difficult struggle."

Marshall added, however, that "it is a struggle we can win, and it's a struggle we better win."

In addition, Marshall declared, CETA "is a system that Americans can be justifiably proud of, both because of its success and because it fulfills this country's commitment to the goal of equal opportunity."

This country needs a public employment and training program "if we are to improve productivity and achieve our national goals of stable prices and full employment," Marshall said.

He called the proposal by Mayor Wilson's group a plan "based on myths and misconceptions."

According to Marshall, CETA has been successful in helping large numbers "become self-sufficient members of society. And that is a story that can be documented by numerous evaluations or by going into almost any community in the United States. It is a story of suffering relieved and hope renewed."

Marshall said that the current high unemployment rate among the poor and disadvantaged "underscores the desperate necessity of having a system like CETA."

Saying the nation should abandon CETA because the jobless rate is high is like saying cities should lay off police because of the high crime rate, Marshall declared.

Do-Ahead Brunch

When a relaxing Sunday afternoon is what you are looking for, try this easy menu. Do most of your meal preparation the night before and be a guest at your own brunch.

The casserole and flavored butter can be prepared the night before. While the casserole bakes the next morning, set out the flavored butter to soften. Warm the Danish just before serving. Add orange juice, fruit and a hot beverage to complete the meal. Serve buffet style — and enjoy.

Menu

Chilled Orange Juice
Overnight Egg Casserole
Warm Individual Danish
Flavored Butter
Fresh Fruit
Coffee, Tea or Milk

Overnight Egg Casserole

8 slices white bread
2 cups milk
8 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/8 teaspoon ground pepper
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
1 cup cubed ham

Cut crusts off bread; cut each slice into cubes, set aside. Combine milk, eggs, salt, mustard and pepper. Lightly stir together milk mixture, bread cubes, cheese and ham. Pour mixture into 8x8x2 inch glass baking dish. Cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight. Bake in preheated 325°F. oven about 1 hour or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes before serving. Makes 9 servings.

Danish With Flavored Butter Spread

1/4 cup butter, softened
2 teaspoons grated orange peel OR 2 tablespoons pineapple preserves
6 frozen Sara Lee Individual Danish, any flavor

Prepare flavored butter by whipping together butter and orange peel. Refrigerate overnite. Set out butter to soften 1 hour. Warm Danish. Serve with flavored butter. Makes 6 servings.

Find Cox Guilty Of 2nd Degree Murder Friday

Following deliberation from 1:05 p.m. Friday to 12:07 a.m. Saturday, a Pennington county district court jury found Edward Theodor Cox of Aitkin guilty of murder in the second degree. Sentencing was deferred pending completion of a pre-sentence investigation.

Cox, 19, was tried in Pennington county on a change of venue from Aitkin county. He was one of three individuals initially charged in the stabbing death of Inga Warren June 18 at her bait shop located seven miles south of Aitkin.

Tim Tibbetts was permitted to plead guilty to second degree murder in exchange for his agreement to testify at trials of the other two defendants. John Lemire was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment at St. Cloud state reformatory. Sentencing of Tibbetts has been deferred pending the other trials.

Testimony in the Cox case began December 10 and continued until the case went to the jury at 1:05 p.m. Friday. Members of the jury were RaeAnn Halvorson, Sharon Smith, Tommy Johnson, Marilyn Bannerman, Leonard Helm, Patricia Schob, Paul Halverson, Dorothy Nelson, Robert Burstad, Dorothy Halsa, John Wolbeck and Adeline Haney. Alternate junors were David Hoglin and Loren Borsheim.

Judge Warren Saetre of Thief River Falls presided at the district court trial.

ICCC Receives $61,000 Energy Crisis Grant

Congressman Arlan Stangeland's office has announced that the Inter-County community council in Oklee has received a grant of $61,000 from the community services administration for an energy crisis intervention program.

The council, which serves Clearwater, East Polk, Pennington and Red Lake counties, will use the funds to provide assistance to poor and near poor households experiencing energy-related crisis.

Stores Open Every Nite 'til 9

IT ISN'T RUDOLPH — in fact, it isn't even a reindeer — but this little deer paid an unscheduled pre-Christmas visit to Westside Motors in Thief River Falls Wednesday afternoon. The little whitetail was wandering around the outside of the building and appeared disoriented, so a customer went out and brought it inside. The deer accepted a drink of water offered to it and calmly lay down in a corner of the shop's parts department. Easily approachable, it responded to attending, such as that given above by sale manager Roger Shaffer. Some checking by office staff at Westside indicated that the visitor had wandered away from the Alan Gehris farm where it had spent the summer after being purchased from Ernie Thune's deer yard this spring. The deer was first missed on Saturday and had wandered about seven miles before entering the Westside Motors building. Gehris picked the animal up and returned it home Wednesday evening. "It sure attracted a lot of attention," Shaffer said of the deer's visit.

County Settles Salaries With 10% Increase

Pennington county commissioners approved a contract negotiated with Law Enforcement Labor Services, Inc., at the board meeting last Tuesday, setting the tone for salary adjustments throughout nearly all county positions.

The settlement for deputy sheriffs, dispatchers and related law enforcement personnel totaled approximately 10 per cent for the one-year contract. Adjustments in other county salaries were also made at about the 10 per cent level.

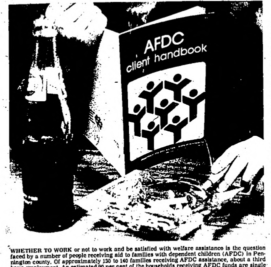
Not covered in the settlement were employees of the welfare department who are included in a separate contract, and the county highway engineer who is also under separate contractual arrangements.

Licenses approved by the commissioners included the following: Gerald Sjulestad, Sjulestad store, off-sale 3.2 beer license; Lorraine Groven, Highlanding store, on-sale and off-sale 3.2 beer license; Kenneth Noreen, Noreen's Country Store, off-sale 3.2 beer license; Helen Olson, Kife's cafe, off-sale beer and on-sale liquor license; Thief River golf club, on-sale 3.2 beer license and club on-sale liquor license; Louis Carpenter, Carpenter's Corner, on-sale and off-sale 3.2 beer license; and Lawrence Boutain, Trapper and Trader at Goodridge, on-sale liquor license and Sunday liquor.

At an earlier meeting the county board had increased the costs of licenses and those seeking renewal made new applications for consideration at the Tuesday meeting.

The board also approved listing of a dozen mobile home owners as being delinquent in tax payment.

AFDC Work Incentive — Who Gains The Benefits?



WHETHER TO WORK or not to work and be satisfied with welfare assistance is the question faced by a number of people receiving aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) in Pennington county. Of approximately 130 to 140 families receiving AFDC assistance, about a third have employment. An estimated 90 per cent of the households receiving AFDC funds are single parent households, and at the present time all of those parents are female. A new handbook on the AFDC program has been received by the Pennington county social services office and is being made available to all present recipients and new applicants for AFDC assistance.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Should all parents of young children be required to work to assist in providing for their support? The answer to that question is one of the many gray areas faced by social services at the county, state and national levels as they seek to establish a balance between benevolence and indolence.

"The incentive to work is there," states Gary Erickson, director of the Pennington county social services office. "Not all recipients of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) are able to work, not all parents willing to work are able to find employment, and there probably are some who really would rather not work at all. But the law definitely provides an incentive for AFDC recipients to be employed."

The incentive is built into a provision of the AFDC program called the "earnings disregard". Basically, this amounts to the first $30 of earned income, plus one-third of the remainder of that income. The sum of those two amounts is not counted against the AFDC grant to which the household is entitled by pre-determined formula.

For instance, a family with $450 gross earned income could initially deduct $30, leaving a remainder of $420. One-third of the $420 — or $140 — would also be exempt, creating a total earnings disregard of $170.

Additional work expenses may also be deducted, including such items as transportation, meals, child care, tax obligations, uniforms or required personal tools, etc. An example given in a new state department of public welfare booklet entitled "AFDC Client Handbook" shows the family mentioned above having total work expenses of $194.

The earnings disregard of $170 and the work expenses of $194 when deducted from the gross earned income leave a net earned income of $86.

Standard AFDC grant to the sample family (one adult and two children) is $417 per month. Subtracting the net earned income ($86) from the standard grant ($417) would result in a net AFDC payment of $331. Therefore, in the sample family, total family spendable income would be $587 ($331 AFDC payment plus $86 net earned income plus $170 earnings disregard) instead of the $417 basic grant.

"If I were to assess the earnings disregard allowance on a total basis, I would say its effect on the total AFDC program is minimal," Erickson said. "While it does reduce the amount of average payment to AFDC recipients per month, it tends to have people stay on the program for more extended periods of time. It is intended to encourage recipients to seek gainful employment, and it does that, but it also provides an incentive for recipients to control that income so that they can still remain eligible for AFDC assistance."

Two additional programs make that incentive to control income and retain eligibility very real. They are the medical assistance program and the food stamp program. "AFDC Client Handbook" explains the former as follows:

"AFDC recipients are automatically eligible to receive medical assistance (MA). You can receive nearly all medical services and prescriptions free. The department of public welfare will send you a monthly medical card which you can take to your doctor, hospital, druggist, dentist and eye care person. Show your card when you go for an appointment. The person with whom you are dealing will send the bill to the department of public welfare for payment."

"If you leave the AFDC program because you have excess earnings, you may remain eligible for medical assistance for up to four months after the date of AFDC termination . . . You will receive the same medical benefits that you got while on AFDC."

Regarding food stamps, the booklet notes: "Food stamps can be of real help to you with your food budget. By using them to buy food, you will have more cash available to meet other needs. Eligibility depends on family size and income."

A number of factors are considered when determining original AFDC eligibility. Generally speaking, there must be a child in the family who is deprived of the support or care of one of the parents. Persons may qualify if: One parent is absent from the home, and the child is lacking that parent's support or care; one of the parents living in the home with the child has a qualifying work history (employed in six of the previous 13 months) but currently is unemployed or works only a few hours a month; one parent is so physically or mentally incapacitated as to be unable to provide support or care to the children; or a child is living with a stepparent who is unable or unwilling to support the child and the natural parent cannot meet the child's financial needs.

Parents requesting aid for one child can have up to $600 in cash, savings, stocks, bonds or other personal property. If the parent has two or more children, the assets may total $1,000. The family can have life insurance if the cash surrender values of the policies of everyone in the family do not exceed $500. Each family member may also own a prepaid burial account of $750 and each of these may earn a total of $200 interest.

The family may own its own home, which is considered an exempt resource. Value of one automobile is also exempt, as are household goods, furniture, jewelry, appliances and clothing. If property other than the homestead is owned, it must produce a net profit available to the recipient or be up for sale at a fair and reasonable price.

Once a family has established eligibility, it can remain on the program until earned income becomes high enough or the youngest child in the family becomes 18 years of age.

How much income is enough to lose eligibility for the program? It can be a substantial amount. For simple figuring, Erickson cited an example of a single parent with two children and monthly income of $930. The $30 basic earnings disregard brings the total to $900. One-third of that — or $300 — is also exempt.

Deduct an additional $150 for babysitting, $150 for taxes, $21 for meals, $60 for transportation and $20 for uniforms or equipment and the countable income is reduced to $299. Subtract the $299 from the basic grant standard of $417 and the family still receives an AFDC payment of $118 plus medical assistance coverage and possible food stamp eligibility.

"That may be a bit of an extreme case, but it is possible," Erickson said. "And at that level of income, it is easy to see an advantage to controlling income to maintain eligibility. That medical assistance card can provide for any health care need — dental care, eyeglasses, drug prescriptions, hospital and clinic costs. Who knows what that can be worth to a family

Ross And McCullough Vows Spoken At Austin

Miss Debra Jean Ross and Blake Byron McCullough were married November 29 at Grace American Lutheran church at Austin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Ross of Austin. Parents of the groom are Mikky McCullough, Bemidji, and W.K. McCullough, Panama City, Fla.

Rev. Henry Mayer officiated at the 2:00 p.m., ceremony. Organist was Mrs. Jerrald Solberg.

Dianna Ross, St. Cloud, was maid of honor and Peggy Taffe, Bemidji, and Sharon Prow, St. Cloud, were bridesmaids. Attending the groom were best man Greg McCullough, Bemidji, and the groomsmen, Mark McCullough, Panama City, Fla., and Rod McCullough, Talihina, Okla. The ushers were George Ross and James Ross of Austin.

Following the ceremony, a reception, dinner and dance was held at the Conservation club. The previous evening, the groom's dinner was served at the Riviera.

Mr. and Mrs. McCullough are at home in Thief River Falls, where both are employed by Kentucky Fried Chicken. The bride, who attended Bemidji State University, is assistant manager, and the groom, a graduate of Bemidji State University, is manager. The couple will vacation in Florida in February. WCTU Christmas Program Given At Valley Home

Thief River Falls Woman's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) held their annual Christmas party at Valley Home on December 2. At the request of the group, the program this year was given by the 29 students at Our Savior's Christian Academy with the music teacher Mrs. Marvin Kading in charge.

The program was based on the birth of Christ and began with the group singing "Joy to the World." Scripture readings with corresponding carols by various groups followed. The various divisions included Doug Swanson reading Isaiah 9:2 and 6 with Sharon Nelson and Dawn Johnson singing "Watchman tell us of the night," and the girls in grades 3-12 singing "Behold a branch is growing;"

Audrey Nichols read Luke 2:1-7 and grades three and four sang "While shepherds watched their flocks by night"; Dawn Johnson read Luke 2:8-14 and grades six to 12 sang "Angels we have heard on high," and "Winds through the olive trees;" and Sherry Nelson read Matt. 2, telling of the visit of the wisemen, and the first and second graders sang, "Bethlehem Lullaby," "Dear Little Stranger," and "Away in a Manager". The "Prayer for Peace," was given by Julie Johnson. The program concluded with the boys singng, "We three kings of orient are;" and everyone participating in singing, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Following the program, the members of the WCTU served a variety of Christmas breads and cookies to the residents, school children and guests. The orange juice was provided by McDonalds.

After the program, Christmas cards from the WCTU were signed.

Geneva Overum Hosts Campanula Christmas Party

Campanula garden club Christmas party was held December 10 at the Geneva Overum home with 11 members present. Also attending was Mrs. Dorothy Berve, a former member of the club.

Geneva Overum presided at the brief business meeting which inculded the secretary, treasurer, and good cheer reports. Newly-elected president Mrs. Ruth Holmes outlined her plans for the year. She asked the officers to meet at her home on January 14 to assist in making the program books for the year. The members designated the months they wish to serve as hostesses. The club purpose and the December poem was read in unison.

A program was given with each member contributing by giving a reading, a poem or song.

Following lunch, served by the hostess, four baskets were packed for shut-in members. Included were goodies brought by the members, a 1980 "Ideals" book, and a greeting card signed by those present.

High-Risers Note Christmas And December Births

High-Risers of Riverside Terrace gathered in the Terrace community room on Monday, December 15 for their Christmas party. Birthdays were also celebrated.

The event began with a baked turkey and ham dinner. Scalloped potatoes, sweet potatoes, baked beans, salads, pickles and rolls were brought by the residents.

Following the dinner, a program was given with Ruth Fricker, Hannah Kisch and Ethel Nelson giving readings. Special entertainment was provided by the Cub Scout pack of Zion, who led the residents in singing Christmas carols. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Giles. Later in the evening birthday cake, donated by Bea Hanson, rosettes and krumkake were served.

Residents honored for having birthdays in December and the day of their birthday, were Bea Hanson and Myles Jackson, December 11; M.G. Johnson, December 15; Evelyn Holmwood, December 27, and Marie Nelson, December 29.

Highlighting the event was the presentation of a money tree to the managers, LeRoy and Greta Vandeventer, by the High Risers president George Fricker. The Vandeventers presented the group with an exerciser.

16 Residents At Valley Home Note Birthdays

Sixteen residents at Valley Home observed their birthdays in November according to the report by Ella Overum, the Home's news reporter.

Noting their birthdays and dates of their birth, were Martin Swenson and Hilda Johnson, November 4; Isabel Thompson and Margaret Johnston, November 6; Emma Aas, November 7; Albert Haugen, November 9; Olaf Olson and Tillie Anderson, November 10; Ella Overum, November 13; Martha Ellingson, November 16; Fred Protz and Mathinda Berget, November 19; Joe Havlik, November 24; Jeanne Horter, November 26; and Laura Lund and Joan McCann, both on November 28.

To celebrate the birthdays, two parties were held. The first party, held November 13, was hosted by the CAP students, who served birthday cake and nectar, and also distributed birthday cards which they had made.

The regular birthday party was held November 24 with each one receiving a card with a cash gift from the Home, as well as a card from the Catholic Daughters of America, who visited the home the first of the month. Lunch featured cream puffs provided by the Home, together with Tillie Anderson, Martin Swenson, Olaf Olson, Hilda Johnson and Ella Overum.

Other treats during the month were served by Margaret Johnston, Fred Protz, Joe Havlik and Laura Lund, who served ice cream on their birthdays; Martha Ellingson, who served birthday cake, Joan McCann, who served a decorated birthday cake and ice cream; and Gladys Severson, a nurse aide, who served date bread to the residents and staff on her birthday.

Mathilda Berget was honored at a private birthday party. Her guests were Mrs. Olga Grothe, Mrs. Emma Westby, Alpha Melby, Bernice and Luverne Berget and Anita and Gary Halvorson.

Thanksgiving was observed at the home with the traditional turkey dinner. Included in the menu was lefse which the residents had made in their kitchenette. A number of the residents spent the day with their relatives. The day before Thanksgiving, a special program was presented by the choir and the CAP students.

Devotional programs during the month were given by Rev. J. Hovland of Trinity Lutheran church; Lester Brekke, a group from the Miracle House, Rev. Don Knutson of Redeemer Lutheran church; Rev. Mark Johaningsmeir of the United Methodist church, Rev. George DeWall and family of the Bible Baptist church; and Don Johnson family, the Lowell and Norris Trochmanns, and Dean Paskewitz, who was accompanied by Polly Reed and Helen Dahlstrom, who presented a piano and organ concert.

Mass was offered every Saturday morning by priests at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Other weekly activities included Bible Studies with Judith Wold in charge, choir and band practice, and the showing of films on Thursday evenings. Films shown were a documentary on wolves, an old-fashioned threshing, and "Run, Jimmy, Run." A film was also shown by the members of the Lois circle of Trinity Lutheran church, who served sweet breads during the afternoon coffee hour.

It was also noted that many of the residents exercised the right to vote on November 4; that the Valley Home bowling team had played at Oakland Park Nursing home and had won two games; that a representative of the Northwest Senior Federation had visited the Home and given information regarding aid for senior citizens; and that the AVTI cosmetology students visited the Home every Tuesday to give perms, and to cut and set hair. A fire drill was also held at the home one afternoon in November.

Chat And Chew Christmas Party Held At DeHaans

Chat and Chew homemakers. Christmas party was held Tuesday, December 9, with nine members attending. The event began with a one o'clock luncheon at Lon's.

Later the group assembled at the Chester Aubol home for a brief business meeting and an exchange of gifts. Gifts were also received from the secret pals, whose identity won't be revealed until the club year ends in May.

Mrs. Clarence Williams reported on the gifts sent to the Fergus Falls hospital. It was noted that the gifts were given by the members and the postage was contributed by the club.

The social afternoon concluded with punch and a dessert lunch served by Mrs. Aubol.

The January meeting of the Chat and Chew club will be held at the Gerald DeHaan home.

DID YOU KNOW?

In Obedience to God...

". . . That, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty . . ."
(I Timothy 2:1-3)

HEAVENLY FATHER, I thank You for our country, our Constitution, and our leaders. I pray for our President and for every elected and appointed official who serves with him.

I pray that You will build a wall of protection around the marriage and family of every national, state, and local official.

I pray that You will give them the wisdom and the courage to uphold our Constitution which established a republic based on Your absolute laws; not a democracy based on the changing whims of human reasoning.

I pray that You will rebuke Satan for the deception of his lie that we can be "as gods" in deciding for ourselves what is right and what is wrong.

O LORD, may our leaders cast down every law, policy, and personal example which weakens marriages, families, or Your moral standards.

I pray that our leaders will understand and follow the principles of Your Word. May they realize that all authority comes from You, not the voters, and that one day they will stand before You to give an account of the power You gave to them.

I base this prayer on the promise of Your Word, that if I will humble myself, pray, seek Your face, and turn from my wicked ways, then You will hear from heaven, forgive my sin, and heal my land.

In the name and through the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ, I pray.
AMEN.

I-500 Race Will Feature Sport Class

Mike Lindsey of Bemidji who became the first sport class champion of the St. Paul Winter Carnival International 500 snowmobile race last January, will be pursuing the pro class title next month, it was reported by race officials.

Lindsey beat 42 competitors to win the sport class last winter. It had been introduced to attract nonprofessional drivers to the world's toughest cross country snowmobile event

The 16th edition of the I-500 will be contested Jan. 24-27 over a tortuous course between Winnipeg, Manitoba and St. Paul. Stopover cities on the 560-mile route are Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Brainerd.

More than 50 entrants are expected to enter sport class for 1981, according to Jerry Brown, Winter Carnival race vice president. Of the 43 starters in the sport class debut last year, three women and 14 men completed the trek.

Co-sponsors Hamm's beer and Yamaha snowmobiles have added to the prize pool for the 1981 I-500. Hamm's will be awarding four $200 daily lap awards in the international pro class and Yamaha will contribute a $500 first prize in the sport class.

The race is a world snowmobile racing federation (WSRF) sanctioned event and its rules will apply. More information about the sport class and the I-500 can be obtained by writing or calling the St. Paul Winter Carnival association, 98 East 7th St., St. Paul, 55101, (612) 222-4416.

Potato Crop In State Less Than In 1979

Minnesota potato growers wrapped up 1980 with a 23 per cent smaller crop than last year. The 1980 fall production of 9.92 million hundredweight was harvested from 64,000 acres, with yields averaging 155 cwt. per acre. This output placed Minnesota in ninth place in production of fall potatoes.

Eighty-five per cent of this production was being held in storage as of December 1. Minnesota potato stocks totaled 8.4 million hundredweight, a 20 per cent drop from last year.

Red River Valley (Minnesota-North Dakota) potato stocks fell 18 per cent short of last year.

Thanks in large part to innovations in processing potatoes, U.S. total potato consumption is expected to continue up. Fresh consumption, however, is expected to stay near 50 pounds per person.

Work Incentive — Who Gains The Benefits?

with several children?"

In Pennington county there are approximately 130 to 140 families currently on the AFDC rolls, with about a third of them having work. Approximately 90 per cent of the recipients are single parent households and currently all are female parents. Last month AFDC payments in the county totaled about $48,000. A year ago the average was around $30,000.

Medical assistance, however, totals about $2 million a year in Pennington county. Only a portion of that goes to AFDC recipients, however, since MA is available to a number of other recipients, primarily the elderly or handicapped.

Credited against the AFDC payments are the funds collected by the social services department in child support payments. These average around $6,000 to $7,000 a month. The total through November for 1980 was $78,000.

The Pennington department has recently filed 48 claims under the new revenue recapture act. Under this program, parents who have been ordered to make child support payments and are in arrears will have claims deducted from their state income tax refund or property tax credit. That money will be sent directly to the county in which the claims are made.

For information on the AFDC program, persons interested may obtain copies of "AFDC Client Handbook" at the county social services department. The book is being made available on a routine basis to present recipients and new applicants for the program.

Luella Fuller Rites Today At St. John

Mrs. Luella Fuller, 65, of this city, died Friday afternoon at her home following an illness of several months.

Funeral services for Mrs. Luella Fuller will be held today (Monday) at 2:00 p.m., at St. John Lutheran church with Rev. Barrie Henke officiating. Mrs. Elaine Idso will be the organist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers will be Donald Pream, Dick Brown, Harlon Kvick, Clarence Semanko, Albert Koop and Carl Anderson.

Mrs. Fuller, the former Luella Kreuger, was born July 1, 1915 at Niagara, N.D., to Henry and Helena Kreuger, now deceased. She attended school at Niagara and later attended business college in Grand Forks, N.D. She came to Thief River Falls in 1939 and was married here on Sept. 28, 1941 to Thomas Fuller. Since then, she had made her home in Thief River Falls. After the death of her husband on Dec. 9, 1970, she was employed for a time as a cook in the Thief River Falls schools.

She was an active member of St. John Lutheran church, held several offices in the Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) taught for many years in Sunday school, Bible school and release time classes, and was active in the quilting group and in visiting the sick and shut-ins.

She is survived by two sons: Roger and his wife Rosann of Jackson, Mich.; and Capt. Joel Fuller and his wife, Capt. Myrna Fuller, stationed at the Grand Forks Air Force base; two daughters: Faye and her husband Bob Thompson, Jefferson, Iowa, and Margaret and her husband, Sheldon Buck of this city; five grandchildren and one brother, Herbert Krueger, of Niagara, N.D.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by a sister.

VFW CLUB MEMBERS from Post 2793 in Thief River Falls and the VFW auxiliary helped organize activities for a free senior citizen Bingo party conducted Wednesday afternoon at the VFW club. Approximately 150 attended the event. Some of those who helped with the annual activity are, left to right, Cathy Jorgenson, auxiliary president; Mary Ann Myhrer, Rosemary DeMeyere, Ardith Olson and Eunice Efteland; back row, left to right, Willa Prestegaard; Ray S. Olson, commander; Pat Radniecki and Ida Olson.

ANNUAL ZEHLIAN Christmas party was celebrated last week at the Gene Beito home in Thief River Falls. Honor guests at the middag (midday meal) which centered around a Scandinavian theme were Gretchen McEwen (left) serving delicacies as St. Lucia, and her mother, Mrs. Neil McEwen, both dressed in traditional Scandinavian costumes; and Ranveig Hammeren, an exchange student attending Northland community college from Srumsand, Norway. The post box on the table is typical of that used near Norwegian villages. Role of St. Lucia according to "World Book Encyclopedia," is played by a girl in each household in Sweden who rises early in the morning and puts on a white dress and a crown of evergreen leaves, topped by seven lighted candles. She serves her family in bed with hot coffee and special Lucia buns.

Farm Workers Averaged 58 Hours A Week

During the week of October 12-18, Minnesota farm operators worked an average of 58 hours, according to our farm labor survey.

Minnesota farm workers were in the middle of the corn harvest during the October survey week. Other activities included fall plowing, applying anhydrous ammonia, and wrapping up harvest of other 1980 crops. U.S. farm operators reported an average of 42 hours worked.

The state's farm work force of 205,000 workers registered seven per cent above last year. The 30,000 hired farm workers, however, were 1,000 short of last year.

Average Minnesota farm wage rates for all hired workers came to $3.68 per hour versus last year's $3.64. Wage rates for livestock workers gained 30 cents to $3.05. Field workers averaged $3.65 while machine operators earned $3.80.

Of the U.S. farm residents employed in agriculture in 1979, 63 per cent were self-employed, 20 per cent were wage and salary workers and 17 per cent were unpaid family workers.

But, says USDA, the dominating "self-employment" class pertained only to farm males. About half of the farm women employed in agriculture were unpaid family workers. While classified as such, they are an increasingly important source of labor in agriculture.

H. Anderson Rites Held At Middle River

Hilmer (Himmy) Edwin Anderson, 63, died unexpectedly at his home in Middle River on Monday, December 15.

Funeral services for Hilmer Anderson were held on Wednesday, December 17, at the First Lutheran church in Middle River with Rev. Donald Fredine officiating. Donovan Ruud was soloist and Mrs. Floyd Peterson was the organist.

Honorary pallbearers were Squire Holmes, Anneus Nelson, Eldor Engen, Lawrence Schenkey, Gerald Carriere, and Vic Sandberg. Nephews Ronnie, Mark, Dale and Wally Anderson, Laverne Adamson and Skip Newland were the active pallbearers.

Military honors were accorded by the Middle River American Legion Post. Interment will be in the First Lutheran cemetery with Collins Funeral home, Middle River, in charge of arrangements.

Hilmer Anderson, a son of the late Godfred and Hilma Anderson, was born July 19, 1917 in Spruce Valley township of Marshall county, near Middle River. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Middle River community.

He served with the U.S. Army from March of 1942 until June of 1945, serving overseas in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater. Following his discharge, he returned to Middle River and was united in marriage to Emma Aune at Thief River Falls on Oct. 12, 1946. Since their marriage, they have made their home at Middle River.

Anderson was employed by the Schenkey Construction company and the Collins Construction company, and also worked at the Hanna Mining company on the Iron Range for several years. For the past 21 years, he was employed as a road maintainer for the Marshall county highway department. He retired in October of this year.

He was a member of the First Lutheran church of Middle River, the Middle River American Legion, the Thief River Falls V.F.W. Post and the Thief River Falls Eagles club.

He is survived by his wife Emma; one daughter, Mrs. Larry (Judy) Johnson, Middle River; three grandchildren; four brothers: Carl (Andy) and Lloyd Anderson, both of Middle River; Clifford, Thief River Falls; and Frank, Strathcona; two sisters: Mrs. Beatrice Newland, Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Sig (Myrtle) Wasley, Auburn, Wash., and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents.

PLENTY OF CARDS entertained the 150 seniors attending the free Bingo party sponsored by the VFW club of Thief River Falls and its auxiliary members Wednesday. Various prizes were given away throughout the afternoon for each lucky winner.

CAREFUL CONCENTRATION and perhaps a bit of luck were the combined ingredients enabling various seniors to win prizes Wednesday during the senior citizen free Bingo hosted by the VFW club members and auxiliary of Thief River Falls.

Services Held Saturday For Julia Rambeck

Julia J. Rambeck, 77, of Thief River Falls, widow of Arthur J. Rambeck, former sheriff of Pennington county, died Wednesday afternoon at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Rambeck were held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. Berton Hushagen officiating. Mrs. Dorothy Larson was the organist and Mrs. Arnold Hammer, the soloist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were the deceased's grandsons: Lynn Rambeck, Paul Rambeck, James Rambeck, Thomas Rambeck, Peter Pederson and Frank Pederson.

Mrs. Rambeck, the former Julia J. Johnson, was born April 17, 1903 in Northwood, N.D. At the age of three years, she moved to Middle River, where she grew to womanhood. She was married there in 1920 to Clarence Haugen. The couple farmed for a time near Middle River.

On Dec. 1, 1940, she was married in Thief River Falls to Arthur Rambeck. Since then, she had made her home here.

She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church, the Sons of Norway, Rebekah lodge, Eastern Star, VFW auxiliary, the Eagles auxiliary and the United Commercial Travelers.

She is survived by one son, Howard Haugen, Hinckley; two step-sons: LaVerne Rambeck, Glenwood, and Raymond Rambeck, Thief River Falls; a step-daughter, Mrs. Donald (Elaine) Pederson, Twin Valley; 20 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died Jan. 28, 1974, and her parents.

Harold Haugen, 83, Of Oklee, Dies Sunday

Harold Haugen, 83, of the Oklee community, died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Harold Haugen will be held Friday at 11:00 a.m., at the Oak Park Lutheran church, Oklee, with Rev. Charles Keeler officiating.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home after 3:00 p.m., Thursday, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in Wednesday's Times.

PRIVATE First Class Gary O. Olson received a certificate of achievement from the U.S. army Europe and Seventh army for meritorious achievement while assigned to 212th military police company on June 30, 1980. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Olson of Thief River Falls, joined the army in September of 1979 and has been stationed in Wertheim, Germany for the past year.

In the late 1870's and early 1880's, the movement for a federal bureau of labor statistics gained strength, according to an article, "The Origin of the U.S. Department of Labor," reprints which are available from the department.

Mrs. J. Hoffman Services Held Here Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Hoffman, 81, of Thief River Falls were held Saturday at 10:30 a.m., at the Green Funeral chapel. Mrs. Hoffman died Wednesday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Albert Myhrer officiated at the services. Musical selections were tape recordings by Merrill Womach. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. Pallbearers were Thorvald Myhrer, Otto Myhrer, Einar Myhrer and Lewi Myhrer.

Mrs. Hoffman, the former Jennie Myhrer, was born Nov. 17, 1899 in Eidesval, Norway to John and Borghild Jensen Myhrer, now deceased. In 1906, she immigrated to the United States with her parents, who settled in Thief River Falls. She attended school and grew to womanhood here.

On Oct. 23, 1920, she was married to Oscar Hoffman at Newfolden. Since then, she had made her home in Thief River Falls.

She is survived by one son, Rueben Hoffman, Thief River Falls; two daughters: Mrs. June Hultman, also of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Walter (Helen) Mangnell, Albany, Ore., nine grandchildren, five great-grandchildren; two sisters: Mrs. Signe Sevre, Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Kenneth (Ruth) Kuehn, Ely; and six brothers: Thorvald, Otto, Lewi and John Myhrer, all of Thief River Falls, Albert of Red Wing, and Einar of Grand Rapids.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in 1941; and three sons.

Hilda Olson Services Held At Drayton

Mrs. Hilda Olson, 80, of Drayton, N.D., sister of Mrs. Walter Thomas of Thief River Falls, died Wednesday, December 10, at the Karlstad nursing home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hilda Olson were held Saturday, December 13, at the Drayton Lutheran church. Interment will be in the Drayton City cemetery.

Mrs. Olson, the former Hilda Haugtvedt, was born Dec. 26, 1899 at Greenbush. She attended the rural schools at Greenbush and grew to womanhood in that community. She was married Dec. 8, 1928 at Roseau to Leif Arthur Olson. The couple made their home at Drayton.

She was a member and past officer of Rosebank Rebekah Lodge, and a member of the American Legion auxiliary and the Drayton Lutheran church.

She is survived by two sons: Elwood Olson, Missoula, Mont., and Wayne, Detroit Lakes; seven grandchildren, two brothers, Emil and Palmer Haugtvedt, both of Greenbush, and five sisters: Mrs. Selma Carlson, Drayton, Mrs. Harold (Anna) Fosness and Mrs. Gladys Myran, Greenbush; Mrs. Walter (Minnie) Thomas, Thief River Falls, and Mabel Haugtvedt of St. Petersburg, Fla.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in 1962.

97 Gain NCC President's List In Fall Quarter

During the recently completed fall quarter, Northland community college honored 97 students for scholastic achievement in earning a place in the president's list. To achieve this honor students must have at least a 3.25 grade point average in 12 or more credits, determined on a scale of 1-4 with an A equivalent to four points. In this honorary list were 15 students who achieved a straight A (4.00) average.

Students honored from Thief River Falls were: Mary Amundson, Lynae Anderson, Kathryn Bacon, Yvonne Blodgett, Tammy Booen, Patricia Braaten, Penni Broekemeier, Ann Burger, Sheila Busse, Diane Colby, Dean Cullen, Julie Easton, Jan Elleson, Rhoda Frei, Lee Furuseth, Vicki Gustafson, Tawnya Hamre, Kyle Hams, Leann Hanson, Mark Haugen and Wayne Huseth;

Also Mendy Huttleston, Roxanne Iverson, Blair Johnson, Brenda Johnson, Carla Kronberger, Elaine Kruse, Sharon Krystosek, Paula Lendobeja, Terry Lord, Diane Lusignan, Terry Maidment, Randall Moe, Connie Molstad, Elizabeth Nichols, Sylvia Nilson, James Nyland, Matthew Oppegaard, Jeffrey Oseid, Ricky Peterson, Thanh Phung, Suong Li Phung, Ly Phuoc, Steve Poissant and Robyn Pream;

Also Laurie Richardson, Steven Robinson, James Rooker, Candice Rupprecht, Steven Saetre, Mark Schmitke, Lorraine Seaverson, Michael Semanko, Debra Shumway, Angela Sinn, Stacey Sinn, Deborah Sturgis, Jan Swanson, Pamela Swenson, Gregory Torfin, Thuan Tran, David Waale and Linda Wennberg.

Also listed were Karen Eggers, Donna Johnson and Daniel Parent, McIntosh; Dale Lasneski and Cynthia Lofton, Roseau; James Morrissey and Timothy Rittenour, Grygla; Denise Boyer and Bette Wheatley, Bemidji; Clark Nelson and Alan Rogalla, Goodridge; Melanie Skjerven and Peggy Jo Skjerven, Plummer; Ellen Larson and Linda Peterson, Newfolden; Susan Cameron and Dale Carlson, Red Lake Falls; Michael Johnson and Brian Laymon, Warren;

Out-of-state included Karen Cole, Grand Forks air force base and Ranveig Hammeren, Norway.

The 15 students who achieved a straight A average included: Yvonne Blodgett, Karen Cole, Julie Easton, Jan Elleson, Vicki Gustafson, Brenda Johnson, Michael Johnson, Donna Larson, Paula Lendobeja, Diane Lusignan, Randall Moe, Jeffrey Oseid, Steve Poissant, Robyn Pream and Laurie Richardson.

"These students are to be congratulated for this high academic achievement," said President Easton, "and Northland is proud of their accomplishment."

THREE WISEMEN, Martin Swenson, Joe Havlik and Maynard Morrissey bring gifts to the tiny child in the manager during the Valley Home Christmas program presented Friday evening at the Home. Entire Christmas story was told through the words and actions of the residents, staff, and guests, accompanied by band and choir members at the Home. Appearing as Joseph was Joseph Pletchett, while Mary was Alma Hawkyard.

"UNDER THE B — 2!" and Bingo players checked their cards in search of the one number that could complete the correct sequence of black dots on the cards before them. Approximately 150 seniors gathered at the VFW club in Thief River Falls Wednesday afternoon as club members of Post 2793 and the VFW auxiliary provided them with an afternoon of free games, prizes and refreshments.

Congressman Recovers From Heart Surgery

Congressman Arlan Stangeland, who underwent heart surgery last Wednesday, is doing well, according to doctors at the national naval medical center in Bethesda, MD.

Mrs. Stangeland also said Friday that "Arlan is doing real well and he is in excellent spirits. Doctors say everything is going just as expected." Virginia Stangeland and daughter Jean flew to Washington to be with the congressman for his surgery.

The operation was described by doctors as a coronary by-pass in which a piece of vein from the leg was used to by-pass obstructions in the coronary artery by suturing it to the aorta and the distal portion of the coronary artery. The operation lasted approximately three hours.

Stangeland underwent the operation to relieve symptoms of angina and to avert a potential heart attack in the future. Doctors stress that Stangeland has not had a heart attack.

The Minnesota Congressman is expected to be in the hospital for about 10 days and doctors say he will be back to work when the 97th Congress convenes on January 5.

Triumvirate In Education

One viewpoint on how to help solve some of the problems in the educational systems of the United States is expressed in this editorial from the Christian Science Monitor:

Poor administration, perhaps the greatest weakness in the American educational system, can be corrected with a disarmingly simple solution: Revise the structure by reconstituting the governing bodies from the present tandem of school boards and school administrators to a triumvirate of school boards, school administrators — and teachers.

The present virtually universal arrangements are far weaker than even a well-informed lay person is likely to imagine. School boards elected by their fellow citizens can usually devote themselves to their responsibilities only on a part-time basis. They have to have agents to carry out their decisions, and those agents are the administrative staffs — superintendent, assistant superintendents, principals, assistant principals, department chairpersons, and so on — hired to run the schools and carry out the wishes of the community through their elected representatives on the school boards.

But there's the rub. The school administrators, by and large, are often less competent to do what they do than are the teachers over whom they have charge to do what they do: teach.

Whatever objections some people may have to particular teachers or to the profession in general as a repository of so-called incompetents who couldn't do anything else — the fact is that, if an individual has a talent to teach, he or she will be attracted more to the teaching than other professions.

However, if an individual has a proclivity to administrate, the educational field is not so obvious or natural an outlet for his or her inclinations. Although we may know some able educational administrators, we probably don't know many. We may know some charming or intelligent administrators, or some politically sensitive ones, but only a small minority are truly capable at adminstration.

The reason is that people generally become educational administrators for the wrong reasons. Some are failed teachers who, unable to function successfully in the classroom, remain in education as administrators by taking enough graduate courses to "qualify" them for state certification in administration.

Some are brilliant teachers who are rewarded for their excellence by being "promoted" into administrative positions. Another group are athletic coaches who are eased into administrative positions through an old-boy network of other former athletic coaches, often abetted, when they produce winning teams, by jubilant, vocal citizens taking pride in their success on the field.

Any of these paths may, through coincidence, produce an able administrator, but they aren't likely to do so. Many school systems are left with administrators of dubious competence, and it is upon them that school boards must rely. The basic way incompetent administrators try to cope is by resorting to rigid control of their staffs — "running a tight ship" — rather than working with them in a genuinely collegial fashion.

The virtuous aura of "firm control" is a temptingly easy trap for the often-harried school boards to fall into. But such control often inhibits education and leads to militant teacher unions and an adversary atmosphere that stultifies. This condition is exacerbated by a host of extraneous but intertwined problems like inflation, social and ethnic pressures, and demographic changes.

The answer lies in broadening the governing structure by bringing in the now-excluded teachers — just as workers have been brought successfully into decisionmaking in a variety of other enterprises. Obviously such teacher representatives whould have to be elected by and from among the teaching staff to ensure their freedom from domination by administrators or school boards.

This approach to running education would help dissolve a corrosive adversary atmosphere, open up the way for greater cooperation, and foster the harnessing of now largely untapped energies and abilities.

Chew On This!

If you are a person at least 21 years of age, with average reading skills, earning approximately the median income (about $13,000 a year) and planning to work until the age of 65, then by the time you have finished reading the rest of this sentence, the federal government will have already spent more money then you could make at your present salary for the rest of your working life.

A Double Tragedy

The much-publicized shooting death of John Lennon, one of the rock music group known as the "Beatles", was a tragedy. The unnecessary loss of any life among the human family is a similar tragedy, and one would be hard-pressed to rationalize that one such tragedy is greater than another.

Whether we accept the contentions of the press and public figures that Lennon was such a major contributor to society or not, the fact remains that his death was a result of his widespread recognition. His killer was familiar with him and, for whatever motive, had predetermined that he must end the singer's life.

The fact that the accused slayer chose to use a handgun for his act has caused the usual flare-up of anti-gun sentiment and public cries of outrage demanding "gun control". Ignored in the outbursts are several pertinent facts:

(1) The assailant, who had received an autograph from Lennon earlier, could and probably would have used a knife or other weapon to accomplish his purpose had the gun not been available;

(2) New York City, in which the murder took place, is supposed to have the most stringent gun "control" laws in the nation and they proved to be totally ineffective;

(3) While one gun was used to take a human life, millions of other guns were not. They are inanimate objects incapable of doing anything themselves. It may be trite but it is true: "Guns don't kill people; people kill people".

That is the second tragedy.

How Accurate The Census?

Following Editorial is from the Glenwood Tribune:

The jockeying for more population among the cities of the nation leads one to question the validity of the U.S. Census figures which will be released soon.

Many of the nation's larger cities have complained loud and long, and led by New York City, have brought legal action to force the U.S. Census Bureau to raise their population because the more population the more state and federal aids and grants they'll receive.

A short time ago, Duluth got the Census Bureau to agree to increase their 1980 population figures from an unofficial 89,845 to 92,789. And, the Census Bureau also has to come up with a method for further adjusting the figures to bring them closer to the 95,500 figure the Duluth mayor believes the city has.

Unless the census count is increased, Duluth officials estimate that the city will lose about $160,000 in state and federal funds.

It seems as if you have enough political clout and can exert enough pressure on the Census Bureau, you can get your population adjusted to any figure that suits your fancy or your aid funds.

Frankly, the entire proceeding disgusts us. We're not to naive as to believe that federal agencies are immune from pressure, but we did hope that the Census Bureau's figures were as accurate as the human element would provide.

Now, the entire count has become a charade, and if the Census Bureau comes out with a figure that the U.S. population is 230,500,000 it should add a footnote: "give or take 10,000,000."

Facts About Cars

A management consulting firm has concluded that for a married man of 39 with modest tastes and two children who bought his first car at 16 and will buy his 14th, and last, at 70, the total expenditure will be $203,164.

This figure is supposed to take into account five decades of changes in automobile style, size, economy, as well as the inflation rate. The first car purchased was likely a used, standard size model that cost $200 in 1957. The last will be a new four-cylinder subcompact in 2011 for $17,500.

Borrowed Nonsense:

"I won't take this room," protested the elderly women to the bellboy. "I will not pay good money for a room like this. It's too small, it doesn't have any windows and there's no closet. Just because I'm from out of town. . ."

"Get in, lady," the bellboy interrupted. "This is the elevator."

university of minnesota morris

LORIE A. SKJERVEN, daughter of Roger and Charlotte Skjerven of Plummer, was among those honored as a recipient of the freshman academic achievement award at a brunch conducted recently at the University of Minnesota, Morris. Provost John Q. Imholte, presented the award "in recognition of outstanding academic achievement." Recipients are chosen on the basis of excellence of high school academic performance, extracurricular participation and potential for overall contributions to UMM.

Gov. Quie's Column

Within the last two years we've improved the Minnesota job climate through several tax changes. However, more can be done, especially to encourage our small businesses to create new jobs.

Minnesota's economic vitality is of concern to all of us. We want our state to grow and prosper. On an individual basis this translates into better and more secure jobs.

It is my belief that we should stimulate our job climate through the private sector. By encouraging the private sector to grow we will add more jobs and increase the state's economic activity.

In 1979 and 1980, several changes were made in our tax structure to enhance our job climate. Let me briefly explain them:

(1) Reduction of state income taxes — In previous columns I have detailed the $550 million that Minnesota taxpayers have saved within the last two years through tax cut bills I have signed into law. These income tax reductions will help keep our working people here in Minnesota.

(2) Elimination of the inheritance and gift taxes — A more equitable estate tax has been enacted saving taxpayers many tax dollars. Beginning in 1981, estates under $175,000 will not be taxed at all. This will encourage more Minnesotans to rehire here.

(3) Property taxes — Commercial and industrial taxes have been held down — well below the rate of inflation. This is an incentive for businesses to remain in our state and for new businesses to open.

(4) Pollution control credit — This credit was renewed to allow companies to claim a 5 per cent credit, up to a $75,000 maximum, for equipment installed to meet environmental standards. This $3.9 million tax savings will encourage companies to make their necessary improvements and continue to operate in Minnesota.

(5) $100 minimum corporate tax repealed — This change will mean that businesses that do not earn any taxable income will not have to pay taxes. This is a savings to the many new small companies in our state.

(6) Elimination of the top 17 per cent income tax bracket — More business leaders, the people to make the decisions to expand their companies, will be inclined to stay in Minnesota with this tax change. Income above $32,890 is now taxed at 16 per cent.

(7) Elimination of the railroad gross earnings tax — railroads will now be taxed on the same basis as most other corporations. This will mean lower taxes for the railroad and fewer taxes passed on to consumers and other businesses.

In addition to these tax changes, I will be continuing to seek other improvements in our job climate, because I believe the strength of our state lies within the private sector and our working people.

Minn. D-Day Scheduled For January 22nd

Minnesota D-Day 1981, January 22, is the seventh time since 1974 that Minnesotans have been asked to pledge not to smoke for at least 24 hours.

Lynn R. Smith, then publisher of the Monticello Times, organized the first D-Day in Monticello (pop. 2,000). The event generated statewide interest and national media coverage.

In October of 1974 the first statewide D-day was held. Smith served as general chairman of the event, which was sponsored by the Minnesota divisions of the American Lung association, the American Cancer society and the American Heart association.

There has been a D-day each year since 1974, with the exception of 1977 when D-day shifted from October to January. During the past six D-days more than 60,000 Minnesotans have signed D-day pledges to stop smoking for a day, and surveys indicate that approximately 15 per cent of the pledgers have quit smoking for good. Following D-day 1979, 17 per cent of those responding to a survey indicated they had become non-smokers.

This year the D-day committee is making an extra effort to heighten awareness of and participation in D-day. Lieutenant Governor Lou Wangberg is serving as honorary chairman of the event. Wangberg, a former smoker, cites past D-day activities as a significant factor in his quitting smoking. He has sent letters to local officials, education administrators, civic leaders and newspaper editors across the state encouraging them to participate in this year's D-day program. The lieutenant governor plans to award citations to communities or businesses who are able to demonstrate active D-day participation.

Buddy Ferguson, information officer in the health education section of the Minnesota department of health, is serving as chairman of the Minnesota D-day steering committee this year.

For information concerning Minnesota D-day 1981, please contact D-Day Headquarters 2750 Park Avenue, Minneapolis, MN 55407, phone (612) 871-2111.

DOT Combines Facilities In One Building

Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) will save $100,000 yearly in taxpayers' money by consolidating all its major administrative activities within one building, according to commissioner Richard P. Braun.

Energy savings, better communications and overall smoother funtioning of the department are other advantages, noted by Braun, to be gained by these consolidation activities.

During the next 13 months, Mn-DOT will be able to absorb state maintenance, standards, accounting and financial activities within the transportation building in St. Paul. These activities are now housed in other leased buildings.

Braun cited the following reasons as making the space consolidation possible:

(1) Elimination of two bureaus and two divisions as part of reorganization to streamline department operations to address the legislative mandate calling for staff reductions;

(2) Rearrangement and consolidation of individual work space areas based on a total analysis of central office programs and a relocation of related work activities to improve efficiency of all department operations;

(3) Consolidation of record-keeping space because of conversion of records to microfilm; and

(4) Return of space in the transportation building formerly used by the department of administration.

Braun explained that the whole consolidation process would pay for itself in less than a year.

Mn-DOT will continue to share the transportation building with the department of public safety, the central mailing section and a copy center of the department of administration, and the civil litigation and transportation contracts divisions of the office of the attorney general. Transportation building will also house the transportation regulation board when it becomes operational July 1.

Environmental Board To Meet At Crookston

Minnesota environmental quality board (EQB) will conduct an informal public meeting in Region I to discuss proposed changes to the rules governing the state's environmental impact statement (EIS) process. The EQB rules are being rewritten in response to amendments made to the Minnesota environmental policy act during the 1980 legislative sessions.

Region I meeting will be conducted in Crookston at the Northwest regional development commission, 425 Woodland Avenue, January 8, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Purpose of this meeting is to provide local government officials and interested persons an opportunity to comment on the EQB's proposed draft rules before they are approved by the EQB and sent into public hearing. At the meeting, EQB staff will be present to explain the changes and receive comments from the participants.

Those who have any questions regarding the meeting or would like to obtain a copy of the proposed rules, contact Tom Rulland (612-296-2319) or Ken Kadlec (612-296-8253) at the Environmental Quality Board, 100 Capitol Square Building, 550 Cedar Street, St. Paul, MN 55101, or Pat Scharmer at the Northwest regional development commission, 281-1396.

Scout Leaders To Be Honored In February

Volunteer leaders in the Northern Lights council, Boy Scouts of America, will receive special recognition during scouting anniversary week; February 8-14.

"This special emphasis is to recognize more than 7,000 men and women in the North Dakota and western Minnesota areas who serve as volunteers in all phases of the scouting program," states William Malaski Sr., council commissioner. "These are men and women who are committed to making scouting happen for our young people through committee organizations using the scouting program as part of their own youth work, as well as others who have volunteered at the district and council levels.

Many other activities are also being planned for that week which will celebrate the 71st anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Planning for these activities is being headed by Malaski.

Among the traditional activities for the annual observance are Cub scout blue and gold banquets, Boy scout parents' nights, Boy scout courts of honor, and Explorer family nights or open houses. In addition Scout Sabbath and Scout Sunday are an important part of the week's events.

At present there are 13,289 Cub scouts, Boy scouts and Explorers in the Northern Lights council, which serves 620 scouting units.

Changes Noted In This Year's MN. Tax Forms

Minnesota individual income tax forms and instructions are being mailed out earlier this year than ever before, according to state revenue commissioner Clyde E. Allen, Jr. Instruction booklets being put in mail bags this week carry good news for the state's 1.9 million taxpayers, because of tax cuts made by the governor and the legislature. Here are the major highlights of changes appearing in forms and instructions:

—"Inflation Proof Tax Brackets": Because the governor and the legislature indexed the tax rates to inflation, your tax bill will be less this year than it would have been on the same income last year. For example, the tax due on $16,000 of taxable income will be $56 less.

—"Higher Credits": The credit for you, your spouse and each dependent has increased from $55 to $60.

—"Low Income Alternative Tax" (formerly the low income credit): If you're eligible, now you can choose the lowest tax — using the regular tables in the instructions, or the low income alternative tables.

—"Nongame Wildlife Fund:" This year, you'll be able to donate part or all of your tax refund to help protect Minnesota's endangered nongame wildlife.

—"Gas Tax Refunds:" If you own an outboard motor, or other non-highway engine (not snowmobiles) and paid the Minnesota highway fuel tax, you may now take a credit on your income tax return rather than complete a separate application.

Allen said that the idea behind early mailing is to make it as easy as possible for Minnesotans to file their returns early.

"Early filing will be especially important this year for those who expect a refund, because our reduced staffing could well mean delays in getting the checks out."

He added that taxpayers who need help filling out their forms should first check the instructions. "Most questions are answered right in the booklet," he said, "and by looking there first, you'll save yourself time and enable us to stretch our limited taxpayer assistance resources further."

A WARM, FRIENDLY CHURCH AWAITS YOU

Expect Record Long Distance Calls In State

Northwestern Bell expects to complete a record 1.8 million long distance calls for Minnesotans December 25, up a projected eight per cent over last Christmas.

Overseeing the switching of calls within, into and out of Minnesota is a team of Northwestern Bell and AT&T long lines technicians who staff a jointly operated computer-controlled management center in downtown Minneapolis.

The center continually receives call volume data from switching machines throughout Minnesota and regional centers elsewhere in the nation.

Armed with this information and assisted by computers, technicians then determine the fastest and most efficient paths for routing large volumes of calls.

For example, a Minnesota call to the west coast could be routed via New York City where giant switching machines serving darkened Wall Street are idle. By utilizing this idle capacity, traffic loads on smaller switching machines are reduced, providing a smoother flow of calls and fewer circuit busy signals for callers.

Traditionally, Christmas calling causes heavy traffic on usually low-volume routes because people call from home, instead of from their places of business, and because the conversations tend to last twice as long.

Here are tips for getting calls through in the easiest manner and at the lowest cost:

+ A 60 per cent regular night discount applies on direct-dialed domestic calls between 11 p.m. Christmas eve and 8 a.m. the next morning, and a 35 per cent discount applies between 8 a.m. and 11 p.m. Christmas day.

+ To avoid the rush, call before 6 p.m. on Christmas eve.

+ Slackest Christmas day calling period, although still busy, is between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

+ Direct-dial rates are always lower than operator-assisted rates.

+ There are lower regular international night rates to some countries, but there are no special holiday rates for international calls; callers should check with an operator in advance to determine whether night rates apply to a particular country.

+ Many customers may now direct-dial their own international calls, if their telephones are properly equipped. Severnty-four overseas locations may be dialed direct.

Committee On School Bus Safety Formed

A new committee to look into problems relating to school bus safety in Minnesota has been formed by the state department of public safety in cooperation with the state department of education, according to public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic.

Decision to form the committee was made, according to assistant commissioner Ken Dirkzwager, to assess the accident record of school buses, questions about drivers, training and operation. He reported that the state's record in school bus safety was generally good, ranking 16th nationally.

Dirkzwager also complimented the St. Paul police department and news media respectively for investigation and news articles on recent school bus accidents.

The new committee will be meeting about four or five times during the next two months and will produce a report by the end of January.

Committee members are: Dirkzwager, chairman; Jerry Pavek and Robert Fischer of the state department of education; Harold Peterson, Tom Boerner and Major Richard Lueck of the department of public safety; Leonz Schooley of the Minnesota safety council; Jody Brandvold of the Minnesota school boards association; Capt. Wilfred Jyrkas of the St. Paul police department; Lt. Edward Juntilla of the Minneapolis police department; Jack Barnes and Joe Beaton of the Minnesota school bus operators association; and Raymond Kroll and Don Spainhower of the Minnesota association of pupil transportation.

A SERIOUS GAME of free Bingo resulted Wednesday afternoon when senior citizens gathered at the VFW club in Thief River Falls. Cookies and coffee were provided by the VFW auxiliary, as well as hot soft drinks, provided by Don Bang of Crookston. Approximately 150 seniors attended, despite the cold weather.

EPS And WIC Clinic Dates Set For Jan.

Four County Early and Periodic Screening (EPS) service will be conducting screening clinics once again during January.

EPS offers quick and simple procedures for assessing a child or young adult's health, and checks any or all of the following areas: vision and hearing, height and weight, dental assessment and hygiene instruction, hematocrit, urinalysis and physical assessments.

Appointments must be made in advance. Immunizations will be given from 9 a.m. to noon on EPS days.

Also conducted during January will be Women, Infants and Children (WIC) food supplemental and nutritional education program certification clinics.

Schedule for the four county area (Marshall, Kittson, Pennington and Red Lake counties; for the EPS and WIC clinics is as follows:

December 31 — Red Lake Falls, St. Joseph's Catholic church from 9 a.m. to noon; (contact Inter-county community nursing service at 253-2796 for WIC information);

January 5 — Grygla, community center (contact Lillian Sundberg at 294-6146 for WIC information);

January 6 — Newfolden, Bethlehem Lutheran church;

January 7 — Hallock, Presbyterian church;

January 8 — Warren, Evangelical Covenant church;

January 9 — Thief River Falls, Redeemer Lutheran church (WIC clinic only);

January 12 — Oklee, community center;

January 13 — Karlstad, First Lutheran church;

January 19 — Thief River Falls, Redeemer Lutheran church (EPS clinics only).

For further information regarding the EPS program or to make an appointment, call or write, Four county EPS service, 208 E. Colvin, Warren, MN 56762, telephone, 745-4004.

Sunflower Day Set Jan. 13 At Wahpeton, ND

3,000 growers are expected to gather at Sunflower Day '81 in Wahpeton, North Dakota. Market experts, agriculture specialists and other sunflower professionals will present ideas and research data on new hybrids, insects and diseases that plagued the 1980 crop, and up to date information on marketing sunflowers.

Sunflower Day program begins at 9 a.m. on January 13th at the Activities center of the North Dakota State School of Science in Wahpeton. Program is free and open to the public, and a box lunch is included. Exhibitors will be on hand all through the day with new products and services for the sunflower grower.

Newly elected North Dakota Governor Allen Olson will be present as a special guest. Olson will speak at the beginning of the afternoon program, which focuses on "Marketing: Foreign and Domestic." Morning program will be technically oriented toward research, diseases, storage, sunflower fuel and new hybrids.

"Sigco is sponsoring Sunflower Day '81 to allow better informed growers to maximize their profits and produce better crops each year", said Jay Schuler, Sigco General Manager.

Sunflower Day is a joint venture with the cities of Breckenridge, Minnesota and Wahpeton, North Dakota. On that day, the downtown merchants will be reducing prices on their merchandise and services and offering "Sunflower Specials". In addition, round trip bus service will be available from NDSSS to the two downtown areas.

Over 900 NDSU Students On Dean's List

More than 900 North Dakota state university students earned places on the fall quarter deans' list announced by the deans in the seven academic colleges.

Numbering among those qualifying from this area were:

Georgine Troska, Goodridge, humanities and social sciences; Timothy Hoefer, Neil Justesen Jr. and Brian Vatthauer, Red Lake Falls, agriculture; Lynette Amundson, Red Lake Falls, home economics; Milton J. Johnson, Thief River Falls, engineering and architecture; Jeri Lundin, Bette Hanson and Jocy Scholin, Thief River Falls, home economics.

Students maintaining a 3.50 grade point average (B plus or better) on a 4.0 scale qualify for the deans' list.

State Workers Select MAPE For Bargaining

Professional state employees have named the Minnesota association of professional employees (MAPE) to be their exclusive bargaining agent with the state of Minnesota.

Results of a nearly-month-long mail election were made known by the bureau of mediation services, conductor of the election in which 2,316 voted for MAPE, 1,403 voted for AFSCME (American federation of state, county and municipal employees council 6), 291 voted for no representation, 13 ballots were voided and four were blank.

AFSCME had been certified — without election — to represent the more than 5,100 employees in the unit.

"It is gratifying that 58 per cent of those who voted," said MAPE president Robert Mooney, "agree that MAPE is the organization that understands their needs and will give them effective representation. Now — we negotiate a contract." Mooney is on leave from his job with the state crime laboratory.

Donald C. Hill, president of Public Employees of Minnesota (PEM), with which MAPE is affiliated, echoed Mooney's remarks.

"The reason PEM was organized is that independent unions of Minnesota government employees were about to be smothered as a result of big-brother moves on the part of the state and established unions," he said. "These independent unions needed to develop the strength to negotiate with the state without losing their identities.

"This election proves the philosophy of independent bargaining organizations is a valid one and one that will be adopted by more and more public employees throughout Minnesota."

Travel Agencies Have Filed Suit Against U Of M

Two Minneapolis travel agencies filed suit against the University of Minnesota board of regents and the university's travel center to stop the university from seeking a license to sell tickets for international flights.

In September the regents voted five to four to allow the university's international study and travel center (ISTC) to apply to the international air transport association for a license to sell tickets for international flights and the connecting domestic flights. The center had claimed that it was losing income and was not able to provide good service to students because airlines were no longer offering charter flights. The ISTC used to book groups on both domestic and international charter flights.

Representatives of the two commercial travel agencies, Campus Travel Center and the Travel Company contend that the university has no right to duplicate services already provided by private business. "Our primary interest is keeping the university from entering a field we think it's not appropriate that they be in," John Berglund, administrative assistant for Campus Travel Center, said Thursday at a news conference at the Minnesota press club.

The two travel agencies are asking more than $50,000 for each of the three counts in the lawsuit. They charge unfair competition because the ISTC pays no taxes as a nonprofit corporation and receives subsidies in the form of student fees, federal funds and university funds.

They also charge that the university has exceeded its constitutional authority by starting a business unrelated to student needs, and that rights of due process were violated because the university refused to hold public hearings on the issue.

"We've been providing our services for years, and now the university decides to go into our business because they have a little funding problem," said Kevin Mossier, president of The Travel Company. He said there were other ways for the ISTC to increase income. For example, he said, travel agents predict that charter flights will resume this summer.

Travel agency representatives endorsed the ISTC's activities in counseling students on educational opportunities abroad, but maintained that issuing tickets was a job for commercial agencies. "By law they (ISTC) couldn't sell tickets any cheaper — or any more expensive — than we do," Berglund said.

Berglund said that most of the business at Campus Travel Center is in international ticketing. He estimated that about 20 per cent of its clientele is students. "We'll lose some income (because of the ISTC ticketing)," he said, "but our primary concern is that this is an inappropriate activity for the university."

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

This letter is in regard to the articles on trapping by Mr. Dave Halvorson and Mr. Gene Mosbeck in the December 17 issue of the Times.

I am a trapper; hunter and sportsman; I have been all my life and I can honestly say an animal does suffer in a leghold trap.

Mr. Halvorson asked the question of "Why the animals suddenly become alert and wary and seemingly have their senses intact?" It's quite obvious:

First of all, man is the natural enemy of all wild animals, and any animal trapped (when a man approaches) will surely become alert and active when its life is at stake.

In regard to your animal sleeping in leghold traps, that's the most outrageous lie I've ever heard!

Mr. Mosbeck and Mr. Halvorson, I'd like to personally invite you to put your hand or foot in a bear trap and watch you struggle and bleed for hours until you're exhausted, and then watch you go to sleep (sweet dreams).

Honestly, gentlemen, how many people do you think are dumb enough to buy that statement?

The point I'm trying to get across is that animals in leghold traps do suffer. Some I have caught in traps have chewed on the trap so they had no teeth left. (I suppose this doesn't hurt either.)

Everyone knows animals have nervous systems, so how could anyone be ignorant enough to say they feel no pain?

Mr. Mosbeck, you say when you went to the hospital to get stitches in your ear they made the ear numb.

Well, when an animal places its foot in a trap it is not numb, but you insist they feel no pain.

Also, just because you are a trapper and want to defend trapping doesn't give you the authority to write lies, either!

I, being a trapper, do not defend the anti-trapper, but people like you make us trappers sound ignorant.

Sincerely,
Aaron Hanson
Trail, MN

(Editor's Note: That the use of leghold traps is an emotional one has been demonstrated in the past several weeks through our public opinion column. It would appear that to continue the debate would offer very little new in the way of information and serve only to inflame emotions. Persons who have something to say on the matter will have through December 26 to submit to us their final positions. After the December 29 issue of the Times, further letters on the leghold trapping issue will not be published.)

Program On Drinking And Driving Set

Minnesota department of public safety is recommending that Minnesotans take time during holiday celebrations to watch the television documentary on drinking and driving, "Until I Get Caught."

Public broadcasting service production, narrated by Dick Cavett, is scheduled by most stations in Minnesota for a 9 p.m. showing, Tuesday, December 30. Several stations will air the program on Wednesday. Viewers should consult local listings for exact program times. Among stations airing the presentation is KAWE, Bemidji.

DPS commissioner John P. Sopsic said the documentary focuses on the hazards of drinking and driving. It also looks at misconceptions society has about the problem. "While many people may think that a few drinks at a party will help them socialize, 'Until I Get Caught' points out that having a few drinks and then driving is one of the most anti-social and potentially dangerous things they can do," Sopsic said.

While offering statistics on how many people are driving while drunk, the film gives testimonials on what abuses have meant to individuals and families.

One mother interviewed for the program claims that "the man who killed my husband and son had been arrested twice before on drinking driving charges. I am deeply outraged that he could still be on the road."

Another segment shows a breathalyzer demonstration where participants in a controlled and safe setting are allowed to drink as much as they want and are then tested for blood alcohol concentration.

Perhaps the strongest summation of the presentation is the remark of a parent who said: "After three deaths we sat in the courtroom and listened to a debate about whether the driver should be able to keep his license until his trial came up. We just wanted to scream."

Mini PROGRESS in Thief River Falls
Congratulations!

A GAME of free Bingo and a sip of hot soft drinks to keep warm from the sub-zero temperatures outside, were activities shared by senior citizens Wednesday during the senior citizen party sponsored by VFW club and auxiliary of Thief River Falls. Johnson, Harris Are Top MJCAA Players

According to the metropolitan area press, Nelson Johnson of Golden Valley Lutheran is the best basketball player in the Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA). Some say he's the No. 1 junior college prospect in the nation.

He's good, says Northland community college basketball coach Chet Engelman. Real good. But Engelman wouldn't trade Northland sophomore Terry Harris for Nelson Johnson. While the 6-8 Johnson gets the "ink," the 6-5 Harris receives much less fanfare. Both will likely be playing major college basketball somewhere next winter.

Johnson, known as the Human Eraser in high school basketball in Cleveland when his height and startling quickness made him a devastating shot blocker, is now nicknamed "Money" at Golden Valley Lutheran. "That's because every time I get the ball, it's money in the bank," Nelson told Greg Carlson of the North Hennipen Post. A year ago the 195-pound power forward averaged 24.4 points and 16½ rebounds per game while blocking 135 shots.

Harris, meanwhile, averaged 27.8 points and 14.2 rebounds, blocked 77 shots, handed out 29 assists and came up with 82 loose ball recoveries. Both players are duplicating those figures this year, with Johnson averaging 21 points and 13.8 rebounds per game while Harris ranked No. 9 in the nation in early season NJCAA scoring charts with a 27.8-point average.

But it's hard to compare the two, admitted Engelman. "They're different kinds of players," he said. "Nelson Johnson is 6-8, plays with his back to the basket, and is pretty much a power player inside. Deny him the basket — which nobody has been able to do yet — and he's all through. Terry Harris is 6-5½, plays outside facing the basket and is a finesse player. I think Terry is a more versatile player. Terry can go to the basket, but if you take the inside away from him, he can shoot those 15-to-20-footers and still beat you."

"I suppose if Nelson Johnson and Terry Harris went 1-on-1 and the court was six-feet square, Terry would have trouble," continued Engelman. "However, the court is not six-foot square and if they were to play 1-on-1 on a regulation basketball court, I'd put my money on Terry; he's quicker and has 10-to-15 feet more range as far as shooting."

"Personally, and I'm just as prejudiced as Golden Valley's people, I like Terry Harris. He can do more things. Most of the people who saw the state tournament last year felt Terry Harris was the best player in the state, and I would have to agree with them."

Johnson's coach, former University of Minnesota start Flip Saunders, receives six or seven telephone calls each day from major basketball schools across the country who are inquiring about Johnson, who is considering Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nevada-Las Vegas, Marquette, Detroit, Cleveland State and Arkansas, among others. Engelman says he's been receiving calls about Harris, too, but he won't give out specifics yet.

Harris, a native of Dearborn Heights, Mich., is being pushed for NJCAA All-American honors this winter. David Dickey, who played here in 1973-74 and 1974-75 before moving to the University of North Dakota, was a two-time All-American for the Northmen.

Golden Valley Lutheran was ranked the No. 1 team in the five-state area NJCAA Region 13 basketball poll last week, followed by Soumi, Mich., Normandale, Anoka-Ramsey and Northland.

Miscellaneous

+Joel Ranum of Thief River Falls, a transfer student from Northland community college, earned a letter with the Macalester college football team this fall, and coach Tom Hoiser says Ranum, a linebacker, "will be one of the mainstays of the defense next year." Ranum played a key role in helping Macalester snap their NCAA record 50-game losing streak against Mt. Senario this fall. But the Scots finished 1-7-1.

+Greenbush school board rejected the resignation of basketball coach Glenn Delude, who had apparently been asked by some of the parents of the players to step down from his coaching position, citing a lack of communication between the coach and the team members. However, the players themselves presented a petition signed by nearly all of the Tigers in support of Delude. The board felt "a change in mid-stream would only hinder the youngsters and the basketball program as a whole," according to the Greenbush Tribune.

High-Scoring Northmen Win Arctic Title

Northland community college put on an offensive display to regain its Arctic Invitational basketball tournament title, beating Bottineau 111-95 in Friday night's opening round, then routing the Grand Forks Air Force Base 117-60 in Saturday afternoon's championship game.

Two-time defending champion Bottineau bounced back to beat Waseca 75-57 in Saturday's third place game. Waseca was beaten 61-57 in the tournament opener, the Rams' sixth first round loss in six visits here.

In addition to their sixth title in the eight-year history of the event, the Northmen dominated the all-tournament team selections, featured by the most valuable player award earned by freshman center Jeff Nolan. Sophomore forward Terry Harris was named to the all-tournament team for the second time, and was joined by freshman guard Kyle Hams. The rest of the honor squad included center Anthony Lee and forward Arthur Jackson of the Grand Forks Air Force Base and forward Jason Lorenz of Bottineau.

There wasn't many of them; they had a tough time getting here; and they started slowly. But once the Eagles from the Grand Forks Air Force Base got untracked in the second half they sailed past Waseca 61-57 in the Arctic Invitational opener Friday night.

"I'm pretty proud of the guys," smiled 39-year-old Air Base player-coach Dave Davis, whose ranks were stripped of four starters who were on duty back in Grand Forks. And to complicate matters, the Eagles' bus stopped 10 miles short of Thief River Falls. The players straggled in slowly, with seven of them here by game time.

Waseca capitalized on the Eagles' misfortune by building a 10-point lead in the first half, 26-16, on a long base line jumper by forward Jeff Olstad — the best of the talent-thin Rams — with 6:13 remaining.

But the Air Base cut that to 30-24 by halftime, and dominated play at the outset of the second half — played at a considerably faster pace. The quicker Eagles burned the Rams 20-7 over the first six minutes of the second half to go ahead 44-37. They never lost that lead, although it dwindled to three points, 58-55, with 3:34 left.

A drive by Arthur Jackson and a free throw by Victor Smith, the lone starter on hand for the Eagles, made it 61-55 with just 43 seconds showing.

"This group, explained Davis in comparing it to his regular starting line-up, "had a little more patience on offense, and hustled on defense."

Waseca coach Bob Pickert was disappointed in the Rams' performance. "That's about as poor as we've played," he said. "We were just flat. We just couldn't get with it."

Smith, a 5-10 guard from St. Louis, led a balanced Air Base attack with 15 points, a figure matched by Olstad, a 6-3 freshman from Hayfield.

The Air Base was 28-for-68 from the field (38 per cent) and 5-for-8 from the free throw line. Waseca was 25-for-68 (37 per cent) and 7-for-15 at the line. The smaller Eagles outrebounded the Rams 50-41.

Northland 111
Bottineau 95

Explosive. That best describes the 1980-81 Northland basketball team. The Northmen used that offensive explosiveness Friday in setting an Arctic Invitational scoring record with a 111-95 first round victory over a Bottineau team that had beaten Northland in the 1978 and 1979 tournament title games.

Bottineau started with a 6-2 lead, but that's when Northland's first explosion came as the Northmen blitzed the Lumberjacks 10-0 in a two-minute span and out-did the visitors 20-2 over a five-minute spell to lead it 22-8 with 12:13 remaining in the first half. They were never threatened the rest of the way, building a 56-36 halftime lead and sitting on an 82-65 cushion at the 10-minute mark of the second half.

"I thought we played pretty well," acknowledged Northland coach Chet Engelman. "I thought we came out hard in the first half. We played with a lot of emotion."

Five Northmen scored in double figures, but it was 6-6 sophomore Terry Harris and 6-5 freshman Jeff Nolan who destroyed Bottineau in the first half. Harris, who led the assault with 34 points, and Nolan, who hit 25, combined for 18 of those 20 points while the Northmen were running away from the Lumberjacks. Harris scored on a variety of jumps and drives inside and outside, while Nolan dominated the boards — finishing with 20 rebounds. Northland grabbed 15 offensive rebounds in the first half, putting nine of them right back in the basket for points.

Randy Harrison, a strong 6-3 freshman, came off the bench to score 18 points and net 10 rebounds for the Northmen, while Lyndell Knight added 12 and Kyle Hams 10, along with eight assists. Brian Thomas, a 6-1 guard from Chicago, led Bottineau with 20 points.

The 111 points broke the one-game Arctic Invitational record set when Northland defeated Waseca 108-83 in the first round of the first tournament back in 1973.

Bottineau actually finished with a better shooting percentage, hitting 43 of 81 shots for 53 per cent. But Northland got off 19 more shots, hitting 49 of 100 for an easy-to-figure 49 per cent. The Northmen were also a nifty 13-for-16 at the free throw line where the Lumberjacks were 9-for-13.

Bottineau led from start to finish in beating Waseca 65-53 in a lackluster third place game to start Saturday afternoon's competition.

Waseca fell behind 12-0 at the start, going nearly seven minutes before guard David Schreiner hit one from long range. It was 23-8 at the 10-minute mark and 36-23 at halftime.

Waseca did get within 54-49 when Jeff Olstad put in a rebound shot with 8:29 remaining. But three minutes later it was back to 65-53.

Olstad and Steve Ille, who did not start, shared game-high scoring honors with 18 points apiece for the Rams. Jason Lorenz, a 6-3 freshman from Harvey, N.D., earned all-tournament recognition with a 15-point, 13-rebound game that went along with 17 points and 11 rebounds that night before.

Northland 117
Air Base 60

Host Northland continued its assault on the Arctic Invitational scoring records with a one-sided 117-60 championship game victory over the out-manned Grand Forks Air Force Base Saturday afternoon.

In addition to breaking the single game scoring record they set in the first round, the point-hungry Northmen established a new tournament record with 228 points in the two games, shattering a 198-point standard Northland set in 1973 when the Northmen opened with a 108-83 win over Waseca and followed with a 90-82 title game decision over Rainy River.

The outcome was never in doubt. Northland led it 12-2 with just three minutes gone and enjoyed a 26-8 cushion with less than eight minutes elapsed.

With all-tournament selection Anthony Lee, a 6-3 center from Atlanta, Ga., getting inside, the Eagles had their only success of the afternoon during a two-minute span near the midway mark of the first half when they scored 10 straight points to pull within 28-20 and force a Northland time-out.

But Northland scored 30 of the last 42 points of the first half to seal the decision, 58-32. Eight different Northmen had scored by intermission. When it was finally over, burly Jeff Nolan had 38 points and the tournament's most-valuable player award for the Harvey, Ill. native. Harris added 19 points, Tony Smith 14, Lyndell Knight 12 and reserves Jim Nyland and Bob Dostal 10 apiece. Lee had 18 for the losers.

Northland, now 9-0, shot an impressive 58 per cent from the field by hitting 49 of 84 shots, which included a bundle of lay-ups off its pressure defense. The Northmen were 19-for-28 at the free throw line. Grand Forks Air Force Base, beaten earlier in the week by Northland 97-74, shot 40 per cent, making 29 of 73 shots. The 1-5 Eagles shot just three free throws, making two of them.

GRABBING AN OFFENSIVE rebound away from Brian Thomas and eyeing the basket, Northland center Jeff Nolan scored on this first half play against Bottineau Friday in the first round of the Northland community college Arctic Invitational basketball tournament played in Thief River Falls. The Northmen pulled down 15 offensive rebounds in the first half, putting nine of them back in for baskets en route to a 56-36 lead that produced a 111-95 victory over the two-time defending tournament champion Lumberjacks. Nolan, named the tournament's most valuable player award winner, finished with 25 points and 20 rebounds. He scored 38 points in Saturday's title game, a 117-60 Northland win over the Grand Forks Air Force Base.

Goodridge Defense Nets 51-29 Win Over Eagles

Kurt Wiseth scored 19 points and pulled down 13 rebounds Friday to spark Goodridge past Red Lake Falls 51-29 in a high school basketball game played on the Eagles' court.

"Kurt Wiseth had himself a real nice ball game," praised Goodridge coach Rick Nelson, who was also happy with the performance of Randy Henrickson, who finished with 15 points and 11 rebounds. "We didn't play bad. We didn't play outstanding yet, but it's coming. We're progressing every game."

Goodridge led 14-10 at the end of the first quarter, then pulled out to a 24-15 lead at halftime. The Huskies broke it open in the second half by limiting the Eagles to just 14 points.

The win improved the Huskies' record to 2-1. They'll host a holiday basketball tournament Friday and Saturday, Jan. 2-3. First round pairings will feature Badger vs. Gonvick at 7 p.m. and Goodridge vs. Mentor at 8:30. Third place and championship games will start at 7 and 8:30 p.m. the next night.

Goodridge shot 47 per cent from the field, hitting 18 of 38 shots. Red Lake Falls shot just 34 per cent, making 13 of 38 tries. The Huskies had themselves a busy night at the free throw line where they were 15-for-26. The Eagles made three of just five attempts. Goodridge finished with a decided 43-21 rebound edge.

Greenbush 23

An easy 66-23 winner over Greenbush Friday to even its season record at 2-2, Marshall County Central will finally get a chance to perform before the home crowd Tuesday when the Nordics host Strandquist in a nonconference game at Newfolden.

The Nordics, who spent the first three weeks of the season on the road, had an easy time of it at Greenbush, doubling the Tigers 14-7 in the first quarter, opening up a 38-15 halftime cushion, then out-scoring Greenbush 14-0 in the third quarter and limiting the Tigers to just eight points for the entire second half.

"Our defense is improving, no question about it," mentioned Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland, who utilized a half court man-to-man defense to all but shut down the Greenbush offense after intermission.

Meanwhile, a 6-2 Jeff Dahl led the Marshall County Central offense with a 22-point night that featured 20 points in the first half. He was 11-for-13 from the field, playing very little in the second half. Scott Lindquist joined Dahl in double figures with 11 points. The Nordics were without the services of Rick VanCamp, who was nursing an ankle injury, and had Mark Knutson at less than full strength because of illness.

The Nordics shot 53 per cent from the field, hitting 30 of 57 attempts, and made 6 of 13 free throws. The Tigers were just 9-for-33 from the field for 27 per cent and 5-for-17 from the free throw line. Marshall County Central held a big 30-18 advantage on the boards and Greenbush topped the turnover charts 31-20.

DRIVING PAST Bottineau defender Kevin Amundson, Northland sophomore Terry Harris scored two of his game-high 34 points on this play during Friday's opening round game of the eighth annual Arctic Invitational basketball tournament played at Northland community college. The Northmen out-scored the Lumberjacks 111-95 in a match-up of 1978 and 1979 tournament finalists. Harris was an all-tournament selection for the Northmen, who drilled the Grand Forks Air Force Base 117-60 in Saturday's championship game.

Hulings Wins Hetteen Cup At Alexandria

Brad Hulings of Thief River Falls continued to dominate the 1980-81 Sno Pro professional snowmobile racing circuit Sunday when he won the prestigious Hetteen Cup at the Alexandria Dayco Holiday Spectacular.

Hulings, the only member of the Arctic Enterprises-owned Scorpion Squadron, followed up wins at Winnipeg, Man. and Aberdeen, S.D. with the victory in the only Minnesota stop on the 1980-81 Sno Pro schedule.

Bob Donahue was second on a Moto-Ski, followed by Franz Rosenquist on a Ski-Doo.

In an added Super Steer muscle machine shoot-out race yesterday, Larry Coltom of Thief River Falls, a past winner of the Hetteen Cup when he was a member of Team Arctic, was a winner on an Arctic Cat, followed by Archie Simonson on a Polaris and Doug Oster on an Arctic Cat.

Sno Pro drivers will be idle until Jan. 3-4 when they compete at Peterborough, Ont.

Bobcats Drop 33-30 Match To Waubun

Waubun edged Oklee-McIntosh-Winger 33-30 Thursday in dual meet high school wrestling action at Oklee.

"We were a little flat," admitted coach Charles Bishop of the Bobcats. "I think we're ready for a break. We've got a young team, and they've been working pretty hard."

The Bobcats will get that break, waiting until Thursday, Jan. 8, to return to action with a dual meet at Roseau. Oklee-McIntosh-Winger is 1-2 in dual meet competition, but Bishop says his team is "definitely" making progress.

Lincoln Girls Beat Roseau

Thief River Falls limited Roseau to just one point in the first quarter and held the Rams to seven points for the entire first half Friday en route to an easily 44-21 girls high school basketball decision.

The Prowlers led it 11-1 at the end of the first quarter, took a 23-7 lead into halftime and made it 32-12 in the third quarter.

"Roseau was very deliberate," explained Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer. "And once we got our hands on the ball we had a tendency to slow it down, too. But other than that we played really well. We got the ball inside — something we haven't been able to do very well. I'm pretty happy with the results."

The victory sent the Prowlers into the holiday break with a 2-2 record. Thief River Falls will be idle until the Prowlers tackle Moorhead here Tuesday, Jan. 6.

Tara Nicholson scored 14 points and pulled down 14 rebounds for the Prowlers Friday, while LeAnn Paetznick collected 15 rebounds in the Prowlers' 55-37 domination of the boards.

Thief River Falls hit 20 of 63 field goal attempts for 31 per cent, while Roseau struggled with an 8-for-34 night for 24 per cent. The Prowlers were 4-for-8 at the free throw line where the visitors made just five of 15 chances.

Lincoln junior varsity ran its record to 4-0 with a 34-11 win over Roseau, but the Lincoln freshmen had their season-opener canceled for the second time this year.

PLENTY OF CONTACT took place Friday as the Thief River Falls Prowlers lost an 86-51 contest to the Moorhead Spuds at Moorhead. Guard Mark Gere of the Prowlers was fouled by 6'5" Brian Leines (53) of Moorhead on this drive to the basket after eluding 6'1" forward Matt Odegaard. Gere cashed in on both free throws following this second half action.

Prowlers Host Spuds Tuesday

Beaten 6-2 by Grand Forks Red River's quickness Friday, the Lincoln high school hockey team must face a different style of opposition Tuesday when the Prowlers tackle a much bigger Moorhead squad at 7:30 p.m. in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

"Red River had very good forwards," explained Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand, who watched the Prowlers lose for the first time in four starts. "They were quick, and we had difficulty handling that."

Moorhead, on the other hand, uses its impressive size to beat you. "Moorhead will hit anything that moves," confirmed Grand. "And as young as we are, that could present problems. But if you move the puck a little better you can compensate for that."

In addition to the Spuds' hard-hitting skaters, they feature a top-notch netminder in senior Kreg Korinek. "I rate him as one of the better goalies in the section," said Grand.

Moorhead dropped a tough 5-3 decision to defending Section 8 champion East Grand Forks Saturday night when the explosive Green Wave skaters scored four goals in the final six minutes of the third period, including an open net job to clinch it.

Dan Richards collected a hat trick for Red River in Friday's win over the visiting Prowlers, now 2-1-1. The Roughriders took a 1-0 first period lead and turned it into a 4-0 second period cushion.

It became 5-0 before Thief River Falls' Murray Jorde and Scott Wiebolt scored back-to-back third period goals.

"We're young, and we're getting younger every game," offered Grand. "The thing that was most pleasing was that the kids didn't pack it in and take the third period off — which is something they could have done very easily. But they didn't, and we're real pleased with that. Our goal every time we go out is to improve and learn something. And even though we lost 6-2, I think we did some things better than we did in beating Bemidji 7-5 Tuesday night."

Grand had special praise for goalie Jeff Mongoven and Wiebolt, a defenseman. "Mongoven played a very strong game for us, and Wiebolt had another real good game," he mentioned.

Moorhead Overpowers LHS Ball Club 86-51

It was a match-up of unbeaten teams, but Moorhead was quck to show its superiority in running up a 15-0 lead that eventually led to an 86-51 North Half Region 8AA high school basketball win over Thief River Falls Friday.

The host Spuds climbed to 7-0 with the victory while the Prowlers fell to 3-1.

"They're a good ball club, no doubt about it," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Glen Peters. "They have good size and they're quick. Their transition game from one end to the other is something else."

Moorhead owned a 22-14 first quarter lead and lengthened that to 47-26 by halftime and 68-35 after three quarters.

Eleven different Spuds scored, with 6-3 Steve Carlson getting 22 points, 6-5 Lawson Stephenson 17, 6-2 Brian McAllister 10 and 6-3 Jim Driscoll 10. Game-high scoring honors went to Thief River Falls junior forward Kevin Sanders with 23 points. But no other Thief River Falls scorer broke double figures.

"We've got to find some kids who can score for us," pointed out Peters. "We need more than one scorer."

Moorhead had a big edge in every statistical category. The Spuds were 35-for-62 from the field (56 per cent) and 16-for-25 from the free throw line while out-rebounding the Prowlers 43-30. Thief River Falls was 18-for-49 from the field (37 per cent) and 15-for-24 at the line while topping the turnover figures 25-13.

Lincoln junior varsity also saw its unbeaten status come to an abrupt end Friday, losing a 49-26 contest at Moorhead.

Thief River Falls will wait until Friday, Jan. 9, to return to action when the Prowlers will visit Bemidji for their 1980-81 Northwest Athletic Conference opener. The Prowlers and Lumberjacks shared the NWAC title last winter. Bemidji opened its NWAC slate Friday by beating Fergus Falls 59-55.

Grygla Girls Beat Bears

Jill Saurdiff scored 19 points, lifting her career total to 939, as Grygla defeated Lake of the Woods 51-46 Thursday in a girls high school basketball game played at Baudette.

Sherri Anderson joined Saurdiff in double figures with 11 points as the Eagles built quarter leads of 13-10, 32-23 and 42-28 before the Bears closed the gap at the end.

"We played pretty well," acknowledged Grygla coach Bill Raduenz, whose ball club made up for a 45-23 beating on the boards with a 43 per cent shooting night, 24-for-56. Lake of the Woods was just 17-for-58 for 29 per cent. From the free throw line the Eagles were 3-for-8 and the Bears were 12-for-23.

Grygla will take a 2-1 record on a two-game holiday road trip when the Eagles will play Monday, Dec. 29, at Mt. Iron and Tuesday, Dec. 20 at Nashwauk-Keewatin.

Middle River 64
Roseau 19

After a string of close games, Middle River had a breather Thursday in a 64-19 rout of visiting Roseau, improving the Skippers' record to 5-2, including a current four-game winning streak.

"That's the best we've played," explained Middle River coach Tom Neibauer, whose Skippers will be idle until a Thursday, Jan. 8, home game against Tri-County high school of Karlstad.

Despite special attention from the Roseau defense, the Skippers' Dawn Nelson continued her scoring exploits with a 28-point performance. But eight different Middle River girls put their names in the scoring column, including Patti Blazek, who got 14.

Middle River did all of its scoring from the field, getting just two free throw opportunities all night, and missing them both. Roseau was 7-for-18 at the line.

Goodridge 38

Goodridge saw its record slip to 3-3 Thursday with a 49-38 home court loss to Red Lake Falls.

"We were a half-step slow on everything," admitted Goodridge coach Susan Saurdiff.

The Eagles led at the quarter breaks 10-6, 24-16 and 39-26.

Lisa Vatthauer and Char Remick combined for 34 points for the winners, with Vatthauer getting 19 and Remick 15. Susie Johnson and Mary Jo Kiesow provided the bulk of the Goodridge offense with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Goodridge will wait until Thursday, Jan. 8, to visit East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Oslo 48
Plummer 34

Oslo out-scored Plummer 14-0 in the first quarter Friday and that proved to be the winning margin as the Bobcats defeated the visiting Cardinals 48-34.

The loss dropped Plummer to 1-4 for the year. The Cardinals will return to action after the holidays, hosting Strandquist Friday, Jan. 9.

Mary Westlake of Plummer led all scorers with 14 points. Bonnie Fisher added 11 for the Cardinals, who were 14-for-57 from the field (25 per cent) and 6-for-15 at the free throw line. Oslo was 16-for-61 (26 per cent) and a busy 16-for-25 at the line.

NORTHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE sophomore Jacki Nelson, who scored 20 points and grabbed 20 rebounds, went up between Rainy River defenders Sandy Komplien (31) and Bernadine Junker (12) for a first half shot during Friday's women's basketball game in the Northland gym. The Northwomen won it 67-30.

Northwomen Split Two-Game Home Series For 2-5 Record

First game against a Minnesota opponent produced an easy victory for the Northland community college women's basketball team Friday as the Northwomen routed Rainy River of International Falls 67-30.

But the Northwomen continued to have problems with outside competition, dropping a 73-54 decision to Bottineau, N.D. Thursday.

The split at home sent Northland into the holiday break with a 2-5 record. The Northwomen will be idle until Saturday, Jan. 10, when they will host Lake Region.

Bottineau 73
Northland 54

A 79-44 loser at Bottineau to start the 1980-81 season two weeks earlier, Northland narrowed the gap slightly, but still came out a 73-54 loser in the home opener for the Northwomen Thursday.

Bottineau led 37-26 at halftime.

Julie Easton scored 18 points and grabbed 15 rebounds for the Northwomen, while Jean Stukel matched her point total and Jacki Nelson contributed 15 points and 16 rebounds. However, only two other Northwomen scored, and they added just three points to the total. Cori Weishaar led a balanced Bottineau attack with 17 points.

Northland out-rebounded Bottineau 52-39, but the visitors were 30-for-61 from the field (48 per cent) and 13-for-18 at the free throw line while the Northwomen went 26-for-86 from the field (30 per cent) and 2-for-6 at the line.

Northland 67
Rainy River 30

Northland built a huge 80-30 margin in rebounds Friday to beat Rainy River 67-30.

A one-two Northland inside game featured sophomores Julie Easton, who scored 22 points and had 19 rebounds, and Jacki Nelson, who finished with 20 points and an equal number of rebounds. Guard Jean Stukel added 12 points.

Northland shot 37 per cent from the field, hitting 32 of 86 shots, and was 3-for-7 at the free throw line. Rainy River, on the other hand, shot a mere 18 per cent from the field, hitting just 12 of 68 attempts, and was 6-for-20 at the line.

U-M Varsity-Reserve Sweeps Northland

Northland community college hockey team ran into a buzz saw in Minneapolis over the weekend, losing a pair of one-sided games to the University of Minnesota varsity-reserve.

The Gophers, who skated four seniors, took Friday's series opener 15-1 and won 14-2 Saturday when Jim Jetland, a regular on the varsity, and Jon Columbo, a top freshman recruit, were in goal.

Bruce Salmela scored Northland's lone goal Friday. Mike Schmitt and Myles Lund scored for the Northmen Saturday.

"I thought it was a good experience," explained Northland coach Tom Goddard. "It's kind of hard on the conference to get smoked like that, but we learned a lot."

Northland will take a 2-6 overall record into the holidays. The Northmen, 2-2 in conference play, will resume Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) competition with a Friday-Saturday series, Jan. 9-10, against Rainy River in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Red River Is 5-4 Winner Over Lincoln

Lincoln high school junior varsity hockey team saw its record drop to 2-2 Friday following a 5-4 overtime loss to Grand Forks Red River.

Dave Stimac, Grant Anderson, Steve Wiskow and Jeff Milender scored for Thief River Falls.

Snowmobile Trail Maps Are Available

Minnesota Tourism Bureau is distributing its 1980-81 snowmobile trail map prepared in cooperation with the trails unit of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

The map describes more than 9,000 miles of snowmobile trails throughout the state. State park and forest trails along with corridor trails and grants-in-aid local projects are included in the publication. All entries include trail location and a contact for more information and local trail maps.

Copies of the snowmobile trail map are available free from the Minnesota Tourist Information Center, 480 Cedar St., St. Paul, MN 55101. Minnesota residents outside the Twin Cities may call toll-free 1-800-652-9747.

In addition to the snowmobile map, a ski map, winter calendar of events, camping guide, vacation guide and state highway map are available from the information center.

DNR Asking For Bobcat, Lynx Carcass

Hunters and trappers of bobcat and lynx are urged to turn in carcasses of these species to the Department of Natural Resources for biological examination.

Information derived from these carcass collections and examinations include age and sex ratios, food habits, reproductive status, parasites and general condition of the animals. Cooperation of hunters, trappers and fur-buyers is requested by DNR officials since this information will provide management guidelines for these species.

Carcasses turned over to wildlife managers or conservation officers will be sent to the wildlife research station in Grand Rapids. Persons having questions regarding this collection may write the Forest Wildlife Research Group, DNR, 201 Golf Course Road, Grand Rapids, MN 55744.

Each bobcat and lynx must be tagged at the site where taken and registered with the DNR. Details are printed in the 1980 small game hunting and trapping regulations.

Gopher Move To Dome Could Create Problems

Moving the University of Minnesota varsity football team to the new domed stadium would not mean the university could easily demolish Memorial stadium and use the land for other purposes.

New homes for the stadium's other tenants, who now occupy 180,000 square feet of space, would have to be found on a campus that has no space to offer, the university's board of regents were told at their recent monthly meeting.

"The stadium's use by the varsity football team is probably the least use it gets," Clint Hewitt, associate vice president for physical planning, told the board.

With no other lodgings available for the potentially displaced units, it would take at least 10 years to find new space, through new construction and other methods, for all those affected, Hewitt said.

Although no agreement has been reached between the university and the dome management, a university study on the impact of such an arrangement has been underway for some time.

Beyond its use for Gopher football games, the 57,000-seat Memorial stadium holds several units, some related to athletics and some unrelated. Current tenants include the laboratory of physiological hygiene, physical education teaching programs, a federally funded health study, recreational sports facilities, a carpentry shop, locker space for several varsity sports and storage for the theater department and the physical plant, Hewitt said.

If a building to hold just those units were constructed, a proposal the university is not likely to make, the cost would be $10 million, he said. A request for money to plan a new recreational sports facility for the Twin Cities campus is in the current request to the legislature, but even if the request is approved, that building may be several years away, Hewitt said. Further, that building would not include space for the other displaced units, he said.

Even if the football program were to move to the new dome, Hewitt said, "Memorial stadium will probably be here for another eight to 10 years."

The old stadium was built in 1924. Hewitt said that although the structure is sound, "most buildings have a life of 50 years, after which you must make improvements."

Discussion on Memorial stadium's future is still largely rhetorical, said university president C. Peter Magrath. "We have no contract (with the dome's management) and we have proposed no contract. As far as I'm concerned, the only place we have to play, that we own free and clear, is that stadium. Everything is still open."

St. Paul regent Michael Unger said that news coverage of the university's supposed plans to move to the dome have created another impression. "When I read the sports pages and the comments of members of our own athletic staff, it seems that the issue is foreclosed."

Wenda Moore, chairman of the board, said, however, that so far, all talk is just talk. "The only people who can commit this university to anything are the people around this table," she said. "The regents have taken no position."

The regents asked members of the central administration to put together a full report on the status of the proposal to use the new dome for Gopher football and to present it to the board at its January meeting.

Vice president Stanley B. Kegler cautioned the board to consider the impact of such a move. "We would be a tertiary tenant (of the new dome). we're number three," he said. "What's the impact of moving from a place where we're number one to a place where we're number three?"

In other business, the regents heard a request from Duluth campus officials to change from "probationary" to "indefinite" the Congdon Mansion's status as a university-owned museum and tourist attraction.

Glensheen, the Duluth home of the late Elisabeth Congdon, was turned over to the university in June of 1977 following Mrs. Congdon's death. (The building had been donated in 1968.) In February of 1979 the regents approved its operation as a museum on a three-year trial basis.

Since July of 1979, the mansion has been open to tourists and has been used for meetings, conferences and teaching purposes. The venture has been profitable, said Dean Phillip H. Coffman of the school of fine arts at Duluth. Current balance is more than $200,000.

But its probationary status has caused problems in securing grant money, Coffman said.

Several regents expressed concern over making Glensheen's museum status permanent, saying that first-year income is no indicator of future financial success.

Moorhead regent William Dosland, however, argued that its potential as a moneymaker is irrelevant. "We need to decide if Glensheen plays an important role in the university's mission. If it doesn't, let's get rid of it. If it does, then let's study the costs."

Dosland said he is convinced the museum satisfies certain educational needs and should not be forced to remain self-supporting "or to stay on a year-to-year basis."

The regents will vote on the Glensheen proposal at their January meeting.

"We led 18-2 and 22-6, and then just quit," he explained. "We started to coast. We played so blamed good at Baudette (an 84-59 win) and we hadn't played in a week, so I knew we weren't going to do anything spectacular. But we still should have blown them away."

Middle River owned a 22-8 first quarter lead, but let Warroad get within 27-21 at halftime. The Skippers led it 45-37 at the end of the third quarter.

Jon Neumann led the Skippers with 16 points and Eugene Kaml had 10, but the big news was the return of standout Scott McKeever, who made his first appearance of the 1980-81 season after suffering a football injury. He played only briefly, but Sparby expects him to be going full strength when Middle River resumes its schedule Tuesday, Jan. 6, at Badger.

Duluth Area Salmon Are On Increase

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has collected about 92,500 eggs from chinook salmon that returned to spawn in the French river near Duluth this year.

The DNR said that these eggs were from the "spring run" strain, while the first run anticipated from "fall run" chinooks will be in 1981.

Department fisheries specialists say they favor the spring run chinooks since they return to the North Shore early in the summer and remain until fall. However, the fall chinooks usually return too late in the fall to provide the best salmon angling.

To accelerate the chinook program the DNR obtained 675,000 fall chinook eggs from the state of Michigan to add to those collected at French river.

FRESHMAN GUARD Kyle Hams, an all-tournament selection, drove through the middle of the lane to put up this shot Friday against Bottineau in the eighth annual Arctic Invitational basketball tournament played at Northland community college. Randy Harrison (35) of Northland watched the first half action, while Todd Seiffert (24) and Rodney Majors of Bottineau tried to defense the shot. Hams scored 10 points and handed out eight assists while directing the high-scoring Northland offense from his point guard position. Harrison came off the bench for 18 points as the Northmen beat the Lumberjacks 111-95 in opening round play.

HUSTLING PLAY by reserve center Jim Vigness (50) of the Prowlers kept a loose ball alive for Kevin Sanders (32) to corral. Sanders, a junior forward, topped all scorers with 23 points as Thief River Falls lost its first game in four starts 86-51 to Moorhead.

Safe Ice

You can't tell the strength of ice just by its appearance, the daily temperature, thickness, or whether the ice is or isn't covered with snow. The depth of the water under the ice, the size of the water body, water chemistry, distribution of the load on the ice and local climatic factors all influence ice thickness.

Generally speaking, new ice is stronger than old ice. Direct freezing of lake or stream water will be stronger than ice formed by melting snow. Several inches of new ice may be strong enough to support you, while a foot or more of old, "rotten" ice may not.

Clear, solid ice at least two inches thick is usually sufficient to hold a single person walking on foot. Ice fishing requires at least four inches, and a snowmobile five inches. Automobiles require at least eight inches to a foot of ice. We do not recommend driving a car on the ice.

Before venturing forth on any lake we suggest that you check with the local bait shop owner, resort operator or a local fishermen. Remember, often cars will establish 'roads' from shore to the current fishing hotspot. After repeated use, these roads may cause the ice to weaken, and may not be the safest route.

Blackduck Report

Orin Wolden of Blackduck is happy about the deer season. Here is his report:

Deer hunters in Blackduck area enjoyed a record breaking season with a total of 485 bucks and 92 antlerless deer registered for the 1980 season. Last year's total was 312 bucks and 82 antlerless deer.

In 1978 there were 354 bucks and 16 antlerless deer registered here. Bucks only figures in 1977 and 1976 were 352 and 236, respectively.

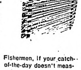
Sports Teacher

Heatherbloom is the name of a high-spirited horse. In fact, a very high-spirited horse. In 1903, this horse, with rider Dick Donnelly aboard, covered 37 feet in clearing an 8-foot 3-inch barrier. That's what you call getting off your feet!



Fishermen, if your catch-of-the-day doesn't measure up, take heart. The smallest fish ever caught in a competition weighed 1/16 of an ounce. Now that makes your last catch look pretty good, doesn't it!

If the local pond in your home town is too small for your ice-skating talents, there's a rink for you in Fujikyo, Japan. The largest outdoor facility in the world, it covers an area of 6½ acres. Getting up some speed there should be a simple matter.

These facts come to you through the courtesy of Teacher's Scotch.

St. Louis Park's Cancer Rate Not Related To Water

A year long study has produced no evidence that above average breast cancer rates in St. Louis Park are related to contamination of the city's water supply, according to the state health department. Study uncovered enough breast cancer "risk factors" in the St. Louis Park population to explain the high rate without implicating the water, according to Dr. Andrew G. Dean of the department's disease prevention and control division.

An earlier department study had found that breast cancer rates in St. Louis Park were about 50 per cent greater than those for the rest of the Twin City metropolitan area. Both studies were prompted by the discovery in 1978 of "barely detectable" amounts of polynuclear aromatic hydrocarbon (PAH) compounds in St. Louis Park's water. PAH compounds are known to cause cancer in animals, Dr. Dean said.

Several characteristics which are more common in the St. Louis Park population than in other population groups have been statistically linked with above average rates of breast cancer, Dr. Dean said. These include above average income, Jewish ethnic background, late menopause, height in excess of 61 inches, and family history of breast cancer or fibrocystic breast disease. The earlier average child bearing age for women in the rest of the Twin City area — which lowers the risk of breast cancer — would also explain the difference in breast cancer rates, Dr. Dean said. It is also more common for breast cancer patients outside St. Louis Park to have had a hysterectomy, which also reduces the risk of breast cancer.

Together, these factors would account for a breast cancer rate in St. Louis Park up to 67 per cent greater than that for the rest of the metropolitan area, Dr. Dean said.

The new findings were based on results of interviews with 150 breast cancer patients or their families, 75 from St. Louis Park and 75 from elsewhere in the Twin Cities. The earlier study had used hospital records for 1969-1971 from the five county metropolitan area to calculate rates for 45 different kinds of cancer. In addition to the higher breast cancer rate, St. Louis Park was also found to have a slightly higher rate of gastrointestinal cancer in women, when compared with the rest of the Twin Cities.

The presence of PAH compounds in St. Louis Park's water has been attributed to contamination of the soil and ground water at the former site of a cresote plant operated by the Reilly Tar and Chemical company. The compounds were found in five of St. Louis Park's municipal water wells, and they were taken out of service when the contamination was discovered. Nine other city wells are still in use.

Department authorities say the new study shows that cancer rates are "not unexpectedly high" in St. Louis Park, but they are also stressing the continued importance of cleaning up the creosote contamination in the area. In addition to closing the contaminated municipal wells, authorities have sealed up private and commercial water wells in the vicinity of the Reilly site, to prevent spread of the contamination.

The department will continue to analyze water in the area for PAH compounds and other evidence of chemical contamination, authorities said. Results will be used to determine what further measures will be needed to clean up the source of contamination. Department authorities said they will continue to take any necessary actions to assure a safe water supply for the residents of St. Louis Park.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE Bob Bergland (left) became an honorary member of the Minnesota Green Thumb program at the annual Minnesota Farmers Union convention recently. Paul Anderson (right), director of the program, made the presentation and noted that some 400 Green Thumb employees in the Seventh district provide services to a variety of public and non-profit agencies. Green Thumb employees in this area include Inga Geving, Esther Hagen, Dorothy Lawrence, Judith Melvie, Pauline Mikaelson, Violet Olson and Nina Stucy of Thief River Falls, Thomas Cullen and Mathilda Hanson of Goodridge.

Local Bank To Offer Customers NOW Accounts

First Northwestern state bank will soon be offering negotiable order of withdrawal accounts that will allow customers to earn interest on their checking accounts, according to Roger Reuter, president.

Earlier this year, First Northwestern started offering interest plus checking, an account incorporating the principal features and advantages of NOW accounts.

First Northwestern will make NOW accounts available beginning January 1, and these accounts will continue to be called interest plus checking.

"We view the coming of NOW accounts as a welcome opportunity to provide our customers with a highly desirable new service. Although NOW accounts represents a significant departure from the traditional checking account, we won't have any difficulty in gearing up for it, since we already have had a considerable amount of experience with interest plus checking," Reuter said.

Between 1933 and 1970, all banking institutions in this country were prohibited by law from paying interest on checking accounts.

Massachusetts banking organizations obtained approval to do this 10 years ago, and were followed by institutions in other northeastern states. The depository institutions deregulation and monetary control act of 1980 has authorized commercial banks, mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations throughout the nation to issue NOW accounts on Jan. 1, 1981.

First Northwestern state bank is one of 86 affiliate banks of Northwest Bancorporation located in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Montana, Iowa and Nebraska.

USDA Offices Close Dec. 26

All U.S. department of agriculture offices in Thief River Falls will be closed on Friday, December 26, as well as on Christmas day December 25, according to information received from the county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee.

Other offices to be closed on what the ASCS says is a legal holiday include the Farmers Home administration, soil conservation service and federal crop insurance corporation.

Exploding Star Is Visible In December Sky

Light from an explosion on the surface of an average-sized star in our own galaxy — the Milky Way — is visible this month in the night sky. The nova, detected in early December by an amateur astronomer in Japan, is an area of the Milky Way that has produced three novae in the past five years. Visible with a small telescope, the nova can be seen in the evening in the southwestern sky between Cygnus, the Northern Cross, and Pegasus.

Unlike massive supernova explosions, which destroy most of the material in a star, nova events leave part of the star intact. But the blowing off of its outer layers causes the star to increase in brilliance up to 10,000 times for several weeks to months, making it more easily visible.

The winter solstice, which occurred December 21, marks the lowest point of the noon sun in the sky as visible from the northern hemisphere. The day of the year with the fewest hours of sunlight, the solstice contributed to the selection of the date on which Christmas is celebrated.

The ancient Druids heralded the returning of the sun and the lengthening of the days after the winter solstice with a celebration shortly after December 21. That early "pagan" celebration probably influenced the choice of December 25 as the day to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ.

Surprisingly, the Earth is closest to the sun in winter. But the northern hemisphere is tilted away from the sun at the greatest angle of the year. This slant causes a decrease in the intensity of the sunlight, creating winter.

Inter-City Gas Reorganizes Cloquet Branch

Inter-City Gas corporation has announced a reorganization of certain functions of its Cloquet office, which serves as headquarters for natural gas service to 18,000 customers in northern Minnesota.

The reorganization creates a regulatory affairs department and expands the accounting department to meet additional financial duties being transferred to Cloquet from the firms' general headquarters in Winnipeg, Canada.

Tom Maus has been promoted to the newly created position of regulatory affairs manager. In addition to assuming responsibilities for assuring compliance with constantly changing government regulation, Maus will direct the activities of residential conservation audits recently mandated by law.

Reorganization of the accounting department under the direction of Loren R. Knudson, involves segregating the accounting staff into two operating groups. The first, customer billing and accounting, is charged with responsibilities of customer billing, credit, collections, and administration of the public utility commission's cold weather rule.

The second segment, the general accounting group, is responsible for remaining duties which include payroll, inventory, plant, budgets, financial auditing, accounts payable and receivable.

Lois McIntire, a native of Cloquet, has been promoted to customer billing supervisor. A general accounting supervisor will be named shortly, pending completion of negotiations with a selected prospect.

Inter-City gas corporation operates district offices at Cloquet, Thief River Falls, Wadena, International Falls and Chisholm.

AN UNHAPPY GUEST of Santa Claus is Clarissa Mapes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Mapes, during Santa's visit to Discovery Place in Thief River Falls Monday morning. Although most of the children were eager to talk with their special guest, a few were reluctant, especially when confronted with the idea of sitting on Santa's lap.

Christmas Eve Dinner Slated For Tonight

Community Christmas eve dinner for persons who have no family with which to share a holiday meal will be served at 5:30 p.m. tonight at the Northland community college-AVTI cafeteria.

Reservations made to date total about 50, and were to have been called in to Sue Kruse at 681-6002. Late reservations will still be accepted this afternoon.

Persons who would be able to donate salads, lefse, vegetables or cookies are invited to bring them to the NCC-AVTI cafeteria late this afternoon or call Kris Kremer at 681-2946. The dinner will include turkey, lutefisk and a number of other food items. Entertainment will be provided and each person attending will receive a gift and a dinner to take home for the following day.

Rides will be provided for those people who need them, with Dr. Alex Easton coordinating the transportation. Cash donations to help support the dinner are also being accepted by Mrs. Kremer at 515 LaBree av. N. Should any money in excess of needs be received, it will be donated to the meals on wheels program.

Special Church Services Observe Christmas Here

Special Christmas services and programs are scheduled for tonight, tomorrow and the coming weekend at area churches as observance of the birth of the Christ Child is celebrated.

A summary of some of the services scheduled, as the Times has been notified by the churches, is as follows:

St. John Lutheran church will have a handbell concert at 10:45 p.m. tonight, followed by an 11 p.m. candlelight communion service. Thursday at 9:15 a.m. a festival communion service will be held.

Two Christmas eve services are scheduled at Trinity Lutheran church, one at 4 p.m. which will be broadcast on radio station KTRF and another at 6 p.m. On Christmas day there will be a 10:30 a.m. worship service.

Evangelical Free church has Christmas day services scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Faith Lutheran Brethren church candlelight services will be held at 5 p.m. today at Silverton Lutheran church.

United Methodist church has scheduled at 5 p.m. today a Christmas eve candlelight and carol service. Communion will be held at 8:30 a.m. and another candlelight and carol service at 9 p.m.

Zion Lutheran church has a Christmas eve candlelight service scheduled for 4 p.m. and another at 6 p.m. Festival Christmas day worship service will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m.

St. Clement's Catholic church of Grygla has scheduled 8 p.m. Christmas eve services and 10:30 a.m. Christmas day services.

Pastors and congregations of all of the churches invite those without a church home to join them for any of the services.

Assessment Roll Resolved By City

City council members met last evening for their final regular meeting in 1980 to resolve items carried over from previous discussions.

A full council present at the meeting led to the adoption of various items including the parking assessment roll and an ordinance resulting from various complaints brought by concerned citizens regarding the sale of drug paraphernalia at stores in Thief River Falls.

Robert Wurst, city attorney, read the model ordinance drafted for adoption by various cities and states throughout the country prohibiting the possession, manufacture, delivery or advertisement of such paraphernalia.

"This is the best method we (Minnesota) seem to know regarding the control of drug paraphernalia," Wurst said.

Following questioning by Mayor Bob Carlson, it was learned that Marty Collins, owner of the Record Barn, the main store in question, did not have in his immediate possession a copy of the ordinance, although he had read it briefly, previously, he said.

It had been stated at the December 9 meeting that a copy of the ordinance would be issued to Collins. Jackie Schwietz, spokesman for those in opposition to the issue, stated she had a copy of the ordinance.

Following the reading of the ordinance by Wurst, it was determined by a majority roll call vote that the ordinance would be adopted by the city of Thief River Falls.

Further discussion (and some debate) on the parking assessment district project resulted in the adoption of the assessment roll — with amendments as indicated at the December 9 final hearing on the matter. Only one alderman, Ole Engelstad, was opposed to the assessment roll's adoption.

Discrepancies in the formula of the assessment roll were discussed at the December 9 hearing. "These things must be worked out before council members make their final decision," Mayor Carlson, presiding officer at the hearing, had stated.

It had also been stated at the final hearing December 9 that once the assessment roll is adopted, objectors will have 30 days to file a written notice with the district court, if they so desire.

Appearing before council members in opposition to the assessments at the December 9 hearing was Bob Bredeson, who presented a petition to council and the parking assessment district committee, bearing 25 names of those opposing various aspects of the project.

During last evening's meeting, Bredeson again appeared before council members with additional names for the petition.

"These names represent 70 per cent of those property owners or renters involved in the project," he said.

Following his comments, some supporters spoke in favor of the project. One remark made was that some of those on the opposing petition wished to be taken off the list. Also, the question developed as to how the 70 per cent figure had been obtained by Bredeson.

In other action, council members adopted a resolution authorizing the issuance, sale and delivery of revenue bonds for Bjorkman's Inc. of Thief River Falls. Project involves an acquisition and expansion of an existing building (Bjorkman's) and the acquisition and installation of equipment for use as a retail commercial facility owned by Bjorkman's Inc. for use in its business.

Regular and special bills were approved by city council members during the final regular meeting last evening. Included were Bridgeman's — installed heaters in the sports arena at an amount of $4,749.47; Stewart & Walker — statement for airport development aid project engineering services, $12,069; and Tri-Valley senior meals salary in an amount of $2,100.

In other matters, the 1981 budget was approved following the introduction of the resolution by alderman Bill Penning seconded by alderman Engelstad.

Boardings At Airport Down In November

Republic Airlines at Thief River Falls regional airport experienced a 44 per cent decline in passenger boardings for November, contributing to a net decline for the first 11 months of the year of about 25 per cent.

Boardings in November of 1980 were 633, down from 1,112 in November of 1979. Through November this year the total boardings are 9,390 as compared with 12,472 in 1979.

For the Republic system as a whole, 1,310,443 passengers were carried in November, compared with 1,183,015 a year ago. Revenue passenger miles increased to 532.7 million from 416.5 million and available seat miles rose to 1.1 billion from 911.7 million. Acquisition of Hughes Airwest on October 1 was reflected in the results.

For the first 11 months, the combined airline carried 16,002,575 passengers. Cargo ton miles in November rose to 3.8 million from 3.3 million.

Beginning January 15 a slight schedule change will be made at the Thief River Falls regional airport due to Republic flights continuing on to Devils Lake, N.D. Departures from Thief River Falls will be at 6:15 and 11:50 a.m. with arrival in the Twin Cities at 7:30 a.m. and 1:05 p.m., stopping only at Bemidji.

Twin Cities departures to Thief River Falls will be at 8:50 a.m. and 8:55 p.m. with arrival at 10:09 a.m. and 10:14 p.m.

Mrs. Mehrkens

Mrs. Mehrkens Attends Meet On Leadership

Mrs. Ken (Connie) Mehrkens, rural Thief River Falls, has been nominated to attend a rural leadership development conference in Alexandria, January 26-29. The conference is co-sponsored by the Association of Minnesota townships, League of Women Voters, Minnesota Association of Commerce and Industry, Association of Minnesota counties, agricultural extension service and the Minnesota council of churches.

Goal of the conference is to provide a setting where rural Minnesota leaders, both current and emerging, can participate in a practical learning experience. Patricipants will be able to learn leadership skills and gain a better understanding of the skills they possess and have been using in their present community roles.

Mrs. Mehrkens' attendance at the four-day conference is being sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce. Committee chairman Dwight Tangquist said, "We are pleased to be able to provide this opportunity for one of our local citizens to increase her leadership skills. We are confident that she will bring some of the things learned back to our community and share them with others in group action that can benefit all concerned."

Christmas — A Work Day For More Than We Realize

by Bonnie Reed
and Mary Lundin

At Christmas — as most of us are celebrating with family or lie "nestled all snug in our beds" — there are some who will continue to work regular schedules at their necessary jobs to make our holiday safer or happier.

As this year's special Christmas feature, the Times interviewed some of those (the list seemed to grow and grow) who will be away from their families Christmas eve, Christmas day, or both, due to their jobs. We realize there are many others that could be included in the list, and we would like you to help us remember all of them who remember all of us at this time of year.

There will be three shifts of police officers on duty beginning at 8 p.m. Christmas eve and continuing through Christmas day, according to Ken Froschheiser, Thief River Falls police chief. According to Froschheiser and the officers and their wives we spoke with, working on holidays is something you "get used to."

Froschheiser says he will never forget Christmas eve of 1972 while working as an officer. At approximately 4 p.m. a hit-and-run accident happened and within the half hour, four more accidents followed — all of them DWI cases involving large amounts of property damage. Later that night there was a trailer home fire.

"It was unreal," he said. "It's tough working on Christmas — when people want to be home with their families — but generally I didn't mind it because there's usually fewer people out at that time."

Sometimes the officers are thought of by others during the Christmas season, according to Vern Cleven, a police officer for the past four years. "It's always nice to see people bring in candy or a basket of fruit. It tells us there's someone out there that realizes we have to work."

Cleven will be one of the officers on duty during the 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. shift Christmas day. This year he will have his first Christmas eve off since he began his job. "It's always nice to have a holiday off to be home with your family, especially Christmas," he said.

"We eat supper and open gifts early if Vern has to go to work Christmas eve," Vern's wife Evonne agreed. "And when he gets home from a 4 a.m. shift, Christmas morning, the kids and I open the gifts from Santa while Vern catches up on his sleep. It seems hardest on the kids when he has to work."

Rich Melby, a policy officer for the past 11 years, will be working from 4 a.m. to noon Christmas day, but "it doesn't bother me much," he said. "It's just hard listening to the kids wonder why I'm not home."

Eight out of 10 times, from 3 p.m. to 9 or 10 p.m. Christmas eve is the most busy time of year, Melby stated, with problems being mainly domestic.

"If there's something you

Chamber Seeks Full 1981 Involvement

With a push for involvement by all menbers, a 20 per cent increase in the expenditure budget and substantial ideas for community progress, the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce is off and running for the 1981 program year.

"We have already obtained chairmen for a number of the standing committees and formed one completely new committee," stated Bill Hogan, 1981 president of the organization. "It is our intent this year to place every chamber of commerce member on at least one committee, and invitations for that participation have gone out with our revised dues billing."

Hogan said the dues increase was necessary due to the effect of inflation on fixed

Rev. A. C. Seltz Given Recognition At Fergus Falls

Rev. Alfred C. Seltz, former pastor of St. John Lutheran church, was honored recently at Fergus Falls, upon the completion of his fifth year as chaplain of the Pioneer home in Fergus Falls.

After leaving Thief River Falls, Rev. and Mrs. Seltz lived in Brainerd while Seltz served as president of the Northern Minnesota District of the Lutheran church-Missouri Synod. Since retiring 10 years ago, they have lived in Fergus Falls.

In addition to serving as chaplain of Pioneer Home, Rev. Seltz attends meetings of the Fergus Falls Ministerial association, has a radio program, writes spiritual messages for the Daily Journal, and attends all Lutheran churches in Fergus Falls, seeking to build an ecumenical feeling so that pastors will feel free to work with him in ministering to the residents at the Home.

At the special recognition service, he stated, "I have always enjoyed visiting with the elderly. My function as chaplain is not to supplant another pastor but to supplement them.

His wife, Frieda, joins him in his work, playing the organ for various services and also working as a volunteer, assisting residents in handicraft projects. Both enjoy golfing and collecting glass antiques.

They have five children: Al, who now is with Otter Tail Power company in Fergus Falls; Roger, claims manageer for Farm Bureau insurance at Kittridge, Colo.; John (Jack) a former stock broker, who with his wife is starting the French Loaf restaurant in Minneapolis; and the twins: Mrs. Ruth Bakke, secretary for Erickson and Braun in Detroit Lakes; and Mrs. Judy Volz, of St. Louis, Mo., who with her husband Rev. Paul Volz, returned recently after being in East Africa for over 30 years.

Christmas Noted By Junior And Adult Foresters

Both the Junior and Adult chapters of the National Catholic Society of Foresters have observed Christmas recently with separate parties at St. Bernard's Catholic church.

The Junior's observance held Sunday, December 14, began with an enactment of the nativity scene with Joan Engelstad in charge. The cast included junior members: Dawn Engelstad as Mary; John Hall as Joseph; Nicolas Tveitbakk as Jesus; Christy Holthusen, Colleen Belmont and Nicole Jarshaw as the angels; and Greg Hall, Keri Holthusen, Wayne Jarshaw and Chris Belmont as kings and shepherds.

The program also included the singing of Christmas carols with Renae Bedard directing. Santa Claus made his appearnace and distributed bags of candy to everyone. A festive lunch was provided by the officers of the adult Foresters.

MEA President Shows Support For Funding

Public hearings conducted throughout Minnesota by the Minnesota education association (MEA) prove the need for substantial increase in support of public education, the head of the teacher organization says.

MEA president Donald C. Hill said there is unanimity throughout the testimony by school board members, teachers, administrators, parents, students, representatives of business and industry and political leaders that school programs — along with other human services — "are being decimated and that the quality of education is eroding".

"The MEA's legislative goals," Hill explained, "reflect the desperate need for increased financial support."

Hill revealed plans of the organization for the 1981 Minnesota legislature — with stress on adequate funding for public schools. He said the MEA seeks legislation:

—Restoring Gov. Al Quie's budget cuts ($89 million-plus for kindergarten through 12th grade) before setting aid amounts;

—Increasing school district revenues by at least 25 per cent (K-12 state aids amount to about $2 billion for the biennium, local support amounts to about $1 billion) — some $750 million;

—Allowing school districts to increase their discretionary levies in order to reduce class sizes in primary grades and to retain program offerings on all levels (districts are allowed to levy up to 1½ mills at their discretion, without a referendum);

—Providing a uniform health insurance program for all Minnesota public school teachers;

—Revising the fair dismissal law to allow enlarged discretion for the classroom teacher in dealing with pupil suspension (this would improve difficult student discipline situations);

—Mandating adequate daily preparation time for elementary teachers, at least one class period a day (secondary teachers have this through state department of education rules and regulations, which have the force and effect of law; the department never has extended these rules to include elementary teachers);

—Providing that part-time faculty at the seven four-year state universities and the 18 state community colleges be included in their respective bargaining unit; and —To provide full funding for all students enrolled in the state university and community college systems with percentage increases adequate to keep up with the rate of inflation and to enhance the existing quality of education (this means a ratio of 19 full-time equivalency students to each professor).

The MEA, among numerous other goals, will seek legislation providing that termination - for - cause hearings be held before impartial hearing officers (rather than boards of education) and improved funding for teachers' retirement programs, so that the unfunded liability — in the neighborhood of $1 billion — can be reduced.

"All this means," concluded Hill, "that more money will have to be appropriated and allocated — while many are predicting declining income for government.

"This means, in turn, that there will have to be tax increases. The MEA stands behind such effort, for — without adequate funding — human services will suffer irreparably."

PACER Center Workshops Set Through Spring

Free workshops on special education are scheduled around the state this winter and spring, sponsored by PACER center (the Parent Advocacy Coalition for Educational Rights).

The workshops give information to parents of handicapped children about their rights in special education. Topics covered include assessment (testing), individual education plans, parent-school communication, and advocacy.

Information presented at the workshops applies to children from birth through age 21 who have learning disabilities; emotional disturbances; special behavior problems; mental retardation; physical handicaps; speech, vision, or hearing disorders; and other health impairments.

An all day workshop is scheduled for Wednesday, January 21, in Minneapolis for persons who have attended previous PACER center workshops and wish further training in order to become advocates for parents of handicapped children.

In addition to sponsoring these workshops, PACER center will be making presentations to groups of parents and others who are interested in specific aspects of special education laws. PACER center, which is a coalition of 18 Minnesota organizations concerned with the education of handicapped children, also assista parents who have individual concerns about their children's education.

For information on workshops or other PACER center programs, contact PACER Center, 4701 Chicago Ave. So., Minneapolis, MN 55407, (612) 827-2966, Voice or TTY. Parents of handicapped children who live outside the Twin Cities metropolitan area may call collect.

Darla Ayers is 6

Darla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dake Ayers, observed her 6th birthday anniversary Tuesday, Dec. 16. The evening before, a party was held at her home. Guests were Darla's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong, aunt Iris Furuseth and uncle Eldred Ayers and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Meyer, Kim, Jeremy and Melissa of Sanders, Lucille Thompson and Myrl Johnson, besides Darla's brother Robby and sisters, Diane and Denise. Mrs. Ayers served a rainbow cake decorated with a ballerina motif from an heirloom cake stand and a festive luncheon. On the 16th, Darla brought cupcakes from home and treated her classmates at Whasington school. Miss Cerny, her teacher, also presented her with a red tissue birthday hat and a gift from the school birthday box. That evening Darla, her parents and family and grandparents Armstrong attended the Christmas musical "The Small One" at Franklin Middle school in which Diane Ayers participated. Wednesday, Mrs. Ayers picked up Darla, Denise and Cari Farbo after school and took them to lunch at McDonalds. Sending gifts but unable to attend the festivities were Ethel Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd VeVea of Thief River Falls. Darla is a member of the Bible and birthday club on Radio station KFMW, where a special song was played, as well as a special request from her family on the "Kids Korner" program the following Saturday morning.

Tips Offered For Holiday Party Success

Minnesota Safety Council hopes your New Year's party is a rousing success. When you close the door after your last guest, you may be tempted to trade a pickup half hour for an extra half hour of sleep. Before you decide to leave that mess until morning, however, here are a few things to consider.

Drinks left standing in half-empty glasses are a magnet to children, who like to play grownup. And . . . just several ounces of alcohol can depress the nervous system low enough for death to occur to a small child. Dispose of left-over drinks and place liquor bottles out of children's reach before retiring for the night.

Be cautious, too, of fire caused by cigarettes or embers smoldering in sofas or chairs after the guests have gone. Ashes can smolder in upholstery for 40 minutes or longer before you even smell danger. Gather up ashtrays after your party and place them in the kitchen sink until morning to make sure all ashes are out.

If you've had a fire in the fireplace, remember to wait until the fire is completely out before closing the damper. And, be sure that the fire screen is in place while the fire is still blazing.

Safety council urges you to take a few extra minutes to clean up after your guests depart — then, sleep well!

Jobless Rate In State Up From October

Minnesota's unemployment rate in November was 5.8 per cent, which compares to 5.4 per cent in October and 4.1 per cent in November 1979, Commissioner Rolf Middleton of the Minnesota department of economic security reported today.

Comparable national unemployment rate for November was 7.1 per cent.

Compared to November a year ago, the size of the Minnesota civilian labor force increased 1.1 per cent; the number employed decreased .8 of one per cent; and the number of unemployed increased 44.3 per cent.

Minnesota's labor force in November was 2,113,500 persons, up 6,000 from October and up 22,500 from November of last year.

The number of persons employed in November was 1,990,300, down 3,600 from October and down 15,300 from November a year ago.

Number of persons unemployed in Minnesota in November was 123,200, up 9,600 from October and up 37,800 from November a year ago.

Production workers in manufacturing were paid average weekly earnings of $310.86 in November for working an average of 39.2 hours at $7.93 per hour.

In November 1979, production workers were paid average weekly earnings of $288.86 for working an average of 40.4 hours at $7.15 per hour.

Chamber Seeks Involvement For 1981 Year

costs and the anticipated needs of more active committees this year. The new dues structure was arrived at following extensive study in an effort to equalize the burden, he said. Excluding reimburseable costs for employment of an office worker under the CETA program, the expenditure budget will be about $60,000 for 1981.

Commenting on the involvement by members, the new president said that all members are being encouraged to complete a registration form to indicate their committee interest area. Every effort will be made to place members in accordance with their expressed interest, he added, so the return of the questionnaries is needed for that determination.

Executive committee of the chamber met with news media representatives Tuesday afternoon to discuss the plans for 1981. One of the service improvements well underway is the establishment of a reference materials area, with telephone books for every exchange in Minnesota and city directories for all cities which have such directories published.

"We receive many requests for information which can be answered through the use of these reference materials," stated Jerry Sandstrom, executive vice president. "People are welcome to come to the chamber office and use these materials but they must remain in the office."

Also available, however, and generally without cost, are booklets and brochures of tourism, economic development, Minnesota attractions and related items. A display of materials on Canada is being arranged now and one section of display features road maps for nearly every state in the nation. State maps which must be purchased are sold at cost by the chamber. The remainder are available free.

Hogan announced that the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held on February 14 (Valentine's day) in the form of a sweethearts' ball. Guest speaker will be Kent Ecklund, commissioner of the Minnesota department of economic development.

Three committees for 1981 are yet without chairmen. They include the education committee, membership committee and newly-created professional services committee. The latter includes medical, legal and other professions.

Committees for which chairmen have been named include the following: Agribusiness — Rich Jorde; Ambassadors — Dwight Tangquist; Conventions and Tourism — Mike Woods; Business Development (combined with Jobs, Inc.) — to be chaired by president of Jobs, Inc.; Legislative — Chris Twomey; Retail Business Association — Jerry Hendrickson; and Transportation — Ron Martin.

Hogan said an orientation meeting for committee chairmen is being planned for about the second week in January to get all committees off to a good start for the 1981 program year.

REFERENCE MATERIAL often requested has now been compiled and placed on display for use at the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce office. The material includes telephone books for every telephone exchange in the state of Minnesota, city directories for every city which has a directory published, and a number of informational and promotional materials. The latter includes information on leisure time activities for residents, tourists and visitors. Road maps for most states are also available and a separate display is being prepared for Canadian materials. Except for the telephone books and city directories, the other material is available for people to take home or with them on a trip and doesn't have to be returned.

AT THE SWITCHBOARD of Northwestern Bell telephone office in Thief River Falls Christmas day will be Mrs. Harriet Philipp of Thief River Falls. She is one of many workers who goes to work on the holiday to help others enjoy it more.

Assessment Roll Approved By Council

revenue sharing funds was set for January 13 at 7 p.m. And, it was resolved last evening that bids for additions to the Crash Fire Rescue building and handicapped access improvements at the Thief River Falls regional airport would be opened January 22 at 2 p.m. rather than January 13 as stated during the December 9 council meeting. Bid openings had been originally set for December 9 but had been delayed due to electrical contractor problems, according to Jim E. Walker, city engineer.

One final meeting has been set for December 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers to resolve any items needing discussion before 1981.

Mrs. E. Blaine Of Grygla Dies December 23

Robert Zavoral Services Set For Saturday

Funeral services for Robert C. Zavoral, 85, of Goodridge, who died Sunday at his home, have been scheduled.

Services will be held Saturday at 11:00 a.m., at St. Anne's Catholic church in Goodridge with Rev. John Kleinwachter officiating. Mrs. Audrey Rogalla will be the organist. Interment will be in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Marlin Johnson, Bruce Bjerklie, Howard Sjulstad, Ronald Kotrba, Darwin Eidelbes and Merle Naeseth.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home beginning Friday noon, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Robert C. Zavoral, a son of the late Frank and Frances Vorlicky Zavoral, was born Oct. 16, 1895 in Thief River Falls and grew to manhood here. On April 24, 1918, he was united in marriage to Mary Eidelbes in Thief River Falls. Since then, he had lived and farmed in Star township.

He is survived by one son, Robert Zavoral, Jr., Goodridge; four daughters: Mrs. George (Helen) Messerschmidt, International Falls; Mrs. Clarence (Mayme) Johnson, Goodridge; Mrs. Swen (Bonnie) Sjulestad, Phoenix, Ariz.; and Mrs. Ernest (Betty) Zavoral, Butler, Pa., 18 grandchildren, 36 great-grandchildren, and one brother, Emil Zavoral, Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died Feb. 22, 1972; a grandchild, one great-grandchild, and three brothers.

Harold Haugen Services To Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Harold Haugen, 83, of Oklee, will be held Friday at 11:00 a.m., at the Oak Park Lutheran church. Haugen died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Charles Keeler will officiate at the services. Special music will be provided by Mrs. Arnold Hammer, who will serve as organist and soloist. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery in Deer Park township, Pennington county.

Pallbearers will be grandsons of the deceased.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home, beginning Thursday at 3:00 p.m., and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Harold Haugen, a son of the late David and Caroline Amoth Haugen, was born July 26, 1897 in Wyandotte township, Pennington county. He attended school and grew to manhood in that community.

Haugen was a veteran of World War I, serving in the U.S. Army.

On June 27, 1923, he was united in marriage to Bessie May Rodman at Thief River Falls. Since them, they have lived and farmed in Deer Park township.

He was active in the affairs of the community. He served on the Deer Park township board for eight years, was a member of the school board, served as 4-H club leader for several years and was a member of the creamery board and church board.

He is survived by his wife, two sons: Harvey Haugen, Hibbing; and Marlyn, Oklee; four daughters: Mrs. Milan (Violet) Eliason, Coon Rapids; Mrs. Vernon (Clara) Iverson and Mrs. Orlin (Marcella) Hanson, both of Goodridge; and Mrs. Charles (Bonnie) Prigge of Gilbert, 16 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren;

Also a sister, Mrs. Hannah Sagmoen, Dillingham, Alaska; and 10 brothers: Albert and Clarence Haugen, Everett, Wash.; Bernard and Christian, Thief River Falls; Daniel of Gilbert; Carl, Hibbing; Harry, Ortonville, Calif.; Olaf, Sheridan, Wyo.; Theodore, Duluth; and Sigurd, Ely Lake.

He was preceded in death by a grandson, Mark Haugen, two sisters, and one brother.

Services Held Monday For Julia Rye, 91

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Rye, 91, of Thief River Falls were held Monday at 2:00 p.m., at the Assemblies of God Tabernacle in this city. Mrs. Rye died Friday morning at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. James Hagemeister officiated at the services. He was assisted by Rev. Donald Peres of the Evangelical Covenant church. Mrs. Wendell Jorgenson was the organist and Marvin Anderson, the soloist. Interment will be in the Wildwood cemetery at Rosewood with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Jim Klemmetsen, Jon Fosholm, William Mehrkens, Keith Hagen, Ron Arnold, and Douglas Grund.

Mrs. Rye, the former Julia Olson, was born Oct. 24, 1889 in Beltrami to Ole K. and Gertrude Holmgrimson Olson. At an early age, she moved with her parents to the Goodridge area where she attended school and grew to womanhood.

On Dec. 9, 1908, she was married at Thief River Falls to Henry Rye. Following their marriage, the couple lived for a year at Goodridge before moving to Granite Falls. In 1912, they returned to Goodridge and lived there until 1926. After living for a brief time in Thief River Falls and Adams, N.D. the couple settled in 1931 on a farm in Rosewood. Following her husband's death in 1960, Mrs. Rye continued to live on the farm until 1965, when she moved into Thief River Falls. Since then, she had made her home here.

She is survived by three sons: Oliver Rye, Thief River Falls; Clifford, Osage Beach, Mo., and Ralph, DeSota, Kans.; four daughters: Mrs. Walter (Alice) Steinhauer, Holt; Mrs. Ella Anderson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Louise (Nora) Cloutier, Spokane, Wash.; and Mrs. Ivan (Ilene) Stitt, Omaha, Neb.; 19 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by a daughter, one son, a granddaughter, one great-granddaughter, four brothers and six sisters.

Hannah Foldoe Services Held At Fosston

Hannah Rosell Foldoe, 87, a former resident of the Thief River Falls area, died Monday, December 8 at the Fosston hospital.

Funeral services for Hannah Foldoe were held December 12 at the Hope Lutheran church of Fosston. Rev. Arlen Hermodson officiated, assisted by Jon Fredrickson. Music was provided by Mrs. Norman Sather, organist and Dale Jackson, soloist. Honorary pallbearers were Douglas Asp, Roger Asp, Greg Asp, Philip Campanella, Douglas Foldoe and John Campanella.

Wayne Omundson, Rodney Omundson, Rodney Jones, Steve Bremer, Tom Asp and Steve Foldoe served as pallbearers. Interment was in the Popple River cemetery with arrangements by Pederson-Hoialmen Funeral home, Fosston.

Mrs. Foldoe, the former Hannah Marie Rosell, was born April 1, 1893 to Magnus and Mathilda Rosell at Delsbo, Sweden. She was baptized and confirmed at the Delsbo Lutheran church. At the age of 17, she came to the United States and lived with her aunt, Mrs. Lillemoe, at Erskine.

On June 2, 1921 she was united in marriage to Lars Foldoe at Walker. The first 20 years of their marriage, they lived at Clearbrook, Roosevelt and Thief River Falls. They then moved to Effie where they resided until Foldoe's death in 1962.

She married Alfred Foldoe June 24, 1965 at Bagley. They lived at Mentor until 1976 and have since resided at Fosston. She was a member of Hope Lutheran church and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Survivors include her husband Alfred, three daughters: Alice Campanella of Niagara Falls, NY, Mrs. Roy (Betty) Westberg of Warren and Mrs. Robert (Rose) Asp of Moorhead; 15 grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; one brother Adolph Rosell of Delsbo, Sweden; seven step-children and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband Lars, two infant daughters, one infant great-granddaughter, four brothers, three sisters and one step-son.

Dr. Haukeness, Former Holt Resident, Dies

Dr. Stanley Haukeness, 55, a physician at Durango, Colo., died Monday, December 15, of an apparent heart attack. He lived in Holt from 1930-32, while his father, Rev. O. J. Haukeness served a rural parish in the area. He was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Torkel Forland of Newfolden.

In addition to his parents, who live at 3420 Lombard Avenue, Everett, Wash., he is survived by his wife, six children, and his three sisters: Eleanor, Sylvia and Helen.

Ag Secretary Advises Look To The Future

Those engaged in developing future farm policies should break loose from the mooring of the past and think more creatively about the 1980s and beyond.

That assessment came from Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland who was the keynote speaker at the 39th annual Minnesota Farmers Union convention in St. Paul recently.

Prior to his speech, Bergland told reporters at a news conference that the Carter administration's record was a good one for farmers and that the incoming Reagan administration agriculture officials and the new secretary of agriculture will face a difficult task.

Bergland predicted that overall, many of the farm programs and policies instituted under the Carter administration will remain intact under the new leadership — particularly the farmer-owned grain reserve program, an emphasis on expanded farm exports and a voluntary set-aside concept in farm programs which, he said, served farmers well. Key problems for the new administration will be to come up with the funding for necessary programs and yet meet its promise to cut federal spending, he continued.

"I don't know how Mr. Reagan is going to reconcile his campaign promises with reality and the forces which any incoming (agriculture) secretary is bound to find at work," he said. "If he's going to keep his promises on cutting federal spending and cutting taxes, it's going to mean a substantial cutback in federal spending for soil conservation and agricultural research."

Bergland also noted that Reagan officials are starting to reassess their campaign promise to lift the Russian grain embargo. He termed it a "sort of Catch 22" and said he had no idea of how they will settle the matter.

As for the 1981 farm bill, Bergland said he wouldn't be surprised if the divided Congress comes to a stalemate in attempting its normal fourth-year rewrite of federal farm legislation. If a stalemate occurs, they simply will extend the 1977 farm bill as is and work out other changes later in 1982, he suggested.

Fights may occur in Congress next year over attempts by conservative Republican Sen. Jesse Helms from North Carolina, the new chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, and others to "cut the fat" out of department of agriculture (USDA) programs, particularly the food stamp program. Of some 20 million people in the U.S. receiving food stamps, 15 million have absolutely no personal assets and 13 million are totally dependent people, Bergland said. There is little waste in the program, he continued, and urban as well as many rural congressmen with constituents depending on food stamps will fight attempts at major cuts.

Long-range "national dialogue on farm structure" called for by Bergland and debated over the past two years will culminate the USDA's publishing of 13 detailed studies in February. The efficiencies and economies of scale in farming and the division of income in agriculture are examples of some of the studies. "Whether the Reagan administration chooses to use them in a constructive way in forming the 1981 farm bill remains to be seen," he said.

"But the battle is by no means over. In the 1980's we ought to look carefully at tax policy. The fact is federal tax policy gives a tremendous advantage to non-farm investors and to large-scale farmers in the United States. We ought to look at taxes in considering the ways we address the basic family farm structure in this country."

"I think the old Jeffersonian theory that widely dispersed land ownership is in the public interest is still valid. In order to protect that basic creed, we need to substantially reform federal income tax policy to take away the advantage of non-farm investors who are speculating in land and are driving the price beyond the capacity of young people to buy land and pay for it out of earnings," he said.

"WORLD'S LARGEST Teddy Bear" was awarded to Ellen and Maurice Newton of rural Thief River Falls Monday when their names were selected during a drawing at the Coast-to-Coast store in Thief River Falls.

This year over 200 women filed suit in Minnesota against the manufacturer of the Dalkon Shield IUD.

The Dalkon Shield has reputedly been responsible for serious pelvic infections, tubal damage, infertility, and hysterectomies. In many other cases, use of the Dalkon Shield has allegedly resulted in unplanned pregnancies ending in abortions, miscarriages, septic abortions, tubal pregnancies, and full-term deliveries.

If this has happened to you or someone close to you, it may not be too late for legal action.

This year alone, over 200 women filed suit in Minnesota against the manufacturer of the Dalkon Shield IUD. The law firm of Hovland and Gambucci can represent you in such a case. 4H CLUB

Smiley

Smiley 4-H club held its monthly meeting on December 9 at the John Erickson home. The meeting was called to order by president Steve Larson. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Plans were made for our January party. We will be going snowcatting if the weather permits. The meeting was adjourned.

We started our Christmas program by singing Christmas carols. Peggy Hamre showed us how to make "Vaflers", a Norwegian name for waffles. A potluck lunch was served and gifts were exchanged.

A joyous holiday season is wished to all from the Smiley 4-H club.

CO-OP C100S 100,000 BTU/HR.
CO-OP C150S 150,000 BTU/HR.

What size CO-OP heater do you need?

To determine BTU requirement, multiply cubic feet of room (length x width x height) by 0.133 by desired temperature rise in degree Farenheit
Formula
Cu. Ft. x 0.133 x °F rise = BTU required
Example
Room 30 x 35 x 10 = 10,500 cu. ft.
70°F (Desired) less 10° (Actual) = 60° (Rise)
10,500 x 0.133 x 60 = 83,790
BTU requirement = 83,790

State, Local Tax Burden Averages $1,096 In Mn.

Minnesota's per capita state and local tax burden increased 9.5 per cent in fiscal year 1979, which is lower than the 11.9 per cent inflation rate, but still higher than the average increase of 5.2 per cent witnessed in the rest of the nation, according to the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

The $1,096 per capita burden places the state eighth highest in the nation — one rank higher than our ninth position in 1978. Minnesotans retain their position as the highest taxed people in the Midwest. Michigan had the second highest burden in the region with $1,050 per capita, placing the state 12th highest in the national rankings.

Neighboring Wisconsin ranks 14th highest with $1,021 per capita. The lower, national average increase in 1979 widens the tax burden gap between Minnesota and the rest of the nation. Minnesota's per capita burden was 13 per cent higher than the average in 1978, compared with 17 per cent higher than the $933.74 average in 1979.

Minnesota's advance from ninth to eighth highest position in the over-all tax rankings is due to California's implementation of Proposition 13. California dropped from fourth highest in 1978 to tenth highest in 1979, which pushed Minnesota and four other states up one rank. California was the only state to show a drop in the total tax burden. The per capita amount dropped 14 per cent.

The state-by-state tax burden figures, based on U.S. department of commerce data, are for tax collections for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1979.

In specific areas of taxation, Minnesota's property tax ranking remained at 23rd highest. The per capita burden was $311.10 in 1979 which was only a 3.4 per cent rise since 1978, however, the national average decreased 3.1 per cent.

The Proposition 13 effect on the rankings should again be emphasized. California literally plummeted in property taxes; the state fell from third highest to 28th; the per capita burden dropped 46 per cent. Maryland was the only other state that showed a decline in the dollar amount. The statistics clearly show California's impact on the national average. This average has increased every year for at least the last 20 years, the taxpayers association said.

Many expected Minnesota's ranking to edge below the 23rd spot based on the $165 million property tax relief package passed by the 1977 legislative session. However, the bulk of this relief was in the property tax refund (circuit breaker) program. The department of commerce does not include circuit breaker payments in their definition of "net" property taxes. If the $79.5 million in homeowner relief had been included, Minnesota's per capita amount would have been $295, as opposed to the reported $311 per capita. All other factors remaining constant, Minnesota's ranking would have dropped from 23rd to 25th.

In other areas of taxation, Minnesota's individual income tax ranking moved from fifth to third highest. The $309.36 per capita burden compares with a $170.41 U.S. average per capita. It should be noted that the 15 per cent rise in the per capita individual income tax collections does not reflect Minnesota's enactment of indexing, which became effective for income earned in calendar year 1979.

The corporate income tax ranking moved from fifth to fourth highest in 1979. The $87.87 per capita burden compares with a $60.34 national average per capita, and represents a 20 per cent rise from $73.07 per capita in 1978.

Not to be outdone, the sales tax ranking edged up from 37th to 35th. The per capita amount increased 12 per cent which reflects inflation and increased sales. Minnesota's $149.75 per capita burden compares with a national average of $184.39.

Per capita spending by the state and local governments showed a 6.8 per cent rise. This places the state 12th highest in spending, which is a drop from ninth highest in 1978. The state's per capita government spending of $1,651.09 is 11 per cent above the $1,481.26 per capita national average.

Expenditures for education account for 36 per cent of the total or $591 per capita. Minnesota ranks 17th highest in spending for total education, and 16th highest in the nation in expenditures for local schools. In 1978 Minnesota ranked eighth highest in local school expenditures.

Public welfare is the second largest expenditure item with $232.26 per capita. This is 26 per cent above the national average and 10th highest in the nation. Expenditures for highways was third highest with $190.35 per capita. This is 13th highest in the nation and 47 per cent above the U.S. average.

State and local expenditure areas where Minnesota ranked below the national average were in airports, police and fire protection and corrections. The state ranked "average" in expenditures for public buildings, health and hospitals.

Contamination Found In Nine Oakdale Wells

Minnesota health department has found "evidence of contamination" in nine of 46 private water wells located near Oakdale where some abandoned industrial waste disposal sites were discovered several weeks ago.

The nine contaminated wells were "fairly shallow" and located "in close proximity" to the disposal sites. The department has advised owners of the wells not to use the water "for domestic purposes." Five of the nine wells had been used as a source of drinking water.

The 46 wells tested by the department were selected as a representative sample of wells in the area. Samples from the wells were tested for pesticides and chlorinated and non-chlorinated hydrocarbons, the substances thought most likely to be present if contamination had occurred.

Fiction Writing To Begin At UMC Jan. 6

Plot development, characterization, exposition, dialogue, conflict and solution as they relate to the beginning fiction writer, will be the basis of a course to be held at the University of Minnesota, Crookston.

Instructor Jerry De Martin, headwriter for WDAZ-TV in Grand Forks and active script writer for films, will discuss style, format and sale of fictional material.

Other courses commencing that week include a course in class piano designed for the beginning adult piano student with little or no musical background taught by George French, UMC's instructor in music; pottery and sculpture with instructor Pat Kuznik; review of CPS exam; and drapery making, where a sample drape will be made under instruction by Colleen DeMartin, home and family services teacher.

Beginning fiction writing will be held on Tuesdays, beginning January 6, from 7 to 10 p.m. in 205 Dowell hall. Fee for the course is $53 for two credits. For more information or to register for classes call UMC at 281-6510, extension 346.

State Gas Prices Rise Marginally

Average price of a gallon of gasoline in Minnesota increased slightly this past month, according to the latest survey by Minnesota AAA. However, while the average increase at both full-service and self-service stations was less than a penny a gallon, diesel fuel increased 3.9 cents.

Currently, the average price per gallon at full-service stations is $1.266 for regular, $1.322 for premium, $1.301 for unleaded, $1.377 for premium unleaded, $1.14 for diesel and $1.39 for gasohol.

At self-service stations, the average price price per gallon is $1.173 for regular, $1.274 for premium, $1.233 for unleaded, and $1.271 for premium unleaded.

Supplies continue to remain plentiful throughout the state. However, about two-thirds of the stations surveyed indicated they will be closed Christmas day, so holiday travelers might want to fill their vehicles early.

Minnesota AAA reminds motorists to help make this a safe and happy holiday season. Buckle up the whole family, making sure infants and toddlers are secured in federally approved child restraints. If weather conditions are unfavorable, allow extra time for travel. And remember, over half of all fatal automobile accidents involve alcohol, and during major holidays the rate is even higher. So if you drink, don't drive.

Note Increase In Food Stamp Allotment Jan. 1

Food stamp households will get a cost-of-food increase starting January 1, the first adjustment in food stamp benefits in a year.

The 11.5 per cent increase reflects the rise in the cost of the U.S. department of agriculture's "Thrifty Food Plan" between September 1979 and September 1980. The Thrifty Food Plan is the lowest cost food plan the department has, and it serves as the basis for the program's benefit levels.

Because of 1980 legislation designed to reduce program costs, food stamp allotments are now adjusted for cost-of-food increases only once a year, on January 1. In past years, allotments were adjusted twice a year, in January and July.

Switch to annual rather than semi-annual adjustments in food stamp benefits cut food stamp costs by $133 million in fiscal year 1980 and is expected to save an additional $300 million in fiscal year 1981.

On January 1, the maximum monthly food stamp benefit for a family of four with no net income will increase from $209 to $233. Nearly all food stamp households will get less than this amount, though, because allotments are reduced if families have income. Currently, food stamp benefits average 38 cents per person per meal.

Effective January 1, maximum food stamp benefits for households with no net income are: One person household, $70; Two person household, $128; Three person household, $183; Four person household, $233; Five person household, $277; Six person household, $332; Seven person household, $367 and Eight person household, $419. For each additional member over eight, add $53 per month.

Also effective January 1, deductions used to calculate net income for food stamp households will be updated to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index. The standard deduction will increase from $75 to $85. In addition, the maximum deduction a family may claim for excess shelter and dependent care costs will rise from a combined total of $90 to $115. The maximum deduction for shelter and dependent care costs has not been adjusted for 18 months. The increase announced recently reflects increases over this one-and-a-half year period in the cost of shelter, fuel and utilities.

Tables with the new allotment and benefit levels for the 48 states and the District of Columbia, plus other tables detailing allotments and deductions for Alaska, Hawaii, Guam and the Virgin Islands, and deductions only for Puerto Rico appeared in the December 2 Federal Register. Allotment tables for Puerto Rico will appear later in the Federal Register.

Agassiz HSA Sets Meeting On Manpower

Agassiz health systems agency will hold a public meeting on Thursday, January 22, at 11 a.m. at the Ramada Inn of Grand Forks. Testimony will be received by the board of directors prior to the agency's making formal requests to the department of health and human services on the designation or de-designation of health manpower shortage areas.

Based on the results of staff analysis, according to federal criteria available at the agency office, designation changes would be recommended for the following counties in Minnesota: Beltrami, Hubbard, Lake of the Woods and Roseau, from shortage area to non-shortage area; and Polk, to enlarge the size of the present shortage area.

Counties currently designated where a designation change would not be recommended are: Benson, Mahnomen, Marshall and Red Lake.

That portion of Polk county currently designated includes the townships of Badger, Garden, Godfrey, Grove Park, Knute, Tilden, Winger and Woodside, as well as Fertile, Mentor and Winger. The proposed area would include the above area as well as the townships of Johnson, Chester, Gully, Lessor, Hill River, Eden, King, Brandsvold; Queen, Sletten, Rosebud and Columbia, the city of Fosston and the villages of Trail, Gully, McIntosh and Lengby.

Designation of an area as a health manpower shortage area means that the area is eligible for placement of national health service corp physicians and that health care practitioners who receive educational loans from the federal government may contract to have their loan obligation cancelled by serving a specified time in a health manpower shortage area.

For further information and a copy of the federal criteria, please contact Agassiz Health Systems Agency at 31 South Third, Box 129, Grand Forks, North Dakota or call (701) 746-0441.

Bell To Seek Increases In Rate Schedule

Minnesotans' telephone bills will be strongly affected in 1981 by the combined influence of pricing changes brought about by current economic conditions, competition from unregulated companies and recent changes in regulatory policies.

Northwestern Bell said today that these influences will make it necessary for the company to seek new rates within the next few weeks.

The company said the last time it asked for increased rates was in April, 1979. The consumer price index indicates an inflation rate of 20 per cent from April of 1979 through October of 1980 — and 12.6 per cent over the past year. Continued inflation was cited as the largest single pressure for higher rates.

The company said it has been paying more for goods, services and equipment it uses to supply telephone service — including heat, light and power, motor vehicle expense, paper and printing, general office expense and employee compensation. Increases are foreseen in postage and other general business expense in 1981. The high cost of borrowed money also remains a dominant pressure for higher revenues.

The company said the requested increases would cover such items as basic local service, associated company-supplied telephone instruments and optional extra items, certain jacks and coin telephone service.

They will also include substantial increases in one-time charges for service charges or installations, designed to reflect the actual cost of these previously-subsidized services.

The entire structure of changes proposed will move Bell prices in Minnesota closer to the cost of providing the individual service items. Moving prices toward cost is generally seen by economists as the foremost immediate result of introducing competition into a market. The net effect, for telephone rates, tends to increase basic charges and reduce or maintain those for long distance services which traditionally have subsidized basic rates.

The company had proposed changes in service charges in April of 1980. The filing was withdrawn, however, when it was determined that by the time hearings would be completed, the cost studies supporting the filing would be out of date. The new filing will reflect current costs.

The company said it would not propose to change rates for long distance and WATS service, or for private line service offerings such as off-premise extensions that are now part of another rate case. Also, no charges are planned for a number of individual service offerings such as data sets or switchboards that are used mostly by businesses and have previously been repriced at cost in earlier proceedings.

Directory Assistance charges, decorator sets, 911 service and Touch-Tone calling are not affected by the planned filing.

The planned filing will not have an immediate effect on customers. Under public utilities commission rules, portions of a utility's request can be placed into effect 90 days after filing subject to refund with interest if later disallowed by the commission. All portions of the request are reviewed by the PUC, the department of public service and intervenors during the following nine months. After the commission's final ruling customer rates are adjusted up or down accordingly.

Food Prices To Continue Climb In 1981

Food prices will continue to climb in 1981 with meat, poultry and egg prices leading the way.

Producer losses in 1980 mean that fewer hogs will be produced next year. While slightly more beef and broilers may be produced, supplies could still fall short of demand and this would boost prices. As consumers try to substitute eggs for costlier meat, egg prices will rise about 17 per cent over 1980's low egg rates.

Global demand for sugar is high, so prices of sugar and other related products will rise as much as 20 per cent.

All told, food prices are headed for a 12 per cent jump next year. However, food at home will gain about 13 per cent in costs while food away from home will rise about 10½ per cent. In 1980, costs for food away from home outpaced at-home food costs.

Upcoming Holidays Hold Safety Record

Over the past six years, the Christmas and New Year's holidays have been safer for travel than any other throughout the year. The Minnesota safety council anticipates a continuation of that tradition since traffic fatalities in Minnesota through mid-December have declined 6 per cent over 1979 and 20 per cent over 1978.

The safety council estimates that between 3 and 6 people may lose their lives during each of the 78-hour holiday periods.

Minnesota safety council urges holiday motorists to take extra care to practice patience, courtesy and common sense, particularly when driving through congested city streets, traveling long distances or when on highways under poor weather conditions.

The safety council recommends that you plan ahead to make sure your car is in good repair and properly winterized for travel. Check air pressure in tires, check the battery, headlights and taillights, make sure windshield wipers are in working order and the engine tuned to ensure that your car runs well.

Durenberger Criticizes Lame Duck Session

Senator Dave Durenberger has criticized the lame duck session of Congress, saying that the "American public has been victimized by the waste of millions of dollars.

"We spent five weeks and untold millions of dollars in expenses to keep the Congress running during this lame duck session — a session that should have been avoided if the leadership hadn't kept us sitting on our hands during September so that they could avoid difficult votes before the election," Durenberger said.

"We passed two important bills — Superfund and the Alaskan lands bill — and a stripped-down stopgap funding bill to keep govenment running. Those things should have been done in September or, at the very most, in a one-week lame duck session."

Durenberger said the lame duck session not only wasted taxpayers' money, but "it turned the nation's attention away from the important transition to a new administration and majority in the Senate. At the time we should have been focusing on our country's future, we were working on its past," said the Minnesota senior senator.

Durenberger was also critical of the compromise funding bill for government agencies that deleted his amendment to stop the U.S. postal service from implementing the nine-digit zip code. "We added to the waste of the lame duck session by allowing the postal service to waste more taxpayers' dollars. My amendment to stop the nine-digit zip code passed on a 90-0 vote. That's a clear indication of how the Senate feels about it. Yet, the conference committee overrode our intention.

"The postal service proposal isn't a good one — it's costly for the service and for consumers. I'll introduce legislation in the 97th Congress to stop the scheme until we have a better plan from USPS."

MJCAA Hockey Race Scrambled

Looking at early season results, the 1980-81 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) hockey race might be one of the most competitive in the history of the league.

Northland community college improved itself dramatically this winter under new head coach Tom Goddard, and the Northmen started impressively by sweeping defending MJCAA state champion Rainy River by identical 7-6 scores in a weekend series at International Falls to start the conference schedule.

However, Northland's instant success was shattered the following week when Hibbing, reportedly "down" this year, came into Thief River Falls and swept the Northmen 5-3, 9-6.

Mesabi flexed its muscle by overwhelming Rainy River 10-1 to start the season, then swept Crookston 6-4, 7-4.

"We played good hockey most of the time, but we were inconsistent at times and made some silly mistakes," reported Crookston coach Tom Kelly after the double setback. Kelley said the Trojans' line of Robin Brekken, Steve Bade and Bernie Foss played well, but noted, "The thing that surprised me was they shut out our red line (Mark Perrault centering Bob Clauson and Tim Brown). I didn't think any team in the league would be able to do that."

But just when Mesabi looked like it might be the team to beat, Hibbing whipped the Norsemen 10-3.

Then it appeared that Hibbing coach Frank Cantani was sandbagging it by downplaying the caliber of his Cardinals. However, Rainy River followed with an 8-5 triumph over Hibbing, outshooting the Cardinals 63-31 in the process.

"Rainy River played so well I couldn't believe it," offered Catani. "They forechecked like you wouldn't believe."

Meanwhile, Rochester is sitting in the wings. The Yellowjackets are reportedly vastly improved over a year ago, but they won't open their MJCAA schedule until January.

Northland, 2-6 overall, will close out the year with 14 consecutive MJCAA tests, beginning with a Jan. 9-10 weekend series against Rainy River in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

An interesting holiday tournament will be hosted by Hibbing this weekend when the Cardinals will be joined by the University of Alaska-Fairbanks varsity and the varsity-reserve teams from the University of Minnesota and the University of Minnesota-Duluth. The tournament opener Saturday at 6 p.m. could be a dandy when Minnesota and Duluth tangle. You can bet both the Gophers and Bulldogs will load up for that one, using it as a recruiting tool Hibbing faces Fairbanks at 8:30 that night. Third place and championship games will be played Sunday beginning at 1 p.m.

That University of Minnesota varsity-reserve team blitzed Northland 15-1, 14-2 over the weekend.

Miscellaneous

+ Steve Enderlein, a 6-0 sophomore guard from Thief River Falls, is a member of the 1980-81 basketball team at Northwestern college of Roseville. A transfer student from the University of Minnesota-Duluth, Enderlein was a WCCO all-state selection as a senior in 1978-79 when he finished his career with the Prowlers with 945 points, fifth best on the Lincoln high school career scoring list. Northwestern was 21-11 a year ago, which included a Division II championship in the national Christian college athletic association.

+ Cal Marvin, writing about hockey in the Warroad Pioneer, says, "On the high school scene, you can expect to see teams like Alexandria, Brainerd, Moorhead and Fergus Falls come to the top in the future. It's all part of the numbers game and the population centers will have the numbers. Before they didn't have the building or artificial ice or a strong minor system. No, it won't happen tomorrow, or maybe not this year, but all the signs are there for the future." Marvin, who helps run the Warroad Lakers senior amateur hockey team, also suggests that Billy Christian of Warroad may be in line for some type of position with a National Hockey League club soon that might take him away from his Christian Brothers hockey stick company.

+Janet Karvonen of New York Mills has had her basketball career at Old Dominion interrupted by a broken leg. The 6-foot freshman, who set Minnesota state high school scoring records, was averaging just 2.2 points per game for the defending national champions before she suffered the injury against Southeran Cal last week.

+ Detroit Lakes high school basketball coach John Erickson described the 1980-81 Lakers as "probably the biggest team" in Detroit Lakes high school basketball history. "We're giving up some quickness with our size and we need to run to be competitive," he told the Detroit Lakes Backcourt Club. The Lakers, who will be in Thief River Falls March 6, have "unlimited potential," says Erickson, who watched his team lose to Northwest Athletic Conference member Bemidji recently 62-61 in overtime.

+ Bemidji high school track coach Ray Farwell has been selected as Region 8 track coach of the year. He will compete with seven other region choices for coach of the year honors.

THIEF RIVER FALLS goalie Jeff Mongoven, who shut out Moorhead 1-0 in Tuesday's Section 8 high school hockey game played in the sports arena, watched this shot sail past the net in the third period. Mongoven turned back 29 Moorhead shots, 14 of them coming in the second period, as the Prowlers improved their season record to 3-1-1. They'll host Fargo South Tuesday.

Prowlers, Mongoven Shut Out Spuds 1-0 For 3-1-1 Record

A Lincoln high school hockey team that had surrendered 11 goals in its two previous starts turned in an outstanding defensive performance Tuesday as the Prowlers shut out a highly regarded Moorhead team 1-0 in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

"When you're as young as we are you can be very unpredictable," offered Thief River Falls head coach Wendell Grand, trying to explain the Prowlers' abrupt turnaround after they had outscored Bemidji 7-5 and lost to Grand Forks Red River 6-2 in their last two outings.

"I don't feel Moorhead is as quick as Bemidji or Red River, and that helps us."

Senior Jeff Mongoven, in his first year as the Prowlers' No. 1 netminder, got the shutout, turning aside 29 Moorhead shots. His busiest period was the second when the Spuds tested him 14 times after being decisively out-played in the first 15 minutes.

"I felt we should have been up three or four goals after that first period," mentioned Grand. "We had several good scoring opportunities. After that it was even."

The game's only goal came at the 9:46 mark of the first period when junior Tom Ose, playing wing on a line with sophomores Tom Kenville and Tim Bergland for the first time, latched onto a puck that the Moorhead defense had knocked down and backhanded the thing past the Spuds' touted Kreg Korinek.

"Ose got his goal," smiled Grand. "He's been pressing. He's been playing well, and we've told him that you don't have to score to be a good hockey player. But he said, "you don't win if you don't score." Well, tonight he scored."

"We're delighted with the win. We're really happy for Mongoven. He earned the shutout. He played really well. I thought we got good play from all three lines," pointed out Grand, who was especially pleased with the performances by freshmen Jim Geatz and Tim Bottem, both of whom played regularly in place of injured upperclassmen. A defenseman, Geatz is playing in place of Mark Harder, sidelined with a broken wrist. Bottem is playing wing on a line with Jeff Moser and Rick Engelstad as Rob Blankenfeld recovers from a check he took in a 2-2 tie with Fergus Falls a week earlier that knocked him out and put him in the hospital for two nights.

Moorhead coach Terry Shercliffe wasn't able to enjoy the game the way Grand did.

"We played poorly," said Shercliffe. "I don't know if it was so much what we didn't do, than what Thief River did. They obviously played well."

While Shercliffe gave the Prowlers credit for their strong defensive game, he made it clear he wasn't satisfied with his team's offensive effort. "We're finding out we're not a real potent scoring machine. We did not create good scoring chances," he said.

The victory boosted the Prowlers to 3-1-1 for the year and helped them climb up in the Section 8 point standings where defending champion East Grand took a tumble last night in losing a 4-3 four-point game at home to Crookston, despite jumping out to a 2-0 first period lead and outshooting the Pirates 44-20.

Thief River Falls returns to action Tuesday when the Prowlers host Fargo South at 7:30 p.m.

Nordics Win Home Opener

After opening the 1980-81 season with four straight road games, you would think Marshall County Central basketball coach Ron Ueland would have been glad the Nordics finally got a change to play at home Tuesday night. But even a 72-50 victory over Strandquist failed to satisfy him.

"It was a lackluster performance," said Ueland. "For the last few years we've played better on the road than we have at home, and the same thing happened last night. We played poorly."

It was the start and finish that did the visiting Warriors in. Marshall County Central played its best basketball of the night in opening up a 20-7 first quarter lead behind Jeff Dahl's 10 points. The middle two periods were even as the Nordics took a 34-24 lead into halftime and maintained that spread, 48-38 going into the final eight minutes when the margin lengthened.

"We got the ball inside to Dahl in the first quarter," explained Ueland. "But then we quit doing that for some reason."

Dahl finished with 22 points and 12 rebounds, while Jeff Lee had 12 points and 10 rebounds as the Nordics built a decided 46-23 edge on the boards.

Marshall County Central shot 46 per cent from the field, hitting 33 of 71 attempts, while Strandquist shot 38 per cent, making 19 of 50 tries. The Nordics were 6-for-11 at the free throw line where the Warriors were 12-for-20. Strandquist topped the turnover figures 20-12.

The victory put the Nordics over .500 for the first time this winter at 3-2. Marshall County Central will wait until Tuesday, Jan. 6, to host Roseau.

Moorhead 2-1 Winner Over Lincoln JV

Moorhead scored two goals in a quick 25-second span late in the third period Tuesday to pull out a come-from behind 2-1 junior varsity high school hockey win over Thief River Falls.

Mitch Semanko's first period goal looked like it would provide Thief River Falls with a 1-0 victory, but Moorhead's Scott Bergen tied it at 12:26 of the third period and teammate Ryan Shercliffe won it at the 12:51 mark.

It was the third one-goal loss of the year for Thief River Falls, 2-3.

Boys, Girls Northwest Athletic Conference Basketball . . .

Fergus Falls, Bemidji Early NWAC Leaders

Fergus Falls girls and Bemidji boys went into the holiday season as the early season leaders in the 1980-81 Northwest Athletic Conference high school basketball rate.

Bemidji, the 1978-79 NWAC champion and a co-champion with Thief River Falls in 1979-80, opened defense of its title Friday with a 59-55 victory over Fergus Falls, a game worth two points in the conference standings since the two teams meet just once this winter.

The game wasn't as close as the final score indicates. The Lumberjacks led it 38-21 at halftime and the final score was as close as it got.

Bemidji, 3-0 overall, was led by 5-11 guard Daryl Strunk, who had 16 points, and 6-3 center Bill Erickson, who scored 13 points and pulled down 14 rebounds as the Lumberjacks built a 30-22 edge on the boards. Todd Joyce, a 6-3 forward, added 10 points. Fergus Falls' attack featured 5-11 forward Clay Moser with 16 points, 6-0 forward Scott Mesker and 6-3 center Jim Einarson with 13 apiece.

The Lumberjacks shot a nifty 52 per cent from the field (24-for-46), while the Otters, 1-3 overall, shot 41 per cent (23-for-56).

Thief River Falls, Crookston and East Grand Forks will wait until January to begin their conference schedule.

Meanwhile, Fergus Falls lived up to its preseason billing as the team to beat in the first year of NWAC basketball competition for girls by drilling error-plagued East Grand Forks 61-29 in a two-point ball game, with Crookston then upsetting previously unbeaten Bemidji 41-38 Thursday.

Bemidji, 4-0 going into the game, made it look as if victory No. 5 would come easily by building a 16-6 first quarter lead and taking a 24-12 cushion into intermission. It went to 26-12 before Crookston rallied to cut the gap to 28-27 by the end of the third quarter.

Sophomore guard Gina Vorachek, daughter of new Crookston boys coach Gary Vorachek, finished with a game-high 20 points. Bemidji had a one-two inside game supplied by Ginny Neville and Linda Iverson, with 16 and 13 points, respectively, but they did most of their damage in the first half when the Lumberjills pulled down 18 rebounds and committed only five turnovers, compared to just nine rebounds and 13 turnovers after intermission.

Bemidji out-scored Crookston by six points from the field, but the Pirates were 15-for-24 at the free throw line where the Lumberjills were just 6-for-12. Crookston is now 3-1 overall.

Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks girls begin their NWAC schedule in early January.

Arctic Tournament To Start Friday Morning

Eighth annual Thief River Falls Arctic Cat Pee-Wee A and Bantam A youth hockey tournament will begin its three-day run Friday morning at two sites — the sports arena for the Bantam A portion of the event and the old arena for the Pee-Wee A games.

The tournament features two divisions of round-robin scheduling for each age group. Games will be played throughout the day Friday and Saturday, leading to Sunday's finals.

Divisional runner-up teams will be paired in the 9 a.m. third place games. Divisional winners will meet in the championship games, both scheduled to be played in the sports arena. The Pee-Wee A title game will be played at 11 a.m., followed by the Bantam A championship contest at 1 p.m.

Bantam A line-up features Thief River Falls, Virginia and Roseau in the American Division, with Fergus Falls, International Falls, Columbia Heights and Grand Rapids competing in the National Division.

Pee-Wee A arrangement has Thief River Falls, Crookston, Moorhead and International Falls in the American Division, with Bemidji, Fergus Falls, Virginia and the River East Royals of Winnipeg in the National Division.

International Falls is the defending Arctic Cat Bantam A tournament champion, beating East Grand Forks 5-1 in last year's finale. The Pee-Wee A portion of the 1979-80 tournament was canceled because of the poor ice condition in the old arena.

There is no admission charge for any of the tournament games. The public is invited to watch the hockey action.

Erskine Takes RLF Holiday Cage Title

Erskine defeated Plummer 59-45 Monday and knocked off Oklee 66-59 Tuesday to win the Red Lake Falls high school holiday basketball tournament.

Red Lake Falls, a 45-44 first round loser to Oklee, bounced back to take the third place game Tuesday by a 41-23 count over winless Plummer, 0-6 for the year.

The Cardinals will be back at Red Lake Falls Friday, Jan. 16, to face the Eagles. Oklee, 2-2, will return to action Tuesday, Jan. 6, at home against Goodridge.

Erskine	59
Plummer	45

Plummer was charged with 41 turnovers as the Cardinals lost to Erskine 59-45 in the Red Lake Falls holiday tournament opener.

The Cardinals, who received a 15-point game from Brad Rosten and a 13-point performance from Warren Tvedt, led 13-11 at the end of the first quarter, but fell behind 27-21 at halftime and lost ground in the third quarter when the Comets pulled away 47-24.

Lee Tradewell led the winners with 19 points, while Joel Christianson and Joel Kangas added 10 points apiece.

Plummer held a 36-30 rebound edge, but the Cardinals made just 20 of 55 field goal attempts (36 per cent) while the Comets hit 24 of 55 shots (43 per cent) and finished with 13 fewer turnovers.

Women Plan Second Run At I-500

Two of the five women who competed in the sport class of the St. Paul Winter Carnival International 500 snowmobile race last January will again be racing in the 1981 event.

Teresa Felt of Frazee and Donna Short of Spirit Lake, Ia., will ride the grueling, 540-mile course for the second year in a row.

The 16th annual race will begin in Winnipeg, Man. Saturday, Jan. 24, and proceed through Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Brainerd, ending in White Bear Lake, north of St. Paul, on Tuesday, Jan. 27.

In an effort to encourage participation by women in the I-500, Hamm's Beer announced it will again pay the entry fees of the first five women to sign up for the sport class of the Winnipeg to St. Paul race.

To obtain information about the sport class and the I-500, write or call the St. Paul Winter Carnival Association, 98 East 7th St., St. Paul, MN 55101, (612) 222-4416.

Scott Knutson Of Warroad Is Section 8 Scoring Leader

Scott Knutson of Warroad is the early season Section 8 high school hockey scoring leader, according to figures compiled by Frank Fee of KROX radio in Crookston.

Knutson, a junior, has scored four goals and collected 11 assists for 15 points in five games with the Warriors. He has a one-point edge over Scott Boelter of Brainerd, who has nine goals and five assits for 14 points in five games with the Warriors.

Al Desrosier of Roseau topped the Section 8 goalie figures with a 1.0 goals against average and a 96 per cent save figure in three games for the Rams.

The scoring and goalie statistics include all games through Dec. 20.

Christmas Is Working Day For Many Jobs

have to do, you do it. If I take the holiday off, it means someone else will have to be away from his family to work."

Melby's wife, Judy, said that having her husband away from home on Christmas used to bother her but she's gotten used to it. "It's sometimes difficult when Daddy has to miss his kids' Christmas programs," she said. "It does bother me that they (officers) have to be so busy on Christmas. Why do people have to fight during that time?" she questioned.

Jim Kremer, dispatcher at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls, will work both Christmas eve and Christmas day. "You just plan around it (Christmas)," he said. "One of the nice things about it is that everyone knows it's the holiday season so they're in better spirits and it's easier to work."

Mitch Borneman, however, feels somewhat differently about being away from his family during that time. A dispatcher-jailer for the past two and one-half years, Borneman feels that "working during that time puts a restriction on the holidays. Your family ends up bringing your meal here and if you get busy you don't get to it until it's cold. Christmas is just not the same."

Art Cloutier, owner of Fred's Cab service in Thief River Falls for the past 10 years, stated that only one driver is needed over the Christmas eve and Christmas day holiday. Calls on Christmas eve are almost nonexistent, he said. Normally, between one and three drivers are on duty 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, depending a lot on the weather, he said. During the 48-hour period over the Christmas holiday all workers are able to spend some time at home, he said.

This will be Dan Skogen's first Christmas eve spent away from the KTRF radio station since he began announcing three and one-half years ago. This year he will be working from 6 a.m. to noon Christmas day.

"Especially at Christmas, air time is taken over with special programs and there isn't a lot of commercial advertising," he said. "There are a lot of Christmas greetings broadcast at that time, too."

The one major difference in working during the holidays rather than other days is that it's more quiet, he said. But the last few Christmas eves between 10 p.m. and midnight, people have been calling the station to get barometric pressure readings. "A lot of people must be getting barometers for Christmas!" he said.

Even though there are lots of "lonely moments" sitting at the station, Skogen doesn't mind working that time. "If I minded it I guess I'd be doing something else," he said.

According to Marilyn Wigness, director of nursing at Northwestern hospital, there will be 36 of the nursing staff (LPNs, RNs, and nurses' aides) employed Christmas eve and 51 Christmas day.

"Patients and those residents in the CNC unit need care and we must meet their needs and provide adequate care every day," she said.

Although surgeries are cut down some, emergencies continue. "We have an obligation to make it as nice for the patients as possible," she said. "But the regular duties have to be done, too. Maybe we can't do anything special for them (patients) but to visit with them. You have to be very understanding. Many of them are very blue this time of year."

There are some at the hospital not on duty, but who have to respond if circumstances arise, she said, including those in x-ray, laboratory, surgery, anesthesia and physicians and ambulance drivers.

There is a whole different atmosphere in the hospital during Christmas, according to Bonnie Wagner, RN and house supervisor at the hospital. "It's usually quiet . . . serene . . . pleasant and in many ways sad — such as for those who are terminally ill," she said.

But sometimes emergency circumstances arise, she reminded. "You can never plan on accidents happening, from the man who eats too much and shovels snow to the child who swallows some object. And there's always the possibility of the birth of a baby."

Lonnie Nyflot, manager of the Valley Dairy grocery store, doesn't mind working Christmas eve and Christmas day, he said. Every year for the past nine years except for this one he has worked both Christmas eve from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Christmas day from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Nyflot is able to spend Christmas eve with his family when the store closes at 4 p.m., he said. "The store's a lot busier during Christmas," he said. "Most people who come in usually buy milk or other dairy products."

Arlen Sorum, supervisor of mail and delivery at the Thief River Falls post office, said that by now the Christmas rush is "pretty much over," with Friday being the last busy day. Now there will be work to do at the office Christmas eve day and Christmas day, unloading trucks, processing incoming mail to Thief River Falls and the 41 associated offices in the area, and dispatching mail for the trucks to Fargo and Minneapolis.

Christmas eve there will be a complete shift at work from 1 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Christmas Day there will be two working the 3 a.m. to 7 a.m. shift (distribution clerks Roger Nelson and Marilyn Wiseth), unloading trucks and processing mail and one person from 4:30 to 8:30 that evening.

"We don't particularly care for the early morning work but it's part of the job," the clerks agreed. "And we always hope that maybe one time we'll see Santa Claus!" Wiseth joked.

Mel Kedrowski, bus driver from the Red River Trails bus lines serving Thief River Falls, can be seen in Thief River Falls six nights a week unloading passengers and baggage at the bus stop at Noper's motel.

This will be his first Christmas eve "on the road" since he began working on the route in this area four years ago. The bus service, which is available seven days a week, leaves from Thief River Falls at 9:45 each morning destined for Fargo, with passengers arriving in Thief River Falls at approximately 8 each evening.

"There are a lot more passengers during the holidays," he said. "People seem more talkative at that time. A lot of them talk about what they're going to do when they get where they're going and what they'll be doing there."

Tim Lewis, assistant manager of the Holiday Discount store, remembers working one or two other Christmas days since he has been in management. This year he will be out helping service station customers from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Christmas Day.

He doesn't mind working Christmas, he said. "We alternate so it isn't so bad. It's all right; it comes with the job, I guess."

There are "definitely more" customers needing gas or other supplies at that time of year, he said. "They're (customers) a lot easier to get along with, which makes it a lot easier to work," he added.

Christmas eve callers who need operator assistance this year will likely be served by Nancy Krohn, a veteran of operator services at the Northwestern Bell office here who draws the 3 to 11 p.m. shift on Christmas eve.

"I really don't mind it at all," she says. "You get so involved with what you are doing that you forget about what is going on back home. Our customers seem especially full of good will and you can't help but get into the spirit of the thing."

Nancy said that callers often wish the operators a Merry Christmas and are extended greetings in return. "I prefer to work in the evening on Christmas eve," she said. "I like my customers, and when we help them with their calls we are being made a part of their Christmas. I think that's kind of nice."

Because she is working the night of Christmas eve, Nancy will gather with her family on Christmas day for a somewhat delayed celebration. Earlier on Christmas eve day she takes part in a traditional type of Christmas open house, so she gets to meet and greet a number of friends and relatives there.

Harriet Philipp draws the Christmas morning shift, going to work at 6:30 a.m. Christmas day. She also finds customers to be especially cheerful and kind during the holiday. As the local operators' elected "voice with a smile" during operator appreciation week last fall, she reflects some of the good will back to the callers.

"We have been more of a Christmas day family for quite a while," she said. "Our son Roger was born on Christmas day so it's a birthday party for him as well as our Christmas observance." All five of the Philipp children will be home for the celebration and two grandchildren also participate.

Harriet adds that the telephone company also provides a meal at the office for those who work on Christmas day.

Fireman Dave Salvhus goes on duty at 7 p.m. Christmas eve for a 12-hour shift, making it necessary for his family to start their observance a little earlier than most.

"We will have to open the gifts a little sooner than we would otherwise," he said, laughing at the suggestion that their 11-year-old probably wouldn't mind that at all. "I've only been on the department for about two and a half years, but this is shift work and we get used to it. It might be nicer to have all of Christmas eve to spend at home, but this is a job and somebody has to do it."

Fireman Dave Bjorkman, on the other hand, draws a 24-hour shift beginning at noon today. He has been "on the department for 14 years, including the last eight as a full-time fireman. The Christmas observance with family will be a quick one.

"I get an hour off for supper from 7 to 8 p.m.," he explained. Parents from both sides of the family will be at Dave's house for supper. Gifts will be opened following the meal. Won't the time be a little short for all that activity? "I may miss the last part of it," he said. "It depends on how much I want to eat!"

There have been fire calls, Dave recollects, but he thinks it was only once locally when a family was forced out of its home by a fire on a Christmas eve or Christmas day.

"It's a time when everybody seems to have all of the electrical outlets filled and there are some overloads or sometimes a Christmas tree will burn," he said. "I hope that this Christmas is real quiet."

Harry Jasperson, another employee of the city of Thief River Falls, will be on duty at the city power plant on the night of Christmas eve. He goes to work at 3 p.m. and works until 11 p.m. The Jasperson's son Duane, his wife and their two children, Kevin and Larry, are home from Hastings. The family went to church this morning and opened gifts this forenoon.

"Duane and the grandchildren can stop by the plant for a little while," Harry said. "The work is such that I can take a few minutes to visit if they want to stop by. There is usually a pretty high electric load Christmas eve but we have to watch the peak all the time when weather is cold during the winter."

Jasperson, who has 29 years of service to the city, is philosophical about Christmas work — just as most of the people who draw such holiday duty. "It's not too upsetting," he said. "It's my job and the job comes first."

MIXED FEELINGS toward Santa Claus are shared by these children at Discovery Place who wait patiently throughout Monday morning for his arrival. Pictured are Mary Ann Hodge, Discovery Place director; Kyle and Keith Anderson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Rory Anderson; Nichole Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armstrong; Gary Ginter, son of Jan Ginter; and Monty Nelson, son of Kathy Nelson. Approximately 125 children, parents and guests gathered at Discovery Place to see Santa that morning.

Card of Thanks

I would like to express my sincere appreciation for the wonderful care I received while a patient at Northwestern hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Thorsgard, Dr. Mostary, Knute Thorsgard and the nurses on first floor. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

My wife Flo and I have been in TRF for 9 weeks. I'm employed by Williams Bros. Engineering Co., Tulsa, Oklahoma, and we are doing work for Great Lakes transmission gas company. Our job is almost complete, but before we leave for our home in Empire, Alabama, we want to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a very happy new year! May God bless each and every one of you.

RAC Board Meeting

December 24, 1980
RIC Board Meeting
December 15, 1980

The RIC Board was called to order at 7:00 P.M. on December 15, 1980, in the Library of the Marshall County Central High School. Roll call was taken with the following members present: Leah Melland, Keith Kilen, Glen Larson, Jim Johnson, Jim Sollund, Kay Turn, Leo Orpen, Walter Steinhauer, Gordon Borsvold, Larry McDowell, Donald Horner. Absent were: J. Duane Nelson, Ken Weise, Carl Carlson, John Helley. Superintendents present were: Keith Kapphahn, Donald Langan, Sal Hoffert, Glen Peterson, Ken Helling, Jim Poissant, Peter Jurkovich, Phil Dyrud, Gene Busch, Milton Anderson, Stuart Blackorby.

Moved by Turn, seconded by Larson that Be it resolved the minutes be approved as written and mailed out to the membership. Motion carried.

Moved by Horner and seconded by Turn that Be it resolved that the monthly bills be approved as reviewed and audited by RAC Board members. Motion carried.

It was announced that the University of Minnesota presenters were detained at the Minneapolis Airport, and would be unable to attend this evening's meeting. Also, if the board wished for them to present at another time, that would be done. Concensus that the Director should attempt to cover the study and point out the highlights. A brief period of time was given by the Chairman to allow members to read the report. After the recess, the Director pointed out the stated recommendations and lead a brief discussion with questions and answers on each of the recommendations. With the listed exceptions to follow, it was stated that action was not necessary at this point in time. Each district will be polled on the recommendations in January, with those results coming back to the RAC Board to be voted on at a later date. Exceptions to this where action was taken was as follows:

Board acknowledgement of receiving the Special Education Feasibility Study Committee and Consultant Report.

Moved by Steinhauer and seconded by Larson that the Board adopt the Superintendents Advisory Committees recommendation of philosophy that all special education services are excess cost programs, and that a cost formula should be billed back to member districts that utilizes a predetermined ADM charge while exercising a new mix of funds. Motion carried.

Moved by Turn and seconded by Sollund that the RIC continue exploration and planning of full computer services for special education at no local cost beyond that of the involvement of the Director.

Further that before implementation of such a system, that facts and figures be brought back before the RIC Superintendents and then the RIC Board of Directors. Motion carried.

A brief discussion was held concerning the need for a special election of RAC Board Members. It was pointed out that nominations were needed for a full three year term and a replacement for a two year term.

The chair took the following nominations: Gordon Borsvold, Strandquist, Walter Steinhauer, Newfolden. Moved by Turn and seconded by Horner that nominations cease. Motion carried. The Chairman then selected a system to determine who would hold the three year and two-year terms. Both new RAC Board Members agreed to the selection system, which was then implemented. Results of the selection system found Walter Steinhauer obtaining the three year term, and Gordon Borsvold the two year term.

A discussion ensued concerning legal opinion on the unappropriated fund balance and language in the joint powers agreement concerning withdrawal. Concensus was that the RIC would display a willingness to negotiate the item with Roseau Public Schools. It was felt that the Chairman currently had the power to take steps to resolve the issue. Further discussion took place concerning specific language in the joint powers agreement and the need for legal clarification. Talk centered around passing amendments to the document to achieve clarity.

Moved by Larson and seconded by Borsvold that the RIC be authorized to bill $12 per ADM for membership to the Roseau Public Schools prior to January 1, 1981. Motion carried, with one abstention.

Moved by McDowell and seconded by Steinhauer to table action on changing language in the joint powers agreement as it relates to withdrawal. Motion carried.

Moved by Steinhauer and seconded by Johnson that Be it resolved that the NW RIC accept the written resignation of Beverly Thygeson, effective immediately. Motion carried.

Moved by Sollund and seconded by Horner that Be it resolved that Linda Conely be employed as a school nurse for the remainder of the 1980-81 school year, effective January 5, 1981. Salary to be prorated over the remaining contract days of 1980-81. Motion carried.

New Business:

It was recommended that because Roseau Public Schools is still technically part of the RIC, that all minutes of meetings in the RIC be sent to them.

Moved by McDowell and seconded by Turn that Diedre Nordeen be hired part time as a preschool speech therapist in the Thief River Falls Center at her current rate in another part time job. Motion carried.

A letter of resignation by Jim Johnson, Hallock, was presented. Because of time needed to start a new business, Mr. Johnson will be unable to continue on the Board.

Meeting adjourned.

Special Education

RAC Board
December 15, 1980

A meeting of the RAC Board was called to order at 10:30 P.M. in the Library of Marshall County Central High School on December 15, 1980. Those present were: Keith Kilen, Donald Horner, Kay Turn, Jim Sollund, Walter Steinhauer, Gordon Borsvold. Absent: none.

Brief discussion concerning the status of the Special Education Feasibility Study Committee, and requests made for follow up activity and presentations. General feeling that all requests for such activity should be made to the board, and that all requests would be dealt with individually.

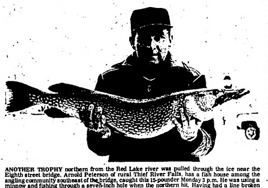
Moved by Sollund and seconded by Turn to dissolve the Special Education Feasibility Study Committee. Motion carried.

Moved by Turn and seconded by Horner that a committee formed and lead by the chairman to seek legal help in resolving the withdrawal of Roseau Public School from the RIC. Motion carried.

Moved by Steinhauer and seconded by Borsvold that Dr. Weatherman be made available to the Thief River Falls School Board as they have requested, for further clarification on the study report. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned.

-s- Darrell Peterson, Director
Special Education



ANOTHER TROPHY northern from the Red Lake river was pulled through the ice near the Eighth street bridge. Arnold Peterson of rural Thief River Falls, has a fish house among the angling community southeast of the bridge, caught this 15-pounder Monday 3 p.m. He was using a minnow and fishing through a seven-inch hole when the northern hit. Having had a line broken earlier this year, Arnold had new 20-pound test line on his jigging stick but no reel to provide drag. He said the fish "really messed things up" with its thrashing around inside the fish house. Arnold, who caught an eight-pound walleye from the river several years ago, is considering having this fish mounted as a companion piece for his wall.

A FAST BREAK lay-up netted Ronnie Perry of the Grand Forks Air Force Base an easy basket Saturday as Northland community college guard Kyle Hams looked on during the championship game of the eighth annual Arctic Invitational basketball tournament played at Northland. The Northmen shot down the Eagles 117-60. In opening round play Friday, Northland out-scored two-time defending champion Bottineau 111-95 and the Grand Forks Air Force Base got by Waseca 61-57. Bottineau beat Waseca 75-57 in Saturday's third place game.

St. Olaf Pupils To Study In Foreign Lands

Two hundred St. Olaf college students will spend the month of January studying in other countries as a part of the school's program in Internation studies.

Students will be participating in 14 separate courses or independent study programs and will be situated in England, France, Germany, Italy, Israel, Ecuador, Mexico, Greece and Hawaii with short stays in other areas.

The largest groups will be the 27 students who will be headquartered in Rome studying the history of Christian Rome to 1600 and the 26 who will be based in Hawaii and study the culture and economic development of the Pacific and southeast Asia.

Two of the courses are under the auspices of Augsburg college of Minneapolis; one is operated by Augustana college, Sioux Falls, S.D., and another by New England college of Henniker, N.H.

David Beito of Thief River Falls will be among those studying Ancient Greek culture with James May, instructor from St. Olaf. The civilization of Greece from the Bronze Age through Classical antiquity will be viewed from two principal locations, Heracleum and Athens. This will include daily lectures and visits to Bronze Age Minoan sites in Crete at Knossos, Phaisto and Millia; and pays close attention to the vast collection in the archaeological museum at Heracleum. In Athens and its environs, with the aid of the famed national museum, there is further study of the Bronze Age of the Mycenaens and field trips to classical sites.

Michael Hvidsten, also of Thief River Falls, will be included in the course of Christian Rome to A.D. 1600. Harold Ditmanson and Carlyle Holte of St. Olaf will instruct. This entails an exploration of Christian Rome as an example of western Christian history in microcosm. Reading and lectures are integrated with directed exposure to sites, monuments, arts and artifacts related to the development of the church in Rome.

Program begins with the pagan city and covers its transformation into a Christian center and its continued importance through the Middle Ages. Resources include the Vatican Museum, Catacombs, Basilicae of St. Peter and Paul, Papal tombs, etc. Brief visits will be made to Florence, Assisi, Subiaco, Pompeii and Pisa.

Social Security Men Here Tues.

Ted Hoversten and Neil Rowe, field representatives of the Grand Forks social security office, will be at the Thief River Falls city auditorium on Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Yes. We have a Christmas Angel living at our house. And most of the excitement of this joyous season revolves around her.

Of course, she is not an angel most of the time. She is a very special little girl — very special because we love her.

At church this Christmas she'll be one of the "angels" singing to the shepherds the joyous news of Jesus' birth.

We are glad the church has become an important part of her life. That's where she has learned that she is very special to God.

So are we all!

The joy of Christmas at our house . . . and in God's House . . . begins with the realization that Jesus was born because God so loved the world.

Christmas Gospel

Remember when you were a child and rediscovered in some forgotten corner of the house one of your favorite toys which had been missing for some time? It was almost like receiving a new toy, but better because the object was familiar to you.

To many people, that is what the Christmas gospel seems to be. It is lost somewhere around the end of December each year, only to be rediscovered the following year. And each time it is found again it has new meaning and provides new direction.

Each year in our Christmas edition we print the story from the Holy Bible with the sincere wish that it will be read once again and will brighten the season for all of those to whom we wish a merry Christmas:

Luke 2:1-20 — About this time Caesar Augustus, the Roman Emperor, decreed that a census should be taken throughout the nation. (This census was taken when Quirinius was governor of Syria.)

Everyone was required to return to his ancestral home for this registration. And because Joseph was a member of the royal line, he had to go to Bethlehem in Judea, King David's ancient home — Journeying there from the Galilean village of Nazareth. He took with him Mary, his fiancee, who was obviously pregnant by this time.

And while they were there, the time came for her baby to be born; and she gave birth to her first child, a son. She wrapped him in a blanket and laid him in a manager, because there was no room for them in the village inn.

That night some shepherds were in the field outside the village, guarding their flocks of sheep. Suddenly an angel appeared among them, and the landscape shone bright with the glory of the Lord. They were badly frightened, but the angel reassured them.

"Don't be afraid," he said. "I bring you the most joyful news ever announced, and it is for everyone ! The Savior — yes, the Messiah, the Lord — has been born tonight in Bethlehem ! How will you recognize him? You will find a baby wrapped in a blanket, lying in a manger !

Suddenly, the angel was joined by a vast host of others — the armies of heaven — praising God: "Glory to God in highest heaven," they said, "and peace on earth for all those pleasing Him".

When this great army of angels had returned again to heaven, the shepherds said to each other, "Come on ! Let's go to Bethlehem ! Let's see this wonderful thing that has happened, which the Lord has told us about."

They ran to the village and found their way to Mary and Joseph. And there was a baby, lying in the manger. The shepherds told everyone what had happened and what the angel had said to them about this child.

All who heard the shepherds' story expressed astonishment, but Mary quietly treasured these things in her heart and often thought about them.

Then the shepherds went back to their fields and flocks, praising God for the visit of the angels, and because they had seen the child, just as the angel had told them.

Love One Another

Following thoughts on Christmas are from Eugene R. Clifford of the Cooperative League of the USA and published in the Land O'Lakes Mirror:

Stripped to its essence, this is the message of the first Christmas and of the events it set in motion — events that still affect the world in powerful ways nearly 20 centuries later.

That message was so disarmingly simple, and was brought so simply, that there may always have been an understandable inclination to take it at less than face value — to believe that it doesn't really mean what it says.

But if it does not, then there is really nothing left of that 33-year demonstration of love for others that ended on a bleak hill near Jerusalem in the ultimate show of love.

And there is nothing left of Christmas.

For Christmas must be significantly more than tinsel and lights and decorated trees, it must have meaning beyond the songs and the gifts and the early morning wonder in children's eyes.

Christmas must be much more than just another party.

"Love one another" is the gentle admonition to find a heaven while it is still far away. It is the warm prescription to seek and find the real riches of our lives, the genuine treasure of our world — all wrapped in that comforting mantle known as comradeship, neighborliness, fraternity. It is the urging to mine the gold to be found in each other.

We do that when we genuinely relate to each other — when we share our work and our play, our concerns and our rewards, our very lives. Then we are paid much more than we pay, we receive much more than we give. And it's so unbelieveably simple.

Love one another.

Christmas Quiz

So you think you know quite a bit about the Christmas traditions which are commonly observed in the United States? Try these 13 questions on for size. If you get more than four answers right you deserve a reserved space under the mistletoe:

(1) The tradition of the lighted Christmas tree came from what country?

(2) In what country did the yule log tradition originate?

(3) The use of holly, mistletoe and Christmas cards came from what country?

(4) What film did the song "White Christmas" come from?

(5) What notable American deed was performed on Christmas Day in 1776:

(6) The image of Santa with rosy cheeks, white beard and a round belly first appeared in "The Visit of St. Nicholas." Who wrote it?

(7) What are the names of Santa's eight reindeer?

(8) Who sang the original recording of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer?"

(9) Name the three wise men and the gifts they brought to Bethlehem.

(10) What is the title of the story by Dickens in which you read about Scrooge and Tiny Tim?

(11) Who was the first president to bring a Christmas tree into the White House, giving it official status? (Clue: the year was 1856.)

(12) Who popularized the Christmas carol as we know it?

(13) What was one of the earliest ornaments used to decorate the tree?

Answers:

(1) Germany
(2) Scandinavia
(3) England
(4) "Holiday Inn"
(5) George Washington and his troops crossed the Delaware.
(6) Clement Moore wrote the poem and modeled Santa after an old Dutch gentleman.
(7) Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donder, and Blitzen.
(8) Gene Autry
(9) Gaspar, Melchior and Balthasar. Their gifts were gold, frankincense and myrrh.
(10) "A Christmas Carol"
(11) President Franklin Pierce
(12) St. Francis of Assisi first led groups of people in the singing of songs praising the Christ Child.
(13) The gingerbread man.

It Had To Happen

Ruling by a judge in Cleveland that at least two players on every basketball team in that city must be white is only one of the ridiculous situations to evolve out of so-called affirmative action legislation.

The ruling gives no consideration to ability and no latitude to the coaches in deciding who does or does not get a spot on the team. It is precisely the kind of racism that "affirmative" action produces, making skin color more important than abilities, experience, knowledge or attitude toward the job to be done.

With preferential treatment mandated by government edict in many fields of employment, education and other areas, something as ludicrous as the basketball ruling had to happen sooner or later. Let's hope it doesn't signal the start of a silly season of similar activities.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Over and over again, as we study the political and economic roots of hunger, we find that official development assistance, far from helping the poor, adds to their suffering. Why is this happening? In our work with a world-spanning network of researchers and activists at the grassroots level, we have learned a hard truth: Government-to-government aid is based on a fallacy — that you can help the powerless by going through the powerful. In fact, foreign aid bolsters those political and economic structures that deny people food in the first place — Institute for Food and Development Policy.

The world's most effective cough medicine has been developed right here in Minnesota. It consists of a few drops of mint flavoring in a bottle of castor oil. Its developers insist that after taking four tablespoons of the stuff, you don't DARE cough !

Gov. Quie's Column

Recession and High Interest Rates Hit States

Last week this column focused on how the "double dip recession" had placed Minnesota in a tight money situation for the 1982-83 biennium.

This week I would like to emphasize that Minnesota is not alone in facing limited revenues due to the slumping national economy.

The finance department has surveyed other states to determine how they have been hit. All 18 states contacted are feeling the pinch of reduced business activity and high interest rates, but to varying degrees. Ten states: Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin had forecast deficits. And the rest have suffered reduced revenues in all or some sources.

States such as Minnesota which rely on revenue sources tied closely to economic activity are experiencing sharp declines in revenues. Such states' revenues come primarily from income, sales and corporation taxes.

Let me use the three states of Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin as illustrations.

Michigan. In September a $600 million deficit was forecast. By December projected revenues were down an additional $200-$300 million. Reductions include an average cut of 5.1 per cent in state spending. A layoff of 2,400 state employees is planned. Of those layoffs, 1,700 are mental health jobs and will be shifted to local communities in a deinstitutionalization move. To date 900 state employees have been laid off. In total, these cutbacks amount to $770 million.

Ohio. In June, Ohio faced a projected $266 million deficit. In an effort to balance the budget, a 3 per cent cut of state agency budgets was ordered, and liquor taxes were increased 5 per cent. However, by Nov. 10, revenue estimates were lower by another $400 million. An additional 3 per cent cut was ordered. These actions reduced $50 million of the shortfall, leaving a $350 million deficit. Last week estimates were again revised to show a $500 million deficit. The governor ordered another $100 million in cuts and has asked the legislature to consider $400 million temporary tax increase package.

Wisconsin. In July a $154 million deficit had been forecast. A 4.4 per cent across-the-board cut was ordered to eliminate the deficit. But by November the projected deficit had grown to $240 million. The projected deficit will be addressed when the legislature convenes in January.

Not all states have sustained such large shortfalls or have taken such severe corrective actions. Still the problem is widespread.

Thirteen of the 18 states surveyed have enacted spending cuts of implemented spending restraints: Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Oregon Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin. Six states have enacted hiring freezes or reduced state employment: Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

Looking at the country as a whole, Data Resources, Inc. (DRI), a nationally recognized economic forecasting service, predicted in September that state and local governments will incur large deficits through 1982. This aggregate deficit may reach $12.3 billion in 1980; $15.4 billion in 1981; and $13.5 billion in 1982.

This forecast explains why some states are taking a hard look at spending proposals in the next budget period.

For example, Idaho ordered a 3.85 per cent cut in August 1980. Next budget year they plan no restoration of cuts. Although they hope to provide an inflationary adjustment in the next budget, they do not plan to fund new programs.

Similarly, during fiscal year 1980, which ended June 30, 1980, Pennsylvania eliminated 2,900 salaried state positions. They have approved a fiscal year 1981 budget that provides for no restoration of these cuts and keeps funding at the 1980 levels.

These figures from other states demonstrate that the financial problems at hand for Minnesota are shared nationwide. As I have said before, my recommendations for how Minnesota should meet this fiscal challenge will be outlined in my budget address next month.

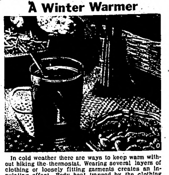
Cranberry Mulled Cider A Winter Warmer



In cold weather there are ways to keep warm without hiking the thermostat. Wearing several layers of clothing or loosely fitting garments creates an insulating effect. Body heat trapped by the clothing helps warm the wearer. Sipping a warm beverage is another tasty trick. This increases core body temperature which slowly radiates heat outward. Defrosting from the outside in can be accomplished by sitting near a crackling fire.

Try Ruby Mulled Cider for a wonderful cold weather warm-up. The not-too-tart fresh cranberry taste of Welch's Frozen Concentrated Cranberry Juice Cocktail blends naturally with apple cider and spices. Another heart warming feature is its beautiful ruby color.

RUBY MULLED CIDER
(Makes 4 servings)

1 can (6 ounces) Welch's Frozen Concentrated Cranberry Juice Cocktail, undiluted, OR ½ (12 ounce) can
4 cups apple cider
2 cinnamon sticks
10 whole cloves
Butter

In saucepan, heat cranberry juice concentrate, cider, cinnamon and cloves. Simmer for 5 minutes. In each of 4 mugs, put about 1 teaspoon butter. Pour over hot cider, being careful not to include cinnamon sticks and cloves

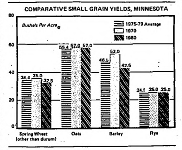
Northwest Crop Yields Down 25 Per Cent In '80



Farmers in northwestern Minnesota reported that yields were cut about 25 per cent from normal during the 1980 crop year, according to the annual small grains summary of the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. Elsewhere in the state, except for the north central districts, yields ranged from near the 1975-1979 average to 25 per cent above that level.

Planting of small grains got off to an early start and advanced rapidly, the statistics service reported. Although farmers completed planting ahead of normal, germination and emergence of grain and herbicide effectiveness was very spotty because of short moisture supplies, especially in the northern third of the state.

Although scattered showers in mid and late May enhanced germination and emergency of crops in the southern two-thirds of the state, prospects continued to deteriorate in northern Minnesota. As a result, abandonment was much higher than normal in most of the northern counties. Wet weather delayed harvest progress in several areas and also contributed to some abandonment.

Minnesota's 1980 wheat crop totaled 102.6 million bushels, 13 per cent above 1979. The increase resulted from a 23 per cent larger harvested acreage (at 3,169,000 acres) which more than offset an eight per cent drop in yield. This year's crop averaged 32.4 bushels per acre compared with 35.1 bushels in 1979 and 33.6 in 1978. Over 12 per cent of the planted acreage was abandoned this year, mostly in the northern counties.

In the northwest district there were 1,865,000 acres of spring wheat other than durum planted and 1,492,000 acres harvested. Average yield of 27 bushels per acre was more than five bushels below the state average and resulted in total production in the district of 40,284,000 bushels.

By types, production of spring wheat other than durum rose 13 per cent to 96.9

Newfolden Pupils Help Needy Kentucky Family

In response to a letter addressed to "Pastor of church or principal of school, Newfolden, MN," the Marshall county central school at Newfolden has collected, sorted, packed and shipped 233 pounds of clothing, shoes and toys to a family in Marcum, KY.

"It seemed like a legitimate letter," principal Dave Kragness of Marshall county central school explained about the hand-written request. The writer, a mother with nine children, asked for clothing, shoes and household items in exchange for homemade Christmas decorations.

"We sent a letter advising that items were being shipped," Kragness said. "The Newfolden Lions club offered to pay the postage on the eight boxes of clothes, shoes and toys that were packed for shipment. The student council at the school made the decision to become involved and headed the collection of goods by the students."

The hand-written letter was copied and circulated with students to homes in the school district with collection urged by December 12 so that shipment could be made on December 15. The letter stated:

"Dear unaun friend,

"I thought I would write you to see if you and your friends would be interesting in exchanging used clothing, shoes and toys to Christmas decorations such as mountain tea pine cones, ferns, mountain tea, many other greens for Christmas. I am a poor woman live in the mountain part of Kentucky. I have 9 children 6 girls and 3 Boys. 6 in school and 3 at home. We can use most of anythings you can send. bed clothing sheets pillowcases towels anythings you can send we would be more than glad I will give their sizes on the other side. Mary Ann Wagers, Marcum, KY 40963."

Listed in the letter were sizes for the woman, her husband and nine children.

Student council members received, sorted and packed the items for shipment. "We hope this particular family will have had a very merry Christmas because local contributors have demonstrated the real meaning of the holiday season," Kragness said.

STACKS OF CLOTHING collected by the students of Marshall county central school at Newfolden were shipped to a family at Marcum, KY., for Christmas. The collection was made in response to a letter received by principal Dave Kragness and offering to exchange homemade Christmas decorations for used clothing and usable household items. —Photo by Dave Kragness

Region I Dairy Meeting Set For January 13

American Dairy association of Minnesota has announced that the annual meeting for Region one will be held at the Best Western motel in Thief River Falls on January 13 at 11:30 a.m.

Cliff Markuson, manager of the American Dairy association (ADA) of Minnesota, will report on the programs of the Minnesota dairy promotion council and ADA of Minnesota. Regional dairy day plans and activities will be discussed for the coming year and the business meeting will include the election of regional officers. Counties included in Region one are Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. All dairy producers in these areas are invited to attend.

The Minnesota dairy promotion council and ADA of Minnesota are comprised of and financed by over 26,000 dairy farmers throughout the state. Their express purpose of the cooperative funding program is to conduct research on dairy products, to educate children and other consumers on sound nutrition and to advertise the use of dairy products in an overall effort to expand and promote the market for dairy foods.

George Koch, dairy farmer from Puposky, serves on the ADA Minnesota board of directors.

Norway Visitor Enjoys U.S. Despite Flat Land

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

Visitors from another country are valuable. Through them, we can learn of our country as well as of ourselves.

Ranveig Hammeren, 19, of Sorumsand, Norway, is gaining an understanding of the United States and its people during her stay with John and Renee Erickson, and their daughter, Faye, 11, of rural Thief River Falls.

Sorumsand, which lies near Oslo, in the eastern part of southern Norway, has a population of approximately 10,000 and is somewhat similar to Thief River Falls, Ranveig said.

Ranveig longed to come to the United States to better learn our language, even though all students in Norway are required to take English in school as well as German and Norwegian and another language, if they desire.

"You're always kind of shy about talking to people when you're from another country," she said, confessing that she felt she did not speak our language as well as she would like.

She was also prompted in her decision to come here by relatives in Bagley (John's parents) and her desire to visit her three great uncles in Roseau. The fact that one of them came to the United States from Norway when he was 16 encouraged Ranveig to explain her interest in history and in those who helped make our country what it is today — a fact many of us perhaps take for granted.

"We owe them something for what they've done," she explained. "I can't imagine what it would have been like to come over here not knowing the American language and trying to make a living."

Ranveig also explained her admiration for the American Indians — those who had a hand in helping to build our country. She hopes to be able to visit Ed and Dan Needham, peace pipe carvers residing at rural Goodridge. Dan is a former treasurer of the Red Lake tribal council (a feature story on them appeared in the October 20 issue of the Times).

"I began reading all about Indians when I was 11 years old," she said. "They were some of the first settlers. It was so hard for people back then, especially with all of the dishonesty, among other problems."

Ranveig plans to continue her interest in history, by becoming a history instructor some day. "It all depends upon if I get into the school I want in Norway," she said.

Students in Norway attend school for nine years before making a decision on what they want to do in life, she said. They may choose a vocational school, work, or Geymnaset, a theotrical school like an American college, which prepares students for their occupations.

When Ranveig first began classes at Northland community college she was scared, she admitted. "I wondered how I would ever get through it. Everyone seemed to know so much about English except for me." But after two weeks she grew

AN AMERICAN CHRISTMAS was celebrated by Ranveig Hammeren of Norway this year during her stay with John D. and Renee Erickson, their daughter Faye, and the family dog, "Blackie," while attending school at Northland community college. Differences in the celebration of the holiday between the two countries caused her to miss customs back home, especially the ringing of church bells throughout the country Christmas eve.

Babson Forecast Predicts 1981 As Regrouping Year

by Babson's Reports Inc.
Wellesley Hills, Mass.
December 24, 1980

A year ago, our forecast for 1980 predicted that the American economy would experience a recession, the main thrust of which would be felt early in the year.

Technically speaking, however, the generally accepted definition of an economic recession was not fulfilled. That is, the "real" gross national product (the GNP stripped of inflation) did not experience two consecutive calendar quarters of negative readings. However, the massive second-quarter 1980 slump (down nearly 10 per cent) suffered by the gross national product in terms of 1972 dollars, and the minuscule growth rates of the year's remaining quarterly spans, surely must be regarded as ample indication that a recession did indeed occur.

While the severity of the economic contraction during the spring weeks of 1980 exceeded the expectations of most economists, the letdown's brevity underscored the intrinsic resilience of the nation's economy. Had it not been for the drastic credit curbs which the Carter administration and the federal reserve employed in the bold bid to curb burgeoning inflationary forces, the economy might not have been subjected to such a pronounced buffeting in the spring and early summer of 1980. But even if the reins had not been pulled back so radically, it is doubtful that a business slowdown could have been averted completely.

After all, the growth of the nation's money supply remained consistently higher than the targets that had been projected by the monetary authorities, and the federal government was unable to cope with the ever-increasing budget deficit for fiscal 1980 which ended September 30. Hence, there was an exceedingly fertile breeding ground for inflation, and the brief, sharp downturn in short-term interest rates was supplanted by another spell of oppressively high inflation and interest rates in the second half of 1980. As these adverse factors resurfaced, the promising pickups in residential building and industrial output sputtered as the year worked to its terminus.

1981 — A Period of Regrouping

The staff of Babson's Reports now foresees an extension of the logy economic climate during much of 1981's first half. The incoming Reagan administration faces the monumental task of lowering inflation and interest rates. We doubt that sufficiently significant and rapid inroads can be made on these problems to boost the economy into a swift upthrust early in the year. Indeed, vitality and forward momentum will be slow in developing. Hence, economic activity will do well to edge upward during the winter and early spring weeks.

Thereafter, however, the business tempo will quicken and, the second half of 1981 could enjoy enough of an uplift to enable the year as a whole to record a moderate amount of progress. In effect, therefore, 1981 should be viewed as a regrouping period for the U.S. economy, to the groundwork for a more vibrant 1982.

Economy's Resilience A Sustaining Force

Although the staff of Babson's Reports does not anticipate a sturdy year-long upsurge in economic activity, 1981 could turn out to be more fruitful than current conditions would seem to support. But there are less hopeful opinions. Such views reflect fear that the economy will lapse back to the 1980 low point of economic activity, and the more pessimistic element go a step further in projecting a dip of even deeper penetration. If either viewpoint should be borne out, the result would be a "double dip" 1980-81 recession, or something tantamount to a "W"-type reversal pattern.

The Babson forecast, on the other hand, envisions a generally flat trend of economic activity — but with a modest upward bias — for early 1981. On this thesis, a "double dip" recession pattern would not materialize. This scenario is predicated on the basic buoyancy of the U.S. economy, which Babson's views as capable of providing more bolstering influences than is generally recognized. For one thing, service-oriented activities have been growing in importance over the years. Many facets of this diverse segment of the economy are less responsive to cyclical downswings in the industrial and commercial sectors, hence tend to impart support to the overall economy.

The automotive and agricultural equipment industries are verging on cyclical advances which could come into play once oppressively high interest rates decline. Improvement in these sectors will give an uplift to the operations of parts suppliers, including the steel and rubber industries which have experienced tough sledding for quite some time. Moreover, the feverish pace of exploration and development work in the oil and gas industries and the rapid growth in computer-related fields mean added vital support for the economy. And, as 1981 progresses, a new uptrend (more durable than the aborted 1980 effort) is likely to take hold in residential building.

Benefits From The Change In National Leadership

Allowing for the settling-in process, Babson's expectation is that the incoming Reagan Administration will make

Honor Junior Volunteers At NW Hospital

Northwestern hospital junior volunteers were recognized recently at a Christmas party and awards evening held in the hospital chapel. Parents and friends were invited to honor the 21 young women receiving badges, caps, patches, pins and stripes according to the number of hours of volunteer work they had provided.

Awarded the distinctive red cap stripe for their contribution of more than 500 hours were Sheila Johnson and Vickie Hunt. Sherri Johnson was honored with a gold pin for giving more than 300 hours toward the volunteer program.

Contributing 100 hours or more were Connie Molskness, Melanie Thorson, Kristi Olson, Beth Jensen, Connie Hume, Connie Rutz and Coreen Larson. Each received her volunteer's cap.

Other junior volunteers receiving badges for 50 hours or more contribution included Kim Mack, Debra Dietz, Julie Kramer, Lori Dusek, Kelly Leppala, Michelle Thorstad, Betty Tauer, Shelly Minar, Lisa Ringling, Amy Colby and Kim Larson.

Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Paul Bortnem, Northwestern hospital chaplain.

Applications are being accepted for the January class of new junior volunteers. Interested students must be 14 years of age and willing to contribute at least two hours of their time each week.

For more information contact Delores Larson, LPN, junior volunteer coordinator (681-4240, extension 335) or pick up an application blank at the volunteer office in the north lobby of the hospital.

Marquart And Johnson Wedding Vows Spoken

Marriage vows were exchanged November 1 at Lakota, N.D., by Patti Marquart and Vern Johnson, a teacher in the Grygla school.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marquart of Lakota. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson of Erskine.

Rev. Orlin E. Ness and Rev. Forrest Swenson officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony. Beverly Pederson, Lakota, and Debbie Hiedeman, McIntosh, a cousin of the groom, presided at the organ and piano for the processional and recessional. Soloist was Dale Branstner. For two selections, he was joined by the bride's sister, Jeanna Marquart. Acolytes were Kent and Shawn Hamre, nephews of the groom.

The bride was attired in a Polyester organza gown with a ruffled skirt. Chantilly lace formed the high neckline, traced the sheer yoke and formed a modified cap on her long sheer sleeves, which were gathered into lace cuffs. A matching headpiece held her veil of bridal illusion edged with scalloped lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were her sisters: Jeanna and Roberta Marquart, Lakota, as maids of honor; the groom's sister, Janet Hamre, Erskine, as matron of honor; and the bride's friends: Debbie Christian, Grand Forks, N.D., and Tammy Campbell, Grafton, N.D., as bridesmaids. They wore purple gowns styled with cowl draped backs and accordion pleated skirts. They carried lighted candles surrounded by iris, baby carnations and wood roses.

Best man was Kevin Westling, Rochester, a friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Rick Marquart, Lakota, brother of the bride; Jeryl Thompson, Drayton, N.D., Dave Galovich, Erskine, a friend, and Randy Johnson, Erskine, a nephew of the groom. They wore gray tuxedos with silver trim.

Danielle Marquart, Lakota, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The rings were carried by Ryan Marquart, Lakota, a nephew of the bride. At the guest book was Elaine Fisk, Grand Forks, N.D., a friend of the bride.

For the ceremony, the mothers of the couple were attired in purple floor-length gowns complemented by corsages of purple and gray roses.

Honor guests at the wedding were Fredella Marquart and Olga Bolken, grandmothers of the bride; Roger and Marlene Johnson, Sharol and Sharon Johnson, brothers and sisters-in-law of the groom; and Bennett Hamre, a brother-in-law of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed. Host couples were Kim and Paul Mahlen, Erskine, niece and nephew of the groom, and Jackie and Matt Ettl of Lakota. Punch was served by Joni and Tami Martinson, Grand Forks, cousins of the bride.

The wedding cake, made by the bride's grandmother and aunt, was cut by Evelyn and Ruby Heideman, aunts and godmothers of the groom. Bernice Martinson, aunt and godmother of the bride, and Debbie Marquart, sister-in-law of the bride, poured the coffee.

Serving the bridal table were Stacy and Sheila Johnson, nieces of the groom. At the gift table were Denice St. Michael, Heidi Hamre, nieces of the groom, and Rae Boentgen and Sue Rocan, friends of the bride. Joann Taylor pinned the flowers.

Following a brief wedding trip to Bemidji, the couple is now at home in Grygla. The bride is a December graduate of the University of North Dakota.

Terry Brandons Announce The Birth of Twins

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Brandon of Viking announce the birth on December 19 of twins: Jennifer Nicole, 7 lbs., 15 oz., and Christopher Kyle, 6 lbs., 13½ oz.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fincher, Viking, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brandon, Middle River. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Witek, Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Helga Brandon, Middle River.

The Brandons also have another child, a son, Troy, who will be two years on March 22.

— LOCALS —

Hazel Hirst of Valley Home accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Norman Voldness to Graceton and all spent the Christmas holidays at the home of their daughter and daughter-in-law and grandson, Dolores Hirst and James. They also attended the Christmas Eve Sunday school Christmas program at Bethlehem Lutheran church in Baudette in which their great-grandsons, Trevor and Michael, participated. Joining them all on Christmas day were Mr. and Mrs. Jon Hirst, Ivan, Natasha and Lacey of Newfolden and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Hirst, Trevor and Michael of Pitt. Besides the usual Christmas activities, two birthdays were also celebrated. Michael was three the day after Christmas and Lacey will be two on New Years Day. Before returning to their homes here and at Newfolden on Friday, they all enjoyed an interesting and educational tour of Dorow's Mink Pelting plant, near Graceton, which was in operation.

Energy Agency To Make List Of Contractors

If you operate a business that offers energy conservation services and supplies, the Minnesota energy agency (MEA) wants to hear from you.

MEA is compiling a list of approved contractors for distribution to residential utility customers who request energy audits through the Minnesota energy conservation service (MECS).

Audits will be conducted by participating major utilities and home heating suppliers. Auditors will look for areas in the home that can be upgraded for better energy efficiency, suggest ways to make improvements and provide information on financing the changes. Homeowners can then consult the master-list of contractors to make these improvements.

MECS is the Minnesota version of the federal residential conservation service (RCS). As a result of the RCS program, an estimated $6.7 billion will be invested nationally in the purchase and installation of energy conservation products and materials such as insulation, storm windows and solar heating supplies.

Businesses interested in participation must complete an MECS application and comply with appropriate MECS listing requirements. All applications will be checked by the Minnesota attorney general's office and the Minnesota office of consumer services for unresolved consumer complaints. Three or more unresolved complaints against a contractor will result in expulsion from the list.

The list, which will be updated monthly, will include the name and address of each firm and indicate what conservation measures the firm installs or supplies. In addition, the list will be broken down by geographic service areas throughout the state.

For further information and an MECS application, businesses should contact the Minnesota energy agency information center, 980 American Center Building, 150 East Kellogg Boulevard, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101, or call toll-free from outside the metro area, 1-800-652-9747, or in the metro area, 296-5175.

Soil And Water Conservation Pays Dividends

Preliminary findings in a national resource inventory show that three million fewer acres of Minnesota cropland need soil conservation than in 1967.

As a result of farmer participation in soil conservation programs, the amount of cropland eroding in unacceptable rates has been reduced from 11.2 million acres in 1967 to 8.3 million acres today. About 61 million tons of soil erode from Minnesota farms each year.

Inventory also shows that even though half a million acres of Minnesota farmland have been taken out of agriculture since 1967, the amount of cropland in the state has remained constant at 22.9 million acres. Converted cropland has been replaced by conversion of forested land to crop production.

National resource inventory, being conducted by the soil conservation service, consists of data from 21,000 randomly selected sites in the state. Anywhere from 50 to 370 sites are being analyzed in each country.

The inventory began in 1977 and will be finished in 1982. At that time, land use and erosion data will be available for each county.

Minnesota's soil and water conservation districts will ask the state legislature for authority to levy a special tax to help support local soil and water conservation programs. This request is one of several resolutions that the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation districts passed at its annual convention in St. Cloud this month.

Additional money raised through taxes would be added to the $3.5 million in state and local funds that conservation districts are presently providing to landowners for conservation activities, primarily soil erosion control.

It has also been shown that farmer interest in preserving wetlands through the U.S. department of agriculture's waterbank program is outpacing the program's budget for Minnesota. During 1980, only about half of the 290 farmers who applied for the program could be accepted.

Waterbank provides for 10-year contracts with farmers who agree to manage designated portions of their land as wildlife habitat. During the 10 years of the waterbank contract, the landowner receives annual payments and USDA help in preserving and improving wetland areas.

Currently in Minnesota, some 1,500 farmers have put a total of 85,000 acres into the waterbank program. They are paid according to the amount of land put under contract. The average payment is about $1,000 per year.

Waterbank operates in 35 southern and western Minnesota counties.

Norway Visitor Enjoys United States Visit

more acquainted and now enjoys it. She is taking various music classes there — another of her interests which she would like to pursue further in the teaching field one day.

Ranveig called home Christmas Eve at 11 p.m. (although it was 6 a.m. Christmas day in Norway because of the time differences).

"They were surprised at me calling so early," she said. "But I think they expected they'd be hearing from me. I try to keep in contact with my family and friends."

Christmas in Norway is celebrated somewhat differently than the traditional customs of the holiday here. The preparation actually begins the first Sunday in Advent when each family has in its home an advent wreath with four candles which is lighted for every meal and every Sunday.

Long ago, on December 13, the oldest girl in the family would dress in white and wear a green wreath with seven candles on her head and walk around the house and barn singing songs to bless the family and animals against illness or ghosts.

"Everyone comes together and prepares for Christmas after the 13th," she said. "People wash everything from floors, to walls to ceilings. And they start to bake."

On the 23rd, families go into the forests to get their Christmas trees and decorate them at 10 that evening with candles (instead of lights), bulbs, baskets, and tiny stuffed birds.

At 5 p.m. Christmas Eve the celebration of Christmas begins — not before, Ranveig said, referring to her surprise at our early celebration and preparation for the holidays.

One thing she missed Christmas eve, she said, were the church bells rung around the country of Norway, and everyone walking around the Christmas tree clasping hands and singing Christmas carols.

"I think Christmas somewhat loses its meaning when you start preparing so early," she said. "Even in Norway it has become more like a business."

Ranveig said, too, that all relatives get together for the celebration in Norway. The same is done on New Year's eve, December 31st. Also in preparation for the new year, the children celebrate Julebukk, similar to our Halloween, dressing up in costumes, and visiting people's homes getting gifts.

"Then at midnight everyone is out," Ranveig said describing her statement with arm gestures. "They have fireworks and there is a lighted sky for about 10 minutes."

Ranveig is familiar with below freezing temperatures, snow and snowmobiles, although winter temperatures vary depending on where one lives in Norway, she said.

"Everyone had snowmobiles in Norway at first," she said. "But then there got to be fewer animals — they were being frightened away. So we had to ask ourselves, 'Do we want a future for pleasure or for nature'?" As a result, Ranveig explained, special licenses stating that the snowmobiles will be used for work only are required for all of those wanting them.

Ranveig has been skiing here once. In Norway, she said, most people cross-country ski, but because of the mountains it is actually downhill skiing.

"It's really cross-country skiing here!" she exclaimed. "I asked myself one day, 'Why should I ski when the biggest hill I can find is a ditch'? It's not like home!" she laughed.

That is one aspect of our country Ranveig seems to dislike. "I've never seen such flat land!" she said.

She has encountered a few problems with our eating habits, here. "When I first came here I couldn't see how I would be able to eat," she explained. "I can do without pancakes for breakfast. And cereal is our dessert in Norway!"

In Norway, pancakes are eaten for dinner, whereas breakfast consists of such things as breads, cheeses, sausage, cucumbers, milk and fruit. Then there is lunch with "one piece" of bread under the meat to form a "sandwich", she emphasized, which is followed by a 4 or 5 p.m. dinner consisting of foods like meatballs and cabbage, and finally coffee time arrives at 7 p.m.

"In Norway, sweets are saved for Saturday," she said. She has developed a taste for Tacos, and a dislike for waffles and ham topped with syrup. "It was terrible!" she recalled, wrinkling her nose.

Sorumsand used to be a farming community but within the last 10 years has become more industrialized, she said. There is no great unemployment problem there.

"People can always get work if they want," she explained. "They just have to realize they can't have everything right away. You have to climb the ladder. I think if you work hard to do something you appreciate it more."

There are higher taxes in Norway than in the United States but schools and hospitals are free and the type of government is headed by a group elected by the people. Eighteen is the voting age as well as the age to obtain a driver's license.

Ranveig has enjoyed her stay here so far. "The people are nice," she said.

And when asked if she would ever like to return to our country she replied, "Oh, yes! I'll come back. But I wouldn't want to stay forever."

Speed Limit Project Looks Ahead To '81

Minnesota state patrol, which launched a saturation project more than a year ago to enforce the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, will continue that surveillance in 1981, according to public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic.

Sopsic praised the patrol for its diligence in enforcing the speed limit, adding that the effort is the main reason the state will continue to receive federal assistance for highway improvements.

The Patrol project has worked all high traffic areas on trunk and interstate highways in the state. For five months this year two 10-member squads were assigned to the project. One 10-member group is now involved, directed by Sgt. Charles Geiger. The other 10 troopers have been reassigned to vacancies created in regular patrol districts by retirements and other circumstances.

The patrol plans to return to two squads next spring when it graduates another class of rookie troopers, some of whom will be assigned to the project.

Col. D. Roger Ledding, patrol chief, said about the project: "We have continued to lower the average speed in the state during the past 14 months. Our goal is to achieve a voluntary compliance through visibility of the project troopers."

Starting December 31 the project schedule is:

December 31-January 7 — Hwy. 52, Inver Grove Heights to Harmony; January 14-21 — Interstate 35, Burnsville to Iowa; January 28-February 4 — I-90, Albert Lea to Wisconsin; February 11-18 — I-35, Wyoming to Duluth; February 25-March 4 — Hwy. 61, LaCrescent to St. Paul; March 11-14 — Twin Cities freeways, I-94, 35, 494, 694; March 25-April 3 — I-90, South Dakota to Albert Lea.

Seminars For Pilots Slated At Four Sites

"Your Body and Flying," a seminar about aviation physiology, will be offered this January by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) and the Federal Aviation administration.

Scheduled for Rochester, Duluth, Alexandria and Minneapolis, this evening program will relate the stresses of flying to body reactions in flight. Bill Pfoff, biomedical scientist recently retired from the U.S. air force, will present facts and advice to interested pilots.

Effects of alcohol and drugs, smoking, inner ear balance, day and night vision, blood sugar levels and lack of oxygen are just some of the topics that will be covered.

No registration is required. Programs will be offered from 7 to 10 p.m. as follows: January 6 — Rochester, John Adams junior high school auditorium, 1525 N.W. 31st Street; January 7 — Duluth, Duluth area vocational technical institute central lecture hall, 2101 Trinity Rd.; January 8 — Alexandria, Alexandria vocational technical institute lunchroom, 16th and Jefferson; and January 9 — Minneapolis-Bloomington, Normandale community college auditorium, 98th and France av. S.

End Emergency Feed Sign-Up December 31

All Pennington county livestock producers are reminded that December 31 is the last day that the ASCS office can accept applications for the emergency livestock feed program. If a producer harvested less than 60 per cent of the normal production of feed grain and hay, he may be eligible for financial assistance from the U.S. department of agriculture for the purchase of necessary feed.

If any producer feels he is eligible for his assistance he should contact the ASCS office on Dale street in Thief River Falls. No applications can be accepted after December 31.

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. James Cuppett
728 South Crocker
Thief River Falls

Microwave Peanut Brittle

- 1 cup raw peanuts
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup white syrup
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon soda

Method: In a large microwave proof container, combine peanuts, sugar, syrup and salt. Microwave on high or full power for seven to eight minutes. Add margarine and vanilla. Stir. Microwave again for two minutes. Remove from oven and add soda, stirring vigorously until light in color and foamy. Pour onto a buttered cookie sheet. Break when cold. Warning: When microwaving do not use a light plastic container as the excessive heat for a long period may cause the container to dissolve.

The Cuppetts live in this city at 728 South Crocker avenue. They have four children: Terri, who teaches at Poplar, Mont.; Chris, who lives in Minneapolis; Marchell, a junior at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks; and Paul, an eighth grader at Franklin Middle school. Mrs. Cuppett is employed at First Northwestern State bank and Cuppett is welding instructor at the Thief River Falls area vocational technical school. They are members of Trinity Lutheran church and Mrs. Cuppett is currently serving on the church council. They are also active in the work of the American Legion and its auxiliary.

New View Offered For 40th Inaugural

by David M. Maxfield
Smithsonian News Service

When Ronald Reagan is sworn in as the 40th president of the United States on January 20, he and the notables gathered on the platform will look out over the sweeping federal city vista designed by Pierre L'Enfant in 1791. It will be a new Inauguration-day view.

For the first time in American history, the inaugural ceremony will be held at the West Front of the U.S. Capitol, with its panoramic view down the mile-long National Mall to the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial beyond.

This will mark a long-awaited switch from the traditional swearing-in site at the East Front, a location facing a paved plaza and a loop of access streets.

The change will give many thousands more Americans than in the past a direct view of the ceremonies. At best, 100,000 or so could be crowded into the East Front area whereas an estimated half-million or more will be able to gather on the slope of Capitol Hill and the Mall for the oath-taking and speeches.

There is practicality in the re-location as well. The new site causes fewer construction demands than the old, and, says Sen. Claiborne Pell (D-R.I.), member of the joint congressional committee on inaugural ceremonies, the United States will "save a good deal of money" as a result.

Beginning with Andrew Jackson's great day in 1829 when the planners decided to move the ceremony from inside the capitol to the steps outside, 35 inaugurals have been held at the East Portico. The last was Jimmy Carter's in 1977. To explain why it took so long to move around to the more handsome and spacious setting on the west requires a word about the changing appearance of the nation's capital.

Quite simply, until the 20th century, the National Mall was a mess. Railroad tracks crisscrossed the area only a few yards from where the next president will be inaugurated. A shanty town once existed nearby and a neighboring redlight district completed the seedy scene.

In 1901, Congress decided it was about time to clean things up and return to the master design for Washington, D.C., envisioned by L'Enfant. But even by the 1930s, the Mall rejuvenation was far from finished. Then World War II came along and up went rows of dreary "temporary" office buildings that once again altered the intended ceremonial landscape. Through all this, the East Front kept its special honor until the decision to move west was made in 1980.

Of course, since the first inauguration in 1789, presidents have taken the simple 35-word oath of office prescribed by the constitution in a variety of places — the Senate and House chambers (the last time in 1912), the East Room of the White House (Gerald R. Ford, 1974), on board Air Force One (Lyndon B. Johnson, 1963), a farmhouse in Vermont (Calvin Coolidge, 1923) and, oddly, at Brown's hotel in Washington (John Tyler), following William Henry Harrison's death in office in 1841.

George Washington himself took the oath on the balcony of Federal Hall in New York City, the first capitol of the United States. By his own account, the retired general was reluctant to leave his Mount Vernon home when called by the nation's first voters to serve as president. He felt, Washington wrote a friend, not unlike "a culprit who is going to the place of his execution."

But Washington's rendezvous with history was set. As inaugural historian Francis Russell has written, whether the newly adopted constitution and its new Congress would endure or fall apart seemed to depend on the general. "Washington was indeed the father figure, more revered and honored than loved familiarly, a republican with the dignity of a monarch, standing above shifting opinions and party strife, a symbol of all Americans."

Congress, meanwhile, had been working on the inaugural arrangements, and on April 30, 1789, a week after Washington arrived in New York, the ceremony originally scheduled for March 4 but delayed for one thing or another, at last took place. "All the bells in the city rang out a peal of joy," a 17-year-old girl reported after the ceremony, "and the multitude before us sent forth a shout as seemed to rend the skies."

What the general was wearing that day is of particular interest to historians and collectors. He was attired in an American-made brown suit trimmed with metal buttons stamped with an eagle in relief, white silk stockings, low shoes and silver buckles with a steel sword to the side. It is the buttons that set a style for future years; they were the forerunner of all later inaugural special mementoes — ribbons, badges, medals, buttons.

If later generations were to adopt this style, they soon departed from another. The first inaugural address was delivered — not in public as it is today — but behind closed doors to the combined Houses of Congress meeting in the Senate chamber. It was Jackson, the frontier populist, who moved the ceremony outside in 1829.

Content of the later addresses also differed from Washington's largely because of his unanimous electoral support in 1788 and again in 1792.

Something of a catharsis for the American people, inauguration speeches usually serve as an act of political healing, helping to restore national unity following hard-fought campaigns.

This precedent was established when Washington decided to leave the scene and, for the first time in U.S. history, there was a seriously contested presidential election. John Adams, who defeated Thomas Jefferson, was not personally a popular figure, historian Russell notes, but in his inaugural address in 1797 he dedicated himself to work for a reconciliation of "various political opinions."

Perhaps the most familiar of all words of reconciliation, however, were those of Abraham Lincoln in 1865 just before the Civil War's end: "With malice toward none, with charity toward all . . . let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds."

Beginning with Washington's walk from Federal Hall to St. Paul's church for special services, parades have been a favorite part of most inaugurations. Indeed, when Jimmy Carter surprised the nation by walking to the White House in 1977, he was reviving an old custom.

Thomas Jefferson, it now seems incredible to report, walked back to his Washington boarding house after his swearing-in to receive the citizens who came to call. Later, "to the distress of his fellow boarders," Louise Durbin writes in 'Inaugural Cavalcade', "Jefferson insisted on taking his old seat at the foot of the table — the farthest away from the fire — at a dinner attended by civic and military leaders."

The ball at the end of the inevitably exhausting inaugural day has always been a special event, but its purpose has changed over the past 200 years. During the 1800s, "they were very social, rather like cotillions," Margaret Klapthor, political history curator at the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History, says, but today "they have become political," another reward for people who have worked on the campaigns.

They also have become much larger. In fact, nowadays, several locations to be visited by a weary president during the evening are required for the thousands of celebrants. Though they may look glamorous from afar, one social observer cautions: "It's wall-to-wall people. You don't ever see anyone you know. And at most there's not even any room to dance."

While the inaugural ball now seems here to stay, during the 1910s and then the 1920s, of all decades, no galas were held. Woodrow Wilson felt they were incompatible with the seriousness of the day, the Hardings and the Coolidges were in mourning and Hoover, a Quaker, wasn't interested.

Some inaugural balls have been bigger hits than others, of course, with William Henry Harrison, James Buchanan and Grover Cleveland, among others, the hosts at what history concludes were elegant occasions. But Andrew Jackson's White House reception for "his fellow citizens" was another matter, now legendary for the rout that occurred. For starters, "men with muddy boots stood on damask satin-covered chairs and orange punch drenched the furniture to the accompaniment of breaking china and crystal," Durbin writes.

How do the presidents themselves view these festivities? Jefferson, who had arrived early at James Madison's ball on March 4, 1809, asked a friend to "tell me how to behave, for it has been more than 40 years since I have been to a ball." John Quincy Adams reported that the "crowd was excessive — the heat oppressive and the entertainment bad." And host Madison confided to a friend: "I would rather be in bed."

Registration By Selective Service Listed

General accounting office (GAO) has released an evaluation of the recent selective service draft registration. In summary, the GAO reports that the "draft registration is complete and accurate." The report verifies the selective service count of registrations on hand at more than 3.6 million, and affirms that selective service estimates of the probable registration population of 3.88 million were "reasonable."

(Actual registration count, as of December 18, was 3,681,700, or 95 per cent of the eligible population).

Through statistically-valid sampling techniques, GAO estimates that fewer than 1,000 cards represent obviously fictitious registrations. GAO notes some errors in the file, caused largely by illegible entries on registration forms. Many of these are being eliminated through an on-going error correction program, and the report predicts a "final accuracy level" of 98 per cent.

The GAO also commented upon selective service procedures and upon demonstrated need for the registration program. In a covering letter of transmittal, GAO noted that "we were impressed by the thoroughness, completeness and accuracy with which this program was conducted. As highlighted in the report, your agency has made significant strides toward designing an effective registration program. Previous registration programs developed for post-mobilization were highly questionable toward achieving your mission of delivering inductees to the department of defense within required time frames."

The next formally scheduled registration period is the week of January 5, 1981, for men born in 1962. Also, at that point, selective service will resume the practice of continuous registration of men within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

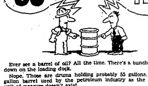
'U' Cholesterol Study Seeks Volunteers

University of Minnesota is seeking volunteers to participate in a national study. The national heart, lung and blood institute study is being conducted at four large medical centers: the University of Minnesota, the University of Arkansas, the University of Southern California and Lankenau hospital in Philadelphia.

Research team is conducting this trial in hopes of determining the relationship of cholesterol lowering to heart disease. The study is seeking participants who have had only one heart attack during the past five years, are 28 through 64 years of age and free of diabetes, stroke and heart surgery.

Volunteers are being sought at all four of the hyperlipidemia study clinical centers. For information persons may call the University of Minnesota hyperlipidemia study collect at 612-376-4494.

The Mythical Barrel



Ever see a barrel of oil? All the time. There's a bunch of them down on the loading dock.

Nope. Those are drums holding probably 55 gallons. The 42-gallon barrel used by the petroleum industry as the standard unit of measure doesn't exist.

"A barrel of oil is actually an arbitrary unit of measure," says Henry J. Lartigue, Jr., Exxon Company U.S.A.'s manager of public affairs. "It's a holdover from the infancy of the oil business. Oil is not shipped in 42-gallon units."

Perhaps the so-called standard barrel never existed at all. In the early days of the oil business, customers bought petroleum in barrels which they furnished themselves. Prices were set by the barrel, and just about any size and kind of barrel qualified, so long as it was ample enough to suit the buyer yet not too large in the eyes of the seller.

Such an arrangement was bound to cause not only confusion but friction, and before long it was apparent that a realistic measure would have to be established.

So, in August 1866, some West Virginia oil producers issued a proclamation which helped to end the argument. "We mutually agree that we will sell no crude oil by the barrel or package, but by the gallon only. An allowance of two gallons will be made on the gauge of each and every 40 gallons in favor of the buyer."

While the producers' intent was to put the industry on the gallon unit instead of the barrel, they succeeded only partially. The 42-gallon barrel became the standard unit through years of usage, even though the 55-gallon metal drum became the standard-size container.

"So the 42-gallon barrel has become the standard measure for the petroleum industry, but it is a measure that exists only in statistics. With these kinds of complexities, it's no wonder the oil industry is often misunderstood," says Exxon's Lartigue.

Profit Sharing At Marvin Co. Is $1,271,747

Profit-sharing for Marvin Lumber and Cedar company at Warroad for the 1980 operating year totaled $1,271,747 — down 18 per cent from the 1979 total of $1,551,366 and the first decrease since a fire extensively damaged the company and its productivity in 1961-62.

Jake Marvin told the employees assembled for the annual company social that the housing industry "took a steeper dive than the auto industry. Our sales were down and we worked several four-day weeks, but unlike Detroit, we have had no lay-offs."

He said the 100,000 square foot plant under construction in Ripley, TN, is targeted for occupancy in September of 1981. Expansion of the Warroad facility planned for 1980 will be completed in 1981, he said, and termed the expanded capacity "desperately needed" in 1982. Twenty-four promotions of supervisory and management staff were projected to form the operational structure of the company.

Morris Taylor said the company is well prepared for the future and that he believed the Marvin team is doing much better than most companies in the area in terms of productivity by employees. He said the firm has a goal of a 20 per cent increase in sales for 1981.

William Marvin announced the specifics of the 1980 profit-sharing program and emphasized that the company wants no more down years. The formula awarded $5.64 for each month of seniority and $9.49 for each $100 of earning from the compensation pool. This year's distribution was the second largest ever for the company and brings the total profit sharing since 1957 to $9,067,819.

Americans Use Less Income To Buy Food

Americans continue to spend less of their income on food than those in other countries, according to Hugh R. Cosgrove, president of the Minnesota food retailers association.

Figures for the past 15 years show that food, tobacco and beverages have cost Americans proportionately less and less of their disposable incomes, despite rapidly rising food and energy prices, inflation, devaluation of the dollar and slow economic growth during the 1980's, Cosgrove said.

Based on an October 1980 report by the U.S. department of agriculture's economics, statistics and cooperatives service, U.S. consumers, on the average, devoted 15.9 per cent of their total private expenditures to food, tobacco and beverages in 1979. In 1977, Cosgrove said, American buyers spent 16.5 per cent on these goods.

In contrast, consumers in the high income countries of western Europe and Japan spent 25 to 45 per cent of their total personal expenditures in 1977 on food, tobacco and beverages. Cosgrove said the proportion was even higher in less developed countries — ranging from 40 per cent in El Salvador and Cyprus to about 65 per cent in India and Sri Lanka.

million bushels with an average yield of 32.5 bushels per acre, down 2.5 bushels. Durum output came to 3.4 million, up 18 per cent, with yields averaging 28.0, down nine bushels per acre. The winter wheat crop of 2.3 million bushels was up 31 per cent and averaged 34.0 bushels per acre, down one bushel per acre.

The three per cent drop in oat production to 82.7 million bushels corresponded directly to a three per cent drop in acres harvested at 1.45 million acres. The average yield of 57 bushels per acre matched last year.

In northwestern Minnesota there were 240,000 acres planted to oats and 197,000 acres harvested with an average yield of 39.5 bushels being 17.5 bushels below the state average. Total production in the northwest district was 7,781,000 bushels.

Barley production statewide of 34.6 million bushels declined 15 per cent from last year. Yields averaged only 42.5 bushels per acre compared with 53 bushels in 1975 and 49.5 in 1978. Over nine per cent of this year's planted acreage was abandoned. Harvested acreage totaled 815,000, six per cent above last year.

In northwestern Minnesota there were 645,000 acres of barley planted but only 573,000 acres harvested. Production totaled 22,347,000 bushels and the average yield of 39 bushels per acre was 3.5 bushels below the state average.

Rye growers in Minnesota produced a crop of 1.9 million bushels, 16 per cent less than the 1979 output. Rye averaged 25 bushels per acre, the same as in 1979. Only 16,500 acres of rye was planted in northwestern Minnesota and 14,500 acres harvested with total production of 319,000 bushels and an average yield of 22 bushels, down three bushels from the state average.

Minnesota farmers have seeded 130,000 acres of winter wheat for harvest in 1981 — a sharp increase of 73 per cent from a year earlier. December 1 conditions pointed to a projected production of 3.4 million bushels, and increase of 44 per cent over 1980.

Rye seeding in Minnesota for 1981 totaled 90,000 acres, an increase of six per cent over the acreage seeded for 1980 harvest.

New Stamps, Postal Card Issued In Jan.

United States post office will be issuing four stamps and one postal card in early January. Most reflect the new international rates.

Two pilots will be recognized on international airmail stamps. A 28-cent stamp honoring Blanche Stuart Scott, a pioneer pilot and the first American woman to make a solo flight, will be issued in Hammondsport, N.Y. The 28-cent denomination meets the revised international airmail rate for post cards. Also issued in Hammondsport will be a 35-cent stamp honoring Glenn Curtiss, an early aviator and noted aircraft designer. Orders for both stamps must be received by January 14.

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., the pilots of the first non-stop trans-Pacific flight, will appear on a 28-cent multicolor international airmail postal card to be issued in Wenatchee, Wash. This card draws attention to the 50th anniversary of their flight. Orders must be postmarked by January 2.

A 19-cent regular stamp paying tribute to Sequoyah, a half-blooded Cherokee Indian who brought literacy to his people by devising a written alphabet, will come out in Tahlequah, Okla. Requests for the stamp must be received by January 11.

Influential U.S. Senator Everett Dirksen will appear on a 15-cent commemorative stamp to be issued at his birthplace in Pekin, Ill. January 19 is the order deadline.

Stamp collectors and other interested persons are urged to place their orders before the indicated deadlines.

Three From TRF Graduate From U of Minnesota

Three Thief River Falls students were among 1,400 students who graduated winter quarter from the University of Minnesota, twin cities.

Several of the university's schools and colleges hold only one graduation ceremony each year, in the spring. Students graduating this month are those who completed their studies during the summer or fall in colleges holding winter ceremonies.

Martha Ann Minor graduated in December with a B.S. degree from the college of education. Gerald Keith Spinner received his M.H.A. degree from the school of public health last August. Craig Alexander Swanson completed a B.S. degree from the college of education and college of agriculture.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Christmas is a wonderful time of the year. It's a time when I get to come home to the "old home town" and visit my family and friends.

Arriving at my father's home early on Christmas eve day, I parked my car where I always park it; on the street. In all the years I've lived in or visited the city, I've always parked there with no problems. However, I arose to find my car missing. Stolen? No, impounded.

Apparently, during the early morning hours, a quarter inch of snow had built up on the roads and they needed plowing. So away my car goes with the tow truck.

What's funny to me is that I've parked it there when five feet of snow fell and it was never towed away. Furthermore, I talked with the local impound attendant and he told me that on a similar morning (a quarter inch of snow on the roads) some 38 cars were impounded.

I certainly hope the city gets enough revenue from the impounding fees ($15) to pay their plowing crews and the local police department. Maybe if the streets were plowed when they really needed it, the city would save money, gas and embarrassment. This towing scam is pathetic.

I also noticed that new stop lights have been installed. On the busiest days in downtown Thief River Falls, it used to take me five minutes to drive through the city. On Christmas eve, it took me closer to fifteen, thanks to the lights. My congratulations.

-s- Al Shirley
Fargo, ND

P.S. I hope my fifteen dollars is put to good use by the city fathers. Heaven knows, it won't be. My heart is still in Thief River Falls regardless.

To The Editor:

In regard to the trapping article by Mr. Hanson in the December 22 issue of the Times.

I am glad to see you are a trapper and sportsman, but you make the leghold trap seem like a barbarian method of capturing an animal. I have been writing on what I have observed on my trapline. I have respect for the animals I trap. Most trappers do. Trappers are using smaller traps to minimize damage to the animal's paw, which holds the animal better.

When used properly, the leghold trap is a humane trap. Sure, there are slobs in trapping who are out for a fast buck and could care less what happens to a trapped animal. They are the ones who give the leghold trap a bad name. But the rest of us check out traps every day and employ good methods in using the leghold trap.

When used properly, the leghold trap is anything but cruel and painful. There is a little pain involved, but the foot does become numb. The leghold trap restricts blood flow to the rest of the paw, which in turn numbs that part of the paw. After that, there is no pain. The animal is simply restrained. It is a much better way to go than nature's elimination, which is starvation and disease.

I had no intention to make us trappers sound ignorant. I stand by the leghold trap, as other trappers do, when I say the leghold trap is not cruel and as painful as you say it is.

I thank the Times for giving me the opportunity to express the facts concerning the leghold trap.

Sincerely,
Gene Mosbeck

Vacation Time Films Shown At Library Here

Northwest Regional library will be offering vacation time films for kids of all ages in the Thief River Falls library meeting room from December 29 through January 3 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. each day.

Films December 29 include "Giants," in which two giants master their masters in a satiric cartoon for both young and old; and "Gulliver's Travels," a full-length feature cartoon.

Films to be shown December 30 include "Rodeo Cowboy," which takes a look at men who make their living riding in rodeos . . . their dreams, disappointments and physical injuries; "Paddington Bear," combines a family group, a spot of decorating, and Paddington turning detective; "Junior High School," a satirical take-off on Hollywood musicals with "great songs, polished production numbers, a talented cast of kids and a boy-meets-girls story." Film portrays an up-to-date, sometimes candid, and always funny picture of junior high kids. "Floating Free," shows fast-paced team competitions, virtuoso freestyle performances, and exhibitions of accuracy and trained dogs making impossible catches in this film on frisbees.

December 31 films include "Donkeys," which presents a romp with donkeys but does not include narration as it shows them in their every mood in open pastures, with close-up studies; "Hardware Wars," hilarious parody of the spectacular space epic of Star Wars; "Horrible Honchos," concerns Hollis, a new boy in the neighborhood who becomes involved with a small gang of kids calling themselves "The Horrible Honchos," who decide to exclude Hollis from their group for no special reason.

Also showing December 31 will be "Little Toot," a story about a mischevious tugboat whose antics get it banished beyond the 12-mile limit until its heroic efforts during a storm bring it back to the harbor; "Silent Safari: The Elephant," shows the daily routines of African animals with an accompaniment of natural sounds, rather than music or narration; and "Thank You Ma'am," Langston Hughe's short story which concerns a young boy who tries to snatch an older woman's purse while she is walking alone from work. The woman "snatches" him instead; takes him home, feeds him, explains her outrage and shows her understanding.

Films January 3 include "Nikkolina," the story of a young Canadian girl who gradually learns to appreciate her Greek heritage, and make it a part of her life; "London Bridge Is Falling Down," a children's film based on Peter Spier's picture book with songs; and "Charlie Needs a Cloak," illustrates the process of making cloth from wool into clothing as conveyed through the charm and humor of Tomie de Paola's book.

Also January 3 will be "Psst! Hammerman's After You," based on the novel, "The 18th Emergency," by Betsy Byars and concerns the story of "Mouse," a timid 11-year-old who provokes the town bully by writing his name under a classroom chart of the Neanderthal man; "Over in the Meadow," a presentation of Rojankovsky's popular book for children with John Langstaff "singing" the song; and "The Day the Bicycles Disappeared," which shows a group of animated bicles which go on strike, have a mass meeting at a ball park and return to their owners only after the children have promised to ride safely. Presents 20 safe bicycle driving rules.

Dear Readers,

There is a new book and a new movement, 'Small is Beautiful'. Emphasis is on quality of life - not quantity of material possessions. All possessions require maintenance, caretaking. Often our possessions own us - they demand so much of our time and money. Perhaps a simpler way of life can bring us closer to a Happy New Year.

Babson Predicts Regouping Year In 1981

some headway in the fight against inflation and in nudging interest rates back down to less stifling levels. In addition, efforts to stimulate economic revitalization, via business incentives and a less ambivalent attitude toward private enterprise, should lead to a healthier state of business confidence. But the programs and legislative proposals of the new Administration cannot become reality without the cooperation of Congress. The Babson view is that a better working relationship will prevail between Capitol Hill and the White House, in contrast to the climate which shadowed much of the past four years.

Bear in mind that even though the GOP barely wrested control of the Senate, members of Congress — particularly those facing reelection two years hence — will certainly be mindful of the shift in voter sentiment shown at the polls last November. A more constructive atmosphere at top echelons of the Legislative Branch can go far toward improving overall public confidence. It will be no easy task, however. Forces which have eroded optimism and pride — unhealthy fiscal and monetary conditions, galloping inflation, a badly tarnished national image abroad, and the diminution of American productivity and competitiveness — have roots that are deeply imbedded. Nevertheless, if patience and understanding prevail, meaningful advances can be made toward rectifying these ailments, and the nation can be headed in a direction offering the prospect of new-found confidence and solid progress.

Intensive Care For Inflation

We believe the Reagan Administration will honor its promise to wage a resolute battle against inflation. However, since an important part of the legacy the incoming national leadership has inherited is the entrenchment of strong inflationary forces, it will be difficult to neutralize these en masse, and hence it is unrealistic to expect a quick cure. But the commitment must be made by both the Administration and the Federal Reserve, this time without any premature backing off.

For the record, the Babson staff forecasts that the average gain in the Consumer Price Index for 1981 will be in the vicinity of 10 per cent. While this would still mean double-digit inflation for the year as a whole, the low point of 1981 would enjoy a brief spell in the single-digit area. What is important is that we expect the trend to be in the right direction and the betterment to carry into 1982.

Gross National Product

The aggregate value of goods and services produced (Gross National Product) will likely post a gain approximately 15 per cent in current dollars for 1981 as a whole. However, ex inflation, the real growth of the economy (GNP in 1972 dollars) will probably be only a shade above 4 per cent, with the third quarter expected to show the best upthrust of the year. We do not expect the first half to be very impressive because of early-year restraints.

Industrial Production

Although industrial activity will not be particularly vibrant in the early stages of 1981, a more noticeable upbeat will emerge as midyear approaches. By then, the negative influences should be less restrictive. Hence, industrial production for 1981 should register a gain of close to 4 per cent. While this is far from robust (vis-a-vis other initial post-recession recoveries), the firm-to-higher trend can be viewed as an indication of betterment in the economy's health, and by the later months of 1981 some momentum will be accumulating.

Business Inventories

Though the fading of the recent upspurt in business has left inventories somewhat high relative to current sales, excessively burdensome positions are the exception rather than the rule. Nonetheless, the economy will not derive any great impetus from the rebuilding of stockpiles much before midyear. Another deterrent to quick resumption of widespread forward buying is the high cost of borrowed capital. Second-half 1981 should see renewed emphasis on inventory buildups.

Business Capital Expenditures

Because of underutilized productive capacity in many industries, we do not expect a raft of ambitious capital expansion programs in 1981. Possible tax incentives to spur productivity probably will not be enacted soon enough to do much good until 1982.

Outlook For The Labor Scene

1981 will be a relatively light year for new labor contracts. The other two years of the 3-year cycle of labor negotiations will be much more active and potentially more damaging to the economy in terms of work stoppages. But wage and fringe concessions in 1981 pacts will be expensive because of inflation catch-up efforts.

Building And Construction

The availability and cost of mortgage credit will not improve dramatically enough in 1981 to support a fresh housing boom. New mortgage financing plans hold promise for future years, but the immediate impact on home building will still be nominal. Therefore, our forecast for new housing starts in 1981 is 1.4 million units, not appreciably different from 1980's achievement. But housing starts are still running below average annual requirements for the 1980s. Public construction likewise should rule in the "little change" group. There is more vitality in commercial building.

Corporate Profits — Dividends

Business profits after taxes will rule somewhat higher for 1981 as a whole, but the betterment will be due largely to improved earnings in the second half. The initial two quarters are expected to trail results for first-half 1980, since rising costs and the scramble of highly competitive conditions will pinch profits. Dividend payments generally will be maintained, with some hikes, but lengthy lists of dividend increases won't return until late in the year.

Agricultural Prospects

The farm outlook for 1981 is quite encouraging at this point. Firmer agricultural prices and stronger foreign grain demand have brightened farmers' income picture, and some moisture-short growing areas received much needed precipitation last fall. Thus, as things stand now, this nation's agricultural sector can have a good year if weather conditions are near normal during 1981. It is encouraging to note better buying interest for farm implements.

Wages And Prices

The increase in the national minimum wage, automatic pay hikes under existing labor pacts, and pay boosts resulting from negotiations in 1981 will lift wage rates despite large pools for jobless workers. However, shrinkage of consumers' buying power owing to higher taxes and inflation is forcing labor groups to press for maximum pay boosts despite economic and employment uncertainties.

Much of 1981's price picture will reflect the time required for effects of 1980's drought and hot spell to work their way through the cost and price structure of the economy. The same applies to the ripples from OPEC's oil price escalation policy, and to costs associated with new wage settlements and increases in overhead generally. For much of 1981 some, but not all, of the cost inflation will be passed on, thus assuring further upward treks in prices at wholesale and retail levels, with little relief likely until mid-1981 or somewhat beyond.

Employment — Personal Income

We look for moderate gains in total employment — mostly after midyear. However, job openings will trail the influx of workers into the labor force. The net result will be some difficulty in paring back the jobless rate. We expect unemployment to peak around the 9 per cent mark, but any material brightening of the jobless picture will probably have to wait until the late summer or early fall of 1981. Nevertheless, the combination of higher wages and some gains in employment and average work weeks (mostly after midyear) will nudge personal income higher. Here again, employment and income progress in 1982 should be more marked than in the year immediately ahead.

Consumer And Government Spending

Consumers are not likely to display much enthusiasm in their spending during early 1981. This will be due to anxieties over the expected economic lethargy and adverse effects of inflation. But as these negative influences diminish and business strengthens, consumers will loosen their pursestrings. Overall, retail trade in 1981 will turn in a fairly good showing — not a rousing boom in buying, but better than 1980's achievement.

Federal government spending will increase markedly in calendar 1981, though much of the gain will result from higher prices. State and local spending will also rise, although only modestly.

Foreign Affairs

The Mideast-Southwest Asia region will continue to bear watching in 1981, even though we expect release of the American hostages held by Iran. There is a good chance, too, that there will be a negotiated settlement of the Iran-Iraq war. But stalled Israel-Egypt talks on the Palestinian issue are a more difficult barrier to surmount. Though conditions at this writing imply otherwise, 1981 could see an easing of Soviet-American tensions, and perhaps new talks on a strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT). However, smoldering potential trouble spots abound in the world, and occasional flare-ups remain an ever-present threat.

Money Supplies — Interest Rates

Inability of the monetary authorities to consistently restrain the growth of the nation's money supply has been an important element in the prolonged spell of galloping inflation. Central to both the money supply and inflation problems has been the sizeable federal budget deficit. However, we are hopeful that the Reagan Administration's determination to reduce the federal deficit and the Federal Reserve's fresh effort to pare back the rate of inflation will, in time, diminish the severity of monetary and fiscal excesses, and coincidentally dampen inflationary pressures.

Short-term interest rates, which twice soared to appalling heights in 1980, should skip to lower levels in the first half of 1981. Long-term interest rates are expected to shade downward also, but the betterment may be only nominal at best. And rates seem destined to firm again thereafter, owing to the Treasury's financing moves.

Stock And Bond Outlook

The display of post-election strength in the stock market reflected new-found investment optimism emanating from the startling GOP victories. It is likely that further upside progress is in store for 1981. However, investors are still highly sensitive to domestic economic and monetary problems, and to potentially dangerous international developments. Nevertheless, the improvement in investor sentiment should lead to greater recognition of the plethora of common stocks and convertible securities still languishing at attractive prices. For the record, we look for the Dow Jones industrial average to fluctuate within a range of 1150 on the upside and 900 on the downside during 1981.

Prospects for bond prices are less encouraging. Until problems related to inflation and high interest rates show basic, tenable improvement, we would invest mainly in short-term issues.

SNOW Facts and Fancies

Here are some cold facts about snow: Did you know that snowflakes change directly from water vapor into snow without going through an intermediary stage as rain? The biggest snowflakes ever recorded fell in Montana in 1887. They measured 15 inches in diameter and were at least eight inches thick.

Most people think snow is always white. Not true. On January 31, 1925, gray snow fell on Japan. Scientists said it was as a result of a mixture of snow and ashes from nearby volcanoes. Whatever the dolor, one thing's certain: snow has to be shoveled unless you like being snowed in. There's the old-fashioned way: shoveling by hand. Then there are Power Shovels. One weighs less than 12 pounds, yet can tackle any kind of snow in any quantity. This Toro Power Shovel has a powerful 6.6 amp electric motor and a 12-inch wide clearing capacity.

It was certainly a winter to remember—the winter of 1910-11. It included a snowfall to end all snow falls. In a one-month period, 390 inches of snow fell on the mountain town of Tamarack, California.

Anderson At Energy Meet

John V. Anderson of Thief River Falls was among 236 people who attended one of six seminars on wind energy sponsored by the University of North Dakota division of continuing education and several other cooperating groups. Anderson attended the seminar in Grand Forks.

Nationally recognized experts and authors discussed wind energy research, its feasibility in North Dakota and adjacent states, and applications for agriculture and light industry. Larimore, N.D., farmer Leroy Sletten spoke on his experiences in wind energy conversion.

STRANDQUIST . . .

Laurel and Evelyn Kline enjoyed babysitting the Kazmierczak twins, Philip and Paul while the rest of the Kazmierczak family went to the school Christmas program Thursday evening.

Anne Bernhardson visited with Edna Hvidsten west of Karlstad last Monday afternoon. Mrs. Moyer was a coffee guest of Anne Bernhardson Wednesday.

Kenny Hansen and Walter Walz were callers last week at the Earl Sihlberg home.

Mrs. E. Larson Services Held At Gatzke Sat.

Mrs. Emil (Minda) Larson, 84, of Middle River and formerly of Gatzke, died at Oakland Park nursing home in Thief River Falls on Wednesday morning, December 24. She had been a resident of the Home for several years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Minda Larson were held Saturday, December 27, at 2:00 p.m., at the United Lutheran church in Gatzke with Rev. Robert Amundson officiating. A quartette, comprised of Tom Bernstein, Randy Larson, Terry Ruud and Gene Lunsetter sang. Melanie Lunsetter was at the organ. Interment will be in the Moose River cemetery near Gatzke, with the Collins Funeral Home of Middle River in charge of arrangements.

Dwayne Nelson, Peter Aune, Orlan Dahl, Mylan Abrahamson, John Meland and Ingvald Anderson were pallbearers.

Mrs. Larson, the former Minda Hilmina Thompson, was born Dec. 29, 1895 in Pope county to Hans and Mathilda Thompson, now deceased. At the age of six, she moved with her family to Thief River Falls where they operated a boarding home for two years before moving to a farm in Thief Lake township of Marshall county, near Middle River. She attended school and grew to womanhood in that area.

In November of 1916, she was united in marriage to Emil Larson in Thief Lake township. Following their marriage, the couple lived and farmed in Moose River township of Marshall county, near Gatzke, until retirement in 1972. At that time they moved into Middle River.

She was a member of the United Lutheran church of Gatzke, was a Gold Star Mother, and served as clerk of the Moose River town board for several years.

She is survived by her husband Emil; two sons: Harvey of Seattle, WA and Glenn (Bud) of Gatzke, six grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

One son, two daughters, four brothers and two sisters preceded her in death.

Walfred Olson Dies Saturday; Rites Dec. 31

Walfred Olson, 58, of Thief River Falls, a resident of Agder township, Marshall county, died unexpectedly Saturday evening.

Funeral services for Walfred Olson will be held Wednesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Silverton Lutheran church with Rev. Duaine Espeseth officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home from Tuesday noon until 11:00 a.m., Wednesday, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

Robert Asp, Viking Ship Builder, Dies

Robert Asp, about 58, of Moorhead and formerly of rural Thief River Falls, died Saturday morning in a Moorhead hospital, following a lengthy illness. Asp was featured in the Times and on television, radio and newspapers this past summer for building and test sailing a Viking ship.

Funeral services for Robert Asp will be held Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Bethel Evangelical Church in Fargo, N.D.

A complete obituary will be published in a later edition of the Times.

C.H. Wiebe Dies Dec. 14 At Salem, Ore.

Clause H. Wiebe, 75, of 4575 Thorman Avenue, N.E., Salem, Ore., a former resident of Thief River Falls, died December 14 at Memorial Hospital in Salem.

Memorial services for Clause Wiebe were held December 17, at 3:30 p.m., at the Virgil T. Golden Mortuary. Private interment will be in the Restlawn mausoleum.

Clause H. Wiebe, a son of the late Henry and Mary Wiebe, was born Aug. 25, 1905 at Windom. As a child, he moved with his parents to Pennington county, where they settled near Thief River Falls. He received his schooling here and later attended a trade school in Chicago, Ill.

He was married in Thief River Falls on May 1, 1935 to Dorothy Mae Adriance.

Wiebe was employed here by Land O' Lakes, Inc., from 1929 until 1943, when he was transferred to Valley City, N.D. In 1945, he moved to Salem, Ore., and was employed there by Valley Welding company until he retired in 1969, due to ill health.

He is survived by his wife, one brother, Ray Wiebe, Fargo, N.D., and three sisters: Mrs. Eldred (Mathilda) Johnston, Mrs. Mayne (Emma) Mehrkens, both of Thief River Falls; and Anna Hanson, Dallas, Ore.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by one sister.

Services Held In Grygla For Mrs. E. Blaine

Funeral services for Mrs. Elmer (Cora) Blaine, 75, of the Grygla community were held Saturday at 2:00 p.m., at the Grace Lutheran church in Grygla. Mrs. Blaine died Tuesday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Jay Borchert officiated at the services. Mrs. Keven Sorenson was the organist and Marie Anderson was soloist. Interment will be in the St. Olaf cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Keven Sorenson, Ronald Byklum, Robert Benter, Gaylen Maresh, James Blaine, Jr., and Tommy Aaker.

Mrs. Blaine, the former Cora M. Bjerken, was born July 14, 1905 at Perley to Peter and Annie Belto Bjerken. At an early age, she moved with her family to Mahnomen and at the age of nine years, she moved with them to rural Goodridge. There she attended school and grew to womanhood.

She was married in rural Grygla on Sept. 30, 1923 to Elmer Blaine. Since their marriage, they had lived in the Grygla community, residing in Valley township, Marshall county, since 1939.

She was a member of the Grace Lutheran church.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Alvin Blaine, Grygla; a daughter, Mrs. Harley (Jeanette) Bucholz, Grand Forks, N.D.; seven grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Raymond (Pat) Sorenson of Grygla.

She was preceded in death by her parents, two brothers, three sisters and two great-grandchildren.

Market Conditions For Labor Reviewed

Events in the month of October reflected a stabilizing in labor market conditions throughout the nation, while some improvement was evident in Minnesota and the northwestern region of the state, according to the Minnesota department of employment security.

Trhoughout the nation, a relatively small gain in the labor force took place, which was matched by a nearly identical gain in the number of jobholders. The net result was that both the number of unemployed persons, and the national unemployment rate, were virtually unchanged between September and October.

However, the nation's unemployment rate of 7.1 per cent in October of 1980 noticeably exceeded the rate of 5.6 per cent which occurred in October of 1979. Some economists have indicated that the nation has been pulling out of its economic downturn in the fourth quarter of 1980; and if unemployment does not rise any more than what can normally be expected during this three-month period, these assessments may be fairly accurate.

Even though over-the-month changes in Minnesota were slight between September and October, 1980, the state's employment picture improved somewhat. Wage and salary employment changed only modestly between these two months, although the food processing and retail trade industries experienced some declines. While the state's labor force declined between September and October, the total number of jobholders decreased by a lesser amount, causing both the number of unemployed and the unemployment rate to decline. There were an estimated 113,600 persons unemployed throughout the state in October, 1980.

Seasonal retrenchment in the northwestern region caused a decrease in the labor force in October, which was accompanied by a smaller decline in employment. The result was an overall drop between September and October in the number of persons considered to be unemployed. Employment conditions in those counties which are primarily agricultural were generally favorable in October of 1980, which was typical for a month in which harvesting takes place. Seasonal manufacturing and construction layoffs were reflected in the rising unemployment rates in certain counties.

Employment conditions in the city of Moorhead improved somewhat between September and October of 1980. Unemployment declined by 175, and total employment increased by 190 during this time. These developments cannot really be attributed to any particular firm or industry within the city, but tended to reflect the overall upturn in economic activity which takes place with the beginning of the school year and the fall harvest season.

Over-the-month changes in the numbers of persons collecting unemployment benefits were mixed in October, 1980, with the total for northwestern Minnesota down slightly from the previous month. Regions 1, 2 and 4 experienced decreases in claimant levels, while Region 5's total increased. October is normally a transition month in seasonal activities, and the mixed changes in the numbers of persons receiving unemployment benefits were a reflection of this transition.

The major reason for the decrease in total claimants was the number of persons exhausting the benefits. In September and October of 1980, 1,368 exhausted benefits under the regular program. Therefore, the over-the-month decrease of total claimants was not an indication of improved employment conditions.

The rumber of persons receiving extended benefits (EB) declined in October of 1980. Again, this is the result of exhaustees outnumbering new claimants. Since EB started in July of this year, 1,175 claimants in northwestern Minnesota had exhausted benefits by October 31. At the present time, there are no further extensions available.

The numbers and types of positions which are listed with the job service can be used as sort of an economic barometer for the region. The overall decline that occurred in most occupational categories between October of 1980 and the previous month was not only due to seasonal factors, but to an overall tightening of labor market conditions as well in many of the region's larger communities.

Jobs in construction and other skilled trades tended to diminish during October, with many of the remaining openings being concentrated in lower paying occupations. Generally, the number of positions which employers in the region list with the job service drops off throughout the winter months, as a result of a slackening of demand in local labor markets.

A relatively small proportion of the total number of listed job openings remained unfilled for 30 days or more, indicating a fairly close balance between the supply of and the demand for labor in most areas. Those job openings which do remain unfilled for this length of time usually require certain job skills which may not be available locally, or for which the rate of compensation may not be competitive in the local labor market.

Salute The New Year With Gusto

There are probably more glasses and punch cups raised at the New Year than at any other time. Almost every country has a special drink for the holiday season — wassail bowls and egg nogs are traditional here and in Europe.

One of the most delightful cold weather drinks is Scandinavian glögg, a robust and heady blend of liquor, hot wine, spices and fruit. This version contains CocoRibe coconut rum liqueur, to impart a welcome tropical warmth to a wintery eve. If you're planning a gathering for the New Year, make your toast a memorable one by filling the punch cups with CocoRibe Glögg.

COCORIBE GLUGG

6¼ cups (2 bottles) rosé wine
½ cup raisins
1 teaspoon thinly sliced orange peel
1 stick cinnamon (about 4 inches)
2 whole cloves
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
2 cups CocoRibe coconut rum liqueur

In a medium-size saucepan, either glass or enamel, heat wine, raisins, orange peel, cinnamon, cloves and ginger until hot. Strain into a heat-proof punch bowl. Add liqueur and stir. Serve immediately with clove-studded orange slices, if desired.

Yield: 12 servings.

Batteries May Lose Spark Due To Winter Cold

Icy winds and falling temperatures may cause Minnesotans and their batteries to lose their spark. To give both a charge in this winter weather, the Minnesota safety council suggests reviewing battery knowhow.

Loose or corroded battery cable clamps are frequent causes of failure of automobiles to start. A simple solution of baking soda and water can be used to wash away corrosion, but the battery caps must be on tight and the vents covered so that the mixture doesn't contaminate the electrolyte. Rinse the clamps with clear water and brush with an inexpensive wire tool made to clean cable clamps and posts.

Safety council advises drivers to check fluid levels in batteries often, especially if they use a self-service gasoline station. If there is a need to add water, be sure to drive the car several miles afterward to give the water and electrolyte time to mix and avoid danger of freezing.

It's a good idea to brush up on the technique of jumping a battery. Check to see that the dead battery and the booster are the same voltage. Put the car gear into neutral or park. Remove vent camps of both batteries to release gas, then cover the vents with a cloth. Attach one jumper cable to the positive terminal of each battery. Attach one end of the second cable to the negative terminal of the booster battery and the other end to the engine block of the stalled car. Then — you're ready to start the stalled car and reverse the hook-up procedure.

If you drive a foreign car, the safety council cautions, you should check your dealer for procedures on jumping a dead battery. Also, if a fast charger is used on a battery still in the car, battery cables should be disconnected.

Bank To Offer Interest On Checking Fri.

Northern state bank of Thief River Falls will be offering its interest checking account Friday, January 2. It allows customers to earn interest on their checking accounts, according to Gene Beito, president.

"We started offering savings plus checking several months ago," Beito said. "The account had the same advantages as will our interest checking account. With the coming of the NOW accounts, people will have lots of questions and we will be here to answer; that's what the 'Answer Bank' is for."

The new interest checking account incorporates all of the advantages of the savings plus checking account, but eliminates the disadvantage of dual statements.

Northern state bank is one of the 500 independent banks in Minnesota.

Bemidji Winter Vacation Guide Available Now

Bemidji area chamber of commerce winter vacation guide is off the press and ready for distribution, according to Mary Bjerke, advertising group director, Bemidji area chamber of commerce.

Keith Wheeler On Dean's List

Thirty-two Brainerd community college students qualified for the President's list for fall quarter, according to BCC registrar Marilynn Stoxen. An additional 64 BCC students were placed on the dean's list.

To be on the President's list, a student must earn a 3.75 or better grade point average; and to be on the dean's list, a student must earn a 3.25 to 3.74 G.P.A.

Keith E. Wheeler, Thief River Falls, was among those earning placement on the Dean's list.

SBA Seminar At Bemidji January 8th

Donald Waligoski, a loan officer with the small business administration, (SBA), will be in Bemidji on January 8 to hold a seminar for business men and women about SBA loans. No appointment is necessary.

The seminar will be held at 1 p.m. at the Bemidji chamber of commerce, 3rd Street and Bemidji avenue. After the seminar Waligoski will be available for individual questions. An SBA representative will be in Bemidji the second Thursday of each month for this purpose.

Small business people are urged to visit their bankers first to see if they will make the loan either directly or with SBA's participation. If the banker is familiar with SBA, it may not be necessary for borrowers to attend the seminar as he can perhaps answer questions or can get the answer for them.

A booklet, "Business Loans from the SBA", as well as other free publications, can be received by writing to the Minneapolis district SBA office, 100 North Sixth Street, Minneapolis, MN 55403. This booklet explains SBA lending programs.

R. L. Nygaard Now Superior Court Judge

Richard L. Nygaard, son of Amanda Nygaard of Lancaster and the late Leo B. Nygaard, has been appointed by the governor of Pennsylvania to serve as judge in superior court for Erie county.

Nygaard was born at the Mercy hospital in Thief River Falls and attended Washington elementary school here. He is the brother of Don Nygaard of Thief River Falls.

A 1958 graduate of Antelope Valley high school, Nygaard served two years overseas with the United States navy. After graduating from the University of Southern California cum laude in 1969, he transferred to Michigan state university in Ann Arbor, where he received his degree in law.

In 1970, Nygaard, his wife Jean, and their family, moved to Northeast, Penn., where he and Ed Orton formed a law firm. The Nygaards have three children: Jennifer, Skip and John.

Kim Adlis of Moorhead came home Friday to spend the Christmas holidays with her mom-Elphie Adlis.

Mr. and Mrs. David Moberg of Kalamazoo, Mi., arrived at Fargo Sunday where they came to attend the funeral for Dave's 3½ year-old nephew. Dave returned to Kalamazoo for a few days, while Yvette came Wednesday to spend some time at the Philip Boen home. She will be spending Christmas and part of January at the Boen and Moberg homes where she will be joined by David.

Esther and Edwin Madsen of Davenport, Iowa, Isaac and Betsy Thompson and Kelly Thompson were Tuesday dinner guests at the Donald Lefrooth home.

Wednesday evening after church services, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson and Kenrick were coffee guests at the John Wetterlund home in Karlstad. A week ago Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson and children visited Elsie LeFrooth.

Senior Citizens News

This will be the last report from our center till spring as we are closing the center for the winter months. We had our Christmas party at the Center Wednesday afternoon with a pot luck lunch and an exchange of gifts. We sang some Christmas carols and Irene read the Christmas story from Luke 2 and Matthew 2. We sang the table grace and also the birthday song for Polly whose birthday was Dec. 18.

There were 16 that registered in our record book. Ingvald Rokke and Roy Duvos were guests for lunch. Ingvald won the door prize given by Mildred.

Ruth Harper gave a financial report and its good to know we go into a new year with some money to spare. We signed cards to send to former members and good friends for Christmas. We say thanks for greetings received. We wish all our readers a very Merry Christmas and a blessed New Year.

Irene Reporting

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter attended an appreciation supper at Stephen and later visited at the Laures Kleinwachter home.

Mrs. Henry Moyer and Dianne Kleinwachter attended the Christian Women's club at Thief River Falls Tuesday and later were visitors at the Lloyd Larson home in rural Thief River Falls.

Saturday supper guests at the Douglas Thun home were Debbie and Mike Bruggeman and Scott Thun of Moorhead, George and Eva Monroe of Radium and Ella Thun of Karlstad.

James and Irene Larson attended the Christian Heritage school program at Karlstad Thursday evening.

Wednesday Sister Mildred of Middle River visited Dianne Kleinwachter and later attended the family film series in Karlstad.

Another Year Slipping Past

Just like the observance of birthday anniversaries, the coming of a new year signals the passage of another 365 days of time. We thought that those who have seen more than a few years slip past would get a few chickles out of these symptoms:

You know you're getting older when:

Everything hurts, and what doesn't hurt, doesn't work.

The gleam in your eyes is from the sun hitting your bifocals.

You feel like the morning after the night before, and you haven't been anywhere.

Your little black book contains only names ending in "M.D."

You get winded, playing chess.

Your children begin to look middle-aged.

You finally reach the top of the ladder, and find it leaning against the wrong wall.

You join the health club and don't go.

You begin to outlive enthusiasm.

You decide to try to stop procrastinating, but then never get around to it.

You're still chasing women, but can't remember why.

Your mind makes contracts your body can't meet.

A dripping faucet causes an uncontrollable bladder urge.

You know all the answers, but nobody asks you the questions.

You look forward to a dull evening.

You walk with your head held high, trying to get used to your new bifocals.

Your favorite part of the newspaper is "25 years ago today."

You turn out the lights for economic rather than romantic reasons.

You sit in a rocking chair and can't get it going.

Your knees buckle and your belt won't.

You regret all those mistakes resisting temptation.

You're 17 around the neck, 42 around the waist, and 96 around the golf course.

You stop looking forward to your next birthday.

After painting the town red, you have to take a long rest before applying the second coat.

Dialing long distance wears you out.

You're startled the first time you are addressed as "old-timer."

You remember today that yesterday was your wedding anniversary.

You just can't stand people who are intolerant.

The best part of the day is over when your alarm goes off.

You burn the midnight oil after 9 p.m.

Your back goes out more than you do.

A fortune teller offers to read your face.

Your pacemaker makes the garage door go up when you watch a pretty girl go by.

The little gray-haired lady you help across the street is your wife.

You have too much room in the house and not enough in the medicine cabinet.

You sink your teeth into a steak and they stay there.

Hands In The Cash Register

Following editorial is from the Ely Echo:

When the new Reagan administration takes office in January, along with the new Congress, the taxpayers will have an opportunity to observe the "economy-minded" batch of politicians we elected. After all, they were elected on a cost-cutting platform. The tip off will come on two issues: one will be to see how much fat is cut out of the pork-barrel "public works" projects; the other will be whether or not the Congress passes a "Sunset" law, reviewing and eliminating agencies and programs which have long passed out of usefulness.

"Public works" is the title given to federal dredge, drain and dam projects, those taxpayer-funded items close to the hearts of many members of the Congress and the bureaucracy, in which billions are spent to straighten, deepen, wall-in, dam up and otherwise improve on the nation's rivers. These are most often funded under the guise of "flood control", the idea being that you get the water out of one area, which has a flood problem, and move it on down stream to another area which did not have one before.

Dams, of course, are built to permanently flood thousands of acres so a smaller amount of land downstream is not periodically inundated. The fact that over the years the dredging and damming has compounded the flood problem, not solved it, never seems to bother Washington. Not as long as the Congressmen can get a fist full of cash for their particular district or the President can dole out the money for legal vote-buying.

The "Sunset" idea is simply to get a law passed which would require federal programs to come up for periodic review and justification. There are dozens of "temporary" federal programs which get buried in the bureaucracy and are included in the national budget, year after year, and serve no purpose. Some of these are pet projects of incumbent Congressmen who combine with the bureaucrats to keep these obsolete programs funded and operating.

When all the speeches are over with, the real test is what tack the President takes and how the Congressmen vote (or bottle up the issues so no vote can be taken.)

Minnesota's two senators, Dave Durenberger and Rudy Boschwitz, have an unusual record in opposing pork barrel water projects. Unlike outgoing President Jimmy Carter who talked a good deal about ending these phoney projects and then signed them into law, both Minnesota senators consistently voted against them.

One of these projects, the Tennessee-Tombigbee canal, a $3 billion project to run a barge canal parallel to the Mississippi River, got a "no" vote from both Durenberger and Boschwitz. However, support for the bill comes from Tennessee Senator Howard Baker, in whose state a lot of the money will be spent. Baker will be majority leader in the incoming Senate.

Two fairly weak versions of "Sunset" legislation have been reported out of both House and Senate committees. If President Reagan wants to cut waste by eliminating useless old agencies and projects, he can insist that the House and Senate go back and report out a law with teeth.

It will be interesting to watch the new administration and the new Congress in operation . . . and see just how much fat they are really going to fry out of the budget . . . particularly after all the campaign speeches about "economy in government."

"Someone Else" Is Us

Following editorial is from the Iowa Falls Citizen:

There is no segment of society, no profession, no business that is left untouched by today's inflation. But health care costs have increased more rapidly than any other part of the economy. Study after study shows that physician charges, hospital bills and medicines have far outpaced the general rate of inflation.

There are, of course, all sorts of ideas as to how this pace can be slowed without lessening the level of care. Some see national health insurance as the cure. The Administration has proposed mandatory lids on hospital costs. Others propose pre-paid health care through health maintenance organizations. Few of these, however, address themselves to the individual's involvement, and responsibility in containing costs.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that health insurance companies have been almost too successful in selling their policies. Recognizing the demand for virtually total health care coverage, the insurors have promoted and sold policies which cover almost every type of illness or accident. Gone is the philosophy of 10 or 20 years ago that insurance was intended primarily to ease the financial pain of illness, not eliminate that pain altogether.

Now, the majority of health insurance policies are all-inclusive with only minimal provisions for individual responsibilities for costs. Such policies have come to be a standard employee fringe benefit for most companies and a benefit which would be exceedingly difficult to alter. Nevertheless, by removing individual responsibility for costs of care and insurance, much of the incentive for holding the line on costs has been removed.

In short, it is all too easy and simple to run up a hospital or medical bill when "someone else" is paying for it. That "someone else" is all of us and we're paying too high a price.

Borrowed Nonsense:

A Chinese lecturer was in the middle of his presentation when all the lights in the room went out. The lecturer asked everyone in the room to raise their hand, and when they complied the lights came back on. "This proves wisdom of old Chinese saying," the lecturer avowed: "'Many hands make light work'."

Mistletoe Menace To Christmas Tree

by Paul Dienhart
'U' M News Service

Fred Baker has spent the past five years tracking down Minnesota mistletoe, then scheming to burn it, poison it or grind it to dust.

It's not that he's a Christmas Scrooge or opposed to contrived osculation between the sexes. The benign leafy plant with white berries that hangs from doorways this time of year is quite safe. Baker is after a more deadly form of mistletoe.

In Scandinavian legend mistletoe was the only thing on earth that could kill a god. Dwarf mistletoe, Arcenthobium pusillum, most certainly kills Minnesota black spruce. In dollar terms, the tiny parasitic plant is the most serious menace to state trees.

Black spruce has a long, clean fiber that makes excellent paper. Dwarf mistletoe has attached itself to more than 10 per cent of the state's roughly 1.5 million acres of black spruce. Baker conservatively estimates the loss in trees at more than $35 million.

Dwarf mistletoe is not even a pretty plant — if you can manage to spot it. "The shoot may only be one-eighth of an inch long, and it's nothing but scales. It is not very spectacular," said David French, head of the plant pathology department at the University of Minnesota. The mistletoe is most recognizable for what it does to spruce trees.

It creates what are called 'witches' brooms' in the spruce. "Apparently, when the mistletoe sends its roots into the trees it somehow stimulates abnormal growth, creating profuse branching near the mistletoe," French said. "We've done experiments with dyes and found that the tree's nutrients are almost entirely diverted to the branch affected by the mistletoe."

The growth of the witches' brooms — apparent after the mistletoe has been attached to the tree five to 10 years — causes the tree to sicken and die within a few years.

The mistletoe hurts the paper industry because — aside from the death of immature spruce — the tree fibers degrade quickly after the tree is infected. So far there is no danger of the black spruce becoming extinct, both because mistletoe spreads slowly and because something is being done to control the parasite.

This is where Fred Baker comes in. He is a doctoral candidate in plant pathology under French and the state's leading expert on dwarf mistletoe. He has stalked the mistletoe in its lair — the swampy, isolated terrain that is home to moose, spruce grouse, Canadian jays and large mosquitoes. "I lose about a quart of blood a summer," Baker said.

Dwarf mistletoe spreads by shooting sticky seeds from its flowers. Most of the seeds travel only a few feet, accounting for its spread of a couple of feet a year. "The record is 55 feet," Baker said, "but there are some other ways for the seeds to travel. I've sat and watched birds get zapped by these things until they get disgusted enough to fly away."

Because mistletoe infestation tends to occur in clearly defined areas of the forest, eliminating those areas can control the spread of the parasite. "We used to recommend controlled burning, but the logging industry has changed in the past five years," Baker said. "When logging companies sent in chainsaw crews they left slash (stumps, branches and ground cover) you could burn under the right conditions. Now, more and more, the logging is done by machines with giant mechanized shears. After the trees are sheared off, skidders drag the trees to a loader. The site is completely cleared."

These huge machines, rumbling back and forth across the frozen swamps, effectively kill any mistletoe on the site, grinding it into chewed-up sphagnum moss on the forest floor. This is fortunate, because by the time these mechanical monsters are finished there is no slash left to burn.

Another advantage of killing the mistletoe at the time of the harvest is that it can sometimes take several years to get the right conditions for a controlled burn. Then it requires traveling over swamp lands with no roads. University of Minnesota is testing a fast-decomposing herbicide that could be used to destroy mistletoe when mechanized harvesting or burning isn't possible.

A particular problem in controlling the mistletoe is knowing when to harvest an infected area. It takes 90 to 120 years for black spruce to mature. Should immature trees be harvested to cut losses from mistletoe?

Baker has developed a computer program that projects the spread of mistletoe and forecasts the most economical time for harvest. "Sometimes it makes sense to harvest 30 or 40 years before maturity," he said. State park officials are already looking at using the computer simulator, which will be fine-tuned and make available for general use during the next year.

The computer simulator would not have been possible without the early work done on university plots across northern Minnesota, where weather and other factors affecting the spread of mistletoe were studied. A major discovery during the earlier research was that aerial photography could pinpoint mistletoe areas. Damaged trees appeared as bare spots in the canopy of the forest.

Now Minnesota faces a new mistletoe threat. Jack pine, another important tree for the paper industry, has been attacked by a lethal variety of mistletoe. So far this mistletoe is confined to areas south and east of Lake Winnipeg in Canada, but there's a lot of jack pine between there and Minnesota.

"The best solution is to keep it out of this country entirely," French said. "Fortunately, it too is a slow moving mistletoe." University is advising the Canadian forest service on aerial photography techniques, and the plan is to set up one of Baker's computer simulators for jack pine.

Meanwhile, in the Southeast, foresters are delighted to allow American mistletoe, dwarf mistletoe's handsome cousin, to grow in the hardwood forests. This parsite has cash value as Christmas decorations. The final irony is that black spruce, the tree dwarf mistletoe kills in Minnesota, makes an excellent Christmas tree.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Concerning recent letters on trapping, I would like to add this: Human beings have depended upon other animals for many reasons — food, clothing, enjoyment, wealth, medical and scientific research (we owe a great deal to animals in this area alone) survival, companionship and recreation — all to make our own lives more comfortable.

In many cases this has meant exploitation, species extinction or near-extinction, cruelty and suffering. Man has tried to stop or reverse these situations, having success in some areas and failure in others. In view of all this, don't we owe animals at least some consideration and as far as our own use of them, as humane a life. . . and death as possible?

I would like to thank the editor for allowing me to express my views in this paper.

Sincerely,
John Wengeler

Gatzke

Mrs. Clifford Klamar, Gatzke
294-2468

A happy and prosperous new year to all.

Saturday Gene Peterson visited at the Vernon Peterson home at Badger.

Dinner guests on Sunday at the Alan Severts home were Mrs. Norma Brabec of Scottsdale, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones and afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Severts.

Guests for dinner on Saturday at the Larry Hagen home were Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Johnson and Kevin of Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike McQuillian, Chad, Mark and John of Fargo spent the weekend at the Walter Lunsetter home.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Green of Middle River visited on Thursday at the Delmar Hagen home.

Sunday Alma and Earl Wagner of Middle River were dinner guests at the Gene Peterson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson visited at the Leo Orpen home on Sunday afternoon.

Charissa Aune visited on Thursday with Helga and Vernon Gilbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike McQuillian, Chad, Mark and John of Fargo, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Larson, Jackie, Cindy and Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lunsetter, Jerrod, Justin, Jesse and Jamie were dinner guests on Sunday at the Walter Lunsetter home.

The Gatzke senior citizens met December 17. A potluck dinner was served and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and the treasurer's report was also given. Some decisions were tabled until more information could be obtained. Four birthdays were honored: Mable Lunsetter, Edith Blahauvietz, Tina Nelson and Myrtle Naeseth. Also two wedding anniversaries, Amanda and Art Johnson, Florence and Edwin Lund. They served cake and ice cream. Ann Engelstad served sandwiches and coffee for Arnold. Roy Ruud won the door prize. Their next meeting will be January 7. Mrs. Robert Amundson and Samuel were dinner guests and Mr. and Mrs. Thorfin Ostby were coffee guests.

Bringing birthday wishes to Mrs. Lyle Blahauvietz on Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Klamar.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tieman and Andrea of Wabassco arrived on Sunday at the Lyle Blahauvietz home to spend the Christmas Holidays.

NORDEN . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Olson and Steven, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Jensen, Mrs. Vern Cleven and Leah, Gary Nelson, Alvin Nelson and Mrs. Lydia Olson of Thief River Falls brought birthday anniversary greetings to Leland Nelson at his home in Sanders Saturday evening.

Mrs. Russell Lane was among the employees of the Falls Clinic attending a Christmas party Thursday evening at the Jack Hoppe home in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Lauretta Panek and Garrett of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Vicki Porter, Michelle, Jessica and Tinesha of Grand Forks were Sunday supper guests at the Burton Lane home. Mrs. Porter and the girls remained to spend a few days visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Jensen were Thursday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cummings in Thief River Falls.

Burt Lane was a Sunday forenoon coffee guest at the Russ Lane home. He, along with Keith and Cory Moen and Jerry Prickett of Thief River Falls, were also dinner guests. That afternoon Kenny Johnson was a brief visitor.

Brainerd Is Section 8 Leader

Frank Fee of KROX radio in Crookston, who complements Don Olson's weekly Section 8 high school hockey standings with individual scoring figures for all of the teams, predicts that Brainerd will be the No. 1 seed in the 1981 Section 8 tournament at East Grand Forks.

Standings in Section 8 hockey, which are used for post-season tournament seeding purposes, are based on a point system: two points at stake when teams meet twice during the year; four points if its a single meeting. And since the number of points the teams play for are not even, the standings are figured on a percentage basis.

And a combination of an improved program at Brainerd and a favorable schedule could find the surprising Warriors sitting atop the Section 8 standings at tournament time.

Brainerd is the current Section 8 leader, having beaten Crosby-Ironton, Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls in two-point games, and taking four-pointers from Bemidji and Indus. The Warriors, whose Central Lakes Conference commitments take up a good portion of their schedule, have just five games left against Section 8 opponents, and could conceivably win them all — playing at Alexandria, while hosting Fergus Falls, Detroit Lakes, Alexandria and Crosby-Ironton.

It's doubtful Brainerd would fare as well if the Warriors were fed a steady diet of Roseau, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Warroad, etc. And it remains to be seen if the Warriors are for real. But give them credit, they have developed a strong program, built an indoor arena and added artificial ice. They could be a major force in Section 8 in the future. Right now they've got one of the better goalies in Section 8 in Paul Hennen and are definitely sitting in the driver's seat.

Fee's early season Section 8 rankings are led by No. 1 Roseau; No. 2 East Grand Forks; No. 3 Brainerd; No. 4 Crookston; and No. 5 Moorhead. That was on Monday, Dec. 22. The next night Crookston knocked off East Grand Forks 4-3 and Thief River Falls surprised Moorhead 1-0.

Fee also ranks the top players in Section 8: No. 1 Kreg Korinek, Moorhead goalie; No. 2 Steve Johnson, Crookston forward; No. 3 Billy Yon, Roseau forward; No. 4 Hennen; No. 5 Scott Wiebolt, Thief River Falls defenseman; and the top young players: No. 1 Craig Mack, East Grand Forks forward; No. 2 John Bjorkman, Warroad forward; and No. 3 Tom Kenville, Thief River Falls forward.

Arctic Invitational Pee-Wee A, Bantam A Hockey Tournament . . .

Bemidji, Columbia Heights Win TRF Titles

Both Thief River Falls teams reached the finals, but it was Bemidji and Columbia Heights who went home with the titles Sunday in the eighth annual Pee-Wee A and Bantam A Arctic Invitational hockey tournament played in the Thief River Falls sports arena and old arena.

Bemidji collected its second Arctic Invitational Pee-Wee A championship while forcing title-less Thief River Falls to settle for its third runner-up finish with a 7-0 championship game victory Sunday morning in the sports arena. Rest of the Pee-Wee A games in the three-day, 15-team event were played in the old arena.

Columbia Heights became a first-time Arctic Invitational champion Sunday afternoon with a 7-4 conquest of Thief River Falls in the Bantam A finals.

Earlier Sunday third place trophies went to Virginia, a 5-4 winner over Moorhead in Pee-Wee A action, and Fergus Falls, a 5-3 victor over Roseau in Bantam A play.

The Bemidji Pee-Wees were the only team to complete the tournament with an unbeaten, untied record as they knocked off Fergus Falls 7-6 Friday, then got by the Rivereast Royals of Winnipeg 6-3 and Virginia 7-4 Saturday to gain a spot in Sunday's championship game.

Columbia Heights reached the Bantam A finals by beating International Falls 5-4 and Fergus Falls 8-5 in its first two starts before losing to Grand Rapids 5-4.

Competition was based on a round-robin, two-division format in both age groups. Divisional winners met in the championship game, while the runner-up teams played for third place honors.

Thief River Falls won the Pee-Wee A American Division by beating Crookston 8-2, skating to a 6-6 tie with Moorhead and beating International Falls 5-3.

Minus a team in the Bantam A American Division, Thief River Falls advanced to the finals with a 7-5 victory over Moorhead, a 5-5 tie with Virginia and a 1-0 forfeit.

Columbia Heights and Fergus Falls finished with matching 2-1 records in the Bantam A National Division, but Columbia Heights gained the spot in the title game by virtue of its 8-5 victory over Fergus Falls.

TRF Pee-Wees Runner-Up For Third Time

Highlighted by a come-from-behind 5-3 victory over International Falls Saturday afternoon in front of a large crowd in the old arena, the Thief River Falls Eagles Pee-Wee A team earned a berth in the Arctic Invitational Pee-Wee A and Bantam A hockey tournament finals for the third time in the eight-year history of the event.

Thief River Falls opened with an 8-2 first game victory over Crookston Friday morning, skated to a 6-6 tie with Moorhead that night and then got by International Falls to reach the finals, where they lost to Bemidji 7-0 Sunday morning in the sports arena.

Thief River Falls was also a runner-up finisher to St. Paul Shoppond Gang in 1974 and to East Grand Forks in 1977.

TRF — Crookston

A first period goal by John Matson gave Thief River Falls an early 1-0 edge that was expanded to a 5-2 second period cushion in a tournament-opening 8-2 victory over Crookston.

Jim Breiland scored early in the second period and Bob Geatz added a shorthanded goal for a 3-1 lead before two Al Erickson goals put it out of reach. Erickson scored on a breakaway at 13:28 of the second period and had another breakaway stopped when he was pulled down from behind by a Crookston defender. He was awarded a penalty shot on the play, and although he missed, Thief River Falls controlled the face-off in front of Crookston goalie Jay Ricord and Erickson scored in a hurry — just three seconds after being stopped on the penalty shot.

Thief River Falls scored three unanswered goals in the third period to wrap it up.

TRF — Moorhead

Thief River Falls built a 4-0 first period lead and owned a 6-3 edge at one time, but couldn't come up with a win as Moorhead rallied for a 6-6 tie Friday night.

TRF — Int. Falls

What may have been the tournament's best game was Thief River Falls' 5-3 decision over International Falls Saturday afternoon.

The visitors came back from a 2-0 deficit on goals by Al Erickson and Steve McGann spaced just 39 seconds apart late in the second period, but then gave up a power play goal to International Falls' Barry Olson with just 22 seconds left in the period.

However, McGann scored on a breakaway off the face-off to begin the third period to tie it 3-3. It stayed that way until Dave Johnson scored on a 2-on-0 rush by Thief River Falls at 11:36, and Troy Hanestad iced it with an in-

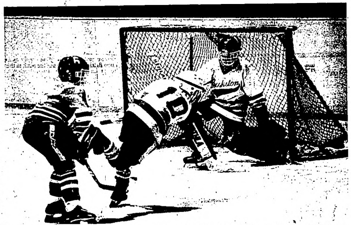
SPRAWLING ON THE ice, Thief River Falls VFW goalie Steve Solheim watched the puck slide into the corner as Thief River Falls defenseman Brian Johnston (2) tied up a Roseau player during Friday's opening game in the Bantam A portion of the annual Thief River Falls Pee-Wee A and Bantam A Arctic Invitational hockey tournament. Ryan Bakken (7) and Chad Bottem (5) were also involved in the play for the VFW skaters, who came back from a 5-2 second period deficit to beat Roseau.



STANDING HIS GROUND, Crookston goalie Jay Ricord turned aside a close range blast from Thief River Falls Eagles forward Bob Geatz (10) in the second period of Friday's opening game in the Pee-Wee A portion of the annual Thief River Falls Pee-Wee A and Bantam A Arctic Invitational hockey tournament. Crookston's Mike Andringa (6) tried to help Ricord on the play.

TRF Bantams Earn Fifth Title Shot

A regular visitor to the finals of the Arctic Invitational Pee-Wee A and Bantam A hockey tournament, Thief River Falls VFW Bantam A team gained its fifth title shot in the eight-year history of the event by beating Roseau 7-5 and tying Virginia 5-5 Friday.

But Thief River Falls, an Arctic Invitational champion in 1974, 1977 and 1978, had to settle for a runner-up finish when Columbia Heights emerged with a 7-4 championship game decision Sunday afternoon. Thief River Falls was also a runner-up finisher in 1979.

TRF — Roseau

Thief River Falls came back from a 5-3 deficit in the third period to out-score Roseau 7-5 in the Bantam A opener.

Power play goals spaced just two minutes apart by Dan Imgrund and Joe Blankenfeld tied it at 5-5 and Bob Brieland's third goal of the game — another power play shot — produced the game winner at 11:06 of the third period. Jerry Hallamek padded the lead with a shorthanded breakaway with just 46 seconds left.

TRF — Virginia

It was a see-saw game all the way as Thief River Falls and Virginia skated to a 5-5 tie, with Thief River Falls watching Virginia come back from five one-goal deficits.

Brian Johnston and Dan Imgrund gave Thief River Falls brief 1-0 and 2-1 leads in the first period that ended in a 2-2 deadlock. Bob Brieland and Johnston scored in the second period, but those goals were matched by Virginia's John Arbogast and Rick Trunzo, with Trunzo's power play goal at 14:13 tying it 4-4.

Johnston got his hat trick on a nifty display of Thief River Falls passing on a power play at 8:07 of the third period, but Virginia's Jim Dethloff deflected in a knee-high slap shot at 13:31 to tie it for the final time at 5-5.

TRF — Columbia Heights

A 3-0 first period Columbia Heights lead proved to be too big of an obstacle to overcome as Thief River Falls dropped a 7-4 championship game decision.

Two of the three first period goals came on power plays, including Dave Olson's unassisted goal with just 11 seconds left.

Dan Imgrund narrowed it to 3-1, but the winner's Jim Jackson pushed the difference

Prowlers Host Fargo South On Tuesday

A quiet spell in the midst of a busy Thief River Falls winter sports schedule continues this week, with just two Lincoln high school teams in action.

Thief River Falls will host Fargo South Tuesday in a 7:30 p.m. high school hockey game, while the Lincoln swim team waits until Saturday to participate in the Brainerd relays, a 1:30 p.m. event.

GIVEN A PENALTY shot when he was pulled down from behind on a breakaway, Thief River Falls forward Al Erickson came in on Crookston goalie Jay Ricord all alone, but had his close-in shot turned aside in the second period of the Arctic Invitational Pee-Wee A hockey tournament game played Friday in the old arena. However, on the ensuing face-off held in front of Ricord, Thief River Falls won the draw, with the puck going to Erickson, who shot quickly and scored— just three seconds after missing the penalty shot. Thief River Falls Eagles won the game 8-2.

READY FOR THE rebound, Crookston forward Kelly Madigan was no doubt disappointed when Thief River Falls goalie Shayne Anderson kicked the puck into the corner after making a save in the Pee-Wee A hockey game played Friday morning in the old arena. Thief River Falls Eagles opened the Pee-Wee A portion of the eighth annual Arctic Invitational tournament with an 8-2 victory over Crookston.

GLOVE HAND OF Roseau goalie Sid Thompson wasn't quick enough to stop this shot by Thief River Falls forward Bob Brieland (9), who put the puck in the upper corner of the net to open the scoring in Friday's first round Arctic Invitational Bantam A hockey game played in the sports arena. The Thief River Falls VFW team opened the Bantam A portion of the Pee-Wee A and Bantam A event with a come-from behind 7-5 victory over Roseau.

back to 4-1 before Thief River Falls made it interesting with a pair of power play goals just 30 seconds apart by Imgrund — when Columbia Heights was two men short — and Ryan Bakke to pull within 4-3 in the second period.

A Dick Cardinal goal just 25 seconds into the third period made it 5-3 Columbia Heights, but Rick Spong's tip-in at 1:22 made it tight again, 5-4.

However, the early third period scoring flurry continued when Tom Mroska scored his second goal on a power play at 3:34, making it 6-4, and Cardinal got his second goal — and the game's sixth power play goal — at 12:07 to clinch it.

surance goal at 13:45.

TRF — Bemidji

Bemidji goalie Steve Peters stopped all 25 Thief River Falls shots in earning a 7-0 championship game victory.

David Smith scored twice in the first period as Bemidji built a 3-0 lead. Two Bemidji power play goals made it 5-0 in the second period, with Robbie Aitken and Peter Fenson scoring late in the third period to expand the margin.

REVENUE SHARING BUDGET HEARING
City of Thief River Falls
Dec. 28, 1980
STATE OF MINNESOTA
County of Pennington—ss.

Notice is hereby given that the city council of the City of Thief River Falls will conduct a budget hearing concerning proposed uses of federal revenue sharing funds in the council chambers of the city auditorium on January 13, 1981 at 7 P.M.

The purpose of the hearing is to provide citizens of Thief River Falls the opportunity to submit oral or written comments concerning the proposed revenue sharing budget in relation to the overall proposed city budget for 1981.

As a result of the proposed use hearing on federal revenue sharing funds held November 25, 1980, and the city's budget process, the following items are being considered for expenditure in 1981:

1. Senior Meals Program (15 mo.) .... $14,900.
2. Garbage Rate Subsidy - Senior Citizens .... 3,300.
3. Para-transit Bus Program .... 8,100.
4. Falls Delivered Meals .... 2,000.
5. Payloader - Street Dept. .... 50,000.
6. Pedestrian Walkway Nora to Pennington
7. Artificial Ice - Old Arena (TRFAHA)

The estimated revenue sharing funds available for the 1981 budget are estimated to be $87,000. Minutes of the proposed use hearing on November 25, 1980, and copies of the 1981 adopted budget are available for public inspection in the city clerk's office in the basement of the city auditorium.

ORDINANCE NO. 45, [illegible]
2nd Series
AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE POSSESSION, MANUFACTURE, DELIVERY OR ADVERTISING OF DRUG PARAPHERNALIA AND ADOPTING MINNESOTA STATUTES CHAPTER 152 BY REFERENCE.
THE CITY COUNCIL OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA ORDAINS:

Section 1. The City Code of the City of Thief River Falls is amended by addition of Chapter 13 reading as follows:

"Chapter 13 Porhibited Drugs and Drug Related Devices. Section 13.01. State Law Incorporated by Reference. Minnesota Statutes 1978, and Minnesota Statutes 1979 Supplement, both as amended by Laws 1980, Chapter 152, is hereby adopted as a part of the City Code and is incorporated by reference as fully as if set forth herein. The City Clerk shall keep at least one copy of Chapter 152 in his office and shall mark said copy as the "Official Copy" which shall be open for examination and use by the public."

Section 13.02 Definitions, Subd. 1. All definition sections as set forth in Minnesota Statutes, Section 152.01.

Subd. 2. Drug Paraphernalia. The term "drug paraphernalia" means all equipment, products and materials of any kind which are used, intended for use, or designed for use, in planting, propagating, cultivating, growing, harvesting, manufacturing, compounding, converting, producing, processing, preparing, testing, analyzing, packaging, repackaging, storing, containing, concealing, injecting, ingesting, inhaling or otherwise introducing into the human body a controlled substance in violation of this Code. The term includes, but is not limited to:

(1) Kits used, intended for use, or designed for use in planting, propogating, cultivating, growing or harvesting of any species of plant which is a controlled substance or from which a controlled substance can be derived;

(2) Kits used, intended for use, or designed for use in manufacturing, compounding, converting, producing, processing, or preparing controlled substances;

(3) Isomerization devices used, intended for use, or designed for use in increasing the potency of any species of plant which is a controlled substance;

(4) Testing equipment used, intended for use, or designed for use in identifying, or in analyzing the strength, effectiveness or purity of controlled substances;

(5) Scales and balances used, intended for use, or designed for use in weighing or measuring controlled substances;

(6) Diluents and adulterants, such as quinine hydrochloride, mannitol, mannite, dextrose and lactose, used, intended for use, or designed for use in cutting controlled substances;

(7) Separation gins and sifters used, intended for use, or designed for use in removing twigs and seeds from, or in otherwise cleaning or refining, marijuana;

(8) Blenders, bowls, containers, spoons and mixing devices used, intended for use, or designed for use in compounding controlled substances;

(9) Capsules, balloons, envelopes and other containers used, intended for use, or designed for use in packaging small quantities of controlled substances;

(10) Containers and other objects used, intended for use, or designed for use in storing or concealing controlled substances;

(11) Hypodermic syringes, needles and other objects used, intended for use, or designed for use in parenterally injecting controlled substances into the human body;

(12) Objects used, intended for use, or designed for use in ingesting, inhaling, or otherwise, introducing marijuana, cocaine, hashish, or hashish oil into the human body, such as:

(a) Metal, wooden, acrylic, glass, stone, plastic or ceramic pipes with or without screens, permanent screens, hashish heads, or puncture metal bows;
(b) Water pipes;
(c) Carburetion tubes and devices;
(d) Smoking and carburetion masks;
(e) Roach clips: meaning objects used to hold burning material, such as a marijuana cigarette, that has become too small or too short to be held in the hand;
(f) Miniature cocaine spoons, and cocaine vials;
(g) Chamber pipes;
(h) Carburetor pipes;
(i) Electric pipes;
(j) Air-driven pipes;
(k) Chillums;
(l) Bongs;
(m) Ice pipes or chillers;

Subd. 3. In determining whether an object is drug Paraphernalia a court or other authority should consider, in addition to all other logically relevent factors, the following:

(1) Statements by an owner or by anyone in control of the object concerning its use;
(2) Prior convictions, if any, of an owner, or of anyone in control of the object, under any State or Federal law relating to any controlled substance;
(3) The proximity of the object, in time and space, to a direct violation of this ordinance;
(4) The proximity of the object to controlled substances;
(5) The existence of any residue of controlled substances on the object;
(6) Direct or circumstantial evidence of the intent of an owner, or of anyone in control of the object, to deliver it to persons whom he knows, or should reasonably know, intend to use the object to facilitate a violation of this ordinance; the innocence of an owner, or of anyone in control of the object, as to a direct violation of this ordinance shall not prevent a finding that the object is intended for use, or designed for use as drug paraphernalia;
(7) Instructions, oral or written, provided with the object concerning its use;
(8) Descriptive materials accompanying the object which explain or depict its use;
(9) National and local advertising concerning its use;
(10) The manner in which the object is displayed for sale;
(11) Whether the owner, or anyone in control of the object, is a legitimate supplier of like or related items to the community, such as a licensed distributor or dealer of tobacco products;
(12) Direct or circumstantial evidence of the ratio of sales of the object(s) to the total sales of the business enterprise;
(13) The existence and scope of legitimate uses for the object in the community;
(14) Expert testimony concerning its use.

Section 13.03. Possession of Drug Paraphernalia. It is unlawful for any person to use, or to possess with intent to use, drug paraphernalia to plant, propogate, cultivate, grow, harvest, manufacture, compound, convert, produce, process, prepare, test, analyze, pack, repack, store, contain, conceal, or to inject, ingest, inhale or otherwise introduce into the human body a controlled substance in violation of this ordinance. Any person who violates this section is guilty of a misdemeanor as set forth in Chapter 1 of the City Code.

Section 13.04. Manufacture or Delivery of Drug Paraphernalia. It is unlawful for any person to deliver, possess with intent to deliver, or manufacture with intent to deliver, drug paraphernalia, knowing or under circumstances where one reasonably should know, that it will be used to plant, propogate, cultivate, grow, harvest, manufacture, compound, convert, produce, process, prepare, test, analyze, pack, repack, store, contain, conceal, or to inject, ingest, inhale or otherwise introduce into the human body, a controlled substance in violation of this ordinance. Any person who violates this section is guilty of a penal offense.

Section 13.05. Delivery of Drug Paraphernalia to a Minor. Any person 18 years of age or over who violates Section 13.04 by delivering drug paraphernalia to a person under 18 years of age who is at least 3 years his junior is guilty of a special offense and upon conviction may be imprisoned for not more than 90 days, fined not more than $500.00 or both.

Section 13.06. Advertisement of Drug Paraphernalia. It is unlawful for any person to place in any newspaper, magazine, handbill, or other publication any advertisement, knowing, or under circumstances where one reasonably should know, that the purpose of the advertisement in whole or in part, is to promote the sale of objects designed or intended for use as drug paraphernalia. Any person who violates this section is guilty of a penal offense.

Section 13.07. Civil Forfeiture. In addition to all forfeitures as set forth in Minnesota Statutes, Section 152.19, all drug paraphernalia as defined by Section 13.02, Subd. 2, of this ordinance is subject to forfeiture, subject to the provisions set forth in Minnesota Statues, Section 152.19, Subd. 2.

Section 13.08. Severability. If any provision of this ordinance or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this ordinance are severable.

Section 2. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Passed by the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, this 23rd day of December, 1980.

Voting Aye: Borsheim, Engelstad, Wysoski, Restad, Penning, Goodrich, Womack, and Mayor Carlson.

Selective Service Facts Presented

Over the past several months, the selective service system has seen a number of mis-statements about, and examples of some misunderstanding of, the purpose, nature and results of the current selective service registration. The following summary review was prepared by the selective service system to correct those statements and misunderstandings.

ASSERTION: "This silly little post-card registration doesn't help us at all. . . in fact, the President's own Director of Selective Service said that only about seven days would be saved with registration in advance of need."

FACT: Before we had actually undertaken this registration, the estimates of "time saved" ranged from seven days to 120 days. . . a clear indication that no one really knew the answer. Now that registration has been accomplished, a specific answer is available: at least four, and possibly five, weeks have seen saved.

This means that, if an emergency were to break out today and Congressional authorization were granted for a draft, selective service could now put 100,000 men in uniform within 28 days. Without advance registration, the first young man would be walking up the steps of his post office to register on that same 28th day.

ASSERTION: "This summer's registration was a fiasco; only about 75 per cent registered; at least a million men defied the government and failed to register."

FACT: To the contrary, the young men of this nation heeded the lawful call of the President and the Congress and registered in record numbers: as of mid-December, 95 per cent of the eligible population had in fact registered, with late registrations continuing to come in on a daily basis.

Because some people have expressed skepticism about our data, we invited the general accounting office to validate our procedures and our results. Incidentally, we are running about 10 per cent ahead of selective service experience for 1973 (the last year for which complete registration data are available) — a year in which the eventual compliance rate was about 99 per cent.

ASSERTION: "95 per cent registration still means that you have created a generation of felons, with almost 200,000 non-registrants. Attempts to prosecute and jail that many violators would overwhelm the federal judiciary and prison system."

FACT: There have always been a number of non-registrants — but the federal judiciary system has never been swamped, not even at the height of the anti-draft protests of the late 1960's. One important point: every violator does not need to be prosecuted in order to enforce the law. It is small comfort to the young man who is caught and has a felony conviction on his record, even without a prison sentence, that some of his friends may not have been charged.

ASSERTION: "There is no demonstrated need for the draft. . ."

FACT: This is an issue upon which honorable people can honestly disagree — but it is not an issue connected with the current registration. When the United States ended the draft in 1972 and adopted the all-volunteer force, we were following the recommendations of a 1970 Presidential commission which also recommended: A standby selective service, with a registry of males subject to the draft, to be used only in an emergency, to augment the armed forces, and then, only with congressional approval.

The current resumption of registration is just that — a resumption of an important component of overall readiness which has been missing since 1975, and not a move toward a peacetime draft.

ASSERTION: "There's never been a registration without a draft, and there's never been a draft without a war."

FACT: —Registration, without a draft took place from 1972 until 1975.

—In U.S. history, a declaration of war has usually preceded, not followed, a draft. World War II was an exception, of course, but the world was at war in 1940 when the U.S. moved toward increased readiness with the draft. After the war, when the world situation had been so drastically altered, it was determined that this country needed to maintain peacetime armed forces at unprecedented high levels — and that such forces could only be maintained with the impetus of a draft. The post-war draft was maintained until 1972 — a period of some 26 years, of which 16 were years of peace.

ASSERTION: "Registration is meaningless unless you include classification and examination."

FACT: Classification and examination are a "statement" of an individual's availability for the draft, at the time he is about to be drafted. It is pointless to undertake these steps at any other time, because physical and personal conditions change over time, and would have to be repeated.

For example, a physical exam is only good for one year before it must be up-dated. To classify and examine one year group, and keep the data current, would cost $200 million per year and would not improve the capability of Selective Service to handle rapid inductions in an emergency. Why not: Because we can already determine from various demographic data the general percentage of the population which will not be available for military service because of physical, mental and personal reasons.

The size of the pool of registrants is already based on that knowledge. We don't need to know the specific status of a given individual until he is actually called for induction — and since there are no immediate plans to draft anyone, there is little need to incur the additional expense.

ASSERTION: "A draft would not solve most of the problems which face the all-volunteer forces today — such as the shortage of mid-career, trained non-commissioned officers."

FACT: That's true — which just supports our position that a return to registration is not necessarily a return to the draft. We view registration as a back-up to our peacetime armed forces, to be used in case of emergency. If the Congress, in its collective judgment, wanted to bring back a peacetime draft, it would make absolutely no difference whether or not we had undertaken advance registration, since time would not be a critical factor. However, should the draft ever be needed in time of emergency, the time saved by advance registration could be very critical indeed.

ASSERTION: "The draft unfairly penalizes racial and economic minorities."

FACT: In the past, that was true — but major reforms instituted by the Congress in 1971 eliminated that bias. There are no more occupational, family or student deferments (a student would be granted a "postponement" only until the end of the semester — or, if a senior, until the end of the senior year).

There are no more local "quotas" which must be met each month by a draft board; there would be, instead, a national, random lottery based on the date-of-birth. The theory under which any future draft would operate, is to have the broadest possible pool of eligible men with limited exemptions (basically, for hardship and conscientious objection) and absolutely random selection.

ASSERTION: Selective service planning is highly classified; they won't discuss those plans, and peace groups have to invoke the "Freedom of Information Act" to obtain any information at all.

FACT: There is nothing that selective service today can — or should — do which is not fully open to public scrutiny. On Dec. 4, 1980, proposed new selective service regulations were published in the Federal Register, for public comment. On Dec. 10, 1980, selective service released the details of a "concept paper" for an alternative service program for conscientious objectors and began circulating copies of that paper for public comment. On Dec. 12, 1980, selective service submitted, for publication in the Federal Register, the details of a new consumer affairs program.

Selective service has prepared and distributed background fact sheets to all newspapers, and to each radio and television station in the United States. Each individual, at the time of registration, is given a brochure which clearly outlines his rights and responsibilities under the law. Selective service representatives accept every possible invitation for interviews, public forums, panel discussions, or talk shows.

Selective service handles as many as 400 telephone calls a day, and has provided individual replies to more than 100,000 written inquiries in the past few months. If any group of individual continues to be confused about the plans, programs or policies of the selective service system, it may be because they have not made inquiry of the selective service system.

ASSERTION: "The 3,000,000 men and women in the armed forces and the reserves are certainly capable of handling any sort of problem without a draft."

FACT: They are capable of handling a certain level of combat for a certain period of time — beyond which they would need augmentation. That is the purpose of the standby selective service. While 3,000,000 may seem like a very large number, you should remember that during World War II, 16,000,000 men and women saw duty in our armed forces — and the nation's population was only 60 per cent of what it is today.

ASSERTION: In both World Wars I and II, millions of men registered in a single day — and that was before computers. We could certainly do as well or better in any future war, so why bother with advance registration?

FACT: The act of registration itself takes very little time — with or without "computers." The critical elements which are overlooked in the assertion involve the time required to set up the registration and the time required to process the information so that actual inductions can begin.

In both World Wars, it took the nation seven months to go from planning for registration through the first 100,000 inductions. In the future, because of the advance registration (and other improvements, including the use of "computers") we could reach that same 100,000 point in less than one month.

ASSERTION: "If the next war is a major war, it will almost certainly be nuclear and be over in a couple of weeks — much too quickly for draftees to have any impact."

FACT: The crystal ball is very cloudy; no one truly knows what will be the nature of the "next war." Registration, against an unknown future, is just a matter of prudent planning.

ASSERTION: "You don't buy a hunting rifle unless you intend to use it; you don't start up draft registration unless you intend to start up the draft."

FACT: Selective service would rather use the analogy of a man who buys a life insurance policy: he certainly hopes that he won't have to use it at any time.

FOOD PRICES could be affected by a comparatively small U.S. corn crop in 1980. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture in its latest crop report, corn production this year is 17 percent below 1979 levels. As a result of drought conditions throughout the Midwest—where most corn is grown—the projected harvest is 6.46 billion bushels, down 1.3 billion bushels from 1979. The USDA also predicts a 32 percent decline in grain sorghum production, an 18 percent decrease in feed grain production and a 22 percent decline in the soybean crop. This, in addition to the worldwide grain shortage, contributes to an expected rise in both grain and livestock prices.

Aliens Must Report Address In January

Gerald L. Coyle, district director of the immigration and naturalization service, St. Paul, stated that the law requires all aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, to report their addresses during the month of January. Diplomats and those persons accredited to certain international organizations are not required to make this report.

Forms I-53, the card with which to report, may be obtained from any post office or any office of the immigration and naturalization service. After filling it out, place a postage stamp on the reverse of this card and drop the card in any mail box. Parents or guardians of alien children under the age of 14 are required to submit address reports for such children.

Social security numbers should be shown on the registration card. Aliens and employers are advised that the possession of a social security card does not entitle aliens to work in the United States. Only aliens admitted for permanent residence or certain classes of nonresident aliens authorized to so do by the immigration and naturalization service may take employment. Violators of this restriction are subject to certain penalties.

Coyle urges all aliens to comply with the reporting requirements as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

Various Night Courses To Be Given At UND

Center for teaching and learning at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks will be offering a number of late afternoon and evening courses in education for the benefit of teachers and administrators within driving distance of Grand Forks.

Registration for those wishing to enroll in courses in early childhood education, educational administration, elementary education, foundations of education, secondary education, special education and business and vocational education, will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, January 10 in room 414 of Twamley hall on the university campus.

Graduate tuition is $32 per semester credit for residents, $64 per credit for non-residents. A reciprocity agreement between Minnesota and North Dakota allows Minnesota residents to attend UND and to pay resident tuition. Reciprocity forms may be obtained from the office of admissions and records at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, ND 58202.

Teachers of administrators who were not registered this past fall semester, or who have never registered in the graduate school, should contact the graduate school (777-2784) as soon as possible to fill out the necessary registration forms. This must be done prior to receiving a registration packet.

A complete course listing is available by contacting the dean's office in the Center for Teaching and Learning, 777-2674.

Grove On NDSU Dean's List

Brian Grove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verdeen Grove of Thief River Falls, was included in the fall dean's list at North Dakota state university. Grove's major was agricultural education.

January 30 is an open day.

Men Born In '62 To Register January 5-10

Selective service registration for men born in 1962 will take place during the week of January 5, 1981. Men born in 1963 (and later) should register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

This is a continuation of the program begun last summer, whereby men born in 1960 and 1961 visited post offices across the nation to fill in the registration form.

The purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses from which selective service could draw in an emergency. According to Dr. Bernard D. Rostker, director of the selective service system: "Registration directly improves our capability to respond. . . actually reducing lead time by at least four weeks. We think that provides a significant advantage, especially when matched with the very low cost of the registration effort. The direct costs of registration are less than $2 per registrant."

By way of background, one of the basic underlying assumptions of the all-volunteer force concept was that the country should always maintain a stand-by selective service, with an on-going system of registration. When the draft was ended in 1972, registration was in fact continued until suspended in 1975. Over the next few years, the capabilities of selective service steadily declined to an unacceptable level, prompting a total revitalization which began in November 1979.

This program — of which registration is a part — is designed to return the selective service system to the readiness level required for an emergency back-up to our peace time volunteer armed forces. Other actions underway include the development of greatly improved computer support, and the development of a training program for potential draft board members.

Who Must Register? — Male citizens and aliens residing in the United States born in 1960, 1961 or 1962 except those on student or similar visas or who are members of trade or diplomatic missions, the men already serving on active duty with the armed forces. Members of reserve components not on active duty must register. Men born in 1963 and later years will be required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

When? — Men born in 1962: during the week of January 5. To help avoid lines, individuals are encouraged to register on a day of the week keyed to the month of birth: on Monday, January 5, for those born in January, February and March; on Tuesday, January 6, for those born in April, May and June; on Wednesday, January 7, for those born in July, August and September; and on Thursday, January 8, for those born in October, November and December. Friday and Saturday may be used as "make-up" days for those who are unable to register on the suggested day.

Men born in 1963: Within 30 days of their 18th birthdays. Men born in 1960 and 1961 should already have registered this year; those who have not are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

Where? At any of more than 34,500 U.S. post offices throughout the nation, or at embassies or consular offices overseas.

Volume 69 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, December 31, 1980 Number 103

"A CLOSE FAMILY" is the way LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer describes his household. His wife is the former Carol Rambeck, granddaughter of the late Arthur and Julia Rambeck. Their children are five-year-old Jenny and three-year-old Tom. The entire family will soon be moving to St. Paul where they have rented an apartment within three blocks of the capitol where LeRoy will begin his freshman term as a state representative. They plan to come home to their Pennington county farm on weekends to meet with constituents and handle necessary farm business.

Stumpf Prepares For His First Legislative Session

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

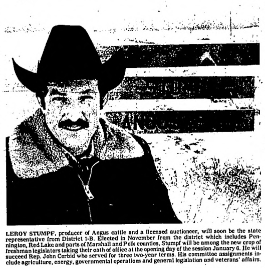
"I'm not afraid to admit that I'm greener than a June pasture when it comes to legislative experience," avowed representative-elect LeRoy Stumpf of rural Plummer. "But I was assigned to four committees instead of the usual three because the Speaker of the House said he heard I liked to work. That should count for something."

Seated off-and-on at the dining room table of the two-story Stumpf house about 15 miles southeast of Thief River Falls, LeRoy was dividing his time among this interviewer, the telephone, a man who arrived to haul some bales and a three-year-old son intent on provoking his five-year-old sister.

Earning an "A" in diplomacy, he hung up the phone, dispatched his wife to show the bale hauler where the bales were, convinced his restless son to ride along with his wife, poured two more cups of coffee and returned to the interview.

"I asked for the agriculture committee appointment," he said. "There probably isn't a more important area of legislative work to this district than agriculture. I was very pleased to get that appointment, and I'm happy with the others — energy, governmental operations and general legislation and veterans' affairs."

It will be a full work load for a first term representative. A Pennington county farmer since 1973, carving a farm operation out of brush so thick he got lost on his own land, Stumpf is accustomed to work. He was elected in November to succeed Rep. John Corbid, also a DFL legislator, surviving endorsement, primary and general election challenges along the way. He defeated Jim Kremer of Thief River Falls at the endorsing convention and in the September primary, and Pennington county farmer Clyde Christensen in the general election.



LEROY STUMPF, producer of Angus cattle and a licensed auctioneer, will soon be the state representative from District 1-B. Elected in November from the district which includes Pennington, Red Lake and parts of Marshall and Polk counties, Stumpf will be among the new crop of freshman legislators taking their oath of office at the opening day of the session January 6. He will succeed Rep. John Corbid who served for three two-year terms. His committee assignments include agriculture, energy, governmental operations and general legislation and veterans' affairs.

"I guess foreign investment in agriculture is one of my main concerns in the area of agriculture," he said. "I think there have to be more restrictions on foreign ownership and control of farm land. And the whole farm economy in general is an area where a whole lot of time and energy will have to be given this session."

Representative - elect Stumpf said he believes he has better prepared himself for the forthcoming session through two advance actions. First, he conducted public input meetings at Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, Oklee, Warren and Oslo following his election. Second, he distributed a large number of questionnaires to residents of the district and has received a good response on those.

During the legislative session he plans to continue the public input meetings whenever time and circumstances permit. "I like to meet and work with people," he said. "I get nervous at some public meetings if I don't think I have prepared the way I should. But I find that sitting down with people and talking things out is the best way to go. There's usually some area of agreement that can be found if we work at it."

Concerns expressed to him prior to the session have included transportation and the problem funding cuts have created for rural roads; education and the difficulties faced by rural districts in providing equitable programs for their students; welfare and public disillusionment over costs and abuses of programs. Workmen's compensation difficulties are another area where he expects much legislative attention to be focused this session.

"I'm not naive enough to think I can go to St. Paul and bring about any major changes by myself," he said. "I recognize that there will have to be some trade-offs made to accomplish things that are best for this district

Churches Plan Services For New Year's Eve

Observance of the passing of the old year and beginning of the new will take place at a number of Thief River Falls area churches tonight. As reported to the Times, the special events are as follows:

Evangelical Covenant church, Evangelical Free church and First Baptist church will combine for New Year's eve services at 7:30 p.m. today. Following the service, senior high young people from the three congregations and other young people who may wish to participate will play broomball from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m., rollerskate from midnight to 2 a.m. and then be provided with a movie.

At Trinity Lutheran church a senior league New Year's party will be conducted beginning at 9 p.m.

St. John Lutheran church has a 7:30 p.m. New Year's eve worship service scheduled with Holy Communion as part of the service.

Watch night service will be held tonight from 9 p.m. to midnight at the Bible Baptist church.

St. Bernard's Catholic church will have masses at 4 and 6 p.m. tonight and at 8:15, 10 and 11:30 a.m. on Thursday.

Our Saviour's Free Lutheran church plans a watch night service beginning at 8 p.m. A children's film will be shown at 8 p.m., followed by the showing of a film entitled "Flying High". Families are asked to bring cookies or bars for a fellowship hour following the films.

At Faith Lutheran Brethren church a 7:30 p.m. evening service with two gospel films to be shown will follow a 6 p.m. church supper at Florence's cafe.

Duluth Man Is Suspect In Lon's Robbery

Joint effort by Dennis Kiesow, Thief River Falls police officer, and investigators from the Pennington county sheriff's office and the Minnesota Crime Bureau led to the arrest of a Duluth man suspected of taking approximately $1,000 from Lon's Restaurant and Pub in Thief River Falls Monday evening.

Law enforcement center received a call at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday from Lon Gobell of Lon's concerning someone who had apparently broken into the restaurant and had taken the previous night's proceeds.

Bartender on duty at Lon's Monday evening indicated that when he was locking up he had seen movement in the building, but after searching, could find nothing.

Information received from the bartender and another witness indicated that the suspect had been seen in the bar Monday evening, but they did not recall seeing him leave.

Upon further investigation, Dennis William Barlau, 25, of Duluth was found at the Best Western Motel at 11:30 a.m. yesterday. Through contact with him, his car was seized and searched and the cash register tray and money boxes from Lon's were found. Approximately $1,000 was found at the Best Western by the management and brought to the Law Enforcement center.

Charges are pending against Barlau who is in the custody of the Law Enforcement Center. Official charges are expected from the county attorney later today.

City Budget For '81 Up $549,651

Increase of budgeted expenditures by $549,651 or 10.8 per cent over the 1980 budget will result in the necessity of an increased total tax levy for the city of Thief River Falls of more than $231,000 or 36.5 per cent in 1981, according to the 1980-81 budget comparison prepared by Jerry Wigness, city clerk-treasurer.

The expenditure budget is projected at $7,682,419 — up from the 1980 figure of $6,932,768 and the first time city spending has passed the $7 million mark. Revenues are projected to increase 9.2 per cent from $7,207,954 in 1980 to $7,869,683. While the 1980 budget was projected to provide an estimated $275,186 in revenue over expenses, the 1981 budget allows for a cushion of only $187,264.

Taxes levied in the city are expected to produce $865,000 in 1981 as compared with $633,601 a year ago. General fund revenue is expected to decline to $869,253 from last year's budgeted figure of $902,525. Enterprise fund revenue (including city operated utilities, liquor store and airport) is expected to increase to $5,436,909 from $5,078,700. Miscellaneous fund revenue is nearly static at $95,000 while debt service and special assessment revenue is projected at $47,800 in 1981, up slightly from $392,702 in 1980.

Operation expense, capital outlay and debt service and special assessment are all areas where increased expenditures are anticipated. Operation budget expense is up from $5,451,777 in 1980 to $6,111,189 for 1981. Capital outlay expense climbed from $633,820 to $688,355 while debt service and special assessment advanced from $847,171 in 1980 to $882,875 in 1981.

Several of the city departments are projected to produce revenue slightly in excess of expenditures. Balances projected for 1981 are $3,319 in the general fund, $6,575 in the water department, $200,000 in the electric department, $6,173 in the sanitation department and $3,944 in the police relief association.

Deficits are expected in the wastewater department ($28,645) and the airport ($4,102).

Not included in the above figures are funds for the

City Conducts Last 1980 Meet

City council members resolved those items yet remaining from 1980 during their short adjourned regular meeting conducted last evening.

First item approved was the issuance of 1981 licenses in Thief River Falls including those for cigarettes, auctioneers, plumbers, gambling, Bingo, 3.2 on and off sale, junk dealers and taxi.

In building committee recommendations, alderman J. J. Womack discussed briefly the meeting December 26 between the building and I-500 committees concerning the use of the city auditorium for drivers and race officials.

"Following considerable discussion," alderman Womack said, "we decided that it would be the I-500 committee's responsibility to furnish four to six men after the briefing to clean the auditorium floor, and that "no smoking" be strongly enforced within the auditorium."

Following alderman Womack's statements, it was resolved that the upstairs of the city auditorium would be made available January 24 from 3 to 6 p.m. for the driver's briefing with the stipulation that "No Smoking" be in force in the auditorium; and that the council room be made available for use by the race officials, if needed, between 3 and 7 p.m.

Bryl Is Helped By Mechanical Friend

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

A CLOSE COMPANION of any engineering student is the calculator, according to Marilyn (Kiesow) Bryl, a North Dakota state university student who will graduate this May with a degree in mechanical engineering.

Marilyn (Kiesow) Bryl scratched her head and paused momentarily as she tried to recall, in order, the names of her brothers and sisters.

"There's 12 of us in the family counting my parents. I'm the oldest of the bunch," she said, putting her interest in mathematics to use.

There is Laurie, who is attending North Dakota state university majoring in animal science; Judy, who attends the University of Minnesota in Crookston and is majoring in sales management; Mary Jo, Bruce and Ronald, who all attend Goodridge high school; Betty Jo, Lynn and Jacki, who all attend Goodridge grade school; and Kristi, who is five months old.

"I think a large family is great," said Marilyn, a former Goodridge resident. "We wouldn't have the good times we do without all of them. And I think the younger ones have learned to get along better with others coming from a large family."

Marilyn, who was married last summer to Ron Bryl, also of Goodridge, will graduate this May from North Dakota state university as a mechanical engineer. Her family and her husband, she said, have no complaints with her choice of careers.

Looking Back At 1980 . . . A Review Of Area Events

Stacked in deserted alleys following another Christmas past are over-stuffed bags of Christmas remnants which once held special Christmas moments . . . the empty "Baby Cry and Dry" box . . . the "Chattanooga Choo Choo" train set . . . the "Electronic Learning Machine" . . . and all the other games that will be played and replayed until interest wanes and they are tucked into the back of the closet to await recall at a time when they seem new again.

A look at those special gifts, now all opened and emptied, remind us of that Christmas eve or Christmas day, gathered around the glimmering Christmas tree with families and friends, sharing those special feelings that can only be associated with the spirit of Christmas.

We remember the last minute shopping trips, the final bow put on our last carefully wrapped package, and the anticipation of gazing at a tree surrounded by unopened gifts, wondering what could be inside each one.

Like the anticipation surrounding unopened gifts, we are faced with anticipation as we approach another year, 1981, for Christmas holidays also mean that we have reached the final page on our calendars.

Following is a monthly chronology of items that occurred during the first four months of 1980 to help readers remember their pasts, to stir up in our minds those events that we can now only talk about as "was" rather than "is" or "will be." Events of other months will be printed in succeeding issues of the Times.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

RALPH ENGELSTAD and his wife Betty, are displaying the rustic clock and plaque presented to them for hosting the 1948 Lincoln high school class reunion held December 5-7 at the Imperial Palace at Las Vegas, Nev. Fifty-four classmates attended. Engelstad was a member of the class.

Ralph Engelstad Hosts 1948 LHS Class Reunion

Members of Lincoln high school class of 1948 held their 32nd class reunion recently at Las Vegas, Nev., at the Imperial Palace, a hotel-casino owned by their classmate Ralph Engelstad. Fifty-four classmates and their spouses, a total of 83, were Engelstad's guests during the three day stay. Eight of the classmates had not attended previous reunions. Many attractions were available for their enjoyment.

The formal reunion activities began Friday evening, December 5, with a cocktail hour. To create a mood, reminiscent of Thief River Falls, a large TRF ice sculpture, made with a chain saw, graced the hors d-oeuvre table.

A banquet followed with Engelstad, his wife, Betty; daughter, Chris; his mother Madelyn Engelstad; sisters Colleen Engelstad and Phyllis Dooley; his brother, Richard Engelstad, and secretary Pat Tausinga, at the head table. A short program was given: Brief talks were given by Delina Peterson Becker, Marjorie Swanson Deeble, Alfred Engelstad and Maynard Wedul. Several momentos were also presented to the host in appreciation for his generousity in hosting the reunion.

The evening concluded with the entire group as the Engelstad's guests at the "Bravo Vegas" show at the Imperial Palance theatre.

The following evening, the group was again hosted to a cocktail party and shows at the Tropicanna, Caesar's palace, and other places of interest.

Those attending from Thief River Falls were Mr. and Mrs. Don (Joan DuChamp) Engelstad, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold (Jakki Shetler) Engelstad, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Koop, Barbara (Kays) Lendobeja, Dan Helle, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Wedul, Mr. and Mrs. Al (Delores Roese) Steenerson, Brian Walker and Gerald Nelson.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Aase, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Evelyn Bothman) Mundinger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Jane Breznay) Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Cabot, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Shirley Dalager) Westacott, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Erickson, Mrs. Muriel (Geving) Dageberg and Wayne Gothe;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Harley (Jeanette Grinde) Wagner, Mrs. Mavis (Guttu) Pfeiffer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Lillian Hajostek) Jorgensen, Jerald Hedlund, Allan Hitterdahl, Mr. and Mrs. John (Evangelyn Iverson) Bous, and Mr. and Mrs. Connie (Patricia Jackson) Swanson;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jensen, Milo Kadrlik, Mrs. Ardith (Kaisler) Lewon, Mrs. Jeannette (Lager) Hubbard, Mrs. Alice (Lind) Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Derwood (Phyllis Steen) Lund, Mr. and Mrs. Casper (Frances Marquette) Johnshoy, Robert Martinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Clarice Nelson) Orthman, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Overby, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl (Katherine Perreault) Sciacca;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ranum, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rafteseth, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Ronholm, Mrs. Olive (St Martin) Stuyck, Mr. and Mrs. Donald (Jean Sandberg) Johansen, Mrs. Wanda Scholin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Maxine Swanson) Engle, Mrs. Norma (Torgerson) Kavanough, Mr. and Mrs. Morris (Delores Vad) Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Darlene Wikert) Phillips, Mrs. Arlene (Williams) Mickley and Mrs. Joyce (Williams) Apostle.

Also present were Sibel Torgerson Heath, a member of the class of 1949, and her husband, Merlin; Bill Werstlien, a member of the class of 1941, and Frank Barzen of Las Vegas, and formerly of Thief River Falls.

Wigness And Williams Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wigness, Thief River Falls, announce the engagment of their daughter, Kim Marie, to Douglas R. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, also of Thief River Falls.

A graduate of the University of North Dakota, Miss Wigness received a Bachelor's degree in 1980. She is now completing her master's degree in Communication Disorders at the University of North Dakota.

Williams received his Bachelor's degree in Natural Science in 1979 from the University of North Dakota and is presently enrolled in the University of Minnesota school of Dentistry.

Kathryn Lee-Terry Thorp Vows Spoken At Oklee

Miss Kathryn Elaine Lee and Terry Lee Thorp exchanged marriage vows recently at 7:00 p.m., ceremony at the Zion Lutheran church in Oklee.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lee of Oklee and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thorp of Crookston.

Rev. Charles L. Gunderson officiated at the ceremony which included the unity candle lighting service and Holy Communion. Organist Mrs. Julie Aanenson played "Largo" and "Trumpet Voluntary" in D Major for the processional and also accompanied Guy Stewart as he sang, "Wedding Song," "Beginning Today," and "The Lord's Prayer." Julie Gieski sang, "Song of Ruth," "I Cor. 13," and "My Tribute." Reading scripture was Mickey Lee, Robinsdale, a brother of the bride. Acolytes were Todd and Troy Vick, cousins of the groom. Scott Lee, a cousin of the bride, distributed the wedding programs.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a white gown featuring a molded bodice with a Chantilly lace overlay embroidered with pearls. Matching lace outlined the Queen Anne neckline, formed the cuffs on her bishop sleeves, and complemented the crystal pleating that graced the front of her skirt. Attached at the keyhole back was a cathedral length train of cascading Chantilly lace. Her, lace-edged, walking-length veil fell from a Juliet headpiece of crystal pleating, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried her mother's wedding Bible, covered with satin and lace and topped with an arrangement of white, copper and blue silk flowers and cascading stephanotis tied with white ribbon. For something old, she wore her Grandmother Bjelland's engagment ring. Her gold cross pendant was a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Gary Lee, Oklee, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Cindy Lee, Mahnomen, cousin of the bride; Naomi Thorp, Crookston, sister of the groom and Mrs. Susan Kolstoe, Grand Forks, N.D., a friend of the bride. Their gowns of a blue and copper silesta knit, styled with halter tops and pleated skirts, were worn with capelets of matching embossed fabric. At the high ruffled neckline, they wore silver heart pendants, a gift from the bride. Each carried a bouquet of copper, blue and cream silk flowers, accented with babies' breath.

Maria Austad, Oklee, a friend of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a long white gown with a ruffled bodice. She carried a white basket filled with silk flowers, made by Sue Schroeder, a friend of the couple, who made all the silk flowers at the wedding.

Lisa McDonald, Minneapolis, a friend of the bride, was personal attendant.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with a copper rose boutonniere. His best man, Scott Thorp of Wadena, a brother; his groomsmen: Mark Lee, Strandquist, brother of the bride; Winston Johnson, Crookston and Tom Leach, Grand Forks, N.D., friends; and the ushers: Gary and David Lee, Oklee, brothers of the bride, all wore camel colored tuxedos with chocolate brown trim. Their boutonnieres were copper-colored miniature carnations.

Wearing a similar boutonniere on his chocolate brown suit was the ringbearer, Jeremy Lee, Oklee, a newphew of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lee wore a star-fire crepe gown fashioned with a blouson bodice and a full flowing skirt. At the neckline, she wore a chain necklace. She carried the candle which the bride used in lighting the unity candle. A similar candle, used by the groom, was carried by his mother, who was attired in a sleeveless cream-colored, floor-length gown topped by a matching jacket.

Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Carl Bjelland and Herman Lee, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Charles Anderson, grandmother of the groom; Adam Lee, newphew of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lee, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Norman Nelson, who were host and hostess at the reception that followed in the church parlors.

Serving the punch at the reception were Gayle Syverson, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Nancy Thorp, sister-in-law of the groom. Nancy Lee, cousin of the bride, cut the Norwegian wedding cake, made by Connie Kriel. Centering the serving table was a four-tiered wedding cake, made by Ardith Lerohl. It was cut and served by Mrs. Helen Lee and Mrs. Judy Vick, aunts of the bride and groom. Mrs. Mildred Lovin and Mrs. Bonnie Anderson, also aunts of the bride and groom, poured the coffee.

At the guest book was Mrs. Connie Kriel, a friend of the bride. Kimm Larson and Kathy Larson, friends of the bride, were at the gift table. Gift bearers were Jason Hanson and Mike Biermaier, friends of the groom.

Monica Proulx and Ragina Blees, pinned the flowers. Jason Aanenson, distributed the thank-you scrolls, Kris and Kari Larson, friends of the bride, and Cindy and Mary such, cousins of the groom, and Lorraine Brown served as waitresses. Assisting in the kitchen were Irene Desselier, Lily Cantwell and Lucille Swanson. The special rosettes served at the wedding were made by the Larson Brothers.

The evening prior to the wedding, the groom's dinner was served at the Third Base at Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorp are now making their home at Crookston where both are employed at Riverview hospital. The groom is also enrolled in the Advanced Degree Nursing program in Thief River Falls. Photo, Don Nordlund and Mickey Lee

Art Andersons Honored On Their 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Art L. Anderson of Thief River Falls were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 28, at the Doug Anderson home at Oslo.

The party was hosted by the couple's children, Duane Anderson, Doug Anderson and Gail Anderson-Nelson.

A short program was presented by Gail Anderson-Nelson and the grandchildren Gerri and Terry Anderson. The buffet luncheon that followed featured a three-tiered anniversary cake decorated with yellow roses and gold leaves.

Relatives attending were from Mannford, Okla; Grand Forks, N.D., Thief River Falls, Oslo, Newfolden, Viking, Warren, Crookston and East Grand Forks.

Among the congratulatory letters received were messages from President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter, Governor Al Quie of Minnesota and Governor George Nigh of Oklahoma.

The Andersons were married Dec. 21, 1930 at Warren. They have three children and three grandchildren.

Bryl Is Helped By Mechanical Companion

agree," Marilyn said in a Times interview Monday. "No one I knew was going into it."

Marilyn became interested in this line of work as a result of her scores on standarized tests given in school, she said. "I was always good in science and math," she modestly admitted—two necessities for a mechanical engineer ("Those and the calculator," she smiled). Marilyn also had a physics teacher in high school who had been a mechanical engineer.

"He was the only person I knew who had been in a field like that. When you go to a small school, there are so many fields you don't hear about so you don't understand them."

Although classes were difficult at NDSU at first, they had become "challenging," and Marilyn has come to "really like" her choice of fields, she said.

Classes associated with engineering, besides the social sciences and humanities to make "well rounded" students, according to Marilyn, include calculus, chemistry, physics and basic engineering courses. "The first two years are the basics," she said. "After those two years, classes are specialized to pertain to the field the student chooses."

"It was harder than I expected," Marilyn admitted. "I kept telling myself I could make it through anything." With only about five months to go, she feels she is past the most difficult part of it.

"You find out a lot of the classes depend on the teacher," she said.

One of her most difficult classes, dynamics, had a high drop-out rate, she said. "By the end of the course, there were four students left out of 40!" But the drop-out rate is usually half with the more difficult classes, she said.

Engineering students can complete their classes in four years by taking 18 to 19 credits per quarter, allowing them to earn their professional degrees, she said. Students are interviewed on campus at NDSU with visits arranged by the school's job placement office. If the interview is successful, a plant trip is arranged between the student and the engineering company.

Marilyn has been interviewing with various companies, noting that there is a demand for mechanical and electrical engineers in the country. She is presently looking at the technical sales and marketing services aspect of the engineering field, which focuses on the design aspect of products. "There is such a variety of fields you can go into," she stressed.

She is interested in those aspects of the field that apply more to life. And, she was given the opportunity to apply this interest while working on a solar energy design project this year. Each student is required as a junior to decide upon a senior design project while attending school.

"With the shortage of fuel today, we have to do something," she agreed.

She is also interested in heating, ventilation and air conditioning processes in the field. Hers is the first graduating class to study the Polymers and Coating option of the field, which examines various paints used in things such as planes or tractors. "Mechanical engineering is really an expending field," she said.

Marilyn, in this changing world of changing roles, has selected a non-traditional role for her future. "There aren't many women in the field," she said. "But women are accepted into it because they can do well in it. They're not looked down upon by the male students. Women have just as much right as men to go into engineering."

Especially for those selecting non-traditional roles for their futures, there is an availability of more money, she said. That encourages more women to go into those fields.

"Lots of students start out thinking they'll make a lot of money in the field. But if you don't enjoy the work you won't make it through. You have to like math and science," she said.

Marilyn admitted that it gets "tougher" if you're an engineering student and are married. "But you just have to know how to organize your time," she said. "You have to spend so much time on studying and so much time at home."

Five hours a night are not unusual study periods for an engineering student. Choosing that field means a lot of lab work and a lot of work spent out of the classroom. The majority of problems that engineering students are taught to solve are story problems.

"Engineering teaches you to organize the problems in your head so you can solve them," she said.

Various divisions of engineering that people don't seem to realize exist, according to Marilyn, include chemical, civil (roads, sewers, structures), electrical (computers, circuits), industrial (plant layout) and mechanical, which deals with power companies and various energy forms.

Marilyn is not yet sure where her job will take her from the Bryl's present home in Fargo. Because her husband is self-employed, the move will be made easier. Although there is a demand in industry a lot depends upon the economy, she admitted.

Marilyn's unique family seems to have created a unique person of her. All of the Kiesows were home for Christmas. "We're usually all home for the holidays," she said. "We take turns opening gifts on Christmas with the youngest going first. After a while it gets a little noisy. Especially this year when one of the girls got a drum set!"

Marilyn's father, Lawrence, is a farmer at Goodridge. Her mother, Irene, without question, has her hands full.

"At Thanksgiving Mom decided as long as she was cooking for the bunch of us she may as well cook for a few more. So we had some of our neighbors over."

All of the Kiesow children, except the youngest, Kristi, shared on Ron and Marilyn's wedding celebration. That made the ceremony special.

Marilyn has become acquainted with a unique lifestyle. As one of 10 children, she has been taught the art of patience, endurance and has developed a positive attitude — necessary ingredients in her personal life following her recent marriage and for the career she has chosen.

City Budget For 1981 Up By $549,651

Minnesota housing finance agency and the federal housing and urban development (HUD). Those funds were not budgeted in 1980. For 1981 they are budgeted for a total of $85,465.

Overall effect of the city budget on taxes paid by owners of residential, commercial and industrial properties for 1981 is expected to be minimal, according to Roger DeLap, assistant city clerk, in relation to other changes being made in 1981 taxation procedures.

Change in valuations from assessed value to market value of properties, overall increase in valuation for the city from about $20 million to $28 million, valuation adjustments for commercial properties in particular and other factors are all expected to have a greater effect on the tax picture.

DeLap also noted that the city for many years has utilized its municipal utilities to subsidize its general fund. While it will continue to do so, there is an effort by the council to keep a closer watch on rising utilities rates and use the assessment basis to more fairly acquire revenue needed for city operations.

From the taxpayer standpoint, higher city tax assessments should be preferable to higher utilities rates since the taxes are a deductible item for income tax purposes while utilities bills are not.

DeLap stated that copies of the complete city budget may be seen at the city clerk-treasurer's office in the city auditorium and that anyone interested is welcome to inspect them.

City Conducts Last Meeting Of 1980 Year

Matter of bids on Group Health Insurance and Term Insurance which opened at 2 p.m. yesterday was returned to the insurance committee for review with a report back to the city council at their next regular meeting January 13.

Jack Quinlivan, city planner, presented council members with a list of capital improvement programs that may be funded through the Midwest Minnesota Community Development Corporation of Detroit Lakes.

It was noted that Thief River Falls has been selected as a community to receive low interest or no interest loans as "seed monies" for the improvement programs.

List included the following programs (not in order of greatest priority) (1) Highway 59 frontage roads; (2) bridge at Barzen and Greenwood; (3) extend Greenwood from Pennington to Kendall; (4) begin implementing northeast drainage study; (5) acquire right-of-way for Sherwood Bridge; (6) extend skyway system across LaBree; (7) blacktop Greenwood from Highway 59 to Spruce; (8) handicap access; (9) replacement of broken sidewalks; (10) Greenwood street bridge; (11) road improvement from Greenwood north on Barzen to First street; (12) acquisition of Web Maves property for elderly; (13) initiate city-wide capital improvements program; and (14) solid waste and hydro feasibility studies.

Following the introduction of a resolution by alderman Ambrose Wysoski, the presentation of the list was accepted allowing Quinlivan to forward the list to the Midwest Community Development Corporation.

Two ordinances recommended by the utilities commission were approved by council. First ordinance provides for electrical circuits to heat or charge motor vehicle components in a new or converted construction to be subject to the load management system. Purpose, it was stated, is to control periods when engine heaters and electric batteries are in operation. Second ordinance amended the electrical service rate for security lighting in Thief River Falls.

First 1981 city council meeting will be conducted January 13 in the council chambers of the city auditorium.

Walfred Olson Services Held At Silverton

Funeral services for Walfred R. Olson, 58, of rural Thief River Falls, were held today (Wednesday) at 2:00 p.m., at the Silverton Lutheran church. Olson, a resident of Agder township, Marshall county, died unexpectedly on Saturday evening at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Duaine Espeseth officiated at the services. Mrs. Larry Gustafson was the organist and Van Swanson, the soloist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Glenn Knutson, Jarvis Olson, Albert Cleven, Donovan Berggren, Otto Rehm and Michael Kaushagen.

Walfred Reynold Olson was born Jan. 19, 1922 at Grygla to Carl and Anna Evans Olson, now deceased. At the age of six years, he moved with the family to Thief River Falls. He attended school and grew to manhood in this community and was confirmed at Silver Creek Lutheran church.

On Nov. 6, 1954, he was married at Silverton Lutheran church to Jennie Kaushagen. Since their marriage, they have lived in Agder township.

Olson had been employed by Arctic Enterprises since 1962 and had the distinction of having the most seniority. He was a member of the Eagles lodge for the past 35 years, and for many years had played the accordion in local orchestras.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter: Darlene Olson, Warren; a son, Duane Olson, Thief River Falls; and two granddaughters.

Also surviving are three borthers: Olaf, Arvid and Norman Olson, all of Thief River Falls; seven sisters: Mrs. Gladys Olson and Mrs. Ella Knutson, both of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Hilda Cleven, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Selma Olstad, Bemidji; Mrs. Frank (Corinne) Freitag, Minneapolis; Mrs. Clarence (Evelyn) Joppru, Ely; and Mrs. James (Genevieve) Jarshaw of Newfolden, and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his twin brother, Waldemar.

Services Held At Fargo For Robert L. Asp

Funeral services for Viking ship builder Robert L. Asp, 57, of 903 First Street South, Moorhead, were held Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Bethel Evangelical Free church in Fargo, N.D. Asp, who hoped to sail to Norway in 1982 in the replica Viking ship "Hjemkomst", which he built in a potato warehouse in Hawley, died early Saturday morning. He had been ill for several years with leukemia.

According to the family, the ship still is scheduled to make the trip to Norway.

Asp completed his ship last summer and transported it to Duluth. It was launched in Lake Superior and he and several family members, together with a potential crew, familiarized themselves with the 76½-foot-long ship by sailing it a number of times in the Duluth area. The original plan was to take the "Hjemkomst," which is Norwegian for "Homecoming," down the Great Lakes to the St. Lawrence River next summer and then sail to Norway in the summer of 1982 with a summer of 1982 with a volunteer crew. Asp's son Tom said that present plans are to keep the ship at Lake Superior next summer and then the crew will attempt to make the trip from there to Norway in 1982. He said he will be among those aboard.

At the time of his death, Asp was a counselor at North Junior high school in Moorhead. Due to his illness, he was on long-term disability leave most of this school year.

Rev. Merle Christensen officiated at the funeral services. Burial will be in the spring at Riverside cemetery in Moorhead with the Korsmo Funeral Service, Moorhead, in charge of arrangements.

Robert Louis Asp, a son of the late Charles and Inga Asp, was born in Thief River Falls on Feb. 13, 1923. He was raised here and at Goodridge.

On June 2, 1946, he was married in Thief River Falls to V. Rose Foldoe.

He served in the U.S. Army from June of 1946 until November of 1947. After his discharge from service, he returned to the Thief River Falls area and worked here for the Rural Electric Administration (REA). In 1948, he enrolled at Concordia College, Moorhead, and following his graduation in 1952, he taught for a year at Northwood, N.D. He moved to Moorhead in 1953, taught math and science, and served as guidance counselor in the Moorhead school system.

He received his Masters Degree in counseling and guidance from NDSU in Fargo in 1960. In 1976, he was Moorhead Teacher of the Year.

He is survived by his wife, Rose; four sons and three daughters: Douglas Asp, Minneapolis; Roger, Grand Junction, Colo.; Thomas, Elk River; Greg and Deborah, both at home; Mrs. Brent (Marjorie) Kuenn, Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Steve (Vicki) Bremer, Barnesville.

Also surviving are two sisters: Mrs. Melvin (Mildred) Peterson, Alvarado; and Mrs. Ted (Barbara) Galambos, St. Louis, Mo.; and seven brothers: Oliver Asp, Lee's Summit, Mo.; Arthur, Thief River Falls; Rev. James Asp, Rolfe, Iowa; Charles Harwood, N.D.; Rev. George Asp, Lake Crystal; David, Austin; and Paul, Wheaton, Ill.

Effects Of TV On Children Studied

by Jeanne Hanson
University News Service

Gun battles in San Francisco streets. Cereal ads and children's cavities. Mork and Mindy mix-ups. Sex and the selling of designer jeans. Gilligan's Island. The antics of Laverne and Shirley.

Images like these flicker constantly before the eyes of the nation's young television watchers. Except for variety, news, and public affairs shows, children now watch virtually all television programs. But no one is really sure just how watching television affects children.

Research on children and television has, until recently, been focused on three subjects: program and advertising content, children's attention patterns and the effects of sex and violence.

Now another angle is emerging at the University of Minnesota's institute of child development. Results of research developed over nine years by W. Andrew Collins, professor of child development, suggest that children simply don't understand "adult" television very well.

Even second and third graders who watch hours of action-adventure shows, family dramas and situation comedies miss a lot of the motives behind and the connections between events, Collins said.

As a result, they may misunderstand the violence and may be reinforced in certain stereotypes.

Collins' method of research employs "real-world" television viewing. He and his colleagues show actual commercial television shows to children in different age groups. Advertisements and scenes irrelevant to the study are sometimes edited out. Children are then asked about what they saw.

Their answers have made several things apparent. For instance, early elementary-grade students usually do no understand the motives of "bad guys", Collins said. Spotting these motives becomes even more difficult for the child if the violent act is separated by an advertisement from the point where the motive is revealed. Behavior of "double-crossers," who appear nice at first, is also very hard for children to interpret, as is the connection between the violence and its effects.

When children don't understand the context for violence in a program, they don't judge the violent character harshly, Collins said. Later, they tend to remember only the violent act and although the incident may not encourage them to become more violent, they may become unduly afraid.

Connecting events in separate scenes is quite difficult for children to do, Collins said. Television sometimes creates plot links by dissolving one picture into another, or by abruptly collapsing one picture into the next. Contrasting scenes may follow with no explanation about what caused the change. Hints may be given in one scene that something will happen in the next, or time may be compressed. Different camera angles, background music, and other techniques are used as "punctuation."

Beucase of these "tricks," even children as old as second and third graders often have no idea what might happen next. When asked to predict, they typically project only from the scene they just saw. They can't "chunk" segments of the program together well, Collins said.

When connections are not clear, children try to understand the program by reverting to "typical scripts," he said. A character may want to kill an old begger because he confuses the beggar with his victim. Yet the children, thinking of typical beggar scenes, say that he'll want to give the poor old man some money. In one series of studies, confusion like this was shown to reinforce some children's sterotypes about women, Collins said. Children whose parents emphasized traditional roles thought the plot would proceed that way. Those from less traditional homes tended to predict, for example, scenes in which women would be at work.

People from different social backgrounds are also hard for children to understand, he added. Disadvantaged children have extra trouble with the motives and emotions of middle-class characters. Middle-class children have the same problems understanding shows about low-income families. "Social group seems to create more problems than race," Collins said.

Children lack "world knowledge" in another way, one that can create fears or actual danger for them. They don't realize, for example, that crimes like murder of a stranger are much more rare in reality than on television, so they may fear such murders. And they don't understand the consequences of violence, either. One boy told Collins he hoped he'd get killed so that he could be rebuilt bionically.

Parents can do a lot to improve their children's understanding of television, Collins said. As they watch along with their children, they can occasionally explain the motives of the bad guys, point out connections between scenes, describe the plot line, explain the visual cues, try to straighten out stereotypes, and tell their children that some shows are quite unrealistic.

"Parents are in the best position to make judgmemts about their children's television watching, too," he said. Children might be encouraged to tell a parent ahead of time what shows they would like to watch. Each time, they should consider the alternatives to watching that show. Would they rather play outside, help with dinner, or read a book? After each show, they should also tell a parent about it, providing an opportunity to straighten out any misconceptions. Time spent with television might be limited.

Children begin careful and systematic television viewing between two and three years of age. With help, they can become intelligent consumers of television, Collins said.

SMOKED MEAT AND POULTRY are the products of the new smokehouse built at the meat department of Al and Wally's Country Market in Thief River Falls. Custom and commercial smoking will be done for such items as Canadian bacon, summer sausage, ring bologna, Polish sausage, hams, dried beef and turkey. The 500-pound capacity smoker is in use every day. Meat smoked is then cooked in the smoke-house addition. Al Walseth (right) is in charge of the department and has been working with meat smoking for a dozen years. His brother Wally emphasizes that natural smoking is superior to liquid-smoked products on the commercial market.

Vietnam Vets Get Assistance For Housing

Vietnam era veterans downpayment assistance program offers loans of up to $4,000 for eligible borrowers purchasing homes with a first mortgage guaranteed by the Veterans administration. Funds will be available beginning January 5, 1981, according to Merle Carlson, Pennington county veterans service officer.

To qualify a borrower must:

(1) Be a Minnesota resident, separated from any branch of the armed forces, under honorable conditions, who served on active duty between Aug. 5, 1964 and May 7, 1975.

(2) Be a first time homeowner, who intends to occupy the home being purchased.

(3) Have an annual adjusted family income of: (a) $19,000 or less for properties being purchased in Anoka, Carver, Dakota, Hennepin, Ramsey, Scott or Washington counties or (b) $17,500 or less for properties being purchased in the remaining counties of Minnesota.

The downpayment assistance is in the form of a no interest loan, which equals 10 per cent of the total purchase price of the property, up to a maximum of $4,000. The loan must be repaid when the borrower sells or conveys the property for which the assistance was received or if the property ceases to be the borrower's principal place of residence.

Outside the seven-county Twin Cities area, the purchase price of the property cannot exceed $47,000 for existing structures; $49,000 for existing structures with accessibility improvements for handicapped residents; or $51,000 for new construction.

The Minnesota legislature reappropriated $3 million for this program, which will provide assistance to approximately 800 veterans. Applications for assistance may be made through participating veterans service offices. Applicants must present a purchase agreement and a DD Form 214 when applying.

For further information you may contact Myrle L. Carlson at the county veterans service office at the Law Enforcement Center in Thief River Falls or phone 681-3550.

THANK YOU

The residents and staff of the Valley Home want to take this means of saying "Thanks" for all the good deeds and gifts which have been bestowed upon them this past year. Especially do we want to thank the Lowell Swenson's for the beautiful park they are providing, the player piano donated by the Larson Music Company, the pool table donated by Ekeren Drug and the interest and provisions made by the Medical Staff in the "55 Club" building. Then we certainly wish to thank all the 4-H Clubs and Terry Courneya, Boy and Girl Scouts, the Ministerial Association and church circles and all groups and individuals who have helped make life more enjoyable for all here at Valley Home.

LEC Lists 9 Cases Dec. 8-25

Law enforcement center report dated December 30 listed the following individual cases by reporting date.

December 21 — On duty officers reported that someone has broken out a window of the city auditorium causing an estimated $30 to replace it.

December 22 — Virgil Lappegaard of Thief River Falls was traveling east on Hughes in a snow plow truck plowing snow when Wayne Helgenset of Thief River Falls was traveling south on St. Paul avenue in a pickup. The front of the pickup collided with the front of the snowplow causing the pickup to spin around and collide with the snowplow again. Helgenset vehicle was totaled but no damages resulted to the plow.

December 22 — Mrs. Walter Larson reported that someone had broken a storm window on her home, apparently with a BB from a BB gun, causing an unknown amount of damages.

December 23 — Mary Olson of 801 S. St. Paul reported that someone had stolen $8 worth of gas from her pickup while it was parked at her residence.

December 25 — Orville Hanson of 420 S. Merriam reported that someone had stolen the $20 cover off his Polaris snowmobile while it was parked in his yard.

December 25 — Bob Eckstein of 1224 Edgewood Drive reported that someone had deliberately driven over a blue spruce tree in his yard. Tree and broken lights were found approximately three blocks from the Eckstein residence. Also taken was a 50-foot extension cord. Total theft and damages estimated at $85.

December 25 — Bill Duckworth of 1219 Edgewood Drive reported that someone had driven over his mailbox and post causing $15 in damages to the post.

Pennington county sheriff's department cases included the following:

December 8 — Mrs. Fred Bernier of Basswood Trailer Court reported that someone had siphoned approximately $3.50 worth of gas from her vehicle while it was parked at her residence.

December 17 — Art Lull of Thief River Falls reported that someone had broken into his fish house on the Thief River and had taken a five point spear, and ice bar chisel and 12 decoys causing a total estimated theft of $81. Damages to the fish house were estimated at $10.

Mn/DOT Begins New Pavement Management

To better meet road user needs and to cope with limited resources, the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) has begun a new pavement management program.

"With less and less money, we have to find better ways of building and maintaining our roads," said Paul Diethelm, director, research and development, Mn-DOT. According to Diethelm, this new systematic approach interrelates activities from planning to design to construction to maintenance into an overall pavement management program.

"We have many of the tools for pavement management; however, this new program will allow us to integrate them for maximum benefit," he said.

Mn-DOT representatives participated in the only "single-state" pavement management school sponsored by the national highway institute. This region-based school came to Minnesota because of Mn-DOT's activism in pavement management, according to Diethelm.

The school gave students basic information on creating a Minnesota program. "Good pavement management is unique to each city, county and state — there are no absolutes," he said.

Mn-DOT will shortly set up a new task force to create a pavement management system for Minnesota.

Argyle Junior Will Be Page In Legislature

Keven Yutrzenka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yutrzenka of Argyle, will participate in the high school page program during the coming Minnesota legislative session, according to LeRoy Stumpf, representative-elect from District 1B.

The state House of Representatives is again sponsoring the high school page program for 11th grade students. One junior from a public school in each House district will be selected for the program. Yutrzenka is from District 1B.

Participating high schools were selected from computer lists of high schools within House districts provided by the state department of education.

In the 1981 session, high school pages will serve two weeks — one week during the first half of the session and a second week beginning nine weeks later, Stumpf stated.

Entry Dates For RRV Shows Are Advanced

Entry dates for the livestock activities at the Red River Valley winter shows at Crookston have been moved up from January 20 to January 10, according to an announcement made by the Red River Valley Livestock association, co-sponsor of the activities.

County extension agents, vocational agriculture instructors and 4-H club leaders are asked to cooperate in getting futurity and youth entries in on time for the various livestock shows. The winter shows will be held beginning February 20.

Entry blanks are available from the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Box 402, Crookston, MN. 56716.

FRYING SAUSAGE in the cozy kitchen of their farm home, Carol Stumpf prepares breakfast for her family. The kitchen cupboards were made by a friend and neighbor in exchange for LeRoy Stumpf's farm labor assistance. The materials were salvaged from fir flooring and shipping crates and the natural finish adds to the warmth of the kitchen. Carol enjoys the farm life, but says she is looking forward to accompanying her husband to St. Paul for the coming legislative session.

LeRoy Stumpf Prepares For Legislature

and this part of Minnesota. But I think that what's good for this district is good for Minnesota in total.

"I sense that this will be the best potential year for northern Minnesota legislation for some time," he added. "We have northwestern Minnesota leadership in both the House and Senate and that will help. I have met twice with the DFL caucus and have been impressed that the members seem to be open minded and are more concerned with what is best for the state than with what may be best for the DFL party."

Stumpf will move his family — consisting of his wife Carol, son Tom and daughter Jenny — to an apartment three blocks from the capitol in St. Paul. He will have someone live in his house and care for his Angus youngstock during the week and the family will return on weekends. The approximately 65 head of Angus cows have been moved to another farm under a two-year caretaker agreement.

"We decided that was the thing to do," he said. "It would have been more difficult to hire someone to manage the cow herd on the farm here. This way we can more or less forget about the cows, especially during the session."

Forgetting about the cows won't be easy. Stumpf built his herd from those he brought with him from his Waverly farm when he and Carol moved here seven years ago. The three quarters of land were so heavily wooded he had to clear his fence lines with a chain saw. Once the fences were in place they had to be checked every morning to see if moose had walked through and knocked them down. Frequently they had to be repaired for that reason.

The land was wild land. LeRoy and Carol actually became lost when they went out to look it over. Through pasturing and clearing they have tamed more than half of it. It is now all fenced; some of it produces hay and corn and grain for the cattle. The house has been remodeled bit by bit, a few buildings have sprung up on the farmstead, the herd has increased. Spring calving was a day and night operation every year.

Although Carol is originally from Thief River Falls, the granddaughter of the late Arthur and Julia Rambeck, she met LeRoy when they were both in St. Paul. She thoroughly enjoys the farm life, she said, but she is looking forward to the experience of legislative life in the Twin Cities.

"People have been very helpful in providing information and assistance," LeRoy said. "We have been getting 25 to 35 letters a day. And one of the good things that has happened is that I have been able to help some people already because of my elected office, and that is very satisfying."

Will the legislature be a career for this soft-spoken cattle farmer with the auctioneer's license?

"I'm not looking at it that way," LeRoy said. "My approach is to try and do a real good job for the term the people elected me to serve. At the end of that time, if I feel I'm doing a good job and I like what I'm doing, then I would consider seeking additional opportunity for service."

Stumpf said he would attempt to keep the district informed of his activity and that of the legislature through reports in the Times and other newspapers in his district.

4H ✣ CLUB

Holt

Holt 4-H met December 28 at 4 p.m. at the Holt village hall. The meeting was called to order by vice president Eric Kjensrud. Flag pledges were said, roll taken, secretary's report read and corrected. There was no treasurer's report.

New business included the radio speaking contest to be held in January. The next meeting is scheduled for January 15. Jim Garthus moved to adjourn the meeting and Wayne Garthus seconded. The meeting was adjourned.

Christmas carols were sung, a sleighride was held, gifts were exchanged and supper was served.

There were 17 members, five parents and one visitor in attendance at the meeting.

Judy Benitt,
reporter

Silverton

The Silverton 4-H club met on December 11 at the Silver Creek church. The meeting was called to order by president Julie Peterson. Flag pledges were said and roll call was taken. Roll call was your favorite thing about Christmas. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Song leaders led "Rudolph the Rednosed Reindeer".

Old business: Committees were discussed. Each member was asked to bring a picture to the January meeting. New member pins were given to Christy and Michelle Puetz, Penny and Patty Bjerke, and Lynn and Stacie Skibicki. Road signs were given to Jackie and Jim Hahn, Dale Nelson, Kim and Kevin Sorter, and Jerry Bjerke. These were members completing their first year of 4-H.

Project talks were given by Jerry Bjerke on conservation, Lisa Torgerson on shopping, Kim Sorter on home decorating, Kristi Rupprecht on child care, and Cammy Altepeter on goats.

For the program we sang "Jingle Bells". Debbie and Lisa Torgerson gave a skit. For recreation we decorated ornaments for Pete and Bertha Klungness to put on a tree for Christmas. Then we ate lunch. There were 29 members, 21 parents, and seven visitors present. The next meeting will be at Silver Creek church on January 7.

Use Of Firearms Reported For Peace Officers

Minnesota peace officers discharged firearms in 39 incidents with 95 shots fired (one incident involved 15 shots) during the first 10 months of 1980. For the same period of 1979 there were 46 incidents with 66 shots fired, according to public safety commissioner John P. Sopsic.

Report required by state law was compiled by the criminal justice information system of the state bureau of criminal apprehension.

There were two fatalities in the first 10 months of 1980, both occurring while attempting an arrest. During the same period of 1979 there were four fatalities. Two occurred during a domestic disturbance and two while attempting an arrest. Injuries occurred in four cases in 1980 and in 11 cases in 1979.

During the first 10 months of 1980 there were 30 incidents involving police departments. Eight of these were in communities under 2,500 population and 14 in communities over 100,000. There were seven incidents involving sheriffs' offices; five occurring in the population range of 25,000 to 50,000. During the same period of 1979 there were 36 incidents involving police departments. Twenty-two of these were in communities over 100,000. There were seven incidents involving sheriffs' offices. Three occurred in the population range of 25,000 to 50,000.

For all of 1979 there were 54 incidents, 76 shots fired and five fatalities.

A summary report of firearms use is included in the "Crime in Minnesota" published each year by the BCA.

PLAYING A GAME the youngsters received for Christmas are state representative-elect LeRoy Stumpf, his son Tom and daughter Jenny. The Stumpf home about 15 miles southeast of Thief River Falls is the former Max and Ruth Jensen house which was moved from LaBree av. S. to make room for the medical office building several years ago. The Stumpfs, who have lived in Pennington county since 1973, have been gradually remodeling the home to suit their family and hope to add to it in the next year or two. They will have someone live in the home and tend to part of their livestock during the legislative session.

Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston are listed as Class A independents while Bemidji and Fergus Falls are shown as Class AA independents according to the revised Minnesota State High School League football classifications for the 1981 season.

All five — the Prowlers, Green Wave, Pirates, Lumberjacks and Otters — played as Class A schools in the Northwest Athletic Conference until East Grand Forks and Crookston completed their long-ago announced withdrawl from NWAC football competition at the end of the 1980 season.

As a result of the revision in enrollment classifications for the state football playoffs for the 1981 season, the MSHSL board of directors adopted recommendations of the football Ad Hoc committee to revise the enrollment figures for a two-year period beginning in 1981, it was reported in the December issue of the Minnesota State High School League Bulletin.

Classifications in the upper three grades will now be: Class AA — 800 students and above; Class A — 320 to 799; Class B and Class C — 319 and under, with the largest 50 per cent of the conferences playing as Class B schools and the smallest 50 per cent of the conferences playing Class C football (independent schools will be considered Class B; and nine-man.)

The MSHSL state football playoffs have been conducted for nine years. During that period of time schools had been placed in five classifications based on the following enrollment figures: Class AA — 950 and above; Class A — 400-949; Class B — 200-399; Class C — 199 and under; and nine-man.

Some changes occurred as a result of the enrollment differences from the current breakdown of classes. Restructing of the playoff brackets will be on the agenda of the annual MSHSL football forum, scheduled to be held Wednesday, Jan. 21, in Anoka.

It's conceivable Thief River Falls could still find itself in a four-team Class AA conference with Bemidji, Fergus Falls and Moorhead, currently the only Class AA independents. With an enrollment of 753 students in the top three grades for 1980-81 according to the MSHSL handbook, Thief River Falls is actually one of the larger Class A football schools in the state.

Right now Thief River Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks and LaCrescent are the only Class A independents in the state. It's unlikely the MSHSL would give a three-team Class A conference consisting of Thief River Falls, Crookston and East Grand Forks an automatic state playoff berth. However, a four-team Class AA set-up with Thief River Falls, Fergus Falls, Bemidji and Moorhead could get a guaranteed playoff spot.

Without conference affiliation, independents face a much tougher time getting into the playoffs where berths are given to conference champions and independents with top records.

Miscellaneous

+Two-time defending champion Fergus Falls figures to rank among the favorites in Section 3 high school swimming competition this winter, with 14 returning lettermen on hand, including five swimmers who qualified for the 1980 Minnesota state high school swimming meet: Bill Krueger, a two-time state meet entry who will be swimming the backstroke and the individual medley; Bob Ronning, who will be swimming the breaststroke and I.M.; Caesar Trajano, a sprinter; Charlie Mielke, perhaps the most versatile swimmer on the team who will swim the butterfly and the I.M.; and Mike Schulenberg, a diver. The Otters began the year with a 129-43 win over Moorhead, extending their winning streak to 27 consecutive dual meet victories.

+ East Grand Forks American Legion Post 157 has announced a gift of $25,000 to the East Grand Forks Blue Line club's fund for construction of a covered, natural ice arena at O'Leary Park in that city. The Legion gift raises to $210,000 funds available or pledged to the arena. Additional pledges are expected to be announced this winter, but project chairman Lynn Stauss said he doesn't forsee the start of construction until much of the pledge money has been put in the bank, or until current high interest rates drop drastically.

NWAC Cage Schedule To Resume Sat.

Northwest Athletic Conference high school basketball competition, featured sparingly in the early season schedule, will be much more prominent the rest of the winter, beginning Saturday when early season leader Bemidji hosts preseason favorite Crookston.

Bemidji beat Fergus Falls 59-55 in the only NWAC game played to date.

Another conference test is on tap Tuesday when East Grand Forks visits Crookston.

Northwest Athletic Conference girls basketball race resumes Tuesday when East Grand Forks entertains Bemidji. They both lost NWAC openers before the holiday break when Fergus Falls topped East Grand Forks 61-29 and Crookston edged Bemidji 41-38.

Thief River Falls basketball teams begin the 1981 portion of their 1980-81 season next week. The Lincoln high school girls, 2-2 for the year, will tackle Moorhead here Tuesday and will visit McIntosh-Winger Saturday, Jan. 10. The Lincoln boys, 3-1, open their NWAC schedule Friday, Jan. 9, at Bemidji.

TRF
HOCKEY

It's a busy week for the Thief River Falls traveling youth hockey teams.

Pee-Wee A team started it by hosting Warroad today (Wednesday) at 12 noon. The Pee-Wee team will find itself at Moorhead Saturday at 2:15 p.m. and at Roseau Sunday at 1 p.m.

Bantam A team, after hosting Warroad today at 2 p.m., will compete in an invitational tournament at Fergus Falls Saturday and Sunday.

Pee-Wee B team will be in Moorhead Saturday for a 12:30 p.m. game and will return home to face Detroit Lakes Sunday at 3 p.m. in the old arena.

Bantam B team will visit Bagley Saturday at 1 p.m. and will host Detroit Lakes Sunday at 3 p.m. in the sports arena.

Squirts

Parents of players in the Squirt In-House program are asked to attend a meeting Friday night following practice for the teams in the sports arena.

The Stars and Hawks are scheduled to practice at 6:30 p.m., with the parents' meeting of these players scheduled to be held at the end of practice at 7:30 p.m.

Bruins and Rangers will practice at 7:30 p.m., with the parents' meeting of those players scheduled to be held at the end of practice at 8:30 p.m.

Tiny Mites

With ice available in the old arena, a more complete Tiny Mite schedule will begin next week when the 5-6-year-olds, 7-year-olds and 8-year-olds will be given weekday practice time at the old arena in addition to their Saturday game time in the sports arena.

The 5-6-year-olds will skate from 3:45 to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday; the 7-year-olds will skate from 4:30-5:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday; and the 8-year-olds will be on the ice in two groups, from 3:45 to 4:45 and from 4:45 to 5:45 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Saturday's schedule will feature the 8-year-olds at 10:30 a.m., Stickhandlers vs. Rink Rats, and at 11:15 a.m., Puck Hogs vs. Ice Mice; the 7-year-olds at 12 noon; and the 5-6-year-olds at 12:45 p.m.

FARGO SOUTH WING Corky Dahl shot the puck as Thief River Falls defenseman Scott Wiebolt looked on during Tuesday's high school hockey game played in the sports arena. The Bruins got off to a 3-0 start and surprised the Prowlers 6-2. Thief River Falls returns to Section 8 competition Tuesday when the Prowlers travel to East Grand Forks for an 8 p.m. game.

Fargo South Is Easy 6-2 Winner Over Thief River Falls Skaters

Fargo South played well while Thief River Falls played poorly, according to the respective coaches, and the net result was an easy 6-2 victory for the Bruins over the Prowlers Tuesday in a high school hockey game played in the Thief River Falls' sports arena.

"We played very well," confirmed Fargo South coach Steve Madsen, whose Bruins are 4-1-1. "Our forechecking was good, and defensively I thought we controlled the first two periods."

"Definitely," answered Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand when he was asked if the game represented the Prowlers' poorest performance of the year. "We didn't deserve to win," he said after watching Thief River Falls' record drop to 3-2-1 on the year — with both losses coming at the hands of North Dakota opponents (the Prowlers having lost earlier to Grand Forks Red River by an identical 6-2 score).

It didn't take long to establish a pattern last night. The Bruins scored on the game's first shot, with John Green victimizing Thief River Falls goalie Greg Harder just 13 seconds into his first varsity start. The senior netminder, who practiced with the team all last winter despite knowing he wouldn't be playing either varsity or junior varsity hockey, and came back to earn a spot on this year's team — as a back-up to starter Jeff Mongoven — had a rough time of it as his teammates let him down defensively. Tim Pollock's power play slap shot from the point made it 2-0 at 6:23 and sophomore John Stensgard collected the first of his three-goal hat trick performance when he dribbled the puck off Harder on a 2-on-1 shorthanded rush at 11:30 for a 3-0 cushion. Mongoven played the second and third periods in the nets.

"We felt Greg deserved a chance to start," explained Grand. "He's been out here practicing with us for two years knowing that he wouldn't be playing. Unfortunately we didn't help him tonight. Changing the goaltending (during a game) is something a coach just has to do sometimes. But the way we played tonight it wouldn't have mattered who we had in the net."

Thief River Falls got on the scoreboard when Tom Ose scored a shorthanded goal at 12:51 of the first period, but instead of bouncing back from a miserable first period with a strong second 15 minutes to close the gap, the Prowlers put just two shots on net in the middle stanza and gave up Stensgard's second goal at 13:17. It came just three seconds into a Fargo South power play as Stensgard won the draw on a face-off to the right of Mongoven and quickly put the puck in the net for a 4-1 bulge.

"If all you can generate is 15 shots on goal, you aren't going to win many hockey games," reflected Grand as he looked at the tally sheet that showed the Bruins out-shooting the Prowlers by better than two-to-one margin.

Jeff Storhaug's first goal of the year, a high floater that eluded Fargo South sophomore goalie Dave Lamb on a Thief River Falls power play pulled the Prowlers to within 4-2 at 12:09 of the third period.

But Chris Sonnesyn, on an assist from Stensgard, scored just 13 seconds later to rebuild the three-goal margin and Stensgard completed his hat trick with a shorthanded goal at 14:51.

"We spent too much time in the penalty box," mentioned Grand, whose Prowlers were whistled for seven penalties. "We're not going to be known as a scoring machine, and consequently we had problems getting any offense going with men in the penalty box. And," he added, "some of the people that have to play well for us had a tough time of it tonight."

Still, Grand found some solace in the Prowlers' power play and penalty killing units. "In spite of all the dismal things, we did do some things better tonight on our power play, and we did a pretty fair job killing penalties," he said.

Madsen, meanwhile, found disappointment in the Bruins' power play. "Our power play percentage is not good," he admitted. "We still have to work on that. But I think we have a pretty good hockey team; I think we'll be all right."

Thief River Falls returns to Section 8 competition Tuesday when the Prowlers tackle defending Section 8 champion East Grand Forks in an 8 p.m. game on Green Wave ice.

Major Hunting Dates Selected By State DNR

Department of Natural Resources has announced the opening dates for three major hunting seasons for 1981.

Commissioner Joseph Alexander said that "in each case it is obvious when they should occur in 1981; therefore, they are being announced early to allow people ample time to plan vacations."

Small game opener will be Saturday, Sept. 19; waterfowl, Saturday, Oct. 3; and firearms deer season Saturday, Nov. 7.

Commissioner Alexander said that opening dates for other 1981 seasons will be announced later after 1980 season results are analyzed and after input from DNR field personnel and the public is obtained.

Lincoln Hockey JV Team Tips Fargo South 3-2

Tim Bottem scored with just 2:34 remaining in the third period Tuesday to lift Thief River Falls past Fargo South 3-2 in a junior varsity high school hockey game played in the sports arena.

The game was deadlocked 1-1 after the first period and 2-2 after two periods. Grant Anderson and Jeff Storhaug scored the first two goals for Thief River Falls, now 3-3 for the year.

SOPHOMORE FORWARD John Stensgard (15) of Fargo South was stopped by Thief River Falls goalie Greg Harder on this first period shot, but he came up with a three-goal hat trick performance Tuesday to lead the Bruins past the Prowlers 6-2. Thief River Falls' Tom Ose (8) watched the action.

Bemidji Sled Dog Races Set January 10-11

Prizes totaling approximately $9,000 await sled dog mushers in the Bemidji Area Chamber of Commerce's 11th annual Paul Bunyan sled dog races. The races, set for January 10-11, will offer one of the largest purses of the race circuit in the lower 48 states, according to race committee general chairman Todd Jansen.

Races will be run on closed loops on Lake Bemidji. The Bemidji course is generally considered to be safer than other races where the race course is over land.

It is anticipated that the number of entries will be up considerably over last year's race. Sled dog training in the Midwest, New York, Canada and even Alaska was seriously hampered due to the lack of snow last year.

Prizes will be awarded in five categories: unlimited (7 or more dogs), B-Class (5-7 dogs), C-Class (3-5 dogs) and junior & novice (3 or less dogs). The unlimited and B-Class races will be sanctioned by ISDRA, the international sled dog racing association.

More information about the Paul Bunyan sled dog races can be obtained by writing or calling the Bemidji Area Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 806, Bemidji, MN 56601, 218-751-3540.

MS Sno-Rally Sponsored By Arctic Cat

Matt Blair of the Minnesota Vikings and "Benchwarmer" Bob Lurtsema will ride along with over 150 snowmobilers in Multiple Sclerosis' Winter Carnival Sno-Rally, MS officials announced. The two-day ride, an official event of the St. Paul Winter Carnival, takes place January 30-31. Blair and Lurtsema will snowmobile 250 grueling miles to raise funds for the fight against MS — securing sponsorships throughout Minnesota.

"Every pledge helps — a little goes a long way," Blair said. We're really excited about snowmobiling for a good cause."

Blair, the Vikings' all-pro linebacker, also rode last year for Sno-Rally. This is Lurtsema's first year. An avid snowmobiler, he is a former Viking, popularly known as "Benchwarmer Bob".

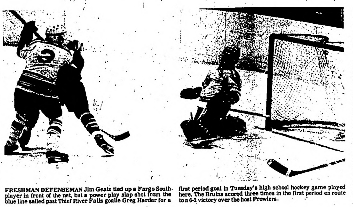
"Minnesotans can sponsor us on the ride for as little or as much as they want", Blair said. "We're encouraging everyone to give us a vote by helping us fight MS."

The ride begins at the Spirit Mountain Motor Inn in Duluth. Following an overnight stay in Hinckley, snowmobilers will end the ride at the Holiday Inn in suburban Maplewood.

The MS Society's Winter Carnival Sno-Rally is sponsored by Arctic Enterprises of Thief River Falls. The event is endorsed by the Minnesota united snowmobile association, the St. Paul Winter Carnival, the Minnesota broadcaster's association and the Duluth area association of snowmobile clubs.

Multiple Sclerosis affects the central nervous system of persons aged 20-40. No cause or cure is known. Minnesota ranks second nationally in the prevalence of the disease.

A little goes a long way — for more information on how you can help in the fight against MS, contact Joe Olchefske or Duke Adamski of the MS Society, toll-free 1-800-582-5296.



FRESHMAN DEFENSEMAN Jim Geatz tied up a Fargo South player in front of the net, but a power play slap shot from the blue line sailed past Thief River Falls goalie Greg Harder for a first period goal in Tuesday's high school hockey game played here. The Bruins scored three times in the first period en route to a 6-2 victory over the host Prowlers.

AFTER STOPPING A Fargo South shot, Thief River Falls goalie Jeff Mongoven corralled the puck and forced a face-off in the third period of Tuesday's nonconference high school hockey game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. The Prowlers were out-shot 33-18 in losing a 6-2 decision to the Bruins.

Huskies Host Holiday Basketball Tournament

Badger, Mentor, Gonvick and Goodridge will compete this weekend in the annual Goodridge high school holiday basketball tournament.

Two-time defending tournament champion Gonvick will face Badger in the tournament opener Friday at 7 p.m., while host Goodridge tackles Mentor in the doubleheader nightcap at 8:30.

Third place and championship games will be played Saturday at 7 and 8:30 p.m.

Shooting for their third straight Goodridge holiday tournament title, the Bulldogs feature a one-two punch in 6-4 senior center Kurt Halvorson and 6-0 senior forward Mark Erie. They'll combat high scoring Badger sophomore Mark Frosaker in the opener.

Mentor features the outstanding play of 6-2 senior center Rod Fladhammer and 5-11 senior guard Todd Bruggmanothey. Goodridge, 2-1 for the year, will counter with the strong inside games of Randy Henrickson and Mark Grabowska.

While the Goodridge holiday tournament begins the 1981 portion of the area 1980-81 basketball season, most area teams will wait until next week to resume play after a nearly two-week holiday break.

Games Tuesday, Jan. 6, will find Goodridge at Oklee, Middle River at Badger, Marshall County Central hosting Roseau and Grygla entertaining Greenbush. Plummer, however, will wait until Friday, Jan. 16, to visit Red Lake Falls.

Area girls high school basketball schedule resumes Thursday, Jan. 8, highlighted by a match-up of two top area rivals — Grygla and Marshall County Central at Grygla.

Elsewhere that night, Goodridge visits East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, Middle River hosts Tri-County and Oklee entertains Gary. Plummer will wait until Friday, Jan. 9, to host Strandquist.

Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

As the winter fishing season continues we are sure you'll be convinced that the crappie is Minnesota's most popular winter fish. Reports so far this season prove that this is true. You'll find the crappie in most Minnesota lakes.

The best bait is a crappie minnow on an ice jig. Never use minnows that are more than two inches long. The average size of the crappie will vary from one half to one pound. Since we have fished the crappie the year around may two pounders are taken each winter.

The state record crappie in Minnesota is five pounds. This beauty was caught by Tom Christenson back in 1940. It was taken from the Vermillion River in Dakota county.

I-500 Race

This race inaugurates the St. Paul Winter Carnival. The 16th annual race begins in Winnipeg on January 24 and carries on over a 560-mile route with stopovers at Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Brainerd. More than 50 entrants are expected to enter the sport class (non-professional). Of the 43 starters in this class last year, three women and 14 men completed the course.

The race is a world snowmobile racing federation (WSRF) sanctioned event and its rules will apply.

Unusual Events

Walker's second international eelpout festival will be held Jan. 17-18. Eelpout ice fishing contest on beautiful Leech Lake. More than $1,000 in prizes, trophies and door prizes. Winning fish will be mounted. Prizes will be awarded for the largest walleye.

Contact Jeannie Berg, Leech Lake Area Chamber of Commerce, Box G, Walker, MN 56484, 218-547-1313.

The 12th All-American championship sled dog races will be held in Ely Jan. 17-18. Dog teams from Alaska and around the nation teams participate in many races over the weekend for a $10,000 prize purse. Also weight pulling contest for big dogs, celebrity races for the governor and other dignitaries, mushers' banquet and Kiwanis club pancake feed. Contact Roy McEntyre, Star Route, Ely, MN 55731, 218-365-4422.

During 1979, commercial fishing in Minnesota produced 10,065,000 pounds of fish with an estimated value of $22,089,000 — including live bait valued at $21 million.

State Hunters, Trappers Are Being Surveyed

About 22,000 Minnesota hunters and trappers will be receiving a postcard questionnaire from the Department of Natural Resources during December and January.

Information received from the survey enables the DNR to estimate the take of wild animals during the seasons and to determine hunting pressure and hunting success.

Hunters and trappers receiving the questionnaire were selected at random. They are being asked to return the postage-paid card promptly so that survey results will be available late this winter when the Department begins planning the seasons for 1981.

Dog Sledding Returning As Popular Sport

With a pro-am circuit of more than 400 races, some with purses of more than $10,000, the competitive sport of dog sledding has made a "rousing comeback," according to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine. Thanks to the snowmobile, it may not be the popular means of transportation it once was, but from New England right across the snowbelt to California and up to Alaska, dogsledding races attract huge crowds each winter.

The colorful races range from a looping 13-mile course at the annual Sierra sweepstakes in Truckee, Calif., to a 1,150-mile Alaskan marathon, says the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication. At the All-American sled-dog championships in Ely, Minn., prize money now exceeds $10,000, most of it raised from flea markets and bake sales.

Dogs used for sledding — called "mush puppies" — are very strong and easily able to survive in cold and snow. They have big, broad paws which act like built-on snowshoes. Tufts of hair which grow between their toes guard against ice slivers. They also have two coats of fur — a thick undercoat which is warm and soft, like thermal underwear, and a longer, heavier oily topcoat which helps keep them dry.

Some sled drivers, or "mushers," like big, sturdy Malamutes, which are strong enough to pull a sled all day. Others prefer lively Samoyeds or Eskimo dogs. One of the most popular species of sled dogs is the Siberian husky, which is lighter than the other mush puppies, but also faster. Huskies get along well as a team and make excellent pets.

Is dog sledding a lucrative sport? It can be for innkeepers and grocers in towns where races are held, says National Wildlife. "More than 7,000 spectators and participants may pile into one town on race weekend, not to mention 3,000 hungry dogs." However, most of today's sled drivers participate in racing as much for their dogs — mush puppies love to run — as for the money.

There are some earnest mushers who may make more than $20,000 a season. But as National Wildlife points out, "figuring their expenses and the cost of a good team — around $10,000 — they probably just about break even."

Wildlife Group To Push Clean Air Law

National Wildlife Federation has joined a nationwide campaign to press Congress for passage of a "strong and fair" federal clean air act in 1981.

With the clean air act of 1970 up for Congressional renewal and some industries pressing for relaxation of air quality standards they criticize as too costly, many conservationists see the fight for renewal of the landmark anti-pollution law as the most important environmental battle they will face next year.

NWF, the nation's largest citizens conservation group, is joining a coalition of conservation, labor, consumer, and civic groups "to help make the public more aware of the harmful effects of air pollution on man and wildlife and of the benefits of the clean air law under which we have made so much progress in the past decade," said Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of the federation.

"While industries complain that they cannot afford to comply with clean air regulations, they fail to mention how much consumers have to pay to repair air pollution damage," he said. "The council on environmental quality has found that while Americans spent $16 billion to comply with federal clean air standards in 1978, they saved $21 billion in health and property expenditures."

Kimball cited acid rain — precipitation turned acidic by emissions of sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide — as one of the most pressing air pollution problems. "Acid rain has killed all the fish in half the high-altitude lakes in upstate New York and 140 Ontario lakes, and threatens to ruin thousands of lakes in some of our most famous parks and wilderness areas," he explained. "And damage from acid rain causes million dollar losses for the fishing and tourism industries. Our present federal clean air act must be strenthened to address this critical and expensive problem."

Aside from the obvious harm air pollution has on human health, Kimball pointed out that a recent U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service study found evidence of air pollution's ill effects on wildlife.

The NWF hopes to work with the national clean air coalition and industry and the U.S. environmental protection agency (EPA) to find ways to improve clean air regulations, Kimball emphasized. "We think EPA has shown itself to be very flexible in working with industry," he said, "and so are we."

The NWF will be working with its "grassroots" affiliates in all 50 states to emphasize the importance of

Card of Thanks

We would like to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and relatives for their kindness and expressions of sympathy shown us during the death of our loved one.

Special thanks to all who gave gifts of memorials, flowers, and food. Also to the Thief Lake Ladies Aid for lunch served, the organist, singer, and pallbearers, and to Pastor Amundson for his comforting words, and to the Collin's Funeral Home for their excellent services.

May God bless each of you in return.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

December 31, 1980
Official Proceedings
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
December 16, 1980

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board met in the Commissioners Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., December 16, 1980.

Members present: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

In the way of a Committee report Comm. Stenberg reported on the budgeting problems and planning problems of the Inter-County Nursing Services. No official action called for.

Highway Engineer Arvid Olson was present to review the wage levels and requests for the Highway Department — a list of proposed adjustments was presented for review.

The Board quickly moved through interviews with the various Department Heads, as follows: Assessor, Recorder, Vets Service Officer, Sheriff, Clerk of Court, Treasurer, Attorney and Auditor.

The Board then conferred with the County Attorney and reviewed the negotiated Union Contract and after discussion Commissioner Hoffman introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, That Contract Agreement with the Law Enforcement Services, as negotiated, a copy of which is before the Board, be approved for the year 1981 with the added provision that a five per cent increment be provided for the position of Investigator.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon call for vote was declared unanimously adopted.

A detailed examination of all of the requests were then undertaken with reference to the possible available funds, the various schedules in effect and the needs of the various offices. After discussion Commissioner Grabanski introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that all regular County Employees not covered by a Union Contract be allowed a 10 per cent wage adjustment over their 1980 salary with the exception of adjustments in Schedule D-1 and of Schedules 1A, 1B and 1C and also with exception of the County Engineer whose Contract is up for renewal May 1, 1981. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Stenberg and upon call for vote was declared adopted by unanimous vote.

The Board then proceeded to consider applications for County On Sale Liquor Licenses and 3.2 Beer Licenses that were before the Board. New rates for such Licenses had been established at the meeting held December 8, 1980 and the Licenses before the Board were filed in response for those new rates. The following applications were approved for the year 1981, subject to approval of the Attorney and Sheriff; upon motion by Hoffman: Gerald Sjulestad, Star Township, Off Sale 3.2 License; Lorraine Groven, Highlanding Township, Off Sale and On Sale 3.2 License; Kenneth Noreen, Rocksbury Township, Off Sale 3.2 License; Helen L. Olson (Kife's), Rocksbury Township, Off and On Sale 3.2 License and On Sale Liquor; Thief River Falls Golf Club, North Township, On Sale 3.2 License and Club Liquor; Louis Carpenter, Numedal Township, Off Sale and On Sale 3.2 License; Lawrence Boutain (Trapper & Trader), Goodridge Twp., Off Sale 3.2 License, On Sale Liquor and Sunday Sales. The foregoing motion was duly seconded by Commissioner Grabanski and upon call for vote was declared approved, unanimously.

REPORT TO THE COUNTY BOARD OF THE COUNTY OF PENNINGTON, STATE OF MINNESOTA, OF THE UNCOLLECTED MOBILE HOME TAXES PAYABLE IN 1980.

BE IT KNOWN, that the Board of Pennington County, Minnesota, did meet in session on the 16th day of December, 1980, that at said session the Treasurer of said County delivered to said Board the list of uncollected Mobile Home taxes for the year 1980, together with the certificate thereon as required by Law, and at said session the said Board did consider said list of uncollected taxes, and THESE TAXES ARE NOT CANCELLED, BUT SHALL BE COLLECTED, FORTHWITH.

Wildlife Group Backs Air Laws

its "grassroots" affiliates in all 50 states to emphasize the importance of a "strong and fair" clean air act, Kimball said. "There's no question that deterioration of air quality in many cities has been halted. The clean air campaign wants to insure that this progress continues and that everyone understands that an effective clean air act is a must for the 1980's."

Recent public opinion polls, Kimball said, show that the American people "still want the protection of anti-pollution laws even though some segments of industry have tried to portray them as costly and unworkable." Kimball cited a 1980 survey by the University of Chicago's national opinion research center in which 50 per cent of the respondents said that "too little" money was spent on environmental problems and only 15 per cent thought the amount spent was "too much."

Kimball cited another national survey, conducted this year by resources for the future, in which a plurality of respondents thought environmental protection was too important to consider its cost. Presented with three alternatives, a startling 42 per cent chose the one which read: "Protecting the environment is so important that requirements and standards cannot be too high, and continuing improvement must be made regardless of cost."

Other national groups that have joined the clean air campaign include the American lung association, environmental policy center, friends of the earth, League of Women voters, National Audubon Society, national parks and conservation association, natural resources defense council, Sierra Club and United Steelworkers.

THEN and NOW!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A drink with a future often has a fascinating past!

Popular mixed drinks have an affinity for memorable names — though their origins may be hazy.

Some are named for people, mythical and otherwise: Bloody Mary and Tom Collins. Some for objects: Screwdriver and Gimlet. Others like the Manhattan and the Daiquiri are named with a geographical bent.

The Daiquiri is named for a Cuban mining town so small, it is no longer on the map. Yet the name lives on and is repeated thousands of times a day by delighted imbibers. The drink has even found its way into a bottled cocktail version under the Heublein label.

It was an American mining engineer, J. S. Cox, who discovered the "native" drink while stationed in Cuba about 1900. Cox sampled the rum-sugar-and-lime juice drink in the Venus Hotel in Santiago. At the end of his tour of duty, he brought the drink back to America—renaming it "the Daiquiri" after the tiny mining town he worked in.

The Daiquiri lends itself to variations on a theme. Everything from apricots to passion fruit has been added to the basic recipe to create new Daiquiri flavors.

Variations on a drink theme have opened another chapter in the Daiquiri's history: the recent marketing of ready-made Daiquiris in several flavors that can be poured directly from the bottle. Available for many years in Heublein's prepared cocktails, the company has now introduced the original Daiquiri in a series of new, ready-to-pour fruit flavors—banana, peach, strawberry, and pineapple—containing Caribbean rum and natural fruit flavorings.

Today, a leading bartender's guide features 16 different Daiquiri recipes—many of which may have been sampled by the late President Kennedy, reportedly one of the most prominent Daiquiri connoisseurs.

NW Bell Explains Increase Proposal

Northwestern Bell recently asked the Minnesota public utilities' commission (PUC) for a broad range of rate increases on local telephone services, designed to increase revenues and more nearly reflect the cost of providing individual service items.

Initial increases, which will become effective March 29, 1981, will amount to an average of about 15 per cent on customers' bills, with variations depending on services subscribed.

The company is asked the commission to let it increase its total revenue by $102.5 million, or 16.3 per cent of its expected 1981 revenue for service within the state. More than half of that amount — $53.5 million — would go for taxes.

About two-thirds of the increase proposed will be placed into effect March 29, 1981. Total revenue produced this amount will be $69 million, which represents 11 per cent of the company's expected 1981 revenues within Minnesota. The commission has one year from the filing date to issue its final order. If it is less than $69 million, refunds with interest would be made. If it is greater than $69 million, the additional rate hike would apply to later changes only.

The company cited as reasons for the filing the continued impact of inflation on its general operating costs, regulatory changes and the impact of the new competitive environment in telecommunications.

The company noted that part of the increase reflects changes in depreciation schedules, recently approved by the federal communications commission and concurred in by the Minnesota PUC. Competition strongly influenced the choice and individual amounts of rates to be increased, moving prices closer to the actual cost of providing individual services.

The basic charge for a single line into a home goes from $8.22 monthly to $9.44 in the first tier of the Twin Cities metro area. Elsewhere in the state, the charge goes from $7.55 to $8.68. In addition, the one dollar charge for a single, standard, rotary-dial telephone supplied by Northwestern Bell would be increased to $1.50. Thus the combined charge for a residence line with one phone, in the Metro tier-one area will go from $9.22 to $10.94, and in the rest of the state from $8.55 to $10.48.

Single line business service in non-metro Minnesota would increase from $19.80 to $22.77 per month. Separate charges also apply to any equipment attached to a business line.

Princess, Trimline, six button key sets and service charges would be increased, but the line charge associated with business and residence extensions would be reduced.

The costs of a new residence installation of a line with one Bell-supplied phone, as a result of this change, would go from $33 to $62.

At conclusion of PUC consideration of the case, the company proposes in early 1982 to offer a new one-party measured service option to most customers, and also to increase the coin phone rate to 25 cents a call from the 10-cent level where it has remained for 28 years.

The measured service option is designed to provide a lower-cost alternative to flat-rate pricing for customers who make relatively few calls. Customers in this area who choose optional measured service would pay about $2 per month less for basic service. Usage charges, based upon the number of calls, time of day, length of conversation and distance, would reach a ceiling no more than 25 per cent higher than the one-party flat rate. Service would allow customers to receive an unlimited number of calls with no extra charge.

The service would initially be offered to about 53 per cent of Northwestern Bell's Minnesota customers — those served by advanced electronic switching systems. Measurement of usage can be achieved in these locations at much less cost than where older switching equipment is used.

Optional measured service is designed as a lower priced alternative to flat rate service, and one within the control of the users. The company had been asked by the PUC to study the concept of measured service in its 1979 rate case.

The coin rate increase proposals reflect growing costs which now substantially exceed revenues the company derives from coin phones.

There are over 15,000 coin telephones in Minnesota, located everywhere from the middle of the wilderness canoe areas to hotels, motels, airports, bus and train stations, stores, shops and in other public locations.

A recent cost study, to be submitted to the public utilities commission as part of the rate increase proposal, shows that the company (at 10 cents per call) is incurring an annual average deficit of $276 for each coin telephone. The company derived $7,125,000 revenue from the phones in 1979, but it cost $11,265,000 during the same period to provide coin service.

Sunflower Day Gives Update On Major Crop

Current roller coaster commodities market is no joy ride to some sunflower producers. Today's grower must do a better job of marketing crops in the future to survive.

During Sunflower day '81, farmers can receive free up to date information on marketing their sunflower crop, and hear the outlook for world markets. The program begins at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, January 13, at the activities center of the North Dakota state school of science at Wahpeton. Sunflower day '81 is free and open to the public, with lunch included.

The morning program will be technically oriented: Dr. John Bussaca, NDSU, will speak on diseases and insects that plagued the 1980 crop; Dr. G. Fick, private company researcher, will discuss new hybrids for the '80's; Harvey Hirning, NDSU, will present "Storage and Heat Damage". They will be joined by Ken Hellavang, NDSU and John Derry, NDSSS, who will demonstrate a portable sunoil press and a diesel engine running on sunoil.

"Marketing: Foreign and Domestic" is the focus of the afternoon program, featuring market analyst R.W. Allen, editor of "Sunflower World" magazine. North Dakota Governor Allen Olson is the special guest speaker.

The "World Outlook On Edible Oil Supplies" will be covered by Larry Kleingartner of the North Dakota sunflower council. Jose Escamilla of Mexico City will discuss Mexico's expanding sunflower market. Mexico is fast becoming a major buyer of U.S. sunflowers.

Sunflower day is a joint venture by the cities of Breckenridge, Minnesota and Wahpeton, North Dakota. Round trip bus service will be available from NDSSS to the two downtown areas.

GF Recruiters Seek Nurses To Join Air Force

Grand Forks air force recruiters will seek some 538 nurses to become commissioned officers in the nurse corps during the next 12 months.

In addition to a special requirement for anesthetists, nurses are being sought to perform in clinical positions and such specialty areas as mental health, environmental health, operating room nursing, and maternal-child health. According to Sgt. Ron Gensler, 453 positions are open specifically to general duty nurses with bachelor of science in nursing degrees.

Nurses entering the air force receive direct commissions in the grades of second lieutenants through captain, depending on their previous experience and education. Once in the air force, they are assigned to medical facilities throughout the world, ranging in size from small out-patient clinics similar to professional clinics found in most cities, to large hospitals such as the 1,000 bed Wilford Hall USAF medical center in San Antonio, Texas.

According to Sgt. Gensler, new air force nurses receive an excellent program of compensation and entitlements. Monthly pay and allowances begin at some $1,194 for a single second lieutenant, $1,387 for a first lieutenant, and $1,581 for a captain.

Entitlements include 30 days of vacation with pay each year, medical and dental care, and for those who choose the air force as a career, a retirement plan. Additionally, Air Force Nurses are given an initial base of choice provided a vacancy exists, and know where they will be assigned prior to commitment.

For further information contact Sgt. Gensler at 510 North Washington, Grand Forks, or call 101-775-9361 collect.

He Could See Time passing

The folks who lived in the day of the hourglass had a psychological advantage. They could see time passing.

And as each fine grain slipped through the neck of the glass, a man's conscience would whisper within him: less time left!

When we look at a clock its hands seem motionless. Is that why millions put off the important decisions that ought to be made right now?

Whatever its cause, procrastination is a disease. It lulls the senses into indolence. It wastes our energy on trivial pursuits, while important tasks remain undone. Especially it attacks the soul, tempting man to believe that there will be plenty of time later to tend to his spiritual needs.

But the cure is simple . . . and immediate. Just set the alarm clock and begin the New Year with worship in your church or synagogue. You'll soon be facing every important task with eagerness and courage and faith!

Compliment Chicken With Figs

Few people realize how amazingly versatile dried figs can be. Besides making a delightful snack when eaten "as is," they become an exciting ingredient in fruit salads, cakes, cookies, breads and many desserts. Dried figs also can complement the flavor of meats and poultry in a number of appetizing combinations. Dried California figs come in two varieties, light colored Calimyrna figs or dark Mission figs. Both contain a large percentage of calcium and other needed vitamins and minerals. Either variety may be used to create the following very elegant chicken dish with an exotic Far East flavor.

CHICKEN BREASTS EXOTICA

- 5 or 6 chicken breasts
- ½ cup butter
- Salt and pepper
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon curry powder
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ¼ cup honey
- ¾ cup orange juice
- 6 California Dried Figs, halved
- Cooked rice

In large skillet, brown chicken breasts in butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Stir in mixture of cinnamon, curry, garlic salt, honey and orange juice. Arrange dried figs in pan with chicken. Cover skillet; simmer about 30 minutes or until tender. Serve over rice. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

For dried fig nutrition information and recipes send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Dried Fig Advisory Board, P.O. Box 709 Dept. DM, Fresno, CA 93712.

Wisdom Of Big Brother

Richard L. Lesher, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States, writes the following regarding the nation's food and drug administration:

Representative Gene Snyder of Kentucky recently came up with some very interesting statistics. From 1973 to 1977, there were 339 drug discoveries worldwide. Seventy-four of those drugs were discovered in this country, but all but 18 of them were put to use in other countries before being approved here. Thus, while the U.S. ranks first in discoveries worldwide, thanks to the FDA, we are only ninth in overall speed in putting them to use saving lives.

A typical example: In the 1950's, a medical miracle was discovered in the form of a body glue, which, when applied as a fine mist, could stop bleeding from open wounds and glue human tissues together. The process was used extensively in Vietnam where it saved hundreds of lives, and it held great promise as a future cure for internal bleeding, ulcers and strokes.

But today, 25 years later, Rep. Snyder notes the companies have finally given up trying to gain FDA approval of their body glue. So instead of marketing it as a miraculous medical tool, they are now selling it in discount stores — as a general purpose household glue.

Now before you start thinking the FDA has just been sitting on its hands all these years, doing nothing to protect the public, let me set the record straight. As it turns out, for the past five years, the agency has been conducting some very intensive research of its own — on nail biting and thumb sucking. So intensive, in fact, that now the FDA has become knowledgeable enough to: alert us that nails normally grow at the rate of 0.1 millimeter daily, and that for those who bite their nails the rate is double; inform us that nail biting occurs in 45 per cent of preadolescent children, 25 per cent of college students and 10 per cent of adults; warn us that nail biting is sometimes a matter of discontent, pressure, or maladjustment, and most often occurs "in a stressful situation," and, finally, reassure us that thumb sucking "usually stops spontaneously at about age four."

Feel better now?

George Will Do It

Following letter was published by the Fountain Valley (California) chamber of commerce:

Hi! My name is George. I'm an all-around handyman and I'd like you to feel free to use my services for any and all chores, errands and duties which you may be too busy to perform. Anytime there's something that needs doing and you'd rather not, you just let old George do it.

I'll write to your congressman for you; I'll write your newspaper; I'll serve on the school board in your place; I'll do anything you're too tired or too preoccupied to do. With me around, you can be as lazy as you like. Or you can just have fun. The more the merrier, I always say. My services are available for you for all the tedious, time-consuming things which you'd rather duck doing.

You haven't time to vote? Let George do it. You haven't time for jury duty? I have. There is certainly no need for you to concern yourself with attending civic meetings. You don't want to accept committee assignments and extra responsibilities anyway. You let old George tend to those things.

Now, you ask, why should you leave important jobs to somebody you've never met? Well, that's a reasonable question, so let me put your mind at ease. I'm no beginner. Maybe I'm not as famous as Krushchev, but if it hadn't been for me, you'd never have heard of him. And that goes for Mussolini and Stalin and Hitler, too. I made those guys ! And the big time racketters in the United States. You name 'em; without me those guys would be nothin'.

Why do I want to run errands for you? Don't you see I get a kick out of electing presidents for school boards and unions and countries. All these things you used to do before you took up other more important things.

Don't feel like you're imposing. I'm glad to be of service. Helping you, I'm really helping myself. How do you think I have been able to take over and run a third of the world already? Because nobody else wanted to bother. They said, "Let George do it." So I did it.

Now I'm taking over in lots of cities and countries in the United States and I figure it's just a matter of time until I'll take over this country, too. I want to thank you for making it possible.

Remember now; if there is ever any way in which I can be of help, I'm at your service. You just have fun and don't worry about a thing. I'll do your worrying too.

I'll bill you later.

Sincerely, George

Taking It With Them

Following editorial is from the St. Cloud Times:

Sadness and regret have been expressed by some people over the tragedy of so many liberal Congressmen being voted out of office after years of public service. They're pictured as poor and unemployed.

Don't believe it. These retiring Congressmen had plenty of time to figure a way of taking it all with them, and they will.

Retirement benefits for Congressmen are certainly the envy of even the most affluent businessmen. People like Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Sen. John Culver, D-Iowa, will retire making more money than the average American family has to live on in a year. And we will pay for every penny of it.

Taxpayers will never know exactly how much retiring Congressmen get because their retirement income is confidential. But according to the Associated Press, "the formula used to figure the benefits is public. And it shows that some outgoing members still in their early 50s will be taking a hefty retirement package with them — $35,000 a year in some cases."

And the AP adds, "Several of this year's retirees will doubtlessly feather their nest further with the lucrative job offers that often come to ex-congressmen."

Checking a few specific examples, and using the retirement formula, which is public, it is possible to get some idea of how much some Congressmen will be "earning" from generous taxpayers for the rest of their lives. Rep. Ullman for example, could get about $38,000 a year. Frank Church should also be eligible for about $38,000 annually. And Sen. John Culver should do nicely in Iowa on a retirement income of about $23,500, plus extra benefits he will get for working as a legislative assistant to Ted Kennedy for two years. All in all, not a bad deal for a bunch of guys the voters thought were unfit to hold public office anymore.

And now that the fiscal conservatives have made great gains in the U.S. Congress, it will be interesting to see if they follow the lead of liberals, and continue to bite the hand that feeds them, or if they will set an example for the nation by cutting back from their own pockets first. Because if they don't, they could be making use of their retirement benefits before they planned.

The whole idea of retirement benefits for elected officials is a shaky idea anyway. Salaries and benefits are high, and after serving in the Senate or House, most Congressmen have made enough contacts and have been paid enough wages to make it on their own quite well after they retire or are voted out of office.

It would be better if we viewed them more like private businessmen. They run for office and seek power at their own risk, and with the resources at their command, should have enough responsibility to provide for their own retirement.

And the argument that paying Congressmen high salaries and providing them with a good pension program helps to eliminate graft and corruption, is silly. It didn't stop the Watergates and the Abscams, and it never will, because honest men are honest men, and that remains true whether they are pampered by the taxpayers or not. And the dishonest ones will just become involved in a more expensive form of graft.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Writers don't always say what they intend to say. Witness these examples from U.S. newspapers:

"A mother of nine children is now awaiting her tenth, thanks to two state troopers who waded through eight-foot snow drifts to get at her.

"The school superintendent met behind closed doors for two hours with the school broad.

"An inmate of the prison, who was sleeping in the south wing of the building at the time of the explosion, said that he was awakened and thrown from his bed by the loud blast in his pajamas.

"In the ensuing gun battle, the airliner hijacker's pistol discharged, wounding the stewardess in the tail section."

He: "Give me your number and I'll call you sometime."
She: "It's in the book."
He: "What's your name?"
She: "That's in the book, too."

NEWSWORTHY TRENDS

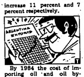
RISE IN ARGENTINA EXPORTS FORECAST

Buenos Aires (Inter-Am)— The projected 9.1 percent rise in Argentina exports forecast by the country's economists is expected to be met by increases in meat, soybean, and corn production.

Economic experts here see meat jumping up 40 percent in exports during 1981. This increase is based on the revised, and increased, prices set for the same year.

They also predict a rapid increase in consumer goods imports. This increase is expected because Argentina's industry has been concentrating on those of lines production where it holds a clear advantage over the international competition. A side effect of such specialization is that many consumer goods are not manufactured domestically.

The experts say the imports of capital goods and intermediate products will increase 11 percent and 7 percent respectively.



By 1984 the cost of importing oil and oil by-products here will equal the country's exports, they say, thus stabilizing the inflationary outflow of money used for foreign purchase of oil.

The experts predict Argentina's exports will amount to $8.66 billion in 1980, $10.37 billion in 1981, $12.2 billion in 1982, and $13.64 billion in 1983.

The same projection lists import forecasts as $9.2 billion in 1980, $10.85 billion in 1981, $12.7 billion in 1982, and $14.77 billion in 1983.

Minnesota Is Flagship State For Disabled

Minnesota has been named a "Flagship" state by the U.S. Council for 1981 International Year of Disabled Persons (IYDP). As a flagship state, Minnesota will work closely with the U.S. council in helping to gain a better understanding of the state's needs and diversities from other states.

"By establishing good lines of communication, an ongoing thorough understanding of Minnesota's plans and accomplishments during the year can be gained and shared with other states in the nation," explained Gary Bass, director of Liaisons, U.S. Council for IYDP. Sharing this honor with Minnesota are Colorado, Kansas, Michigan, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Washington.

Gov. Albert H. Quie has named council members Mary Ann Ellefson, Mankato and Sandi Gordon, Mendota Heights as Minnesota's liaisons to the U.S. council for IYDP, a nonprofit, national organization focused on international year activities around the country.

To ensure maximum statewide involvement, the international year Minnesota coalition has been established. Members are representatives of over 60 organizations and agencies of and for disabled people. Minnesota coalition has chosen three major concepts to emphasize: to accentuate the many abilities and accomplishments of people with disabilities, to encourage cooperation among organizations working with disabled people, and to increase the participation of disabled people in their communities.

Plans for worldwide activities began in 1977 when the United Nations proclaimed 1981 as the international year of disabled persons. The aim is to encourage the full integration and participation into society of the estimated 450 million people in the world with some form of physical or mental impairment.

In response to the U.S. proclamation, the U.S. council for international year was formed. The council's mission is to promote "full participation" in the lives of the estimated 35 million Americans with disabilities.

Building on the progress made in the past, both the U.S. council for IYDP and the Minnesota state council for the handicapped work to strengthen understanding of the still unmet needs and potential contributions of persons with disabilities. If you would like to become involved or learn more about activities in your area, call the Minnesota State Council for the Handicapped at (612) 296-6785 or 1-800-652-9747 toll-free.

Gov. Quie's Column

Many of you have already heard of the $1 billion gap between estimated new state revenues and new spending requests for the next budget period.

It is true that new spending requests for the next two years amount to just over $2 billion. Also, new revenue to cover those costs according to estimates made early in December is at roughly $1 billion. Thus, the $1 billion difference.

To understand this situation let's look at each part separately.

First, the spending requests:

— The largest percentage of the requests (27 per cent) is for health, welfare and corrections costs. This increase does not represent new programs. Nearly all of the increase is required to fund the state facilities already in operation and to finance the assistance programs already enacted into law.

— Next, "open and standing" appropriations made up 21.9 per cent of the requests. This category includes $171 million in additional homestead property tax relief; $37.4 million in additional aids to local governments; $10.7 million for the state retirement fund; and $138.6 million in additional renters tax credits, senior citizens tax credits, agriculture tax credits and other aids and credits.

— The proposed school aids bill, that provides the basic funding for our elementary and secondary schools makes up 17.4 per cent of the new spending requests.

— Funding for post-secondary education — our universities, state colleges, and community colleges — make up 10.9 per cent.

— Other elements are equal to 22.7 per cent for such expenditures as state departments and new legislation.

It is important to note here that state agencies represent only 1.9 per cent in the total spending increase requests. It is impossible to solve our budget problem with the simple answer of "trim the fat out of the state bureaucracy." If we rejected all state agency budget requests we will have addressed only 1.9 per cent of our problem.

Second, let me address our $1 billion new revenue projection.

Eighty per cent of Minnesota's general fund revenues are sensitive to fluctuations in the national economy. Our personal income tax provides 45 per cent of all revenues; sales tax, 21 per cent; corporate income tax, 11 per cent; and the sales tax on cars and trucks, three per cent.

The single greatest factor influencing these revenues is the national economy and the federal economic and monetary policies. In the last two months the national economy, and in particular the rapidly increasing prime interest rates, have caused our new revenues projections to drop from a high of $1.7 billion to only $1 billion.

Volatility of the national economy and the impact on our state revenues makes it exceedingly difficult to project future revenues. It is almost impossible to estimate two and a half years into the future as we must do as we prepare a two-year budget which will fund state government from July 1, 1981 through June 30, 1983.

Still Minnesota elected officials must deal with this situation in the most responsible way... If all economic indicators point to reduced revenues, we must take that into consideration as we prepare the budget for the next two years. And that will mean some tough decisions in the 1981 legislative session.

I have asked the department of finance to present me with a list of alternatives of how we can successfully deal with this $1 billion gap. I will be reviewing these options carefully in the next few weeks. When I present my budget message on January 26, I will recommend to the legislature how I believe we can best meet this challenge. It will then be the role of the Legislature to review the situation. There's little doubt that this legislative session will be one which will present hard choices for elected officials. However, it will give us the opportunity to set major policy objectives which will have a great impact on the decade of the 80s. I look forward to the challenge.

Snow Thrower Operators Urged To Use Caution

Snow throwers are valuable labor and heart savers for many Americans, but they can present hazards to fingers and toes if used incorrectly.

Most snow thrower injuries apparently result from the user's attempt to remove snow clogging machines. Even though the machine may be shut off, compression within an aircooled engine can build up when the machine is clogged. By removing snow with the hands, operators may unintentionally cause the machine to start again unless the spark plug has been uncoupled.

Minnesota Safety Council urges operators to read operating instructions carefully, and to pay special attention to safety procedures outlined. Practice stopping the machine quickly. Keep hands and feet away from moving parts and be sure not to unclog the machine while it is running.

If the unit is electrically driven, check to see that the line is properly grounded and in good condition.

Fill the machine's fuel tank only when the snowthrower is shut off. Avoid fuel spills around a hot engine, and keep fuel away from any source of fire.

Shut off the machine when unattended, and remember to keep kids and pets out of the way of snow being thrown. And, if you're operating on sloping ground, be alert to hazards from slips and falls.

Venezuela Hopes To Strike It Richer In Gold

VENEZUELA

Caracas (Inter-Am)— Venezuela, already Latin America's number one oil producer, hopes to become its principal gold miner, too.

Official sources here expect that future gold production will top more than 5,000 kilograms annually. Colombia now leads Latin America in gold production with approximately 9,000 kilos annually, followed by Mexico which produces 4,000 kilos. The leader worldwide is South Africa with 600,000 kilograms annually.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Energy and Mines said that the national company MINERVEN has increased its exploration and mining in a 1,000 kilometer zone extending along the Orinoco River basin.

The company recently took over foreign companies' mineral concessions and is considering beginning operations at 10 to 15 mines.

In the same area another company, La Venezolana de Oro, extracts 360 kilograms annually.

Increasing gold prices in the world markets have now made the prospect of finding gold in this region a much more profitable venture than it was just a short time ago.

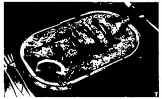
GREAT CHEERS FOR GRAY SEA TROUT



Virginia waters yield yet another seafood surprise that's a favorite with the sportsman and the cook alike.

Gray sea trout, plentiful in Virginia waters from June through December, is not only a pleasant challenge to fishermen but remains one of the most versatile and easily prepared fish for good eating. Known for its tasty, tender, lean white meat and low caloric content, gray sea trout may be broiled, baked, pan-fried or sauteed. Whether it is pan-fried on a beach or garnished with lemon and parsley on your own table, gray sea trout will bring great cheers from those hungry but nutrition-conscious seafood lovers you're trying to please.

Feast your eyes on this original recipe idea and you too may join the gray sea trout — amidst great cheers — in the "Seafood Hall of Fame." Recommended by Virginia Chef Charles Sears of Scale O'de Whale in Portsmouth.

SEA TROUT NORFOLK

4 whole fresh gray sea trout (1 to 1-1/4 lb. per fish, drawn)
12 jumbo green shrimp (3/4 - 1 lb. total) seafood seasoning
2 large lemons
1/2 cup white table wine
4 2-inch pieces of celery
1 medium onion
1 cup wild rice
1/3 cup melted butter
4 sprigs endive or other leafy green garnish
4 whole cherries

Starting 3 inches behind gills, vertically cut fish to bones in 3 places, about 1-1/2 inches apart. Make cuts 2-1/2 inches long. Sprinkle seafood seasoning over entire fish and rub in. Cut 12 paper-thin slices of lemon plus 8 equal sized wedges. Slice onion into 4 equal wedges. Stuff cavity of each fish with wedge of lemon, onion and a piece of celery. Place 2 lemon slices into each vertical cut, forming a v-shaped cradle for shrimp to be added later. Cover fish tail with foil, if desired, to prevent burning. Put fish in covered container and refrigerate 1 hour.

Peel and devein shrimp, leaving tail on. Put shrimp in glass container, cover with white table wine and refrigerate 1 hour.

Preheat oven to 375° F. Place fish in baking dish lightly coated with vegetable oil. Pour melted butter over fish and cook approximately 35 minutes, testing with fork until it penetrates easily. While cooking, prepare wild rice according to package directions. When fish has about 5 minutes left to cook, remove from oven. Place 1 shrimp in each v-shaped cradle and fan shrimp tails. Spoon remainder of wine over the fish. Return to oven for 5 minutes. Serve over bed of wild rice. Skewer remaining lemon wedges, cherries and endive on toothpicks. May be accompanied by dill or tartar sauce. Serves four.
